Thomas McNally, aged fourteen years, of Manchester, broke his right hip Friday in jumping through a third-story window from an elevator in the Manchester mills, the rope having broken, thus causing the elevator to descend with lightning speed. The perilous jump probably saved his life.

The down train on the Concord & Claremont railroad, Thursday night, ran into a team containing Mrs. Collins and a small child, at Kellyville. The turn-out was knocked thirty-five feet down an embankment. The horse, woman and child were scarred, and the carriage smashed, but no life was lost.

During the late session of Congress the democrats (and some republicans) made a good deal of talk about republican corruption in the Kansas legislature in connection with the election of Mr. Ingalls as United States senator, and a committee of the Senate was appointed to go to Kansas, unearth the corruption and make some excellent political capital for democratic use. The committee arrived in Kansas a week or so ago, and found Mr. Ingalls and his counsel all ready for the fray; but the men who talked so loudly about bribery and corruption a few months ago were not ready, and at length informed the committee that they are unable to proceed with the case. Saulsbury, the democratic chairman of the committee, wanted to have the enquiry given up, as it had become certain that no democratic campaign capitol could be manufactured; but Mr. Ingalls' counsel demands that the committee subpœna every member of the legislature who voted for Ingalls, and examine them under oath.

—"I don't know anything about your Tycoon," said an old Illinoisan to a man who was discussing on Japan; "but when you come to the raccoon, you'll find me at home."

—"Well," said General Clingman, "it happened in this way. When I was in Congress, years ago, I used to have a sweetheart in Washington. One night while there I thought I would go around, see her, tell her how much I liked her, and ask her to be my wife. I did so—that is, went around, saw her, and was on the point of popping the question, when I was interrupted by a colleague, who had come around to ask me about a matter relative to a bill to be passed in Congress the following day. I got up, and became so interested in what he had to tell me that I forgot all about the young lady and what I had come to see her about; and," continued the general laughing, "I never had the courage to renew my overtures."

—A teacher said to a little girl at school: "If a naughty girl should hurt you, like a good girl you would forgive her, wouldn't you?" "Yes, marn, if I couldn't catch 'er."

—A woman who began life in Leadville as a washerwoman now has an assured income of $1,000 a month. She staked out her land, built herself a cabin with the aid of the miners, who have also helped her keep possession of her claim. She has speculated in land, built as desirable a building as there is in the place, and has refused one offer of $10,000 for one piece of her property. A pretty good woman.

THE WEATHER.

Probabilities for the New England States, To-Day:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 29, 2 A. M

AROUND HOME.

Nathaniel Young of Newmarket has this year raised seventy-five and one-half bushels of potatoes from one bushel of seed.

The Rockingham national bank building has received a new coating of mastic, the work being done by Mr. A. J. Greeley of Newburyport. It is quite an improvement.

The Methodist society of Newmarket cleared over $400 by running the boarding tent at the Hedding camp-meeting, which will be applied to reducing the church debt.

Virginia rails—which the same are birds—have been quite numerous in this vicinity this season. Old sportsmen say they have not seen the bird here within the past twenty-five years.

It is rumored on the street that Hon. Frank Jones proposes putting up an extensive shoe manufactory on the site of the old Came carriage factory—previously the Rockingham mill—burned several years ago. We hope the rumor is true, but fear it isn't.

Schooner Wingærsheek, Donnell master, last week arrived at the navy yard from Plum Island, Newburyport, with a load of sand, finished discharging her cargo at four o'clock Thursday afternoon, and on Friday evening arrived at Sam'l Adams & Co.'s wharf with another two thousand bushels of sand from the same place.

There is a chance for one more regatta before the season closes, Mr. Samuel Pillsbury of Kittery offering to sail his sloop yacht "No Name" with any boat on the Piscataqua between sixteen and twenty-two feet in length, a ten-mile race, for the fun of the thing or for any sum up to ten dollars, as the person accepting the challenge may elect. Go for him, somebody; let's have one more good race.

"Dan'l Druce, the village blacksmith," was played at Music hall on Saturday evening by Mr. F. C. Bangs, Miss Geraldine Maye and good support, to a small but very appreciative audience. The play is a very fine one when presented as it was on Saturday evening, and a crowded house would have been no more than the entertainment merited. Mr. Bangs is one of the best actors seen here for years, and Miss Maye is a charming actress.

At the York county fair in Berwick last week, Hon. Stillman B. Allen of Boston made an address to the boys who are contestants for the "corn prize" offered by him, and closed by announcing that he should offer corn prizes for 1880 as follows: One hundred dollars to the boy who shall raise the most corn on one-eighth of an acre of ground anywhere in the State of Maine; fifty dollars to the one raising the next largest quantity; and ten dollars each to the five boys coming next in the amount raised. If the boy winning the first prize is a resident of York county, he will receive a gold watch in addition to the $100.

The lad who was reported as missing from Kittery early last week, turned up all right, and arrived at home on Saturday, safe and sound and glad to get back, as his relatives were glad to have him. It seems that he took the railroad track and went to Greenland "bayside," arriving at the farm of Mr. J. P. Weeks on Tuesday afternoon, where he remained. Mr. Weeks at once sent a postal card to the lad's friends in Kittery, but in the anxiety occasioned by the boy's absence the postal was not read until Friday night at a late hour, news of his whereabouts not being looked for by mail. On Saturday morning a relative went to Greenland and brought the prodigal home.

The Swamscott Machine company of South Newmarket have started up their pipe works, which have been lying idle for two years past. The other departments are in full blast, and the company find it a difficult matter to fill the orders which they have on hand, owing principally to the difficulty they have to secure iron and help. This is a good showing; and the cry of "hard times" is fast flying.

The "Mother Washington place" at Christian Shore was sold at auction on Saturday under authority of the city, by Hon. Marcellus Bufford, Hon. Frank Jones being the purchaser for $300, including arrears of taxes and other charges.

Naval Constructor Isaiah Hanscom, who was chief of the bureau of construction and repair in the navy department during President Grant's administration, and who was placed on the retired list two years ago, is quite ill in Washington, and his friends are very much alarmed as to his recovery.

We are informed that the proposal to organize a band under the leadership of Mr. Henry L. Harlow, which shall be even superior to the splendid marine band which that competent and judicious director brought to so high a state of perfection, and the disbandment of which caused such general regret among our citizens, is meeting with such liberal encouragement that its success is already assured. Whether it is or not, it should be.

The Kittery brass band on Friday evening last serenaded Commodore Beaumont at the navy yard, the commodore acknowledging the compliment in a short speech, and then inviting the band to partake of refreshments. We are informed that this band has improved remarkably since its formation, plays finely, and is deserving of liberal support. It is getting rather late in the season for out-of-doors concerts, but if the band could manage to give one in this city before the snow flies it might serve them a good turn in bringing their merits to the knowledge of our local organizations.

DIPLOMA FOR THE HIGH SCHOOL.

Mayor Sise on Friday received from Commissioner-General Richard C. McCormick a diploma which was awarded to the city of Portsmouth for the exhibit made at the Paris Exposition by the high school, consisting of work in book-keeping, examination papers, compositions, etc. It is what the French call "Un Diplome de Medaille D'Argent," that is to say, in English, "a diploma of a silver medal." It is really a fine diploma, with a silver medal attached, or rather bearing the stamp of a silver medal or medallion. It is awarded "a la Ville de Portsmouth, Etats-Unis." It has been delivered to the high school committee, and is now at Mr. Montgomery's. It is to be elegantly framed, and hung in the principal's room at the high school.

ABOUT BOATS.

The result of the sailing regatta in the lower harbor on Tuesday afternoon of last week having been in favor of the Myth, of Kittery, owned and sailed by Mr. Samuel Pillsbury, that gentleman may be excused if he now claims (we do not know that he does) that his boat is the "boss" of the harbor, barring out Mr. Doane's sloop Ada, which is so much larger than the Myth that no just comparison can be instituted between them. The Myth is certainly a remarkable boat, sailing well in smooth water and light wind, being able to utilize the whole of a pretty stiff breeze, and seeming to find a heavy head sea rather an advantage than otherwise. Two years ago she won a flag presented by Mr. Wm. B. Keen of Malden, Mass., to be sailed for by Kittery and Newcastle boats, against a large fleet of competitors, the course being from Clarke's island, outside of Kitt's rock buoy, around the spar buoy on Branscome's rock, and return, the wind blowing very fresh and the sea running high enough to half-fill most of the contesting boats; her performance on that occasion showing her to be a dangerous competitor in a heavy-weather race. A few weeks ago there was another race, for a silver cup presented by Mr. Beverly Decatur of Kittery, over nearly the same course as the former one, with time allowance for length on the water line; there was a smart breeze on this occasion, with a moderate sea, and the Myth, though leading all the boats of nearly her size, was beaten by the Ada, (a very fine sloop yacht twenty-seven feet long,) by seven minutes and forty-five seconds actual sailing time, and two and three-tenths seconds corrected time, over a nine-mile course, the Myth's length being eighteen feet and four inches. In the last race, for prizes presented by Mr. Keen, she again led all the small yachts, and (the Ada being barred out by her length) took the first prize, though the race was no walk-over, as she beat the yacht which took the third prize only three minutes and twenty-two seconds corrected time. A month or two ago she worked up to this port from Biddeford Pool in ten hours, against a stiff breeze and heavy sea; and a few weeks since beat up to Nahant from this port against a brisk southwester, making excellent weather, but arriving just too late to enter for the yacht race there.

Another boat which made a good show in the last race was the Clara, a beautiful little craft owned by Mr. Otis of Kittery. She is only fifteen feet and two inches long, but carries a big spread of canvas, and makes a pretty picture when under full sail. She laid well over to the breeze when she started in the race, and persons who did not know the boat fancied she would not do much when she got outside the harbor, where the water was very "hubbly;" but she acted nobly, and took the second prize by corrected time, the Myth having only one minute and thirty-seven seconds to spare.

The Reliance, owned by Mr. George B. French of this city, was sailed in the late race by Mr. E. W. Getchell of Kittery, and took the third prize. She is seventeen feet and three inches long, and one of the best boats of her size on this river or any other, skimming along prettily in a light breeze, and being a staunch, reliable craft in heavy weather. She carries a big mainsail, but her rig can hardly be called a racing one, and some good yachtsmen think she could easily be fixed up so as to trouble the Myth mightily—she gives her a good pull as it is. The Portsmouth men at the race were pleased that she took a prize, as she was the only boat entered from this side of the stream.

It was hoped before the race that Mr. Thomas H. Odion, who is one of the best boat-sailers and pilots on the river, would enter and sail his new yacht Bertha G., and make it warm for the Myth and the rest of them; but to the general regret he was prevented by illness from taking part in the race, and the boat is now stripped for hauling up.

Another well known yacht is the Gov. Cutt, owned by Hon. T. E. O. Marvin, and built after a design of his own, her bilges dropping below her keel. She is a roomy, comfortable, safe craft, and though not rigged for racing gets through the water pretty fast when she has plenty of wind—making much better time in a strong breeze than in a light one. It is said that she can carry the ex-mayor's entire family, all at once; how this may be we cannot say, but we know she can accommodate a great many grown persons.

The No Name, owned by Mr. Samuel Pillsbury, is a boat twenty feet and six inches long, and goes very fairly on the wind, though that is not her best point of sailing, as a free wind suits her better; she is a comfortable boat for a sailing party, but we believe has never won in a regatta.

The Delusion, owned by Mr. Henry Knights of Kittery, is a large new yacht, and looks well, but has not been on the river long enough to show off her qualities as a racing boat.

Mr. Plumer D. Norton of this city owns and sails a very fine boat—handsome, speedy and staunch; but he uses her only for pleasure trips, having we believe never entered her in a regatta, though he always attends the races, and the other boats do not appear to run away from him much.

Any description of the Piscataqua river yacht fleet would be incomplete without mention of the Humbug. This yacht, unlike all the others named, has neither half-deck nor wash-boards, being simply a very strong open boat. She carries one small working sail and a crew of six men—counting "Joe" and "Spider"—and in a light breeze her sailing is more powerful than rapid. When the wind blows so as to require a single reef in the mainsail and all hands (except Joe and Spider) on the weather gunwale, the Humbug goes like a witch and is all ready for a race; but at such times the racing boats are generally out of sight. She will run before a stiff breeze and heavy sea in perfect safety, at times when most boats of her size would have to heave-to or swamp; and this quality of the Humbug is greatly prized by her crew, all of whom believe in running away from unpleasant conditions.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED

STOMACH BITTERS

Fever and Ague is most common in the spring, but most severe in the fall and winter. It is strictly a malarious disease, and so surely as the Bitters are adopted, so surely will the individual who adopts this precaution be exempted from its pains and penalties. Add to this its value as a stomachic and anti-bilious agent, and who will venture to gainsay its claims to the first place among family medicines. A Death-Bed Marriage.

There have been many ways adopted by reprehensible man for beguiling confiding woman into his toils, but none that ever has come to our notice has been so low down and mean as that which was adopted by a Detroit man the other day. Public indignation is respectfully solicited. He represented himself to be a Union soldier, the hero of many battles, and wooed the fair maid after the Othello plan, by the recital of the dangers he had passed. She pitied them but did not love him. He, however, continued to pay her devoted attention, and at last awoke a slight tender sentiment in her breast for him, but still she hesitated and refused to name the day. Then this wicked man with intent to deceive was taken ill "from the effects of a cold wound," and represented himself to be in a dying condition. He was ready to die, but had one darling wish to fulfill to enable him to close his eyes in peace. It was to be united to the object of his soul's adoration and to pass away holding her dear hand in his. The sorrow-stricken girl could not refuse thus to soothe the last hours of the man who worshipped the ground that she walked on. She consented. The clergyman came, and standing by his deathbed the girl was united to him for better or worse. When the ceremony was concluded, however, the sick man showed rapid signs of convalescence. All his symptoms—if he had any symptoms—got better, and on the next day he was up again as bright as a new button. Two days after that he obtained from the confiding bride a hundred and fifty dollars, which was all that she had, and left for parts unknown. It is impossible to characterize such conduct by any terms which would not look bad in print, and so we forbear to express our sentiments on the subject; but we would gently emphasize the warning which it gives to confiding woman, to be sure and not confide. Man is by nature desperately wicked and deceitful. His dark brain is always at work forging traps to take in and betray unhappy woman into matrimony. "Men were deceivers ever," says Shakespeare, but they are never such frauds as on a deathbed marriage.—Every Saturday.

Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites saved the life of my wife, after her case was apparently hopeless from Tubercular Consumption. H. L. HARDINGS, Nelsonville, O.

A Waggish Soldier.

Gen. Lee asked a straggler one day, whom he found eating green persimmons, if he did not know they were unfit for food. "I am not eating them for food, General," replied the man, "I'm eating them to draw my stomach up to my rations." With SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER handy, even fifts resulting from scant rations might have been prevented.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings, and Irritations.

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the torture of a lifetime, by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, are more wonderful than any other remedy ever conferred by any methods or remedies known to the medical profession.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements with which these vessels have been daily charged.

CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growths which cover the surface of the diseased glands and tubes with Scaly, Itching, and Irritating Humors; speedily it removes them, leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these great remedies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

SALT RHEUM FOR 30 YEARS

On the Head, Face, and Greater Part of the Body, Cured.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of different kinds and tried good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of CUTICURA. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales all off, and I feel like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping that this may be seen by some one who is afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cheerfully recommend it to all persons afflicted with like diseases.

Yours truly, B. WILSON LORD.

AGAWAM, MASS., Sept. 9, 1878.

The CUTICURA SOAP should be used for cleansing all diseased surfaces, as most soaps are injurious to the skin.

LEPROSY.

A Modern Miracle. Astonishing results from the use of CUTICURA.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—We have a case of Leprosy in our po. House which is being cured by your CUTICURA remedies. The county had employed all our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail.

The patient commenced using the CUTICURA and immediately began getting better.

He had been confined to his bed for two and one half years. Had not had his clothes on during that time. Last week he dressed for the first time.

When he walked, there would at least one quart of scales came off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not say he is cured, but he is in a fair way to be cured to say the least. Yours truly,

DUNNING BROTHERS.

ALLEGAN, MICH., Feb. 11, 1878.

NOTE.—Messrs. Dunning Brothers are thoroughly reliable gentlemen, and were unknown to us prior to the receipt of this letter. We firmly believe this CUTICURA will permanently cure this very severe case of Leprosy, as it has done many others.

Prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery clears all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution restored. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this potent, but harmless and invigorating medicine.

Scrofula has it is manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, interval heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. Dr. Pierce's Pellets are relatively larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in regions of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Heated Feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sensative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proprr. World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant, and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 43 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. Reference given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

BEWARE of a man named Sherman, who, taking advantage of my reputation calls him self Dr. Sherman, alias Dr. S. Sherman, alias Dr. S. J. Sherman, pretending to be famous for the cure of Rupture. A GOOD PLAN

Anybody can learn to make money rapidly—upon stocks by the "Two Cents per Share Plan for Success," in Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s new circular; the combination method, which this firm has made so successful, enables people with large or small means to reap all the benefits of largest capitalists and best skill. Thousands of orders in Boston and other towns have been filled, some amount and co-operated in a majority cases, thus securing to each shareholder all the advantages of the largest operations, profits are divided monthly. Any amount, from $5 to $5,000, or more, can be used successfully. N. Y. Boston Week, September 20th, 1879, says, "By the combination system $25 would make $70, $2 per cent., $50 pays $250, or 7 per cent., $100 makes $1,000, or 10 per cent. on the stock during the month, according to the market." Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, June 28th: "The combination method of operating stocks is the most successful ever adopted." The New York Independent, April 17th: "The Combination system is founded upon correct business principles, and no person need be without an income while it is kept working by Messrs. Lawrence & Co." Boston Journal, April 29th: "Our editor made a net profit of $10.53 from $20 in one of Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s combinations." "New circular mailed free, it explains everything. SANFORD'S

RADICAL CURE

For CATARRH

INSTANTLY relieves and permanently cures this loathsome disease in all its varying stages, by the soothing and healing properties of plants, herbs and barks in their essential form, free from poisonous contamination, and in this respect differs from every other known remedy. In one short year it has gone its way from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and wherever known has become the standard remedy in the treatment of Catarrh. The proprietors have been waited upon by gentlemen of national reputation who have been cured by this remedy, and who have, at considerable expense and personal trouble, spread its good news throughout the circles in which they move. When you hear a wealthy gentleman of intelligence and refinement say, "I owe my life to Sanford's Radical Cure," you may feel assured that it is a great value, and worthy to be classed among the standard medical specifics of the day.

THE benefit I derive from its daily use is to me invaluable.
HENRY WELLS, of WELLS, FARGO & Co.

IT has cared me after twelve years of uninterrupted suffering.
GEO. W. HOUGHTON, WALTHAM, MASS.

FOLLOWED the directions to the letter and am happy to say I have had a permanent cure.
D. W. GRAY, M. D., MUSCATINE, IOWA.

I HAVE recommended it to quite a number of my friends, all of whom have expressed to me their high estimate of its value and good effects with them.
REV. W. H. POTTS, 225 YORK ST., St. LOUIS.

AFTER using two bottles I find myself permanently cured. I have since recommended over one hundred bottles with the greatest success.
WM. N. ARMSTRONG,
159 HARRISON AVE., BOSTON.

WE have sold SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for nearly one year and can say candidly that we have sold a similar preparation that gave such universal satisfaction. We have yet to learn of the first complaint.
S. D. BALDWIN & CO., WASHINGTON, IND.

THE cure effected in my case by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE was so remarkable that it seems to me that he had suffered without relief from any of the ills mentioned, it could not be true. I therefore made affidavit to it before Seth J. Thomas, Esq., Justice of the Peace, Boston.
GEORGE F. DINSMORE, DRUGGIST, BOSTON.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains a Sanford's Radical Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price, $1.00. For sale by Wholesale and Retail Druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

The property of this Company consists of the "Atlantic and Pacific" and "Eagle" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several directions, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $27.50 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "Mercurio Lode," and adjoin at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which mill, within a few days, was working mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion worth Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay semi-annual dividends, all the ore produced is to be purchase and reduced. The Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital, stock in the Company, to be used in development, of which are now offered at the subscription price of $25 per share. A Trip to the South.

CENTREVILLE, TENN., Sept. 22d.

Buying a through ticket to Nashville, your correspondent left Boston at three P. M., via the Hoosac Tunnel line. The scenery all along the road to Greenfield was grand, a gentle rain preventing the usual disagreeable cinders from flying in one's face. As we were on the St. Louis express, station after station was rapidly passed. The ride from Greenfield to Hoosac tunnel is one of great interest. The cars are continually crossing the streams, and the hills of western Massachusetts furnish many and varied landscapes. Twelve minutes of darkness, with only a lamp here and there, hastily passed,—and that is all that can be seen of the tunnel proper. From North Adams to Troy we go. On this short trip Buffalo Bill furnishes the theme of conversation as he passes through the car and takes a seat. From Troy to Schenectady is only a short ride. At Schenectady we change on to the New York Central railroad. Dozing through the night, as best we could, with two Germans and a woman opposite us playing cards and drinking, we arrived at Buffalo in the morning. After a wash we start on the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern for Cleveland. During the forenoon we get frequent glimpses of Lake Erie, and see the smoke of the steamers as they ply on their busy way. Now and then a white sail appears, while on the left is seen the well-cultivated land and forests. We miss the pine of New England. Just before arriving in Cleveland we get a good view of the lake. The waters are muddy from the effects of the recent storm. The breakers come dashing in against the breakwater, throwing the spray in all directions and furnishing a grand spectacle. We regret we could not make a stop in the beautiful city of Cleveland, the resting place of Commodore Perry, the hero of Lake Erie in 1812. We did remain long enough to partake of an excellent dinner in the dining room of the depot. Contrary to the usual custom in such places, here one can get a good meal for a fair price, and servants are there who attend strictly to one's wants. At Cleveland we changed, and took the train over the C. C. C. & I. railroad.

Nothing of special interest occurred until we arrived at Delaware, Ohio. Here we made quite a stop. A regiment of colored soldiers embarked for Springfield, Ohio. They had been in camp ten days in Delaware, and were then on their way to their home in Springfield. Going out of Delaware, it seemed as though the whole country of darkey people had emptied itself and come out to bid their visitors good-bye. The soldiers kept up a continual hurrah, and its band played incessantly. At Springfield a large crowd at the depot welcomed their returning companions. We continued on to Dayton, Ohio, where we arrived at 8 45 P. M. Immediately your correspondent sought a room in the Dickey house, and took a rest from the travel of the day and a half previous.

In the morning, in company with a number of the famous 7th Massachusetts, (which met with such a bloody reception in Baltimore,) a member of the 26th Massachusetts volunteers, and Mr. Bowles, a New York merchant and nephew of Mr. John H. Bowles of Portsmouth, as well as a cousin of the late Samuel Bowles of the Springfield Republican, we visited the Soldiers' Home on the outskirts of Dayton. We rode on the street cars to the end of the line, then took a "dummy" and rode into the grounds, and spent the entire forenoon in looking over the buildings. As is well known this is an institution provided by Uncle Sam for the soldiers disabled in the late war. There are some 4500 inmates connected with the institution now. There are about 210 buildings connected with the grounds, which contain 640 acres, and some forty more are soon to be added. Everything connected with it is under some one who served in the late war. It is a perfect little city in itself, and with truth it may be called the Disabled Soldiers' City. The principal buildings are the governor's residence, treasurer's residence, steward's residence, barracks, headquarters, band stand, dining hall, hospital, home church, Memorial hall, Putnam library, chaplain's residence, residence of surgeon, home store, and restaurant. The soldiers appeared contented. As long as one is civil he is allowed the free use of the buildings, and can visit anything he chooses. A look into the engine house found one of our New Hampshire steam fire engines of the Amoskeag build. The dining hall is a point of interest. The tables have to be laid three times at each meal. The hall is capable of seating 1500 at one sitting; seventy men are detailed each day as waiters. Between fifteen and sixteen barrels of flour are daily cooked. A cart load of squashes drove up for dinner on the day we visited the institution. The soldiers are not obliged to work, but can do as they please. If they desire to work they are paid at the rate of ten cents an hour. A new lake of forty acres is now being made, and the work is to be done wholly by the inmates. The conservatory and gardens are models of neatness, cultivation, and beauty. One point of interest especially attracted our attention; in a bed flowers were the letters "U. S.," made of ornamental plants; and further on was the word "Welcome" arranged in the same manner. A many-pointed star of foliage plants was another attraction. We should not forget to mention the plain but yet tasteful soldiers' monument on the grounds. A. B.

The only articles in the whole list which show a decrease are sewing machines, which decreased from $2,223,-326 to $1,648,914, and firearms, which declined from $5,015,732 to $3,169,230.

Two Countries on which the Sun Never Sets.

It has long been the pride of the subjects of Queen Victoria, that the sun never sets on the British empire, a fact that was thus eloquently expressed by Daniel Webster: "Our fathers raised their flag against a power, to which, for purposes of foreign conquest and subjugation, Rome, in all her glory, was not to be compared; a power that has dotted over the whole surface of the globe with her possessions and military posts; whose morning drum-beat, following the sun in its course and keeping pace with the hours, circles the earth with one continuous and unbroken strain of the martial airs of England." This proud boast that the sun never sets on the British empire, is now equally true of the United States. Instead of being the western limit of the Union, as it once was, San Francisco is only midway between the farthest Aleutian isle, acquired by our purchase of Alaska, and Eastport, Me. Our territory extends through 197 degrees of longitude, or seventeen degrees more than half way around the globe. The Rocky Mountain Presbyterian, is commenting on this fact, says thus gracefully, "when the sun is giving its good-night kiss to our westernmost isle, on the confines of Behring's sea, it is already flooding the fields and forests of Maine with its morning light, and in the eastern part of that State is more than an hour high. At the very moment when the Aleutian fisherman, warned by the approaching shades of night, is pulling his canoe toward the shore, the wood-chopper of Maine is beginning to make the forest echo with the stirring music of his axe." Edwin Forrest, in his fourth of July oration at the old Broadway Tabernacle, New York, pictured the time "when this whole continent of North America, extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific, would be "overspread by a population of a hundred millions of freemen!"—a realization of Bishop Berkley's prophesy of more than a century ago, in his well known lines:

"Westward the star of empire takes its way,
The first four acts already past,
A fifth shall close the drama with the day—
Time's noblest offspring is the last."

It is devoutly to be hoped that long ere that time shall come, all causes of dissension will have ceased among them, and that the people of these United States, united, indeed, will have a common pride, east, west, north and south, in being the grandest nation upon the face of the earth. J. H. B.

News and Notes.

Schooner Katherine Royal, from Glace bay for Boston, has not been heard of since Aug. 16th, and is believed to be lost with all hands, six in number.

The notorious Victoria Woodhull and her sister, Tennie C. Claflin, it is said are engaged to be married to English noblemen.

The striking spinners of Fall River, Mass., held a meeting Saturday evening and voted to continue the strike.

A little more than a year ago, John Notter of New Bedford, Mass., while at work in his lot, took off his vest and laid it on the ground. When he put it on again his watch was missing and could not be found, and he concluded that it had been stolen by some boys. On Thursday last, while Mr. Notter was digging potatoes in the same lot, his hoe uncovered and displayed the missing watch. It is supposed that it fell from the pocket of his vest into some hole in the ground where it was out of sight, and was covered up. The watch appeared uninjured by its burial of one year and two weeks; was wound up without difficulty, and has since kept good time.

Mr. Piper, the expert employed by the bank managers on the books of the Dexter, Me., savings bank, having completed his work, is preparing his report. It is asserted that his examination, which has included all the transactions of the bank from the beginning, has fully confirmed the previous statements as to Barron's irregularities; but it will have to be more conclusive than anything hitherto offered before the public will credit it.

Frank A. Hill, seventeen years old, son of A. M. Hill of Fitchburg, Mass., was last week held in the sum of $1000 for trial for feloniously assaulting a twelve-years-old school girl under most aggravated circumstances, in a school-house during the noon intermission.

Archbishop Wood of Philadelphia decides that the Grand Army of the Republic is not a secret society, and that Catholics can be members.

President McCosh on Saturday expelled five students from Princeton college for ungentlemanly conduct at Trenton.

Two daring highway robberies were committed at Long branch on Saturday, in broad daylight, the rascals making good their escape in both instances.

Clark Brown, for the murder of his father and sister, at West Winchester, Ont., September 2d, was on Saturday sentenced to be hanged October 31st.

A Silver Reef, Col., despatch reports that a party of twenty-eight prospectors, who started on an expedition two months ago, were massacred by the Indians near the eastern boundary of Utah.

Frederick Harvey, at Muddy Creek, Va., attempted to kill his step-daughter, Thursday, wounding her in the head and neck six or seven times, then cut his own throat, dying immediately. Religious insanity was the cause.

The schooner William Conners, Capt. Morrissey, from Hayti for New York, arrived at Norfolk, Va., Sunday morning, and was put in quarantine. All the crew are sick with malignant fever, except the captain and one colored man. The mate, Thompson, died shortly after the vessel cast anchor, and one or two others may die. Proper food and medical attendance were furnished.

The police at Lowell report that Henry J. Gunn, who is supposed to have murdered his father at Bridgewater on Wednesday, was seen in Lowell Friday afternoon.

A young man named Chet Beardslee, of Sutton, Mass., while hunting, Saturday afternoon, was accidentally shot by a friend in the leg. The doctors hope to save the limb.

The United States court has denied the request of Samuel J. Tilden for a bill of particulars in the suit against him for non-payment of income tax.

Bucholtz, the convicted murderer of Schulte, at South Norwalk, Conn., attempted suicide in his cell at Bridgeport, the other night.

Sexton L. B. Stevens, who superintended the several disinterments of the murdered Mary Stannard of Madison, Conn., and who would have been an important witness against Rev. H. H. Hayden, her alleged murderer, has just died.

It appears that Congressman Townshend originated and carried through Congress the bill increasing the pay of letter carriers, for which the carriers in the New York post-office recently presented S. S. Cox a gold watch worth $400.

The British ship Langdale, Capt. Jenkinson, which sailed from San Francisco June 14th, has been wrecked near Carnsore point, Wexford, Ireland. The captain, his wife and three children, and four of the crew were drowned.

Mary Matthews, daughter of Dr. T. P. Matthews, of Richmond, Va., was accidentally shot by her young playmate, Agnes Walker, Saturday afternoon. An old pistol was lying on the mantel, which Agnes did not know was loaded, and it was discharged, inflicting a wound that will undoubtedly prove fatal.

The remarkable shooting at Creedmoor, last week, is attracting the attention of marksmen everywhere. Out of thirty-two competitors, nineteen made each more than two hundred out of a possible 225, and the eight leading scores foot up 1677 points out of a possible 1800. This is an average quite ahead of Wimbledon and altogether better than any international match record. The meeting has shown an increased interest in rifle shooting, and the military men of New York and New Jersey are learning how to shoot. There is no reason why America should not lead the world in rifle shooting, and it is a manly amusement, which it would be a national advantage to have become popular.

United States gunboats Alliance and Enterprise have sailed from Gibraltar to join the squadron at Villa Franche.

Dogs, Cats and Rats.

A good terrier dog will indicate the fact if any rats are around, and will show where they are. Scotch terriers are the best for this purpose, and will do their best to get them all, but some rats always escape. Dogs are usually noisy, and rats soon learn to detect their whereabouts. Cats, on the contrary, are quiet animals, and never make noise enough to alarm vermin; consequently, rats are more afraid of cats than dogs. On this account cats are of more use in exterminating rats and mice. Three or four female cats, kept in the barns, will usually keep the premises clear of such vermin. When they have young they are indefatigable hunters, and nothing in the shape of rats, mice or squirrels escape them. It is necessary, of course, to kill the kittens when many female cats are kept, in order not to be overrun with them, but notwithstanding this, female cats are most profitable, as they hunt so much better than the males. Cats and dogs are necessary evils, but are less so than rats and mice. They should be fed only sufficient to keep them lively. A few old dishes and pans set around the barns in convenient places, can be filled with milk daily, and the cats soon learn to be ready for their meals, and then do not give any trouble at the house. Fresh liver suits their taste as well as any meat, and costs little.

Cats are not so intelligent as dogs, seldom learning anything beyond the name by which they are called when given food. They are not so good hunters when handled much, as when a little wild. Their value as vermin destroyers does not seem to depend so much on breed, or external beauty, as upon an inherited taste for hunting and killing, or upon being driven by want of food to hunt regularly and skillfully. Some of the most ill-looking cats I ever saw, were the best mousers. A good cat will lie apparently asleep, but the least stir of a mouse or rat within his hearing will instantly arouse his strictest attention and caution, although the ordinary noises around the farmyard or buildings will not disturb his slumbers. A great deal of attention is given to propagating and raising the best breed of dogs, but none is bestowed upon cats, when in reality they are far more profitable to the farmer than dogs. It would seem that a tithe of the care wasted upon dogs would produce cats which would be very valuable for skill in the destruction of rats and mice.—Cor. Country Gentleman.

—Dr. Burnet, wishing to sell a bad horse, mounted it to show off its good qualities, but he did not succeed in managing it as he expected. "My dear Mr. Burnet," said the intended purchaser, "when you want to mislead me, mount the pulpit and not the saddle."

—The Parson—"I'm very sorry to hear, Mrs. Brown, that you were present last night at a 'Plymouth Brethren's' tea meeting. I have often told you that their doctrines are very highly erroneous." Mrs. Brown—"Error'ous, sir, their doctrine may be, but their cake, with Sultany raisins, is excellent!"—London Punch.

—Westfield, N. J., has a sensation. After a dispute between Mr. Cassidy and Mr. Bendermecker, the latter finding the goat of the former in his yard, sawed off the animal's horns and striped him with paint. The next day the Cassidys white-washed Bendermecker's jackass. When the lime began to work he became frisky, dashed into a glass conservatory and finally jumped down a well and broke his neck. The lawyers will be chiefly benefitted by the feud.

Two of Valentine Doane, Jr.'s, bank fishing vessels were last week put in their winter quarters in "the pool" below the second Newcastle bridge, where Mr. Doane's yacht Ada is also lying.

A number of loons were in the river between Goat island ledge and the narrows on Sunday, and moved about on or under the water for an hour or more. These birds are not often seen in that locality.

At the imperial agricultural college in Japan, Prof. D. P. Penhallow, son of Andrew J. Penhallow, Esq., of this city, is to act in place of the president of the college while that gentleman is temporarily absent.

On Friday evening last the Kittery brass band serenaded Mr. E. C. Nealley, superintendent of the navy yard fire department, at his residence on the yard. Mr. Nealey returned the compliment by inviting the band in to an impromptu collation.

A young man named Osgood, residing in this city, was gunning on Gerrish's island Monday afternoon, and in attempting to get up to a flock of beach birds slipped on the weed-covered rocks, which caused the accidental discharge of his gun, by which a half-dozen or more shot were sent into his foot.

Hon. Henry L. Williams, ex-mayor of Salem, Mass., and formerly for twelve or fourteen years a director of the Eastern railroad, died in Salem, Sept. 27th, at the age of sixty-four years. Mr. Williams was at one time largely interested in the East India trade, and had several ships built for him in this city, one of them being the Siam.

From the collector of internal revenue for this district, Col. A. H. Young, we learn that the average receipts are $270,000 per annum. Last month's receipts were $22,000, of which $12,000 were paid by Portsmouth alone. The receipts thus far this month reach $12,000. Major Gerrish, the gentlemanly clerk in the establishment, informs us that the workings of the department are excellent, deputies prompt in their reports, and violations of the law unknown.—Dover Democrat.

Mr. Alonzo Fernald, of Kittery, was engaged in digging a hole in the ground for the purpose of burying a rock, Saturday, when the earth became loose and the rock, which was a large one, rolled in on him and caught his foot, crushing it and holding it fast. He was some distance from any house, and was not heard by any one when he cried for help. He managed after some time to disengage his foot, leaving the shoe still under the rock, and crawled to a stone wall, whence he attracted the attention of a lady who was passing. It is feared his injuries will confine him to his house for a long time.

Hon. Warren Brown is building upon his farm in Hampton Falls a fine residence.

If your taxes for 1877 and 1878 are not already paid, you had best pay them right away. See notice of collector for those years, in another column.

Application having been made to the city authorities of Dover for the use of the city hall for another "grand pedestrian match," the authorities positively refused to again let the hall for any such purpose. Good enough.

The Eastern railroad saw for cutting rails, at the round house, was in operation on Monday, and its screeching could be heard all over the city. The noise must be hideous near at hand, but is not disagreeable a mile away from the saw.

The recent decision of the supreme court relative to special deposits in savings banks, making the ordinary depositors' funds liable for special deposits, has had the effect to cause such banks to confine their operations to a strictly savings bank business.

Nellie Reagan of Dover, a persistent rumseller, had several indictments pending against her in the supreme court, but last week had a fair prospect of settling the whole by the payment of one fine and the costs of prosecution. Nellie was so elated over the favorable outlook that she laid in a fresh barrel of liquor on Friday, and commenced peddling it out. This was reported to the officials, and as a result she had to pay up on all the indictments, which cost her about $215.

UNKNOWN.

The play "Unknown," to be presented at Music hall to-morrow evening by John A. Stevens and a carefully selected company, will be given with special scenery and elaborate stage appointments. Mr. Thomas E. Garret, the dramatic critic of the St. Louis Republican, says the play "is admirably constructed, its plot is interesting, its dialogue entertains and its humor amuses." The piece has proved a great success in the large cities, and has increased in popularity with each representation; residents of this city who have seen it say it is an excellent play and finely acted, and that the scenic effects are unusually attractive and pleasing. Reserved seats can be secured at Preston's.

BIG FIRE IN DOVER.

The most destructive fire which has occurred in Dover for years broke out there about five o'clock Sunday morning; it started in a small barn in the rear of Law's block, and before the engines arrived spread to several large wooden buildings in the vicinity, which were nearly destroyed. The Belknap church was slightly damaged. Total loss about $28,000; insurance, $26,000. The following are the losses and insurances: Henry Law, loss on building, $7000; insurance, $7,500; loss on stock, $800; insurance, $1,500. Hughes estate, on buildings, $6,000; insurance, $3,500. Mrs. Stephen Toppan's building, $500; insured. G. F. Rollins & Co., hardware, $5,000; insurance, $8,000. Kimball & Demerritt, $2,500; insurance, $2,500. Walter Perkins, $400; insurance, $900. J. A. Glidden, undertaker, $800; no insurance. Walter Hughes, saloon, $500; no insurance. Herman Vyth, provisions, $300; insurance, $400. Thomas Sherry, $500; insurance, $400. The tenants of the upper stories, mostly poor people, lose from $3,000 to $5,000, with small insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown.

New Hampshire Items.

A son of Mr. Charles Getchell of Salisbury, aged five years, had his left arm shot off just below the elbow, and his face fearfully lacerated, by the accidental discharge of a gun in the hands of Clarence Lovering, a boy of about twelve, on the afternoon of Friday of last week. The arm was amputated. The lad will recover, it is thought.

Joseph Page, a respected citizen of Milton Mills, died at that place September 20th, aged 84 years. He was a veteran of the war of 1812, in which he served faithfully.

There is a Mrs. Rhodes confined at the reform school, at Manchester, who is only seventeen years of age, but has been three times married. She was sentenced for one year on complaint of her third husband, for disorderly conduct.

The grand jury at Laconia found eight indictments, including the following: Albert H. Glines, attempt to kill; Lyman E. Downs, incendiary; August Thorndike, stealing a horse. Thorndike has already has served six terms in the State prison, and left on Friday on his seventh term, which is seven for years. The other cases were of small importance.

The directors of the Boston, Concord & Montreal railroad have secured counsel and will protest in the supreme court against the heavy tax assessed upon that corporation for the year 1879 by the State board of equalization. The increase of tax over the levy of 1878 is an amount equal to almost half of the annual dividend declared by the road. The present tax is considerably more than double that of last year.

The hard frosts for three successive nights last week did much damage in the valleys to late fields crops, fruit and grass.

Political.

A characteristic letter from Wendell Phillips was published Monday morning withdrawing his name as a candidate for lieutenant-governor of Massachusetts on the greenback ticket.

The correspondent of the New York Sun, Mr. Gibson, who has never been charged with any sympathy with bloody-shirt issues, but who on the contrary is the most stalwart of democrats, has made a formal investigation into the circumstances connected with the murder of young Mr. Dixon in Mississippi; and he publishes a card in which he declares that the murder of Henry M. Dixon in Yazoo was a deliberate, cold-blooded, political assassination, and that the charges made against Dixon are false in every particular.

Dennis Kearney, having first declared that he would hang Grant in effigy, on his arrival in San Francisco changed his tactics, and called on the general and sent in his card. General Grant, evidently regarding Mr. Kearney's enmity as preferable to his friendship, declined to receive him. But possibly Dennis only wanted to see how the general looked so that his effigy might be a good likeness.

What Not To Kill.

The French minister of finance has done a good deed in causing a placard to be posted, which it would be wise for citizens of all countries to have before their eyes. It tells farmers, sportsmen, boys and others what creatures not to kill, as follows:

Hedgehog—Lives mostly on mice, small rodents, slugs and grubs—animals hurtful to agriculture. Don't kill the hedgehog.

Toad—Farm assistant; he destroys twenty to thirty insects per hour. Don't kill the toad.

Mole—Is continually destroying grubs, larvæ, palmer-worms and insects injurious to agriculture. No trace of vegetation is ever found in its stomach. Don't kill the mole.

Birds—Each department loses several millions annually through insects. Birds are the only enemies able to contend against them vigorously. They are the great caterpillar killers and agricultural assistants. Children, don't disturb their nests.

Lady-Bird—Never destroy, for they are the best friends of farmers and horticulturists, and their presence on aphis-ridden plants is beneficial.

—From 1873 to 1879, inclusive, the mints coined 375,641,340 pieces of money, aggregating in value $419,071,313.30.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS

Fever and Ague is most common in the spring, but most severe in the fall and winter. It is strictly a malarious disease, and so surely as the Bitters are adopted, so surely will the individual who adopts this precaution be exempted from its pains and penalties. Add to this its value as a stomachic and anti-bilious agent, and who will venture to gainsay its claims to the first place among family medicines. For sale by all Druggists and respectable Dealers generally.

—It is a great art to keep yourself contended and happy, and it requires a great heart to make others so.

—It is sad to think of it—but the lecture season is close at hand, and no marked improvement has been made in the encyclopedias the past year.—New Haven Register.

—Thackeray never read women's novels. He used to say they were "not strong beer enough." He read very few novels anyway. "Tain't pastry cook," he said. "I bake tarts and sell them. I don't eat them myself. I eat bread and butter."

—In a Normandy inn: A traveller finds in his bill a charge of four francs for biscuits, and calls the landlord. "How is this? Four francs for biscuits? Why, you didn't give us any." "Very true, sir; I will correct it." And the corrected bill reads: "Biscuits, three francs."

—George Iber, a brakeman on the Collinsville branch of the Central railroad in Connecticut, is regarded as the strongest man in that State. He can lift a heavy freighting truck simply by taking hold of the handles; and is said to have lifted 1200 pounds. Since he has been on the road he has broken three brake chains, and when he puts on a brake two men can with difficulty loosen it.

Quick Fortunes in Stocks.

Vast sums of money are made in quick turns of stocks in Wall street. Business has never been more successful. By the new combination plan, large and small investments, (from $25 to $10,000) are combined in one vast sum, and operated by the most skilful operators, securing immense power in the stock market and gaining splendid profits. Thousands of customers are thus united in one concurrent enterprise, and receive their pro rata profits monthly. An Indiana country merchant made $17,892.41 in four operations. A Texas cattle dealer made $32,615.94 in two combinations; a St. Louis shipping merchant made $47,876.21 in less than six months all through the new combination plan of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., which has realized the grandest success in the history of the stock market. Their new circular, with "unerring rules for success," and complete explanations, how to make money in stocks, mailed by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

A Waggish Soldier.

Gen. Lee asked a straggler one day, whom he found eating green persimmons, if he did not know they were unfit for food. "I am not eating them for food, General," replied the man, "I'm eating them to draw my stomach up to my rations." With SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER, handy, even ills resulting from scant rations might have been prevented.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings, and Irritations.

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the result of a single box of CUTICURA REMEDIES are more wonderful than any ever before recorded by any methods or remedies known to the medical profession.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which can be taken into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements with which these vessels have been daily charged.

CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growths which cover the surface and of the disease glands and tubes with Scaly, Scaling, and Irritating Humors; speedily it removes them, leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these great remedies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

SALT RHEUM FOR 30 YEARS

On the Head, Face, and Greater Part of the Body, Cured.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of different kinds and tried good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of CUTICURA. The first application was marked improvement. I continued to use it, and in a short time the disease was all off, and I felt like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and healthy as any child's. Surely I speak in behalf of all persons afflicted with like diseases.

Yours truly, H. WILSON LORD,
AGAWAM, Mass., Sept. 3, 1878.

The CUTICURA SOAP should be used for cleansing all diseased surfaces, as most soaps are injurious to the skin.

LEPROSY.

A Modern Miracle. Astonishing results from the use of CUTICURA.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—We have a case of Leprosy in our city of the disease which is being cured by your CUTICURA remedies. The county had employed all our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail.

The patient commenced using the CUTICURA and immediately began getting better.

He had been confined to his bed for two and one half years. Had not had a clothes on during that time. Last week he dressed for the first time.

When he walked, there would at least one quart of scales come off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not says he is cured, but he is in a fair way to be cured to say the least. Yours truly,
DUNNING BROTHERS.
Druggists and Bookseller.
ALLEGAN, MICH., Feb. 11, 1879.

NOTE.—Messrs. Dunning Brothers are thoroughly reliable merchants, and have shown to us prior to the receipt of this letter. We firmly believe this CUTICURA will permanently cure this very severe case of Leprosy, as it has done many others.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes thick, at others thin, acrid, mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry warm, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, dullness in the head, with pain, hawking to loosen the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice affected, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell, taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, costiveness, debility, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The loathsome disease may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. Pierce's Douche. This is the only form of douche ever yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried into the nasal passages, and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and understood, from the simplicity accompanying each instrument. "Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy" cures the worst cases of "Head in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, being free from strong caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

RUPTURE
DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 30 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 43 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once fattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment, and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to a certain extent, that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affection, it steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. Reference given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home the same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. This admitted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and is mailed in a sealed envelope free. Remember in writing or calling the address is

A GOOD PLAN

Anybody can learn to make money rapidly upon $10 in Stocks, by the "Two Unerring Rules for Success," in Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s new circular; the combination method, which this firm has made so successful, enables people with large or small means to reap all the benefits of largest capital and ability. Thousands of orders, in various sums, are pooled into one vast amount and co-operated as a mighty whole, thus securing to each shareholder all the advantages of the largest operator. Immense profits are divided monthly. Any amount, from $5 to $5,000, or more, can be used successfully. N. Y. Baptist Prest-ly, September 25th, 1878, says, "By the combination system $75 would usually net $15, or 5 per cent.; $50 pays $350, or 7 per cent.; $100 makes $1,000, or 10 per cent, on the stock, during the month, according to the market." Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, June 29th: "The combination method of operating stocks is the most successful ever adopted." New York Independent Sept. 25th: "The combination system is founded upon correct business principles, and no person need be without an income while it is kept working by Messrs. Lawrence & Co." Brooklyn Journal, April 26th: "Our editor made a net profit of $101.75 from $20 in one of Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s combinations." New circular (mailed free) explains everything. Stocks and bonds wanted. Government bonds supplied. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y.

CATARRH

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from a scrofulous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and diseases peculiar to those organs. The discharges from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, may be watery and acrid, or in cold and severe cases mucous and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellow, resembling a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the membrane drying and feverish, the face, front and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it had a tight band around it. In this latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free mattery discharges cause the passages to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing difficult, if not impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs, producing a dry, hacking cough, which is aggravated by the constant desire to hawk and expectorate to throw it off; but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scab formations, and hard masses, which adhere firmly to the nasal passages and throat, and require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye is sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, ending frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and deafness in one or both ears. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs may cause affected by catarrh, and when presentation of the nervous system is superadded, each affection becomes alarming.

A perfect cure of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for the approaching winter, lest it become chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Every step in its preparation, as our line in the directions, mark it as a scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the energy in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to be considered.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for use in all cases. Price, $1. Sold by all wholesale and retail Druggists throughout the United States and Canada, and by WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $17.60 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "Montezuma Lode," capitalized at $25,000,000 (one hundred times as much as this Company,) and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is required is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this company, ten thousand shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $3.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. Use of Alum.

A bit of alum kept near a wash basin or towel rack and frequently rubbed over the face while yet damp, will do much toward removing tan and preventing unsightly pimples. I have never found anything better for cankerous sores on the lips and tongue. If mixed with vinegar and water, salt and pepper, it will cure ordinary sore throat; grated and stirred in molasses it is splendid for croup. I have known cases of toothache, when all the common pungent remedies failed, to be instantly quieted by inserting in the cavity of the tooth a bit of moist cotton, sprinkled with equal quantities of pulverized alum and salt. Really good bread can be made from grown wheat if one tablespoonful of alum and two tablespoonfuls of butter are added to each ordinary sized baking, and it is excellent in cheap molasses cookies to give the desired crispness when little butter is used. A really good cement can be made by melting a bit of alum and using immediately, but one must be quick or the value will be lost. A gentleman has just told me how he so thoroughly deadened the nerve of a decaying tooth that it has not ached for years, by frequently using alum that had been dropped on a hot surface and left until it stopped "boiling." A piece the size of a kernel of corn was not all used for one tooth. It is good for hardening cucumbers after being taken from salt brine, and I have read that if previous to using lamp-wicks they are soaked in strong alum water, they will give a brighter light. It is good to add to the water used in washing bedsteads, the infestors thereof dishking it most thoroughly. Lovely crystallized bouquets can be made by dissolving one pound of alum in one gallon of water, and immersing grasses, when the alum will form in shining crystals on every branch. I was purchasing lately a bit of blue cambric for trimming and on asking the clerk if it would wash well, he said he would warrant it to wash, and then added smiling, "but it will fade—all blue will; every one buys it for trimming, as they can get nothing better, and the color can be made much more durable by dipping in strong alum water previous to washing"—which fact I know the truth of, and it is a query in my mind why manufacturers do not give it the alum bath before offering it for sale, and thus save the purchasers the trouble of so doing.

Properties of Ginger.

The increasing use of ginger in the home pharmacy excites the wonder that it has held so limited a place there, having been regarded as a pleasant condiment in the kitchen, ignoring the great fact of its superior virtues as a medicine. A bowl of ginger tea, associated with soaked feet and a flat rock, for a cold, was its principal office, but now a home without a bottle of SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER would be considered behind the age. The principal properties of ginger are stimulant and carminative, and these properties, contained in the extract, meet a hundred little needs and ails, the application of which, in nine cases out of ten, averts the necessity for a doctor, often at a distance, and restores the sufferer to health. As a preventive of serious disease it is invaluable.

Does the World Move?

The Rev. John Jasper, of Virginia, says, "De sun do move, for in de mornin' it shines on dis side ob de house, whil in de ebenin, on dat side ob de house. Now, if he don't move, how com he dar?" Notwithstanding Mr. Jasper's logic, we yet believe the world moves. When Mr. Jasper's ideas constituted the popular belief, people thought to die of small-pox or cholera was simply fulfilling one of nature's laws. Now, through vaccination, small-pox is averted, while cholera, cholera morbus, dysentery (flux), and diarrhœa, are readily cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Compound Extract of Smart-Weed. Does not such evidence tend to prove that "the world moves?" As an external remedy for cuts, bruises, sprains, swellings, bites and stings of insects, the Compound Extract of Smart-Weed has no equal. Veterinary surgeons have also employed it with marked success.

—It is a novel, if not unprecedented thing, for a grandmother to attend as a pupil the school taught by her granddaughter, and that grand-daughter older than herself. Yet Mrs. Daniel Martin of Bellefonte, Ala., exhibits such a phenomenon, for, having been married four years ago to old man, she being now but sixteen years of age, she attends the district school of which her step-grand-daughter is the principal.

—He is a very small boy, just beyond the limits of babyhood. His precociousness is well recognized by those who know him, and sometimes people try to corner him in a logical way. The other day some one took him up and asked him if he was papa's boy. He answered "Yes." "And are you mamma's boy, too?" "Yes," replied Charlie. "Well, how can you be papa's boy and mamma's boy both at the same time?" was asked him. "Oh," replied Charlie, indifferently "can't a wagon have two horses?"

—Nancy Jane Pratt, of Iroquis county, Illinois, ordered a hunter off her farm and received the saucy reply: "Oh, you ain't in any danger; I ain't huntin' old maids." She promptly turned, went into the house, came out with a gun, opened fire on the hunter and killed his dog. The fool threw up his hands and yelled: "Do you mean to murder me?" The farmer's wife answered. "Oh, you ain't in any danger; I ain't huntin' for fools," and she brought the gun again to her shoulder, while the chap yelled louder than before. Here the husband put in an appearance and toed the fellow off the premises.

Knight Templars' Annual Conclave.

R. E. Grand Commander, Sir J. W. Hildreth of Concord;

V. E. Deputy Grand Commander, Sir Benjamin F. Rackley of Dover;

E. Grand Generalissimo, Sir Nathan P. Hunt of Manchester;

E. Grand Senior Warden, Sir Milton A. Taylor of Nashua;

E. Grand Junior Warden, Sir Andrew Bunton of Manchester;

E. Grand Treasurer, Sir Frank A. McKean of Nashua;

E. Grand Recorder, Sir Geo. P. Cleaves of Concord;

E. Grand Standard Bearer, Sir Washington Freeman of Portsmouth;

The Six-Days Tramp.

The board of managers of the late international walking match held a private meeting on Monday, and the gate money was divided as follows:

Rowell, $12,500, which with $6,500 sweepstakes makes a total of	$25,000 00
Merritt	7,812 00
Hazael	4,192 50
Hart	3,620 00
Guyon	1,950 00
Weston	1,365 00
Ennis	975 00

The Oppressive Banks.

The list of semi-annual dividends of the Boston banks shows that the banks have not yet begun to make money; their small dividends have been noticeable all through the hard times. Out of sixty banks within the limits of that city, ten pass their dividends altogether, and twenty-two pay only two per cent. Only one pays three per cent quarterly, or six semi-annually; one pays 4 1-2, six pay four, one pays 3 1-2, thirteen pay three, four pay 2 1-2 per cent, and two are undecided. It thus appears that anything over six per cent per annum is entirely exceptional, and we find one-sixth of the whole number passing the October dividend, altogether.

News and Notes.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Morris, of Volinia, Cass county, Mich., were murdered Sunday night, it is supposed with the object of obtaining money, received from a large sale of wheat.

Thirty thousand school children visited Woodward's garden at San Francisco on Monday, where a reception was held in honor of Gen. Grant.

The skeleton of the body of George W. Morse, of Reading, Mass., aged seventy years, missing since June 14th, 1878, was found in a swamp in the eastern part of that town on Sunday, with a pistol near by. It is an undoubted case of suicide.

Marie Raymond was on Monday divorced from John T. Raymond, the actor, in New York. Raymond is the "Col. Sellars" of Mark Twain's play.

It is suspected that Joseph A. Low, of West Cumberland, Me., who was found dead in his barn Saturday morning, with his head split open and nearly chopped off, was killed by a relative; a brother, James N.—Low, being especially mentioned in connection with the crime.

A Lewiston, Me., patriarch named Smith has annually, for fourteen years, reported to the town clerk a birth in his family.

The total receipts of the recent Maine State fair were nearly $9,500 and the expenses $8,500, leaving $1,000 surplus toward extinguishing the society's debt.

Father Hennessy of Jersey City recently refused to conduct funeral services over the remains of a woman named O'Rourke, because more than twelve carriages were in attendence, and closed the church gates, refusing to allow the body to enter. The priest claimed that this was in accordance with orders from the bishop. After several of the carriages were dismissed the services were allowed to proceed. Much excitement was occasioned by Father Hennessy's action.

Capt. Edward Hicken, formerly of Newburyport, Mass., was killed on the 15th ult. by an explosion of 400 kegs of gunpowder in a railroad train at Bantan Bay island, where he recently settled.

The working spinners at the Sagamore mill at Fall River, Mass., being notified that hereafter they would be required to pay board, equivalent to a reduction of wages, struck in a body Monday morning.

Sunday morning, before the family arose, Charlie Robinson, aged six years, a son of John E. Robinson of South Walpole, Mass., shot himself in the head with a pistol, the ball entering the ear and lodging in the head. His recovery is improbable. No cause is assigned for the act, but it looks like a case of suicide.

Here are some figures which for once do not lie. For eight weeks ending Sept. 10th, 1879, exports of wheat from seven American ports for European markets, were 83,269,032 bushel against 21,130,055 bushels for the corresponding eight weeks of last year. Hence a general buying and selling all over the country, but especially in the great commercial centres, which are the first to feel a depression or revival of trade. All accounts of the fall trade in New York city agree in saying that the present is the most prosperous season since 1872.

Frank Palmer, alias Parker, was last week arrested for stealing the yacht Topsy, and taken from Gloucester to Rockport. Last Sunday night he sawed a hole in the lock-up and escaped, first setting fire to the premises. The watchman, who was asleep, was awakened by the smoke. If the fire had got under way it would have been a serious one. It was supposed that Palmer had an accomplice who assisted him, and that they went off in a dory. In addition to the crime of yacht stealing and arson, Palmer is "wanted" for burglary and larceny.

Charles Irish, a post-office clerk in Brooklyn, N. Y., who had rifled letters of some three thousand dollars, escaped arrest Monday by jumping fences when officials presented themselves to arrest him.

Mrs. Mary E. Lounsbury of Stratford, Conn., has been commited to jail without bail, to await trial for the murder of her husband.

Circumstances lead to the belief that the man who committed the murderous assault on Chester Goodale at South Egremont, Mass., was a worthless fellow named Webster, of Pittsfield, who has fled.

Pinafore was revived at the Boston theatre Monday evening, Mr. Barnabee appearing as Sir Joseph Porter with his usual good success. Miss Adelaide Phillipps took the part of Little Buttercup.

Information is received from Commander Davis, at Pernambuco, of the completion of the last link in the chain of telegraphic longitudinal measurments extending from the Greenwich, England, observatory to Buenos Ayres, in South America.

Samuel Sterett died at Baltimore, Sunday night, aged forty-six years. He was a son of the late Commodore Sterett, was in the Confederate service, captured as a spy and condemned to death, but his sentence was commuted by President Lincoln to imprisonment during the war in Fort Warren.

Rev. Joseph Cook writes from San Francisco that the American part of the population does not share the prevailing prejudice against the Chinese, but is in full sympathy with eastern feeling on this subject.

Rev. J. W. Johnson, of the Grace Methodist Episcopal church, Worcester, Mass., announced to his congregation on Sunday morning that he was ready to preach, but should not do so till he got $1000 from them. This was in keeping with a vote passed by the officers of the church at the beginning of the present year, that hereafter they would act upon the plan of pay as you go. As the first half of the year expires Oct. 1st, the treasurer reported that he should need $864 to meet current expenses to the above date, and in response to the call of the pastor, cash and cash subscriptions were received amounting to upward of the $1000 called for. The sittings in this church are free, and the expenses are met by voluntary contributions.

John Peterson is an engineer on the Northern New Jersey railroad—a good, careful man, highly esteemed by his superiors; but he was doubly unfortunate on a recent Monday. Three young and wealthy ladies—Miss Bussing of Brooklyn and Misses Hatch and Humphrey of Englewood,—went down the track of the railroad to pick ferns and other botanical treasures. While doing so they had occasion to cross a bridge, and right around a turn in the road came Peterson with his engine thundering upon the affrighted girls. Misses Hatch and Humphrey escaped; but Miss Bussing was run over, both her legs and an arm were cut off, and when the train stopped and she was picked up she gasped, "Take me to my mother," and sank into a happy unconsciousness ending in death. She was buried on the twenty-fourth anniversary of her birth-day. Peterson was greatly shocked by the accident, but later in the day he met with another, almost if not quite as sad. A little child three years of age, playing upon the track, was the next victim. When the train reached Jersey City, Peterson wept like a child, and jumping from the fatal engine he said excitedly, "You can take care of that engine yourselves, for I have had enough of her." He was so affected that he went home sick.

The Russian court invited Dr. Ayer and his family to the Archduke's wedding in the Royal Palace. This distinction was awarded him not only because he was an American, but also because his name as a physician had become favorably known in Russia on its passage round the world. —*Pueblo (Col.) Kearney has concluded not to burn General Grant in effigy. Captain Jack, the poet scout, notified Kearney that he wanted to scalp the man who burned or hung Grant in effigy and Denis has discovered that he don't know of any one who wants to go into the effigy business —San Francisco Golden Era.

—A Texas man has been socially ostracised. They have had three lynchings in his neighborhood recently, and he hasn't been invited once.

—Mrs. Partington, speaking of the rapid manner in which evil deeds are perpetrated, said that it only required two seconds to fight a duel.

—"Is there a letter here in a scented envelope for my wife?" he asked the postmaster, while the green fire from his eyes made the office look like a leafy forest. "Yes, sir," answered the postmaster, as he handed it out. The jealous man tore it open at once, when lo and behold! it was the milliner's bill for $50.

—An advertisement in a London paper runs thus: "A young woman from Wales wants a situation where no other is kept. No boots or shoes nor windows. Advertiser is a Christian girl, and hopes that no family will reply that is not. Must go out to worship every Sabbath and once in the week. An elderly married couple and Plymouth Brothers preferred. No washing."

—A Romeo went to serenade his best girl, choosing a selection from "Pinafore" as an opening piece. In a voice trembling with emotion and a tendency to split on high notes, he began: "Farewell, my love, light of my—" when a four-pound brick wafted through the midnight air from the old man's bed-room, lodged in the very vitals of his guitar, and the concert stood adjourned.

Probabilities for the New England States, To-Day:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 1, 2 A. M

Clear or cloudy weather, north to west winds, stationary temperature, stationary or lower barometer.

AROUND HOME.

See notice of administrator's sale by auction to-day, of stock of groceries, etc., in store No. 47 State street.

There was a partial suspension of work on the navy yard, Monday and Tuesday, owing to the running short of funds.

At the recent meeting of the Grand Lodge of the United States, I. O. O. F., the name was changed to "Sovereign Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F."

The annual meeting of the Concord & Portsmouth railroad stockholders will be held at the common council room in Manchester on Thursday of this week.

There were fifteen schooners, all but three of them coal laden, lying at the north end wharves Tuesday. Several other colliers were reported as being in the lower harbor.

Twelve boys of Kittery are competing for the prize offered by Hon. Stillman B. Allen of Boston to the boys of York county for the best crop of corn raised by their own labor.

In the supreme court at Dover the case of Clarence E. Knight vs. town of Epsom, for damages for injuries caused by a defective highway, was decided in favor of the plaintiff by a verdict of $1,200.

The contract between the parties who engaged to furnish the material for the Newcastle breakwater, and Mr. Thomas Murphy of this city, for 10,000 tons of stone from the latter's island below the bridge, was closed on Tuesday. Mr. Joseph H. Emery of this city will have charge of the blasting.

It is said that Michael R. Kennedy, the Dover agent of the Eldredge Brewing Co., of this city, disposed of one hundred and twenty kegs of lager and fifty-three barrels of ale on the State fair grounds at Dover, during the continuance of the recent fair. There must have been a drunken old time of it, if this statement is true.

No show-windows in the city occasion more halting of passers-by than do those of D. H. Montgomery's extensive music and picture store, No. 56 Pleasant street. The windows are good ones to "dress," and are made the most of. In the store is the largest and most complete assortment of musical instruments, music books and sheet music, pictures, and other articles kept in a first-class store of the kind, to be found in the city; and pictures are framed in any style to suit, at reasonable prices.

The public are cautioned against receiving any $5 notes of the National State bank of Troy, N. Y., as a dangerous counterfeit is in existence on that bank, and will probably be offered in this vicinity soon. The bills are thus described: The impression on the bill is very light and the paper is better than that ordinarily used by counterfeiters. The back of the bill is of light green, and its general appearance is very deceptive. The engraving of the words, "National State Bank of Troy," is very inferior. The bills are supposed to be transfers from the old plates on the banks of Hanover, Pawling and Tamaqua.

Chaplain W. H. Stewart, U. S. N., is now supplying the pulpit of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Kittery, and is much liked. The church is in a flourishing condition, and it is believed that much good will result from Mr. Stewart's labors. This society has lately erected a fine church building, which is now the best in town. The work has been carried on by the liberal offerings of the congregation, which have been greatly augmented by many individual presents. Beside a fine toned bell, donated by an elderly lady of the place, and a costly chandalier and bible by another, an elegant altar set has been lately presented by Mr. Frank L. Fernald, U. S. N., formerly of Kittery. Two members of the society have kindly volunteered to fix up the vestry in the basement, and have begun the work.

POLICE COURT.

TUESDAY, Sept. 30; Batchelder, J.

George W. T. Brown, for drunkenness, was asked to hand over $9.90, fine and costs, but he found it more convenient to go to Brentwood and work it out.

Alphonso Caswell, of South Hampton, was held in $200 for his appearance at a higher court, on each of four complaints for selling liquor. Another complaint against the same man, for keeping a disorderly house, was nol. pros'd.

GRAND PEDESTRIAN CONTEST.

There is to be a grand two-hours go-as-you-please contest on Linden street this afternoon. "The boys" have procured a costly canvas belt, price one dollar, and had emblazoned thereon (at a cost of fifteen cents) the word "Champion;" and this proud trophy will be presented to the winner. There were twelve entries up to bed-time last evening.

A QUEER PERFORMANCE.

The Times of Tuesday evening says that several days ago City Marshal Entwisle, while coming from his home espied "a liquor spotter, secretly plying his vocation in this city," and the subsequent proceedings were as follows:

The man's movements, like his appearance, and a book to which he frequently referred, were so suspicious that the marshal very quietly stepped up and directly facing the party, asked him how he was getting along with his business. The spotter was taken aback, but being so closely pressed by Tom's questionings finally "acknowledged the corn" and told the whole story. The marshal secured the man's record book and found therein the names of several liquor dealers in this city, together with the alleged day when the man visited their places, also the hour and what kind of liquor was drank by him in each place. Gently whispering in the man's ear, the marshal told him that if he wanted to escape the direst vengeance from an incensed public he had better make tracks in double-quick time out of the city while yet his business was unknown. The man needed no further instructions, but with blanched face and trembling limbs quickly departed, and has not since been seen hereabouts.

If the foregoing was intended as a puff for the city marshal, we are free to say that it isa back-handed one. If the story is correct in its details, we should really like to know by what authority the city marshal assumes to stop on the street a man who is not engaged in any breach of the laws, to take his property away from him—for the officer had no more right to take the spotter's record book than he had to take his or any other man's pocket-book,—and then to bulldoze him from the city by threatening him with "the direst vengeance" of "an incensed public" if he did'nt clear out in a hurry. If the statement in the Times is not grossly incorrect, the city marshal of Portsmouth entertains a remarkable and not wholly satisfactory idea concerning what his duties are, and should be enlightened thereon. We do not fully credit the story, and shall be glad to have it disproved.

UNKNOWN.

"Unknown," which is to be given at Music hall this evening, was played in Concord one evening last week by the same company, and the Monitor next day spoke of it as follows:

Those who were present enjoyed a rich dramatic treat. The play is a meritorious one, abounding in climaxes and anti-climaxes, racy dialogue and thrilling situations. Unlike so many plays written to show off the "star" of the company, the other characters are well drawn, and appear hardly less prominent than the leading role. Mr. Stevens is even more of an actor than author, and his impersonation of "Unknown," last evening, was a master-piece, almost equal in its way to Joe Jefferson's "Rip Van Winkle." With the form of an Apollo, and a voice clear, strong, and resonant, there is nothing wanting in his "stage presence." He was the recipient of hearty applause in every scene. The other male roles were well represented, particularly that of the low villain (with a lacerated heart) of the piece, by Mr. Ketchum, whose make-up was immense. Mr. Bailey as "Jack Salt" was every inch a tar. Miss Lottie Church, in the leading lady part was vivacious and artistic, and Miss Helen Vincent impersonated the lively waiting maid to perfection. Altogether it was one of the best dramatic entertainments ever given in Concord.

Naval Affairs.

The training-ship Minnesota arrived at Hampton roads on Sunday, from Newport, R. I.

The Swatara was taken out of the dry dock at the Boston navy yard, and had the masts stepped, Saturday.

Orders are expected at Boston to at once put the Ossipee in thorough repair, which it is estimated will cost $100,000.

The Kearsarge hauled into the stream from the Boston navy yard on Tuesday, preparatory to starting for Hampton roads, where she is to take part in the naval drill Oct. 10th.

Capt. Henry Wilson is ordered to command the Constellation, and on arriving on the European station, to take command of the Trenton. Lieut. Comdr. C. V. Gridley is ordered to the Constellation, thence to the Trenton, as executive officer. Lieut. Walter Goodwin has received similar orders, as have also Boatswain James Nash, Gunner Wm. Carter, Carpenter Daniel Brayton, and a lot of ensigns and midshipmen.

Political.

Hugo Preyer, chairman of the "union-greenback-labor party of the United States," has appointed the 8th day of January, 1880, as the time, and the city of St. Louis, Mo., as the place of holding a union convention, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the presidency and vice presidency of the United States, and to transact such other business as may come before said convention. It is to be hoped, says the call, that every honest, aggressive greenback man in the United States will come into the organization and participate in the grandest convention ever held in the United States, in the interest of the people and by the people. There will be no fusion with either of the old parties, at any time or under any circumstances. The people demand the unconditional surrender of both the old parties, and their lasting dismissal from public service.

The town of Petersburg, Va., was alive with excitement last Monday night, with bands playing, pyrotechnic displays, and streets lined with burning tar barrels in honor of the mass meeting held by advocates of the McCulloch bill and repudiation of the State debt. If there is any one thing in the south more in favor than the murder of anybody who votes against the democratic party, it is the repudiation of honest debts.

Ex-County Collectors Hart, Moore and Joseph C. Letson, and Abram Barkelew, ex-collector of East Brunswick township, N. J., were charged, in court Monday with embezzlement upon indictments presented by the grand jury. They pleaded not guilty, and were held for trial December 3d. Democratic "reform" is a wonderful thing, and very costly.

The new democratic fire commissioners of Brooklyn, N. Y., three weeks ago summarily discharged some seventy republican members of the fire department, putting democrats in their places. The discharged men brought an action in court to be replaced, as they had been illegally discharged, in that no complaint had been made against them for inefficiency. The city auditor also refused to pay the new appointees until a decision was rendered by the court. Monday the court decided that the removals were in violation of law, and ordered their reinstatement.

—"Little Mac," the celebrated dwarf comedian, who was first introduced to the public by Dan Bryant, and in the days of Bryant's Minstrels was a feature of the famous troupe, has died in New York.

—It was in the sixteenth century that woodyard men first discovered how to pile the sticks crossways in a box, and large a customer out of one-eighth on every cord. Don't look upon it as a new thing.—Detroit Free Press.

—Some New Haven workmen in removing a piece of masonry built seven years ago, found buried in the cement, a toad. It was black, and apparently lifeless, but, after a few minutes exposure to the air, it breathed and hopped away.

—We are in the receipt of some spirited verses from an unknown poet in which vociferous is made to rhyme with rhinoceros. It's this sort of treatment that makes the rhinoceros stick to the circus and resist all efforts looking to his reformation.—Albany Journal.

—A health commissioner in charge of the St. Louis quarantine tried to frighten off a grand jury, which had come in a boat to investigate the place, by telling them that he had five cases of yellow fever in the hospital. They persisted in landing, and not only found that there was no fever there, but that the mismanagement justified an indictment of the commissioner.

—A "bread or blood" disciple in New York lately killed a man because the latter refused to employ him. He says, "Before I killed him I went to a grocery, in Baxter street, where I drank a glass of brandy. I then wandered down to the Battery. I had had nothing to eat since the evening before, when I ate two cents worth of crackers." The price of the brandy would have bought many crackers,—yet this creature committed murder "because he was starving."

—Tobacco has some distinguished female devotees in Europe. Emily Faithful, it is declared, smokes like a Michigan tugboat; the Duchess of Edinburg takes a quiet puff now and then, and the Princess of Wales keeps a little cigarette case which she hides profoundly from thy smoke-abhorring nose of her royal mother-in-law; while the list might be extended by naming Elizabeth Thompson, the artist, Madame Ratazzi of Italy, and others.

—One of the most original and extreme cases of swindling ever recorded was brought to light in a San Francisco court the other day, where it was shown that the plaintiff had had the date on his mother's tombstone changed, in order to make it appear that she had died a year earlier than was the fact, as under the law then in force the mother's half of a piece of property went to the children. The date give as the time of her death was six days prior to the time a change in the law was made.

I deem it a duty to state that Mr. ——, of this county, had his right lung seriously affected with tubercular deposit, accompanied with night sweats, frequent hemorrhage, copious expectoration and much emsciation; the use of Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites seems to have arrested the progress of the disease almost immediately, the hemorrhage has not returned, his appetite is excellent, and he is able to attend to his business as usual.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings, and Irritations.

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the torture of a lifetime, by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, are more wonderful than any ever before performed by any methods or remedies known to the medical profession.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements with which these vessels have been daily charged.

CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growths which cover the surface of the diseased glands and tubes with Scaly, Itching, and Irritating Humors; speedily it removes them, leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these great remedies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

SALT RHEUM FOR 30 YEARS

On the Head, Face, and Greater Part of the Body, Cured.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicine for the blood of different kinds and tried good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of CUTICURA. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales all off, and I felt like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping that this may be seen by some one who is afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cheerfully recommend it to all persons afflicted with like diseases.

Yours truly, R. WILSON LORD.

AGAWAM, MASS., Sept. 9, 1878.

The CUTICURA SOAP should be used for cleansing all diseased surfaces, as most soaps are injurious to the skin.

LEPROSY.

A Modern Miracle. Astonishing results from the use of CUTICURA.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—We have a case of Leprosy in our parishouse which is being cured by your CUTICURA remedies. The county had employed all our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail.

The patient commenced using the CUTICURA and immediately began getting better.

He had been confined to his bed for two and one half years. Had not had his clothes on during that time. Last week he dressed for the first time.

When he walked, there would at least one quart of scales came off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not says he is cured, but he is in a fair way to be cured to say the least. Yours truly,

DUNNING BROTHERS.

ALLEGAN, MICH., Feb. 21, 1878.

NOTE.—Messrs. Dunning Brothers are thoroughly reliable gentlemen, and were unknown to us prior to receipt of the above letter. We firmly believe this CUTICURA will permanently cure this very severe case of Leprosy, as it has done many others.

Prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Rheumatism, and their effects, are eradicated by the vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Scaldhead, Fever-Sores, or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Rolls, Carbuncles, Sore Legs, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish spots or pimples on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness," in mild form of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are manifested, yet a trial is worth it to you. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal as a regulating and purifying cure.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has proved the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of clean, crude, and bulky ingredients, these Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in regions of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about stomach, Small Pimples on Face, Pain in Side, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills putting in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative is indicated, these little Pellets are the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick, mucous, purulent, offensive, etc.; in others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, scabs formed from nasal discharge, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total destruction of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged glands, pain in parts, irritating cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the nasal passages, and the adjacent chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily learned, from the directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists. R. V. PIERCE, M. RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 43 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. Reference given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases, before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

Thousands of orders, in various sums, are pooled into one vast amount and co-operated as a mighty whole, thus securing to each shareholder all the advantages of the largest operator. Immense profits are divided monthly. Any amount, from $5 to $5,000, or more, can be used successfully. N. Y. Baptist Weekly, September 20th, 1878, says, "By the combination system $25 would make $75, or 5 per cent.; $50 pays $350, or 7 per cent.; $100 makes $1,000, or 10 per cent. on the stock, during the month, according to the market." Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, June 29th: "The combination method of operating stocks is the most successful ever adopted." New York Independent Sept. 12th: "The combination system is founded upon correct business principles, and no person need be without an income while it is kept working by Messrs. Lawrence & Co." Brooklyn Journal, April 29th: "Our editor made a net profit of $101.75 from $70 in one of Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s combinations." New circular (mailed free) explains everything. CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat.

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces are depressed. The disease may arise from a scrofulous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and disorganized in the progress of fever. The discharge from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and at a early stage severe redness and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellowish, shading a pale color, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the surfaces being dry and feverish, the face, front and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it was encircled by a tight, unyielding band. This latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. In the matter of discharges cause the passages to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing difficult, the most difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The mucus passing down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations, and hard masses, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, sending frequently inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A neglected catarrh of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for the tomb long before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Every man, in its preparation, every line in the directions, mark it as a scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. Testimonials from all parts from the best people in the United States attest the esteem in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2200 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.00 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "McCracken Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as the Comstock,) and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of the Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $3.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificate will be promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Daily Chronicle.

Military Powers.

There has alway been a disposition among the people and nations of the Old World to sneer at the United States as a military power. But compare their late wars with our little fight among ourselves—commonly called the "Rebellion"—and we are inclined to think that the United States hold a position as a military power above them all.

Take, for example, the last two or three European wars. Two or three reverses met by the French army discouraged the whole nation, turned its capital upside down, spread terror and confusion on every side, decided the war and almost caused France to be blotted from the nations of the earth. The war of 1866 between Austria and Prussia—two "Firs Powers"—lasted six weeks, when Austria came to her knees, and was ready to make almost any terms. The war of 1859, with several of these great military nations involved, was settled by only one battle of any magnitude.

Contrast these puerile "wars" with the civil war in the United States. Skirmishing began almost immediately after the fall of Fort Sumter, and continued till the first battle of Bull Run was fought, July 21st, 1861. Here the Union army suffered a most terrible defeat, involving great less—a defeat which would have caused any European nation to capitulate. But we had not even got started yet. The fall and winter passed away with continual skirmishing and some heavy battles, during which the south suffered the most emphatic defeats in the west and loss their "Queen City," New Orleans. With the spring, McClellan moved his army to the Peninsula, took the heavy fortifications at Yorktown, fought a battle at Williamsburg and pushed on after the retreating enemy. He was soon at the gates of their capital, but with courage only increased by defeat they turned fiercely upon him, and after seven most desperate and bloody battles forced him to retreat to the James. Then, unable to dislodge him from his position, they turned their attention to Washington.

McClellan's army hastily re-embarked, and joining Pope at Washington went out to meet the advancing foe. Then came the second battle of Bull Run, where two hundred thousand soldiers fought for three days. Again victorious, the confederates, commanded by one of the ablest soldiers in the country, dashed into Maryland, which was "enemy's country" to them. The army of the Potomac, again hastily organized by McClellan, met them, and after two fierce battles—South Mountain and Antietam—compelled them to flee into Virginia again. Strongly fortified at Fredericksburg, Gen. Burnside was sent with an army to dislodge them, suffering a terrible defeat and losing thirty thousand men. A few months later, the same army recruited and reorganized, and under command of Hooker, attacked the victorious army at Chancelorville, again resulting in disastrous defeat. Flushed with victory, the confederate army marched two hundred miles, into Pennsylvania, where they were again met by the same old army of the Potomac, under Meade, and driven back defeated. Finally came Grant's campaign, which lasted more than a year and embraced twenty or thirty battles. Meanwhile fighting was going on in the west, south and southwest, with alternate victories and defeats.

In the whole four years the federal government never thought of capitulating, while the plucky south only succumbed when, figuratively speaking, its last breath had gone. In this war of four years, between four and five million soldiers were engaged, and a million of them bit the dust. If this nation is not a military power, certainly those are not whose wars are settled by a single battle.

—San Francisco Golden Era.

Set back 42 Years.

"I was troubled for many years with Kidney Complaint, Gravel, &c.; my blood became thin; I was dull and inactive; could hardly crawl about; was an old worn out man all over; could get nothing to help me, until I got Hop Bitters, and now I am a boy again. My blood and kidneys are all right, and I am as active as a man of forty, although I am seventy-two, and I have no doubt it will do as well for others of my age. It is worth a trial.—(Father.)—Sunday Mercury.

It is Delicious.

Every one says that has used Walter Baker & Co.'s Chocolate and Cocoa preparations. They have stood the test of a century and have become articles of general consumption. Grocers everywhere keep these goods.

Properties of Ginger.

The increasing use of ginger in the home pharmacy excites the wonder that it has held so limited a place there, having been regarded as a pleasant condiment in the kitchen, ignoring the great fact of its superior virtues as a medicine. A bowl of ginger tea, associated with weaked feet and a hot rock, for a cold, was its principal office, but now a home without a bottle of SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER would be considered behind the age. The principal properties of ginger are stimulant and carminative, and these properties, contained in the extract, meet a hundred little needs and ails, the application of which, in nine cases out of ten, averts the necessity for a doctor, often at a distance, and restores the sufferer to health. As a preventive of serious disease it is invaluable.

—And now the returned city people write to their country cousins, with whom they have been staying, that they arrived safely but found the city invested with small-pox, which is likely to last all winter.

A Democratic Parallel.

The horrible murder within twelve miles of Portland, and the almost daily record of shocking crimes in other parts of New England, should suggest modesty in ventilating southern outrages for political capital. "Let him that is without sin cast the first stone."—Boston Post.

That is the only style of answer yet attempted by the democratic press of the north, so far as we have seen, to the republican denunciations of political crimes committed by democrats in the south; and that a paper of the Post's acknowledged ability can do no better than that is a striking proof of the difficulty of saying anything at all in defence of democratic bulldozing in the south.

The republicans do not pretend to say that horrible crimes are not committed in the northern States; they do say, and prove, that horrible crimes are committed in the southern States for political reasons alone, and that such crimes are not only tolerated but approved by the great mass of the southern democrats and democratic papers, and denounced by few democratic papers at the north, most of the latter giving the outrages a half-way defence, similar to that of the Post, copied above.

Not even the bitterest Bourbon copperhead will pretend that the "horrible murder within twelve miles of Portland," or the "shocking crimes in other parts of New England" or anywhere throughout the northern States, had or have any political significance; nor that such crimes are openly or covertly approved by the people of the districts where they occur, nor exultingly boasted of by the press, nor condoned by the authorities of the law. When the Post can ferret out a single case where a northern democrat has been murdered by republicans in pursuance of a preconcerted political plan, and the outrage is boasted of by the republican press throughout the north, and the murderers are at once elected to high official positions by the republicans, then, and not till then, will its attempt to draw a parallel between political crime at the south and ordinary crime at the north be successful.

Political.

The Chicago Times, an independent democratic paper, says: "Conceding Dixon's badness and his quarrel with Barksdal, it remains indisputable that he was shot because he threatened the supremacy of the democratic party in Yazoo county."

Dr. Sampson, a physician, for nearly forty years a resident of Texas, is the latest victim of Bourbon butrage. The shooting of several colored republicans near his home led him to write to the attorney general, asking if protection could not be extended to them. He received a reply, and was holding a meeting to read the letter to those interested, when he was seized and put in an iron cage, and several colored men were killed. After being stripped of nearly all his clothing he was permitted to escape through the intervention of a friend, and found his way to New York; leaving all his property behind in western Texas. Dr. Sampson does not coincide with Mr. Wendell Phillips in his view that the republican party in the north should be disorganized because its "memories and record" drive the iron into the confederate soul.

Hon Josiah G. Abbott, of Boston, in a letter to the democratic State committee of Massachusetts declines to be the candidate of the "real democrats" for governor, and the nomination of Hon. Charles P. Thompson is called for by some of the most influential ones among the faithful few.

Battle With Indians.

Three companies of cavalry under Major Thornburgh were attacked by a large number of Ute Indians near Milk river, Colorado, Sept. 29, and driven back to their wagon train with heavy loss. Major Thornburgh was killed, as were the wagon-master and ten enlisted men; Capt. Payne, the next in command, Dr. Grimes, Lieut. Haddock, and twenty-five soldiers and teamsters, were wounded. The troops entrenched themselves at nightfall, after the Indians retired, and Joe Rankin, their scout, volunteered to carry dispatches to Rawlins, and did so. Nearly all the horses and mules of the command were killed, and the Indians were expected to renew the attack at daybreak on the 30th. Ten companies of troops were at once ordered to the relief of the imperilled party.

Battle With Banditti.

A fight occurred Sept. 27th near the Sac and Fox agency in the Indian Territory, between a party of soldiers from Fort Sill and twelve desperadoes under the lead of Jim Barker, in which Barker and eight of his ruffians were killed.

News and Notes.

A despatch from Lieut. Delong to the navy department announces the arrival at Lawrence bay, Siberia, Aug. 27th, of the Jeannette. All were well, and she would leave on that night for Cape Lodge Kamen, and hoped to reach Fort Wrangel this season.

The imports of specie at New York for the week ending Sept. 28th were $7,070,000, mostly in foreign gold coin.

It is officially announced that the Hanlan-Courtney boat race will occur on the 16th inst., on Chatauqua lake, N. Y.

Weston's share of the gate money in the recent tramp was attached by his creditors, but the attachment was disregarded and the money paid over to Weston's wife, as she paid his entrance fee. The champion belt is also under attachment by Weston's creditors, and Rowell will have to institute a suit at law to get it. O'Leary says he will challenge Rowell.

The Connecticut creditors of Rev. W. H. H. Murray held a meeting Sept. 30th, and one of them expressed the opinion that Mr. Murray's assets would have paid all creditors had Murray been given time, and the assets been prudently managed. Mr. Murray was not present.

North Carolina has just had a queer sensation. Says the Winston Sentinel: "We learn that a colored woman, who does not bear very plainly the marks of her race, has been spending some time at one of our neighboring watering places, where she passed herself off and was received as a white lady from Michigan. She was very popular and made many friends, both ladies and gentlemen. From what we learn there is going to be a regular monkey and parrot time over the affair."

On the 30th ult. the Portland (Me.) rolling mills were sold at auction to J. B. Brown for $71,000 cash. On the same day a meeting of the creditors of the Portland machine works was held; the liabilities were reported at nearly $52,000; assets, nearly $45,000; leaving a deficiency of about $7000. A committee was chosen to examine and report at a future meeting.

At Bath, N. Y., Sept. 30th, prisoners in the county jail threw cayenne pepper in the eyes of the turnkey when he opened the door, and four escaped before the door was secured. One was captured by a servant girl on the premises. The sheriff's wife seized Jim O'Laughlin, a powerful and notorious desperado, but was choked off; the fellow was chased through the river and shot through the leg on the opposite bank, when he surrendered. A third criminal was captured by a sixteen-years-old boy, with a revolver; the fourth is still at large.

McLin, one of the members of the Florida returning board, who received some notoriety during the electoral count, is dead. He was rejected as a nominee for the United States judgeship in New Mexico.

Shooting negroes continue to be one of the amusements of Texas hoodlums. At Marquez a few nights ago several parties went to the railroad section house, where the negroes were stationed, ran them out of the house and began shooting as the negroes ran off. One negro was shot in the leg, the others escaping without injury. Four young men have been arrested as the perpetrators of the outrage.

Durfee Mill, No. 2, the only mill in Fall River, Mass., which has been entirely suspended since the inauguration of the strike some thirteen weeks ago, resumed operations on the afternoon of the 30th ult., the mules being run by the old spinners.

A young French girl, who was terribly burned at the destruction of the French Catholic church at Holyoke, Mass., a few years ago, had a new scalp engrafted over the top of her head, the skin for the purpose being taken in small bits from the arms of her parents. The girl has now a good head of hair, which appeared to root and spread over the new surface from the part of the scalp that was not burned. The engrafting process was a complete success.

Bennett Aldrich of Montgomery, Mass., was bitten by a rattlesnake some three weeks ago, when full of liquor. Since that time he has drank a gallon of liquor a day, and he says he has experienced no unpleasant effects from the bite except a severe swelling of the bitten foot.

Eight thousand dollars were awarded at Alexandria, Va., on the 30th ult., against Beverly J. Daingerfield for being accessory to the shooting of D. C. Thompson a year ago, when Thompson was shot by George W. Harrison.

The plague of wild beasts and snakes in India is extraordinary indeed. Snakes alone in 1877 killed nearly 17,000 persons, and tigers, elephants, leopards and other wild beasts nearly 3,000 more. Efforts are made at the time to destroy the animals, but without apparent reduction of the numbers. About 127,000 snakes and 22,000 wild beasts were killed, and $50,000 were paid in rewards for their destruction in 1877.

One of the most convenient and comfortable hotels, for travelers and families visiting or passing through the city of New York, is the Grand Union Hotel, nearly opposite the Grand Central depot. It contains over 350 elegantly furnished rooms, supplied with every convenience, and is kept on the European plan—rooms have been reduced to one dollar per day and upwards. The restaurant, lunch and wine rooms are supplied with the best at moderate prices. Guests will be careful to see that "Grand Union Hotel" is on the sign where they enter, as the corner of 42d street and Fourth avenue does not belong to the Grand Union.—New York People.

A Dangerous Counterfeit

The Dayton (Ohio) Democrat in its issue of Sept. 27th says:

Business circles in this city were thrown out of balance yesterday afternoon by the discovery of a new counterfeit five-dollar greenback note, and the additional discovery that the city is flooded with them didn't in the least improve matters. Best informed business men, including bankers, are of the opinion that at least 1,000 of the spurious bills, or in all $5,000, are in circulation in Dayton and its immediate vicinity. That the bill is a good imitation may be inferred from the fact that up to a late hour yesterday they were received and paid out without question over the bank counters in Dayton. The spurious money was introduced last Monday, and up to yesterday afternoon passed currently. Its spurious character was discovered by James Ritty, who to test the matter deposited a sum of money in one of the banks of the city, placing one of the counterfeit bills in the lot. It was received along with the other bills, but subsequently he called the attention of the bank officers to the bill. The bill is of the new issue of the greenback, (not national bank,) and of the denomination of $5. We have examined quite a number of them, each of which was of series "C." The face of the bill is remarkably well executed, and will readily deceive even the best judges. The paper is of good, though not the best, quality; it is rather thin and light, not having quite the body of the genuine, and the bills have the appearance of being somewhat worn. Its spurious character, however, is readily discovered upon inspection of the back of the bill. Between the vignette in the centre of the back and the left end is an unprinted space which in the genuine is filled with silk fibre apparently woven or molded into the paper. In the counterfeit there is none of this fibre, but instead a neatly executed representation of the same, made with ink. It is, all in all, one of the most dangerous counterfeits in circulation.

Prudent Stock Speculations.

The Stock Exchange never presented such an admirable condition for profitable and rapid stock operations. There never before have been so many fortunes made by quick fluctuations and skillful manipulations. Careful and reasonable people only operate through the combination system of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., which enables those with large or small means to invest and realize handsome profits, which are divided pro rata among the shareholders every thirty days. New combinations are constantly forming. From $25 to $10,000 can be safely invested with splendid opportunities for quick profits. An Illinois grain dealer made $13,220.41 in two investments. A Michigan farmer invested $50, which yielded $433.14. He made by three reinvestments over $3000. A Wisconsin country merchant made $4,249.16 in four combinations; and others have done equally as well. New explanatory circular, with "unerring rules for success," mailed by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

AROUND HOME.

Tony Denier's Humpty Dumpty Pantomime Troupe will appear at Music hall next Monday evening, with Geo. H. Adams (Grimaldi) as clown, Charles Adams as Pantaloon and Miss Mabel Stanton as Columbine.

The auction sale of groceries in store No. 47 State street was adjourned Wednesday afternoon until nine o'clock this morning, when it will be resumed. A large quantity of the most desirable goods in the store still remains to be disposed of.

C. Robinsons & Son's team-horse ran away from in front of their store at about noon on the 1st inst., and went up Bow into Daniel street, where the wagon struck a post and the team was stopped. The wagon was somewhat broken, but no other harm was done.

Mr. J. Edwards Risley, secretary of the New York State Temperance society and member of the New York county bar, will lecture at Mechanics' hall this (Thursday) evening at 7:30 o'clock; subject, "Progress and heroism of the cause." During the lecture Mr. Risley will give a recitation of Conrad's fine poem illustrative of heroism. All are invited; admission free.

The diploma awarded to this city at the French Exposition was on the 1st inst. formally presented to the high school by the committee, the chairman, Dr. J. R. May, making a very appropriate and interesting address, and the other members of the committee offering brief remarks. The diploma, having been framed, is now on exhibition in the window of Montgomery's music store, where it will remain for a few days.

A very good audience witnessed the performance of "Unknown" at Music hall on the evening of the 1st inst., and it gave entire satisfaction, if applause is anything to judge by. Mr. John A. Stevens is a really good actor, Miss Lottie Church pleased the audience very much, Mr. Wm. H. Bailey made a most astounding old sailor, and "Jimmy," a cockney villain, and "Pat," made much sport. The play is far superior to the average sensational drama, and the company much better than most of those travelling. The general verdict was, "A good show."

Mr. John Albee, whose course of lectures on English Language and Literature will begin at the Unitarian church, October 9th, is a resident of Newcastle, where he occupies a quaint, venerable house, two hundred years old. He divides his time between practical farming of which business he is an expert, and literary labor, and is frequently visited by the literati of the country of both sexes. He has published some gems, in both prose and poetry, but is chiefly engaged of late years in the reviewing of books and lecturing. He has recently been secured as one of the lecturers at the "Concord School of Philosophy," for next summer, where he will be associated with Emerson, Harris, Alcott, Bartol, and others. As a speaker, his manner is engaging, but not demonstrative, and his voice is wonderfully sweet and musical. His lectures are studies rather than entertainments, and he requires and secures the close, happy attention, and mental activity of his hearers. The capital city of New Hampshire should certainly show its appreciation of one of our own citizens of such rare gifts.—Concord Monitor.

One of the finest of the many fine views which abound in this vicinity on both sides of the river, is that which greets the traveller northward through the eastern part of York, over the new road, when he arrives at Cheney's hill, within the town of South Berwick, and near the northwestern boundary of York and the northeastern boundary of Eliot. Suddenly emerging from the woods on the northern slope of the hill, the traveller, if he have any eye at all for the beautiful, will find spread out before him a view of surpassing loveliness. Included in the landscape are the villages of South Berwick in Maine and Salmon Falls and Great Falls in New Hampshire, while far off to the northwest the "blue hills" stretch along, and on a clear day the White mountains are plainly visable. A half-hour's view of this landscape is well worth all the trouble it costs one to visit the spot from this city.

Schooner Sunrise, of Kennebunk, built by the late Lyman Mitchell and William Brooks, has been sold by Robert W. Lord to New York parties for $3350. She is to go into the South American trade.

In a farm-house at Hampton is an aged man, who was for fifty years entirely blind. Some six months since his sight returned, and now, at the age of eighty-two, he can read fine print with the aid of glasses.

The officers of the State agricultural society had a special meeting at the American house in Dover on the night of the 29th ult., to examine the bills presented against the society on account of the State fair; the session lasted nearly all night, the bills being very numerous, but they were all passed upon, and there is money enough in the treasury to pay in full all approved claims at once, and the premiums at the end of thirty days from the close of the fair.

POLICE COURT.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 1; Batchelder, J.

Thomas Hoyt, for drunkenness, was fined $5, costs $6.90. In default of payment, has gone to board with Col. Kent.

Thomas Dunn, Michael McCarthy, John Wallace and James Murphy, four young fellows who have been hanging around town on a drunk for a week or so, were each fined $3 for drunkenness, with costs of $6.90 in each case. Most of them will sober off at Brentwood.

GRAND PEDESTRIAN CONTEST.

The great two-hours go-as-you-please pedestrian match on Linden street, Wednesday afternoon of this week, was an eminent success. The course as laid out was twenty-seven laps to a mile; scorers, time-keeper, etc., were installed in due form, and at the hour appointed, two o'clock, seven candidates for pedestrian glory set off at a lively pace, in presence of a goodly number of spectators, admission to the show being gratis, while the competitors for the champion belt were charged five cents each, entrance money.

The day was hot, and so was the pace—too hot for some of the contestants; and the number of racers was soon diminished by the dropping out of one and another, until at the end of an hour only two were left, viz.: Michael Hurley and Will Carroll, two youths about twelve or thirteen years old. Carroll was a lap ahead of Hurley all through the race until a few minutes before the finish, when Hurley made one grand spurt and caught up, and in spite of all Carroll could do passed him; and when the time-keeper announced that the time was up, Hurley was a quarter of a lap ahead. On time being called Hurley stopped, but Carroll kept on and passed Hurley's score; and then it was announced that time was called a few seconds too soon, and the managers of the race awarded the champion belt to Carroll. But the spectators—by this time amounting to quite a large crowd—remonstrated strongly against this, and the belt was finally handed over to Hurley, whose score for the two hours was twelve miles and seven laps.

During the progress of the race the hat was passed around every time the managers saw a new comer drop into the edge of the crowd, and the collections were sufficient to defray expenses and leave a little something over.

During the contest several little episodes occurred that were not down on the bills. One of the pedestrians was making excellent time around the track, evidently determined to win an honorable place in the record if he could not carry off the belt, when suddenly his irate mother swooped down on the ring like a hawk on a chicken-yard, and carried him off by the arm. The flutter occasioned by this untoward occurrence was but momentary though the other aspirants for fame were noticed to keep a good lookout both ways of the street after that.

This grand race had a suspicious flavor of "jockeying" about it in one respect, as related above, just like the big races; and to complete the parallel a colored pedestrian went on the track,—which his name it is "Yeppo," and he is three feet wide, three feet deep and three feet high, or about that measurement. Yeppo took the track simply for an "exhibition spin," and went around at a lively rate amidst the enthusiastic applause of the spectators, presenting much the appearance of an animated keg of coal tar.

While the race was in progress a man attempted to drive through the crowd with a wagon. He was requested by several grown persons to turn around, so as not to interfere with the sport of the boys, but finally started to drive ahead, the crowd opening to let him pass. Just then a bucket of water thrown by some person unknown—certainly not by any of the boys—hit the man in the face and breast, and he immediately turned his team and drove off the other way.

The "gate-money" we are informed amounted to forty-five cents each for the managers; but we are sorry to be obliged to add that grave doubts are expressed as to the official integrity of the treasurer.

The winner of the belt has to hold it against all comers, and must win it three times before it becomes his private property.

The next championship race we believe was appointed for Wednesday afternoon, the 8th inst.

Information has just been received that Joseph G. Chandler, a member of the sophomore class of Dartmouth college, who was striken with fever at Salt Lake, U., while traveling with his father, Hon. Wm. E. Chandler, has suffered a relapse and his recovery is considered impossible.

A masked man stopped a stage near Keene, Sept. 30th, and asked the driver to bring him a loaf of bread. The man in height and build answered the description of the supposed murderer of Mr. Gunn of Bridgewater, Mass.

Mr. Edward S. Sanborn of Kingston has placed a nice bell on the Universalist church, and caused the church to be neatly and appropriately frescoed. And he and his relative, Mr. P. E. Sanborn of Hallowell, Me., have given the parish a valuable pipe organ. Mr Kelley of Boston has placed two lamps in front of the church. Mrs. Dr. Bartlett, a member, gave the lot for the church. The venerble Dr. Bassett, a member, gave the communion service. Father Webster gave the chandelier lamps.

Naval Affairs.

The U. S. S. Kearsarge sailed from Boston for Hampton roads on the 30th ult.

The U. S. S. Tuscarora has, it is reported, been ordered to leave San Francisco for Mazatlan, to look into the matter of the arrest of Capt. Metzer of steamer Newbern.

—An exchange re-echoes the old adage that "Tammany cooks spoil the broth."

—One of the most popular organizations among working people is the "Corset Pressers' Association," at New Haven. Everybody wants to join.

—Two hundred years ago the term of "Miss" was a title of positive disrespect, and was applied only to unchaste women. Unmarried ladies always received the title of Mistress.

—Women somehow get over childish notions that men never outgrow. Some men celebrate the anniversary of every birthday as long as they live, while women quit doing so almost as soon as they grow up.

"They Are All Sold!"

"I am too late for this month's drawing!" is the tenor of a complaint which is becoming very general among those who loiter and wait until the day immediately preceding the monthly drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery Company, which occurs invariably at New Orleans, on the second Tuesday of every month. The fact is that the integrity with which every action of this institution is characterized has so strengthened its reputation that its tickets are sold every month some days before the drawing, and therefore any one desirous of investing in this manner should suffer no time to elapse before they correspond with M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 662, New Orleans, or same person at No. 319 Broadway, New York, relative to the 113th Grand Monthly Drawing which occurs on October 11th.

CAUTION.

Do you wish to have your hair cauterized from the scalp? No! Then beware of the new brood of vitriolic and caustic dyes got up by nostrum-mongers, who bear the same relation to the responsible chemist that Wholesale Swindling.

William Ringgold Cooper, an American, was recently arrested in London for a successful forgery of $20,000 on Glyn, Mills & Co. The forged check had been paid, and the forger would have escaped but for his own foolhardiness; while detectives were looking for him, he walked into the bankers' office and demanded what all this talk was about a forged check, when he was promptly arrested. The arrest has led to the discovery of another forgery, on the Bank of England, in June last. The detectives also learned that he has been living in sumptuous fashion at an elegant country seat, called East Lodge, near Hertfordshire. Here he played the part of an English country gentleman, hunted and shot with the neighboring gentry, gave grand balls and dinner parties, attended church regularly, gave liberally to the poor, and was highly respected. Meanwhile he paid frequent visits to London, and forged the names of his respectable neighbors in Hertfordshire. Cooper was born in Kent county, Delaware. In 1861 he was employed as clerk in the navy department at Washington, where he forged the names of Paymasters Spaulding and Allen to requisitions amounting to $175,000. He was arrested while on his wedding trip, and after a speedy trial, was sentenced for five years. After his release he went to New Orleans, married an estimable lady there, squandered her fortune, committed extensive forgeries, was arrested, jumped his bail and disappeared. He next turned up in San Francisco, where he procured employment as a clerk at $65 per month. He soon went into business as a stockholder, swindled his partner out of $75,000, and disappeared. Since then he has kept up his career of swindling in Europe, but is now likely to get his deserts; that Bank of England business will fix him.

I deem it a duty to state that Mr. ——, of this county, had his right lung seriously affected with tubercular deposit, accompanied with night sweats, frequent hemorrhage, copious expectoration and much emaciation; the use of Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites seems to have arrested the progress of the disease almost immediately, the hemorrhage has not returned, his appetite is excellent, and he is able to attend to his business as usual.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings, and Irritations.

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the torture of a lifetime, by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, are more wonderful than any ever before performed by any methods or remedies known to the medical profession.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements with which these vessels have been daily charged.

CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growths which cover the surface of the diseased glands and tubes with Scaly, Itching, and Irritating Humors; specifically it removes them, leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these great remedies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

SALT RHEUM FOR 30 YEARS

On the Head, Face, and Greater Part of the Body, Cured.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of different kinds and tried good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of CUTICURA. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales all off, and I felt like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping that this may be seen by some one who is afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cheerfully recommend it to all persons afflicted with like diseases.

Yours truly, R. WILSON LORD.

AGAWAM, MASS., Sept. 8, 1878.

The CUTICURA SOAP should be used for cleansing all diseased surfaces, as most soaps are injurious to the skin.

LEPROSY.

A Modern Miracle. Astonishing results from the use of CUTICURA.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—We have a case of Leprosy in our possession which is being cured by your CUTICURA remedies. The county had employed all our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail.

The patient commenced using the CUTICURA and immediately began getting better.

He had been confined to his bed for two and one half years. Had not had his clothes on during that time. Last week he dressed for the first time.

When he walked, there would at least one quart of scales came off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not say he is cured, but he is in a fair way to be cured to say the least. Yours truly,

DUNNING BROTHERS,

ALLEGAN, MICH., Feb. 11, 1879.

NOTE.—Messrs. Dunning Brothers are thoroughly reliable gentlemen, and were unknown to us prior to the receipt of this letter. We firmly believe this CUTICURA will permanently cure this very severe case of Leprosy, as it has done many others.

Prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

By its great and thorough Blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Pimples, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Ring Worm, Boils, Carbuncles, Tumors, Swellings, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, capricious appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from "Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

No use of taking the large, regulative, nauseous pills, composed of chalp, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sensitive impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharges falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, offensive breath, impaired voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, distress, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists. R. V. PIERCE, M. New Hampshire Gazette!

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

The recent improvement in the above building has enlarged the Job Office to double its former size, making it one of the lightest and most convenient offices in the city for

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 43 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. Reference given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cures, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

A GOOD PLAN

Anybody can learn to make money rapidly operating in Stocks, by the "Two Unerring Rules for Success," in Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s new circular; the combination method, which this firm has made so successful, enables people with large or small means to reap all the benefits of largest capital and best skill. Thousands of orders, in various sums, are pooled into one vast amount and co-operated as a mighty whole, thus securing to each shareholder all the advantages of the largest operator. Immense profits are divided monthly. Any amount, from $5 to $5,000, or more, can be used successfully. N. Y. Baptist Weekly, September 26th, 1878, says, "By the combination system $15 would make $75, or 5 per cent.; $50 pays $350, or 7 per cent.; $100 makes $1,000, or 10 per cent. on the stock, during the month, according to the market." Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, June 29th: "The combination method of operating stocks is the most successful ever adopted." New York Independent Sept. 12th: "The combination system is founded upon correct business principles, and no person need be without an income while it is kept working by Messrs. Lawrence & Co." Brooklyn Journal, April 29th: "Our editor made a net profit of $101.25 from $20 in one of Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s combinations." New circular (mailed free) explains everything. CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat.

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from a scrofulous condition of the blood, as in Scrofula Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and so acrid as to excoriate nostrils and cheeks of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellowish, emitting a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the surfaces being dry and feverish, the face, front and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it was encircled by a tight, unyielding band. This latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free matter discharges cause the passages to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to reach directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The matter passing down the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate to throw it off; but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and forehead, mucus becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations, and hard tissue, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. Its use in cranky humors becomes hereditary, and, week, and weary, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, ending frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A briefsurvey of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages of using SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in the directions, mark it as an scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the esteem in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most distressing and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of symptoms and symptomatic diseases, together with minute directions for selecting with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE a speedy and permanent cure. Also observations on diet and the general health, of vast importance to all afflicted with catarrh. It is wrapped about each bottle of the RADICAL CURE, or will be mailed free on receipt of stamp.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for use in all cases. Price, $1. Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2300 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, show, in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 30 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.60 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of RAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "Mecrackin Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this company,) and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $3.00 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and erect in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Subscriptions exceeding $100 may be sent by express, C. O. D., to

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 29th.

"What will be done at the next session of Congress?" begins to be the question among politicians. It is safe to say that it will be a session rather of omission to do than of doing, for it will precede a remarkably exciting political canvass for the Presidency and another Congress, and timidity will in a great measure rule the proceedings. "Cross purposes" may, therefore, be predicted as the ruling policy. The leading members of Congress are either candidates for the Presidency, or hoping to be "dark horses," or desirous of re-election, or animated by some other object, and will not be in a hurry to commit acts which will be heralded as crimes and atrocities by the opposite party.

Some political measures will be attempted, as, for example, the passage of bills similar to those which provoked the executive vetoes last spring and summer. Should the fall elections show democratic gains, these measures will be revived in their original shape, and pushed with the old spirit, or even more earnestly, by the democrats. But should the republicans make gains, the measures are likely to be modified, except that with reference to the election officers, which the democratic party will stick to through all disasters. The republicans will resist these with great spirit, and much time will be taken up with the discussions to arise from these and similar political questions.

One of the first objects the democrats say they have in view is to get control of a majority of the State delegations in the House, so that they can elect a President, or at any rate prevent an election, should there be a failure to elect by the popular vote. As the House now stands, the republicans have nineteen State delegations and the democrats eighteen, with De La Matyr, greenbacker, holding the balance of power in the Indiana delegation. In order to get a majority of delegations the democrats must therefore either unseat a republican in Indiana, or capture De La Matyr, which rumor says would not be very difficult, and also unseat two republicans in Wisconsin. I am not "inside" and cannot divine just how this is to be done, but it is talked.

The greenbackers will be the most aggressive legislators. They will probably take no notice of defeat, but go right ahead demanding their peculiar measures just as if they were the most popular in the world. They will bring a great pressure to bear for the Warner silver bill, which hangs over in the Senate. They will also try to get the trade dollar converted into standard currency. Other measures for inflation and for giving everybody everything they will bring in, chiefly as part of the effort to plague the old partisans by forcing them on the record for or against "the people," as they term it.

Tariff legislation will probably be given a rest until after the Presidential election; and so will railroad legislation, except posibly to extend the time of constructing the Northern Pacific railroad. All the schemes for the Southern Pacific railroad seem to be indefinitely postponed. Something will probably be done, as I have before intimated, for the promotion of steamship connection and the opening of new markets for American produce in South America.

Vague rumors are afloat as to the changes to be made in the House rules, so as to promote rapid legislation. It must be confessed that much needful legislation is now cramped or killed by the circumlocution of the rules; but it is questionable whether that isn't compensated for by the prevention of much mischievous legislation by the same means. The committee on rules have agreed to report in favor of changes, but what they are is a profound secret as yet.

These are the chief points that as yet appear in the future of Congress. The bills to be presented are numberless and nameless, as heretofore; but do not forget that the great importance of the coming session is that it will develope ideas and candidates for the presidential campaign. KNOX.

Properties of Ginger.

The increasing use of ginger in the home pharmacy excites the wonder that it has held so limited a place there, having been regarded as a pleasant condiment in the kitchen, ignoring the great fact of its superior virtues as a medicine. A bowl of ginger tea, associated with soaked feet and a hot rock, for a cold, was its principal office, but now a home without a bottle of SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER would be considered behind the age. The principal properties of ginger are stimulant and carminative, and these properties, contained in the extract, meet a hundred little needs and ails, the application of which, in nine cases out of ten, averts the necessity for a doctor; often at a distance, and restores the sufferer to health. As a preventive of serious disease it is invaluable.

Portsmouth Chronicle

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1879.

News and Notes.

Rev. Mr. Talmage arrived in New York on the 30th ult., and had a grand reception from his parishioners.

Prof. Wise, the well known aeronaut, and a companion named George Burr, made a balloon ascension from St. Louis, Mo., on Saturday, Sept. 28th, and had not been heard of up to the Wednesday night following.

At Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 1st, John Fredwill, a German, murdered his divorced wife, stabbing her twenty times with a tanner's knife, and then shot himself dead.

Louis S. Wedege, a piano maker, shot himself dead over his wife's grave at Cypress Hill cemetery, east New York, on the 30th ult.

Nearly $8,000,000 were paid out by the treasury during September on account of pension arrears. But for this, the decrease in the public debt for the month would have been about $10,000,000.

Dogs have made sheep husbandry in Rhode Island so hazardous and unprofitable as to well nigh destroy it. Now they seem to have attacked the poultry yards. More than a hundred fowls were killed by a couple of dogs, the other night, at the farm of Hon. Wm. Greene, in Warwick.

It is now disclosed that Weston was three times arrested on the track, during the late race, by sheriff's officers, for old debts. That fact would naturally enough have a depressing effect, and impair his chances in the race.

Emil Sander, local editor of the Volks Freund, at Paterson, N. J., quarreled with a well-known German physician, and sent him a challenge. The physician obtained a warrant, and Sander fled to avoid arrest.

The Portland & Rochester railroad has re-elected its old president and board of directors.

The trouble about the seizure of the Astley belt was settled by the depositing with the sheriff of $500 in cash, that being the amount Weston's interest in the belt was valued at. The possession of the trophy has been given to Rowell, so that he can take it back to England.

Grave fears are expressed lest the postmaster-general and his party, now journeying through the Indian country, should be massacred by the savages.

Frank F. Boynton, receiving teller of the North bank of Boston, is a defaulter to the amount of $24,00. "He has always stood high."

The detectives are satisfied that James Lowe, brother of the man recently found dead in his barn at West Cumberland, Me., with his head nearly chopped off, had nothing to do with the murder. It is believed to have been committed by a tramp, who has been seen in the vicinity at various times before and since the murder. Maine has no "infamous tramp law" such as oppresses the "poor laboring man" in New Hampshire.

At Hinesburg, Vt., Mr. Giles Kenyon died September 23d, aged ninety-six years; and his wife, aged ninety-four years on the day of her death, died September 28th.

The case of Henry J. Munson, the Advent minister who married himself to Martha A. Eaton in the Advent chapel at Worcester, Mass., July 12th, and who was subsequently convicted of lewd and lascivious cohabitation, was argued before the full bench of the supreme judicial court of Massachusetts on the 1st inst., the question involved being as to what constitutes a legal marriage. Munson is forty-five years old, and has been four times married—that is, counting this last performance as a marriage; two of his wives died, and he was divorced from the third one. His present partner is said to be an unusually intelligent woman, thirty-two years old, and devoted to him.

Gustavus Cornish of Merryville, Conn., recently stopped a team containing his wife, two daughters and his sister-in-law, who were driving to Litchfield to appear against him in a divorce suit, fired four pistol shots, without, however, doing serious damage, and drove them from the wagon, with which he escaped. Cornish subsequently delivered himself up near Bantam Falls. The fellow was out of Litchfield jail on bail, having been arrested for horse stealing.

Susan Kennedy, for the murder of Mary Gallagher last June at Montreal, has been found guilty of murder in the first degree, with a recommendation to mercy. Both women were of the most depraved class, and were on a drunk at the time of the murder. The victim's body was discovered headless, the head and one hand being found in a bucket near by.

A terrible condition of affairs is reported in Ireland. The farming population, unable to comply with the exactions of the landlords, are preparing to resist them. There has been fighting at Castlebar, and two men were killed. Landowners and their agents have received letters threatening their lives unless rents are reduced. An epidemic of agrarian murders is feared.

Political.

Senator McDonald, in a recent speech in Ohio, gave the democratic idea of finance. Said the distinguished Indiana senator: "So far as he could see," when a man talked about something he did not know anything about, and nobody understood him, that was finance."

"Independent" tickets are to be put out in New York with the names of Cornell and Soule left off. It will have some effect, but the "independent republicans" in New York are men who take every excuse offered to stay away from the polls altogether.

New Hampshire Items.

Manchester is to have a seventy-five-hours tramp in a hall, commencing Nov. 10th, the prizes to amount to $500.

At an early hour on the morning of the 1st inst., two barns containing twenty-one tons of hay, two mowing machines and a lot of farming tools, belonging to Jacob Hodgdon of Tuftonboro', were entirely consumed by fire. Loss, $1,200; no insurance. The fire was the work of an incendiary.

"Moondyne," Mr. John Boyle O'Reilly's now famous work, while passing through its third edition in Boston, is about to be dramatized and represented on the New York stage. A critic says of Mr. O'Reilly's book that it "is remarkable in more respects than one. It has plot enough for half a dozen strong romances; it is written with crispness and simplicity and in pure and nervous English; its morality is orthodox; its scene and characters are wholly novel and unique, and the interest is keenly—even painfully—sustained. No one can read "Moondyne" without loving virtue more, pitying distress, abhorring injustice and detesting vice. It is one of the few American novels, which, while intensely romantic, is lofty in its aim, eloquent and noble in its argument, and healthy and refining in its effect. It is characterized throughout by the highest dramatic intuition."

Serious political outbreaks are reported in Spain, and numerous arrests have been made. Garrisons at some of the inland cities are said to have fraternized with the revolutionists.

Essay on Woman.

After man came woman.

And she has been after him ever since.

She is a person of free extraction, being made of man's web.

I don't know why Adam wanted to fool away his ribs in that way, but I suppose he was not accountable for all he did.

It costs more to keep a woman than three dogs and a shot-gun.

But she pays you back with interest—by giving you a houseful of children to keep you awake all night and smear molasses candy over your Sunday coat. Besides, a wife is a very convenient article to have around the house.

She is handy to swear at whenever you cut yourself with a razor, and don't feel like blaming yourself.

Woman is the superior being in Massachusetts.

There are about 60,000 more of her sex than males in that State.

This accounts for the terrified, hunted-down expression of the single man who has emigrated from the east.

Woman is not created perfect.

She has her faults—such as false hair, false complexion, and so on.

But she is a great deal better than her neighbor, and she knows it.

Eve was a woman.

She must have been a model wife, too, for it cost Adam nothing to keep her in clothes.

Still, I don't think she was happy.

She couldn't go to sewing circles and air her information about everybody she knew, nor excite the envy of other ladies by wearing her new winter bonnet to church.

Neither could she hang over the back fence and talk with her near neighbor.

Poor Eve! she's dead.—Eureka (Nev.) Sentinel.

It is Delicious,

Every one says that has used Walker Baker & Co.'s Chocolate and Cocoa preparations. They have stood the test of a century and have become articles of general consumption. Grocers everywhere keep these goods.

I deem it a duty to state that Mr. ——, of this county, had his right lung seriously affected with tubercular deposit, accompanied with night sweats, frequent hemorrhage, copious expectoration and much emaciation; the use of Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites seems to have arrested the progress of the disease almost immediately, the hemorrhage has not returned, his appetite is excellent, and he is able to attend to his business as usual.

Cuticura

HUMORS OF THE SCALP, LOSS OF HAIR.

Loss of Hair in thousands of cases is due entirely to some form of scalp disease. Seventy-five per cent of the number of bald heads might be covered with hair by a judicious use of CUTICURA, assisted by CUTICURA SOAP. It is the most agreeable as well as the most effective hair restorer ever produced by man. It is medicinal in the truest sense of the word. All others are some obnoxious mixture or poisonous dye. None but CUTICURA possesses the specific medical properties that enable it to cure all itching and scaly diseases that infl me and irritate the scalp and hair glands and tubes, causing premature baldness. Medium doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT will purify the oil and sweat glands of the virus of scrofulous humor of the blood and insure a permanent cure, when taken in connection with the outward application of CUTICURA.

SALT RHEUM AND DANDRUFF

Cured that several physicians had failed to treat successfully.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have had the Salt Rheum on my head and all through my hair, also on my legs, for the past four years, having suffered exceedingly with it. The dandruff falling from my hair was very annoying. I consulted several distinguished physicians in regard to it, and have taken their prescriptions as ordered but did not find any cure and but little relief. I was told by many persons who have the Salt Rheum, and who have been doctored for years, that there was no cure for it; that it was in the blood, and I should always have it, and I was almost inclined to agree with them, but a friend wanted me to try CUTICURA, made by your firm. I did, and to my astonishment, in less than three weeks, my head was entirely free from all Salt Rheum and Dandruff, and I cannot see any appearance of salt Rheum on my person. I think it a wonderful remedy. Respectfully yours,

GEORGE A. MUDGE.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Feb. 6, 1878.

HUMOR OF THE SCALP

That was destroying the Hair cured with one box of CUTICURA.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I want to tell you what CUTICURA has done for me. About two years ago my hair began falling out, caused by Humor of the Scalp. I tried various remedies, too numerous to mention, without relief, until I began using CUTICURA, one box of which has entirely cured me and new hair is beginning to grow. Respectfully, MRS. O. J. ROOT.

897 W. Lake St., CHICAGO, ILL., Nov. 13, 1878.

We know the above to be true.

I am now using it as a hair dressing, but my head is well. It keeps the hair in very nice condition. Yours truly, H. A RAYMOND,

Auditor Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R. R.
JACKSON, MICH., Dec. 20, 1878.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impaired Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Blotched Feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Are sites not longer the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being entirely preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills got up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 43 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affection, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. Reference given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

A GOOD PLAN

Anybody can learn to make money rapidly operating in Stocks, by the "Two Unerring Rules for Success," in Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s new circular; the combination method, which this firm has made so successful, enables people with large or small means to reap all the benefits of largest capital and best skill. Thousands of orders, in various sums, are pooled into one vast amount and cooperated as a mighty whole; thus securing to each shareholder all the advantages of the largest operator. Immense profits are divided monthly. Any amount, from $5 to $5,000, or more, can be used successfully. N. Y. Banking Week-ly, September 20th, 1878, says, "By the combination system $25 would make $75, or 5 per cent. $50 pays $350, or 7 per cent.; $100 makes $1,000, or 10 per cent, on the stock, during the month, according to the market." Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, June 28th: "The combination method of operating stocks is the most successful ever adopted." New York Independent Sept. 13th: "The combination system is founded upon correct business principles, and no person need be without an income while it is kept working by Messrs. Lawrence & Co." Brooklyn Journal, April 29th: "Our editor made a net profit of $101.25 from $20 in one of Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s combinations." New circular (mailed free) explains everything. Stocks and bonds wanted. Governments bonds supplied. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y.

CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat.

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from an morbific condition of the blood; from Scarlet Fever, Measles and Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharging outlets of nature. The discharge from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, is at first thin and watery, and so acid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellow-ish, emitting a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the membranes being dry and parched, the head and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it was confined by a tight, unyielding band. This latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free mattery discharge causes the patient to snuff and blow, thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer is necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The mucous membrane of the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate to throw it off; but when the membrane is dry and fatiguing, and by passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations, and hard lumps, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and a matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, ending frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when production of the nervous system is suspended, the affections become alarming.

Catarrh is one of the most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for the treatment, before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in the directions, mark it as a medicine adapted to meet nearly every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the extent in which it is used by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

Daily Chronicle.

A Lucky Strike.

Somebody has said that this is a cold, cold world, and so it is to the most of us. We toil and labor and drudge from morning until night for our daily bread, and the next day the programme is repeated, and the day after, and so on, year in and year out. But here and there we find a warm spot where fortune has smiled kindly upon some lucky mortal and the sunshine of her smile has taken off the chill. But we never know what the next twenty-four hours may have in store for us. Perhaps she may be getting ready to transfer her favor, and we may awake some morning to find ourselves rich or famous, or to learn that some cherished hope has come to maturity and we are rendered happy for the rest of our lives. A case in point occurred in this city very recently. Mr. William H. Hoogs, an old and efficient employe of the Post was indeed by a younger clerk in the same establishment to court the favor of the fickle goddess by purchasing a ticket in the Louisiana State Lottery. The expense was not large, not nearly so much indeed as is involved in wooing a more human goddess, who requires to be constantly catered to, by way of theatre tickets, parties, balls, ice-creams, presents, etc., and after she is won, clothing and food, and who frequently turns out to be not so much of a goddess after all. So, after thinking the matter over in his mind, Mr. Hoogs, a few weeks since, quietly enclosed a dollar bill in an envelope, and sent it to the New York agency of the Louisiana State Lottery, and received in return therefor a half-interest in ticket No. 57,868, for the next drawing. This was the first and only ticket in a lottery that Mr. Hoogs ever bought. The days went by, and Mr. Hoogs paid little attention to the ticket, thinking, like many another who holds back from the venture, that he would never have the good fortune to get any substantial return for his money. But there are many uncertain things in this life, chief among them being billiards, base-ball, walking matches, and lotteries. The 9th of September arrived, and the drawing took place, and when the official list of prizes was made known, opposite ticket No. 57,868 stood the figures $30,000! It seemed at first news too good to be true, and Mr. Hoogs could scarcely credit his senses, but there it stood in plain black and white, and he suddenly realized that he had come into a small fortune, and all from the outlay of one hundred cents. The news spread, and his friends were profuse in their congratulations, although necessarily there were some doubters who predicted that he would never get his money, among them a gentleman who had intended to purchase the other half of the ticket with Mr. Hoogs, but who, for some reason, had withdrawn at the last moment. It must be confessed, however, that his doubts bore a strong flavor of "sour grapes." But the well-informed, those who were aware of the responsibility of the managers of the lottery, thought differently, and, as a proof of their confidence, offered Mr. Hoogs $14,000 cash down for his ticket. He wisely refused, and last Saturday, having previously sent his ticket to the New Orleans office, the Adams Express Company brought him a package containing thirty clean, crisp $500 greenbacks. Mr. Hoogs is now a firm adherent of the greenback party, and means to invest his money judiciously, and retire on his laurels. He is naturally much elated over his unexpected stroke of luck, but not more so than his many friends, who are well pleased that he should have something on which to rely in his declining years, when he shall have left his desk to seek the repose which he has earned during a busy and useful life. —Boston Daily Post, Sept. 25th.

Set back 42 Years.

"I was troubled for many years with Kidney Complaint, Gravel, &c.; my blood became thin; I was dull and inactive; could hardly crawl about; was an old worn out man all over; could get nothing to help me, until I got Hop Bitters, and now I am a boy again. My blood and kidneys are all right, and I am as active as a man of forty, although I am seventy-two, and I have no doubt it will do as well for others of my age. It is worth a trial. (Father.)—Sunday Mercury.

Properties of Ginger.

The increasing use of ginger in the home pharmacy excites the wonder that it has held so limited a place there, having been regarded as a pleasant condiment in the kitchen, ignoring the great fact of its superior virtues as a medicine. A bowl of ginger tea, associated with soaked feet and a hot rock, for a cold, was its principal office, but now a home without a bottle of SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER would be considered behind the age. The principal properties of ginger are stimulant and carminative, and these properties, contained in the extract, meet a hundred little needs and ails, the application of which, in nine cases out of ten, averts the necessity for a doctor, cures at a distance, and restores the sufferer to health. As a preventive of serious disease it is invaluable.

—The man who tumbled over the stove, during the summer, rather than take it down, now laughs at his neighbors who took the other course.—Boston Post.

Gazette Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 4th.

The latest and most thorough sensation here is the report about Tilden's expressions of dissent at the doings of the southern democratic leaders. The first intimation of this came out in a local paper here. It was then taken up and telegraphed all over the country. It was next followed by denials and explanations, and finally it has got into a muddled state so that every one is left in the glorious position of being at liberty to judge for himself whether to believe the story or not.

Now, I have a word to add to this gossip, which is authentic. It comes from a man who saw Mr. Tilden last spring, and subsequently told me the substance of his conversation, but with the injunction of secrecy. But this late gossip, my authority thinks, is authorized indirectly by Mr. Tilden, and so now he removes the injunction of secrecy from what he reported to me, only concealing his name. He brought to Mr. Tilden's attention the fact that some bitter opposition appeared to crop out in the south among the leaders. "Among the brigadiers, you mean," interrupted Mr. Tilden, with his peculiar smile. "I have a word to say about them," he continued; "it is this. The southern leaders, who pay no attention to the crimes of the ignorant law-breakers, who refuse justice to all who do not agree with them, will loose power and influence, and be of small account in the next campaign. Their methods are not democratic; but worse than that for our purpose, they are inimical to the northern idea, and must cease, or the northern democracy will break and go the way it did in 1856." "Then," said this gentleman, "am I to understand that you do not want the democratic nomination? and that the reason you don't want it is that you would be defeated?" "Not exactly that," said Mr. Tilden; "but this I will say. The southern brigadiers, as you call them, in Congress, have it in their power to elect me or defeat me in advance. What they will do is a problem upon which the country is hanging anxiously. If they pursue the course they seem to have marked out, I shall not want the nomination. So you see I shall not be prepared to say whether I want the nomination until late in the next session of Congress—perhaps very late; and that is all I can say to my best friends." I conclude therefore that Mr. Tilden is sincere in his latest utterance to the effect that he is not now laboring for the presidential nomination, but solely to kill off Tammany, for that sentiment tallies with his former expression. There can be no concealing the fact that the report of Mr. Tilden's free talk has had the effect among the southern democrats here that a bombshell might have in a quiet evening's camp. They accuse Mr. Tilden of bad faith, and of antagonizing their politicians in order to court favor in the north. They accuse him of wishing to "give them away" to promote his own interests, and of taking advantage of their helpless condition really to clutch the nomination, having confidence that they would be obliged to support the democratic candidate whoever he might be. However unjust this opinion may be, it cannot be denied that it has intensified the feeling against Mr. Tilden, and would well nigh solidify the south against him in the convention if it were to be held presently.

The letter of Secretary Sherman, in which he disposes of the charge that he is and has been inimical to Gen. Grant, has attracted great interest. The secretary truly says that he has always been on the best terms with the general, that he supported him throughout his public course, has always spoken highly of him, and is in all respects one of his warmest friends. That is the substance of it. But there is one phase of the official relationship of Grant and Sherman that has not been sufficiently considered, and this is a very opportune occasion for presenting it. The independent newspaper readers will not fail to have observed the difference in the standing of the two men in their party. While Sherman has been cursed and berated by his former radical friends as one of the men most guilty of the "Hayes policy," so-called, General Grant has not only gone scot free, but has been put forward as the representative stalwart—the man before whom the south would quail and stand in fear. I am not alone in saying that the fact is quite the reverse. Gen. Grant was the real author of the Hayes policy; Sherman accepted it reluctantly, because it had been adopted, and made the best of what he thought was a bad course. If there was any discredit attaching to that policy, the greatest part was Grant's, not Sherman's; if there was any credit, that also was Grant's. I am not arguing the right or wrong in the matter, but simply endeavoring to state facts. Gen. Grant first had what is now the "Hayes policy" in mind with reference to Mississippi, and the result was that because he would not take the stalwart ground, Gov. Ames resigned and left the State government in democratic hands. There was such an outcry from the radicals after that, that the general did not push his policy further, but it was noticeable that he avoided that issue whenever it was possible, until the Louisiana case presented itself in 1876-77. Then he renewed his policy of withdrawing federal support to the republican State government, and left Packard to take care of himself. I know it has been said that he did this at the solicitation of Hayes; but to those who know the facts, that statement will not do. When leading radical republicans pleaded with him against that course, he gave as an excuse that he was going out of power and did not want to antagonize the southern people any further, but preferred to retire with the goodwill of all. In fact, he was the greatest "conciliationist" about Washington in those days. It is astonishing, therefore, that while Sherman is denounced by the stalwarts as a conciliationist, Grant is put forward as the stalwart candidate for President. The truth is—and observe that I am trying to write the truth without regard to where it hits—that Grant is preferable among southern democrats who understand these facts, to either of the other republican candidates for President—either Blaine, Conkling, Windom, Sherman, or Chandler; because they believe that he will "conciliate" them, and think more of a peaceable and quiet term than of any aggressive policy to settle the southern question according to stalwart ideas. I observe, by the way, that a few of the radicals are beginning to take this view, and to hedge on the "Grant boom," so-called. KNOX.

News and Notes.

Three hundred iron moulders employed in the stove founderies of Quincy, Ill., struck on Friday for an increase of ten per cent. in wages.

Charles H. Boylan has been arrested in New York for bigamy. He has been living with two wives, each in different parts of New York city. When the second wife learned the fact she fell in a fainting fit, and her condition now is critical; she is only eighteen years old, and recently married Boylan in opposition to her mother's wishes, after a few weeks' acquaintance.

A dispatch from White Rock, Texas, states that unknown white men on Thursday night called a negro woman named Watson to her door, shot her and her son dead, and mortally wounded her twelve-years-old daughter.

The latest advices from the agency at White River, Col., are to the effect that there were twenty-one white people south of Thornburgh's battlefield, exclusive of Agent Meeker and family. Mr. Lowry, who was at the agency on the 27th, and who was killed in the fight of the 29th, was informed by the Indians who escorted him off the reservation that they intended to kill Meeker and all the whites on the reservation on the 28th, and that they did kill them on that day is consided certain.

Another six-days' tramp commenced in New York on Monday, at Madison square garden, where the last one was held. This match was gotten up by O'Leary, and there were many starters.

A boiler explosion occurred Saturday at a cotton gin near Middleburg, N. C. Three negroes were killed, their bodies being frightfully mangled, and portions scattered for some distance around.

The city of Bucarumagua in the United States of Columbia, was one day last month attacked by a band of armed communists, who made an assault upon several wealthy establishments of the city, among others the only bank in the place, and completely sacked them, killing and wounding the persons who endeavored to defend them, and also burning the buildings. After a reign of terror lasting four days, the communists were subdued.

It is feared that Indian Agent Meeker, at the White river agency, has been killed by the Utes. Mr. Meeker was born in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1811, and has had a varied experience. He tried journalism at first, then school teaching, and sometime in 1841, or thereabout, joined the Trumbull Phalanx of Communists in Braceville, Ohio. Afterward he engaged in trade at Cleveland and in farming in Illinois. He was subsegently a war correspondent of the New York Tribune, and in 1867 took charge of the agricultural department of that paper. In 1870 he planted the colony of Greeley in Colorado, and started the Greeley Tribune. He was commissioner from Colorado to the Centennial Exhibition, and in 1877 was appointed agent with the Ute Indians. His wife and daughter were with him at the agency, and have probably shared his fate.

Mrs. Martha Baldwin of New Haven, Conn., poisoned her imbecile and widowed sister, Mrs. Dickerman, Saturday, and then poisoned herself. Both will probably die.

Moody and Sankey began a series of meetings at the Tabernacle in Cleveland, Ohio, on Sunday afternoon; and Sunday evening Mr. Moody preached to an immense audience. Rev. Joseph Cook addressed an overflowing meeting in one of the city churches.

Edward Crowley, a rich Bermuda merchant, is missing. He had over $30,000 about him when he left a Jersey City hotel, Saturday week, for Trenton, to purchase crockery and visit a brother-in-law. The police believe that he has been murdered.

A report is in circulation that General Butler is retained by Hart, the negro pedestrian, in a civil action against Ennis, Weston and Krohne to recover the money belonging to Hart as his share of receipts, and wrongfully paid to them, owing to the track being considerably shorter than represented.

Philemon Jordan, son of M. Jordan of Pittsfield, Mass., was seriously injured on Thursday last, by the breaking down of a revolving swing at the cattle show.

Alice Maud Barlow of Lawrence, Mass., a maiden lady aged forty-one, committed suicide Saturday morning by drowning in the Merrimac. Deceased was of very respectable character. The act was doubtless committed while temporarily insane.

A desperate encounter occurred Friday night between George Long, a Baptist preacher, and Frank Goddy, about four miles from Springfield, Mo. The latter had his abdomen ripped open by a large pocket knife in the hands of the former, and died several hours after. The men were driving heavily-laden wagons in opposition directions, and neither would give way. Both got into a desperate rage and joined in a fierce fight, with the above result. Long was arrested.

John Loonon, foreman in the Pacific mills at Lawrence, Mass., was run over Saturday evening by a runaway horse belonging to John Churchill & Co., and fatally injured. The team was stolen by boys, who deserted after riding around the city.

A Panama letter received in New York says that the Peruvian finances are in a deplorable condition. The finance minister resigned, and his successor was appalled at the situation. Church property will almost certainly be put under contribution, if not confiscated to the use of the State. Admirable Reballedo has been restored to the command of the Chilian fleet, and threatens a lively campaign, including the destruction of the floating dock at Callao, and the capture of the Huascar and the rest of the Peruvian fleet.

AROUND HOME.

Carpenter Leonard Hanscom, U. S. N., of Kittery, is at home on sick leave.

Steam was raised in the boilers of the Marion on Monday, and the engines worked satisfactorily.

One of the seals which attracted so much attention at Major Urch's aquarium during the past season, died on Sunday last.

Rev. E. M. Grant entered upon his fourth year as pastor of the Universalist church in this city on Sunday last, and delivered a sermon appropriate to the occasion.

A dog, supposed to be rabid, was shot on Richards avenue Sunday afternoon. The animal attacked Mr. Samuel W. Moses, Jr., who knocked him over by a blow with a cane, and then prudently got over the fence; the dog got up and ran a short distance, when he struck a tree, fell down, and was shot as stated.

During the past summer a special refrigerator car has been run weekly between the abattoir at Brighton, Mass., and this city, to transport beef for Cyrus L. Brown, and is still running. It is fitted up with every known appliance for the protection and preservation of meat in transit, and lands it in this city in as good condition as when put on board. On the return trip it is loaded with hides, sheep-skins, etc.

Quite an excitement was occasioned among the juveniles, Monday, by the triumphal procession of Tony Denier's troupe (as a brass band) around town in a job wagon, with a diminutive donkey bringing up the rear in tow of a small boy. No doubt many a possible future president that night dreamed of the happy time when he may arrive at the honor of leading a little donkey around to the music of a brass band.

The schooner A. T. Haynes, Captain Lunt, of Castine, was at the wharf near the Spring market on Monday, having been on a trading voyage along the coast of Maine from Mt. Desert to this port, and picked up a remarkable cargo of eggs, sheep-skins, empty bottles, rags, old junk, salt fish of all kinds, fresh mutton, etc., which the master was disposing of here. The schooner will load with apples for eastern Maine on ship's account, if they are brought in.

A pet cat belonging to the police station, and to which the officers of the force were much attached, was found dead Sunday morning at about six o'clock in front of the New Hampshire national bank, having left the station shortly after four o'clock, being then apparently all right. Many times during the past summer kitty has gone around the beats at night with the officers, following them like a dog, and never leaving them until they arrived at the station on their return.

Tony Denier's Humpty Dumpty Troupe had the largest audience of the season at Music hall on Monday evening. There was the usual pantomime and variety entertainment, with considerable new "business;" the "Milanese minstrel" and Irish singer were very good, Punch Walton gave some first-rate imitations, and the Davenport brothers performed some astonishing feats of strength; the performance went right along, without stops, and we judged from the laughter and applause that the entertainment gave good satisfaction.

Mr. Riddle's readings will be in the order and on the dates following: Friday, Oct. 17th, "Julius Cæsar;" Saturday, Oct. 18th, "Cymbeline;" Friday, Oct. 24th, "Richard III.;" Saturday, Oct. 25th, "Henry VIII.;" Friday, Oct. 31st, "Merchant of Venice;" Saturday, Nov. 1st, "Much ado about Nothing." The readings will be given at Miss Morgan's school; and tickets (at $3 for the course, or seventy-five cents for single readings) can be obtained at Rundlett's and Myers' stores. We are confident that a large sale of tickets will show how well Portsmouth can appreciate a true literary treat like this course of readings.

Mr. Charles A. Shannon had an apple tree in his garden in bloom on the 6th inst.

Over fifty vessels, many of them coasters, were in the lower harbor on Monday, for shelter, and lots of fishing vessels were at the wharves of the city.

The Peirce block, between the Athenæum building and High street, is to have a hip roof put on it in place of the present flat one. The new roof will be built before the old one is torn away.

From an alley in the rear of the new Franklin block, a passage-way some ten feet wide reaches about half way through the building in the direction of Congress street. Thirteen back-doors will open upon this ten-foot way.

More sea birds—ducks of several species, coots, brant geese, etc., were seen flying along the coast on Sunday than on any day for years past. The gunners at the Nubble, Sea point and Hampton were burning powder liberally all through the day, and many birds were bagged.

The schooner H. B. Gibson, Captain Smith, has been chartered by Mr. Cyrus L. Brown to take a cargo of kerosene, corn meal, flour and apples to Prince Edward's island, and will sail the first of next week. Mr. Charles W. Varrell will go out in the schooner, and she will probably bring back a cargo of potatoes.

We have read with considerable interest a neatly printed volume of upwards of 300 pages, being the "Life and Labors of J. R. Newton, Healer." It is a wonderful record of cures performed by the Doctor, whose fame has gone forth throughout the world as being the possessor of a gift as mysterious as it is rare. There are probably but few towns or cities in the United States where Dr. Newton is not known as the successful magnetic healer, so unmistable are his powers. There are those in this city who have availed themselves of the curative abilities of Dr. Newton, and their testimony in his favor is clear and unfaltering. By this mysterious power of magnetism,—which is yet to be explained by scientists,—we learn that thousands have been cured by him who were just about stepping into the "cold river," and tens of thousands been relieved of some ailment that threatened sudden or final death. His book is a compilation of astonishing recitals, of these instances and their cures.

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, Oct. 6; Batchelder, J.

Thomas McGraw, Edward Nash and James Haddock, seamen, for drunkenness were each assessed $9.90, fine and costs; paid.

MISTAKE SOMEWHERE.

The Times of Monday evening says that the statement published in the CHRONICLE of that day regarding the "spotter" question—as to whether the city marshal "advised" a certain individual to leave the city because he was a spotter, or not—is incorrect, and gives the city marshal himself as its authority for the original account of the matter, viz.: that the marshal, finding the fellow engaged in "spotting," warned him "that if he wanted to escape the direst vengeance from an incensed public he had better make tracks in double-quick time out of the city while yet his business was unknown," whereupon "the man needed no further instructions, but with blanched face and trembling limbs quickly departed, and has not since been seen hereabouts." [This is what we called "driving" the fellow out of the city; and we still think it open to that construction, notwithstanding our neighbor objects to our so speaking of it.] Well, our authority for the statement in the CHRONICLE of Monday was also the city marshal. Evidently some one has blundered.

Naval Affairs.

The U. S. S. Wachusett sailed from Boston on Thursday of last week for the South Atlantic station, to relieve the Essex, ordered home.

The U. S. S. Powhatan arrived at Annapolis, Maryland, Friday afternoon.

Wanton Destruction of the Walrus.

Capt. Ebenezer F. Nye, of the bark Mount Wollaston, writes home to New Bedford from his vessel off Cape Lisburne, Alaska, under date of August 2d, detailing the sufferings that have been entailed on the Esquimaux by the practice of whalers killing walrus, on which the natives depend for food. It is less than twenty years since the whalers in the Arctic ocean and Kamschatka sea commenced to hunt walrus. They are very easily killed, and many of the crews kill vastly more than they can secure. Capt. Nye estimates that over thirty thousand walrus have been killed this season, of which only 11,000 were secured. They are rapidly being exterminated, and, from a seemingly illimitable number a few years ago, have been reduced so that Capt. Nye thinks two or three years more will leave only an occasional stray specimen to be secured for natural history museums. They have become so few that great numbers of the natives have starved. Half the inhabitants of St. Lawrence island, and fully one-third of the population south of St. Lawrence bay, perished last winter. In one village of 200 people on St. Lawrence island, all but one man died. The natives have eaten nearly all their dogs, and have also devoured their tents and boats, which were covered with walrus skin; and they cannot get skins enough to clothe themselves comfortably. The Mount Wollaston, and the Rainbow, Capt. Bernard Cogan, have refrained from taking walrus this year.

A powder mill exploded on Friday at South Lebanon, Ohio, killing three men instantly.

Henry Outram of Sheffield, Eng., grand master of the Manchester Unity of Odd Fellows, was on an official visit to the lodges in Lawrence, Mass., Saturday evening. At a banquet given in his honor at the Franklin house, speeches were made by prominent Odd Fellows of Lawrence and Lowell.

—A countryman seeing the sign "Hands off," innocently asked if they had gone on a pinic.

—A commercial traveller at Marseilles having refused leave to his maidservant to take his daughter to the skating rink, they did not appear next morning, and on the bedroom being burst open both were found suffocated. A note in the maid's writing said: "You shall no longer have your daughter; I take her to a better world." Their ages were twenty-six and fourteen.

—A customs officer engaged in discharging the steamship City of Tokio, rejoices in the acquisition of Grant's autograph on a wine card presented to him by one of the officers of the steamer. This card he proposes to measure up and hand down as an heirloom to his posterity. It reads as follows, and definitely settles the question what kind of wine General Grant drinks:

Steamship City of Tokio.

Person—Grant.
Sentiments—Jno.
Kind of Wine—Congress water.

H. M. S. PINAFORE

Which was first presented by the M. M. O. P. at the Boston Museum, on Monday, May 12, when it immediately created a sensation unparalleled in the history of the Opera, which becomes more astounding when we consider the fact that Boston had previously been favored by twelve of the strongest troupes ever organized for the presentation of PINAFORE; but that the success of the M. M. O. P. was unquestioned and unequaled, can be proved by the fact that it achieved

THE LONGEST RUN IN AMERICA,

— THAT OF —

106 Consecutive Times 106

Equalled only by the original production at the Opera Comique London; and the success is all the more startling when we take into consideration the fact that it has been accomplished by mere children.

How a Lass Captured a Big Snake.

Zoe Moreau is a girl of seventeen, of mixed blood, beautiful and bold, and a daring rider. On Tuesday of last week she performed a remarkable exploit. While out looking up some of her father's missing ponies she encountered a monster rattlesnake, a warning from which caused her horse suddenly to shy, nearly dismounting her. Getting command of her animal, she reined up a short distance from the reptile, which, angered at the intrusion, coiled itself ready for battle. Cool and collected, the girl, swinging her lariat, hit it a sharp blow. Maddened, the snake several times struck at her. Dexterously swinging her supple cord again, she "noosed" the reared head of the snake, and, wheeling about, bore rapidly off for home dragging her prize after her. It was undoubtedly the liveliest "snaking" ever done in Montana. Arriving at the house, her father and several cow-boys stepped out to greet her, and to them she proudly exhibited the monster, its life now extinct. Its length, by actual measurement was ascertained to be seven feet and eight inches, and its girth, at the largest part, sixteen inches. The rattles numbered twenty-nine complete ones and a "button." This string of rattles was sent into Helena, and in compliance with an order accompanying it, an expert jeweller has for several days been forming the most unique necklace probably ever made in this or any other country. It is intended as a present to Zoe.—Montana paper.

Bogus Certificates.

It is no vile drugged stuff, pretending to be made of wonderful foreign roots, barks, &c., and puffed up by long bogus certificates of pretended miraculous cures but a simple, pure, effective medicine, made of well known valuable remedies, that furnishes its own certificates by its cures. We refer to Hop Bitters, the purest and best of medicines. See another column.—Republican.

—The difference between fair ladies and ladies' fair, is—the former beseige men's hearts, the latter their pockets.

—When you pick up a paper and perse a 'sublimely sentimental or deeply philosophical essay, the last line of which reads, "Sold by all Druggists," you are forcibly struck with the truth of that conclusive remark.—Toronto Graphic.

Cuticura

HUMORS OF THE SCALP, LOSS OF HAIR.

Loss of Hair in thousands of cases is due entirely to some form of scalp disease. Seventy-five per cent of the number of bald heads might be covered with hair by a judicious use of CUTICURA, assisted by CUTICURA SOAP. It is the most agreeable as well as the most effective hair restorer ever produced by man. It is medicinal in the truest sense of the word. All others are some cleaginous mixture or poisonous dyes. None but CUTICURA possesses the specific medical properties that enable it to cure all itching and scaly diseases that lead one and irritate the scalp and hair glands and tubes, causing premature baldness. Medium doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT will purify the oil and sweat glands of the virus of scrofulous humor of the blood and insure a permanent cure, when taken in connection with the outward application of CUTICURA.

SALT RHEUM AND DANDRUFF

Cured that several physicians had failed to treat successfully.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have had the Salt Rheum on my head and all through my hair, also on my legs, for the past four years, having suffered exceedingly with it. The dandruff falling from my hair was very annoying. I consulted several distinguished physicians in regard to it, and have taken their prescriptions as ordered but did not find any cure and but little relief. I was told by many persons who have the Salt Rheum, and who have been doctor'd for years, that there was no cure for it; that it was in the blood, and I should always have it, and I was almost inclined to agree with them, but a friend wrested me to try CUTICURA, made by your firm. I did, and to my astonishment, in less than three weeks, my head was entirely free from all Salt Rheum and Dandruff, and I cannot see any appearance of salt Rheum on my person. I think it a wonderful remedy. Respectfully yours,
GEORGE A. MUDGE.
PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Feb. 6, 1878.

HUMOR OF THE SCALP

That was destroying the Hair cured with one box of CUTICURA.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I want to tell you what CUTICURA has done for me. About ten years ago my hair began falling out, caused by Humor of the Scalp. I tried various remedies, too numerous to mention, without relief, until I began using CUTICURA, one box of which has entirely cured me and new hair is beginning to grow. Respectfully, MRS. O. J. ROOT,
887 W. Lake St., CHICAGO, ILL., Nov. 13, 1878.

We know the above to be true.

SCALD HEAD

For Nine Years cured when all other Remedies failed.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Since July last I have been using your CUTICURA for Scald Head, and it has cured me when all medicines that I have taken for nine years did me no good. I am now using it as a hair dressing, but my head is well. It keeps the hair in very nice condition. Yours truly, H. A. RAYMOND,
Auditor Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R. R.
JACKSON, MICH., Dec. 20, 1878.

THE CUTICURA REMEDIES

are prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 43 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

BEWARE of a man named Sherman, who, taking advantage of my reputation calls himself Dr. Sherman, or Dr. S. Sherman, alias Dr. S. J. Sherman, pretending to be famous for the cure of Rupture. A GOOD PLAN

Anybody can learn to make money rapidly operating in Stocks, by the "Two Unerring Rules for Success," in Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s new circular; the combination method, which this firm has made so successful, enables people with large or small means to reap all the benefits of larger capital and best skill. Thousands of orders, in various sums, are pooled into one vast amount and co-operated as a mighty whole, thus securing to each shareholder all the advantages of the largest operator. Immense profits are divided monthly. Any amount, from $5 to $5,000, or more, can be used successfully. N. Y. Baptist Weekly, September 20th, 1878, says, "By the combination system, $15 would make $25, or 5 per cent; $50 pays $350, or 7 per cent; $100 makes $1,000, or 10 per cent, on the stock, during the month, according to the market." Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, June 29th: "The combination method of operating stocks is the most successful ever adopted." New York Independent Sept. 11th: "The combination system is founded upon correct business principles, and no person need be without an income while it is kept working by Messrs. Lawrence & Co." Brooklyn Journal, April 29th: "Our editor made a net profit of $101.25 from $20 in one of Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s combinations." New circular (mailed free) explains everything. CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from a constitutional condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharge from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from a trifling cold in the head, may be thick and yellow, and so acid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellow like smitting a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, sometimes going dry and feverish, the face, front and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it was encircled by a tight, unyielding band. This latter state is called Dry Catarrh. The free mattery discharge seems the passages to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. When the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms local scabs, inflammation, and hard lumps, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throats as to require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, dim, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, ending frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A moiety of the most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for treatment, before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in the directions, marks it as a scientific remedy, adapted to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the esteem in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is now afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of symptoms and sympathetic diseases, together with minute directions for affecting with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE a speedy and permanent cure. Also observations on diet and the general health, of vast importance to all afflicted with catarrh. It is wrapped about each bottle of the RADICAL CURE, or will be mailed free on receipt of stamp.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for use in all cases. Price, $1. Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Express" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in section of ten feet shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $62.00 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "McCracken Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, four times as much as this Company, and which utilized, within the last twelve mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $3.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted. If subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Daily Chronicle.

A Trip to the South.

CENTREVILLE, TENN., Oct. 1st.

In my last letter I believe I left my readers with an account of my visit to the Soldiers' Home in Dayton, Ohio. Wednesday noon I left Dayton for Cincinnati via the D. H. & C. R. R.; nothing of interest occurred until my arrival at Cincinnati. There they have a transfer system that is superior to anything in the north. A passenger having a through ticket is given a transfer free of expense, from depot to depot, by means of a 'bus. A stranger thus has no difficulty or trouble to find the depot wanted. All he has to do is to tell the transfer agent as he comes through the cars, to which depot he wishes to go, and he is given a check. Immediately upon arrival a 'bus take one to the desired depot without delay. I must say that my impressions of Cincinnati were far different from what I had anticipated. I had thought Pittsburg, Penn., was a smoky and black city, but I must confess that as far as I could judge Cincinnati surpassed Pittsburg in those particulars. As we rode into the city it was one cloud of smoke overhanging it, and the city is spread out in such a form that it reminds one of the vastness of New York city. However, a short acquaintance soon dispels that idea. We rode under the long iron bridge that has just been built on the road to the west. It is over a mile in length, and is a grand structure. The iron-rolling mills were in full blast. I visited one and watched the movements of the operatives, which put one in mind of the workers at Vulcan's forge. These mills run night and day now, and it was encouraging to hear the reports of increase in this line of business as well as others. Fourth street is the main street in the city. I followed the busy throng up this street, keeping my eyes and ears open as I went along. In front of a store window I found quite a crowd, and soon learned that the object of interest there was a large photographic copy of Miss Fassel's picture of the Electoral Commission. At this city I had my first glimpse of the Ohio river. Went down on its banks to see how the different phases of life compared with those on our old Piscataqua. I found a lot of river steamers. Some were stern-wheelers and the remainder where side-wheelers. Found great attention is paid to making the outside of these steamers attractive and gay. Instead of the Irish population on its banks as at Portsmouth, found the darkies swarming in all directions. They live in all manner of shapes. It was in the height of the water-melon season, and everywhere could be seen the darkies eating melons, with such antics as made laughter. The Ohio was quite muddy and swift at the time of my visit.

At eight P. M. left Cincinnati for Louisville via L. & C. R. R. It was a bright moonlight night, and as we rode along-side of the Ohio the view was quite picturesque. No one with five or six boxes occupied four seats. Every seat was filled, and many persons had to ride standing. In the seat back of me sat a couple who had been married that afternoon in a church in Cincinnati. She was in a stew because no one had signed the certificate as witness to the fact that she was married. After quieting down on that she began to tell a friend near by about the awfulness and solemnity of the fact that she was married. Her husband did not seem to be affected much, for he settled down and went to sleep. I soon followed his example.

At Louisville the same system of transfer was used as at Cincinnati. As we rode into Louisville the scene was very grand. The Ohio had risen from the effects of recent rain, and the light of the moon shining on the river as we rode over the bridge into the city furnished a sight not easily to be forgotten. My only view of Louisville was a hasty glance now then as we were rapidly transferred from one depot to the other. All night long we traveled rapidly. In the morning, just at day-break, the train arrived at Cave City, Ky. It is at this place passengers are carried to see Mammoth Cave. The place reminded me of a man's description of a small town which he said "consisted of a house, a dog, and a barn." It looked deserted and cheerless as it does in the neighborhood of Fort McClary. From here to Nashville we see plenty of negro cabins. After breakfast the scenery begins to improve, and one is continually reminded of New England. Just before evening at Nashville we pass the national cemetery, which is kept neatly and is a pretty sight.

At 9:30 Thursday morning we were in Nashville. I went to the Nicholson house and took a room. While resting from my long ride I was entertained by the darkies outside, who were singing while at their work. After dinner I took a stroll about Nashville to see the points of interest. The first place visited was the Capitol. I don't wonder the State of Tennessee wants to repudiate the debt, if the Capitol is a specimen of the other public buildings of the State. I should think it would wish to rub out every cent of the debt and make a new one by repairing and beautifying their edifices. The Capitol grounds are well laid out, but sadly need care. The interior of the State House is very dirty, the paint being off in many places and the whitewash of the walls scaling in large pieces. Visited the Senate Chamber and the Hall of the Representatives; neither of them would do credit to a country school house in New England. Both rooms were cluttered, desks piled in heaps, papers scattered on the floor, doors hanging by broken hinges, blinds broken, curtains torn, and tobacco juice squirted everywhere. The desks are few, and of a very inferior pattern. In the desk of the President of the Senate was a whiskey bottle. The library is a combination of a library, museum, reading room, and art gallery. There is no order or method in arranging the collection of books. Some of the paintings were very fine, notably those of Andrew Johnson, Andrew Jackson, David Crockett, and Abraham Lincoln. From the top of the Capitol one can get an excellent view of the city. In the evening went out through Germantown to the remains of the forts used by the Union soldiers during the late war. As I sat on the parapet of fort Mowden, with fort Negley on my right and fort Houston on my left, looking through the mists towards Nashville, with the moon shining brightly, I thought of the brave boys in blue who occupied that place in 1863. On Friday morning I came on to my present destination. A. B.

The straight democrats of Massachusetts had a big convention in Boston on Tuesday, and nominated John Quincy Adams for governor.

Tramps Capture a Railroad Train.

New Hampshire has an "infamous tramp law" and Maine has none, which is the reason that such funny little episodes as the following occasionally take place in Maine and do not occur in this State:

After the morning mixed train for Lewiston on the Maine Central railroad left Cumberland on Saturday, Conductor Abbott found that thirteen tramps had boarded the train. Part of the crew got into a carryall on a platform car, while the rest distributed themselves over the train. All were armed with rocks. The conductor tried to collect fares or put them off, when they demanded to be let alone or they would go through him and take the train themselves. He let them alone, and running by stations stopped the train on the iron bridge at the Lewiston end and whistled for help. The police came and succeeded in capturing five of the bummers. The others let themselves down the iron rods of the bridge, and escaped

News and Notes.

There was a large meeting in Faneuil hall, Boston, Monday evening, of citizens who sympathize with the oppressed farmers in Ireland, who are threatened with ejectment because they cannot pay their rent.

The striking spinners at Fall River, Mass., after three months of idleness, were on Monday begging to be allowed to return to their old places. Their requests were refused, as their places are filled, and now the poor fellows must suffer for their folly.

It is a little singular that both Donaldson and Wise, the most noted aeronauts in this country of late years, should have each had a newspaper man with him on his last and fatal ascension. Grimwood, a well-known attache of a Cincinnati paper, went to death with Donaldson, and a St. Louis city editor went up with Wise; and neither balloonist had any other companion, though ordinarily taking up several.

Charles W. Foster, a corset manufacturer of New Haven, Conn., has brought suit for $10,000 against the New Haven Register for saying that he eloped with the wife of Ralph Douglass, a trunk maker.

A severe norther blew on the Mexican coast, commencing Sept. 18th and lasting six days. At Santa Anna six barges, four brigs and a little Mexican steamboat were lost, and at Tonala two brigs. All the men were saved except two.

Amanda Volin of Pittsfield, Mass., a mill girl twenty years old, drowned herself Monday morning in the river, on account of a quarrel with her lover.

Five seamen have been indicted by the grand jury of the United States circuit court at Philadelphia for the murder on the night of August 15th, being then on the high seas, of Charles E. Brooks, mate of the ship Sea King.

The house, woodshed and cider house of Hon. James F. Brackett of Limington, Me., were burned Saturday. The furniture was saved in a damaged condition, but everything else, including 100 barrels of vinegar, was a total loss. Loss, $2,000; insured $1,500.

A suit has been brought at Syracuse, N. Y., against Patrick Lynch, former cashier of the defunct People's savings bank, for $400,000 alleged to have been embezzled from that bank by him before it suspended.

A jury in New York having decided that Weston had no right of property in the Astley belt, it was delivered to Rowell.

Secretary Sherman says that, in order to get the gold coin out of the treasury, he intends to pay for the remainder of the outstanding called bonds in gold.

A moderate estimate there are 150,000 gallons of petroleum running to waste every day in the McKeen county (Penn.) oil regions. The tanks, with capacity for several million barrels, are filled to overflowing. The market is overstocked, and still production goes on at the rate of 25,000 barrels a day, 5,000 more than the pipe lines can handle.

An explosion Monday morning in the law office of Robt. A. Parrish in Philadelphia, by which a lad named Wm. McDonald was severely injured, proves to have been the work of an infernal machine fixed up in the drawer of Parrish's desk with parlor matches, sand paper and two horse pistols. The boy had several fingers torn off.

George A. Gardner, nephew of Prescott, the historian, died in Brooklyn, N. Y., September 27th, in great agony, aged fifty years. It appears that his death was caused by arsenical poison placed by a dentist in a tooth to kill an aching nerve. The case is being investigated. His head is reported to have been nearly severed from his body before death by decay, caused by the action of the arsenic. The dentist who treated the tooth, a Mr. Waters of Boston, denies using any arsenic.

The bar-trade at the O'Leary walking match in New York is said to be enormous, the crowd in attendance being of even lower order than that attending the previous one. Crowds of drunken roughs are on hand all the time, and some of the pedestrians carry rum bottles with them around the track, and take frequent drinks therefrom.

Sunday afternoon Colegrave, aeronaut, and Williams, manager of Woodward gardens, San Francisco, attempted a balloon ascension from the gardens. The wind was blowing heavily. The balloon seemed insufficiently inflated, and rose heavily above the buildings of the garden. Soon it dropped and scudded along at a low elevation, bearing away the telegraph wires in its flight. In a moment the bag was ripped and the gas escaped with a roar, which was heard blocks away. Both occupants were thrown out, while the balloon came down a few rods beyond. Williams was fearfully crushed about the face and head, and died almost instantly. Colegrove's injuries were mostly internal, and he died a short time after. The men fell about 200 feet. The balloon rebounded after striking the telegraph wires, striking a chimney, and again rebounding, at which moment the aeronauts were thrown out.

Political.

It is announced that all the Virginia members of the national Senate and House, except Jorgensen and Harris, will unite in a thorough canvass of the State in support of the McCulloch debt-paying bill, "with the determination to end forever the agitation of the Virginia debt."

Town elections were held in Connecticut on Monday, and two proposed constitutional amendments were voted on, both being rejected by overwhelming majorities. One of the amendments provided for biennial sessions of the legislature, and the other extended the term of office of supreme court judges to the age of seventy-five years, provided their behavior was good.

Sioux at Home.

A correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, who has lived for a year or two in the wigwam of Little Knife, a chief of the Uncapas, draws an unusual picture of the gentle savage, generally considered as indolent, violent and taciturn in his domestic relations:

Among the virtues of the Indian—the crafty and cruel Sioux—he discovers "an enthusiastic fidelity to the rules of hospitality; an Indian lodge is the property of his guest"—he feeds that guest and goes hungry himself.

The Sioux, he says, cheerful and given to fun rather than fighting, and they show "a rosy disposition to look upon the bright side of existence and a Bohemian-like inclination to regard disaster as a joke." Indians, he says, are popular in their tribes, not because they are brave warriors at all but because they are witty, and he leaves us to infer that perhaps the crimson feathers, hitherto regarded as the tally of scalps, are merely so many badges of unusually good jokes perpetrated. Jollity in camp is commonly thought to be more gravity.

"In domestic life, the Teton is a model. He will provide food when he can, and when he can't will set a brilliant example of cheerful abstinence. * * There are no kinder husbands in the world, and in his delicate attentions and courteous treatment of his squaw, the Indian has no superior. His love for his children approaches idolatry. I have seen an Indian, with an appetite three days old, conceal the food he has begged, and, hurrying to his lodge, cram it down the throat of a three-year-old savage, whose round stomach betrayed its familiarity with gastronomic exercise.

Moreover, the Indian "is always courteous and affable." They never blackguard each other. A blow is unknown. "An Indian will never strike his children or his wife." He is coarse, not obscene, and there are no words for profanity in the Sioux language. The Sioux Indian is an even-tempered, gentlemanly sort of a fellow, fond of home and family, constitutionally hungry, and always full of fun.

Bogus Certificates.

It is no vile drugged stuff, pretending to be made of wonderful foreign roots, barks, &c., and puffed up by long bogus certificates of pretended miraculous cures but a simple, pure, effective medicine, made of well known valuable remedies, that furnishes its own certificates by its cures. AROUND HOME.

The Portsmouth reform club will hold a business meeting at Bow mission hall on Thursday evening, Oct. 9th, for the choice of officers, etc.

On Monday night, at Salmon Falls, in a dispute about wages, James Ricker, formerly bar-tender for George L. L. Wentworth, was shot by the latter near the heart, it is feared fatally. Wentworth was arrested.

The fresh-water ponds on Seavey's island have recently been connected by pipes with the reservoir near the mast-house at the navy yard, so that the latter can now be filled by merely raising a gate, instead of the water having to be pumped as formerly. Those ponds are worth to the government more than was paid for the island.

Dr. Donaldson's horse on Tuesday ran away with a buggy from where he had been left in front of a house on Islington street, and went down Congress street at a lively rate, striking Canty's store wagon, whirling it around and throwing out the driver, and finally bringing up near Moses Brothers' store. The doctor's new buggy was badly damaged.

The annual meeting of the New Hampshire Unitarian association began at Nashua on Tuesday. William H. Hackett of Portsmouth, president of the association, presided and the usual routine of business was transacted; an address by Rev. E. Powell of Laconia followed. The sermon in the evening was delivered by Rev. Caleb Stebbins of Andover Centre. The convention will be in session to-day.

The receipts of Tony Denier's show at Music hall, Monday evening, amounted it is said to $579.50. We are informed that after the rush was well under way the managers put the price of "standee" gallery tickets up to fifty cents, and seats up to seventy-five cents each, they having advertised the gallery tickets at thirty-five cents before the show arrived. That made those parties mad who had not secured tickets beforehand.

Elder A. A. Waite, whose gospel tent is now pitched at Newburyport, is holding services several times a day and drawing large congregations; he is well received by the clergymen of the city. Mr. Waite was at Seabrook during the Advent camp-meeting, and the interest manifested was so great that he remained three days after the camp-meeting closed; and when he left it was under a conditional promise to return.

Last fourth of July a party kindled a fire in a swamp in Seabrook, near the railroad track and close to the State line, to cook a clam chowder; the chowder was a success, and so was the fire, for the latter got hold of the peat in the swamp and has been burning ever since, in spite of all the efforts of the owner of the land to extinguish it. He has trenched around it and tried to smother it, but it has baffled all his endeavors, and probably will keep burning until the snow comes.

On the night of the 25th of September the sand-lighter Ocean Belle was run down and sunk off Long island, Boston harbor, by an unknown schooner, which kept on her way without attempting to render any assistance. Isaiah Hutchings, one of the lighter's crew, was drowned, the others escaping; his dead body was picked up by the police steamer Protector on Sunday last, and taken to the Boston morgue. The Boston papers say the deceased belonged in "Cape Natick, Me.," Cape Neddick probably being intended.

Rev. John A. Goss commenced the eighth year of his pastorate over the Court street Christian church last Sunday. During the seven years of Mr. Goss' parish in this city he has baptized forty-six persons; fifty-six have united with the church, and twenty-seven members have died, leaving a net gain of twenty-nine. He has attended two hundred and fifty-six funerals, and married one hundred and thirty-three couples. The church now numbers about one hundred and fifty members.

The Grand Encampment of Odd Fellows of New Hampshire held its annual meeting at Rochester on Tuesday, and the Grand Lodge meets to-day.

Mr. H. A. Godfrey, of Hampton Falls, is now doing duty as postal clerk on the Boston and Bangor route, taking the place of Mr. Albert Goodwin of Augusta, Me., who has been on that route for several years, but has recently been transferred to the Boston and Portland route over the Boston & Maine railroad.

THE "PAUL JONES" SAFE.

A week or two since an item went the rounds of the press to the effect that the ship Paul Jones of this port, Gerrish master, bound from New York for Batavia, was long overdue, and that grave fears were entertained that she was lost. We refrained from making any mention of the rumor, as we could see no particular reason for worrying on the vessel's account, telegraphic communication between Java and Singapore having been interrupted early in August by the breaking of the cable, and other ships which sailed at nearly the same time as the Paul Jones for Java or to pass Anjier having failed to be reported—among them the barque Furness Abbey, Capt. Libby, which sailed for Hioga, Japan, several weeks before the Paul Jones, and was not reported until she arrived at her destination.

But the report no doubt occasioned considerable uneasiness among persons who had friends on board the Paul Jones, and hence we take pleasure in chronicling the arrival of the ship at Batavia on the 21st of August, the news having been brought to San Francisco by steamer.

This would seem to be a fitting occasion to suggest that it is always well to "go slow" in assuming that ships on long voyages (or short ones) are lost when they do not happen to be heard of for a day or two past the expected time. When this same ship Paul Jones went around from this port to Baltimore on her first trip, a story was spread around the streets that she had gone down with all on board, and nearly frightened out of their wits the wives and families of the seamen on board; yet at the time the story was started the ship had not had time to get around to Baltimore, under ordinary circumstances.

Another case we remember was when the government a few years ago sent a man-of-war, the Tennessee, we believe, on a special mission to one of the West India islands, and after she had been gone a fortnight great distress was occasioned among the friends of her crew by a press report that she was feared to be lost, the report being founded on nothing except the fact that she had not been heard from since sailing,—and this when it was known that there was mail communication with the island to which she was bound, only once in two months!

SUCCESSFUL SHOOTING.

A correspondent of Forest and Stream in writing to the last number of that excellent paper, speaks thus of his success in shooting in the western part of York county, Me., probably in either Kittery or York: "I have been away two weeks shooting on the coast of Maine, and on counting the game find the following scores for three guns: Two hundred and forty coots, twenty-three loons, thirteen gray squirrels, forty-six patridges, fifteen black ducks, twenty-eight blue-winged teal (killed in four shots—only saw one flock, in which were between forty and fifty,) four peach-crates of sand birds, and one hundred and nine yellow-legs and black-breasted plovers. These were shot within twelve miles of Portsmouth N. H., at a place I discovered about eight years ago. Our house faces two large ponds and a marsh. One hundred yards from the marsh is a beach, and three hundred yards back of the house is the best partridge ground in Maine."

SOME MORE "SPOTTER."

The Times of Tuesday evening says:

City Marshal Entwistle is just as honorable as we thought he was, and stated to us to-day that he never by the slightest word "authorized" any such statement as appeared in the CHRONICLE of Monday.

The "statement in the CHRONICLE of Monday" was "authorized" by City Marshal Entwistle, in presence of Hon. John H. Broughton and Mr. Michael E. Long, on Sunday, when it was read to him and approved by him as a correct statement of the facts in the case, and at his (the marshal's) request a slight alteration was made in it as originally written, so that it should be exact.

The Times concludes its reference to this subject as follows:

The marshal sticks to the Times' account of the "spotter" affair.

The "Times' account of the 'spotter' affair" was that the city marshal warned the spotter—because he was a spotter, and for no other reason—to leave the city in a hurry, if he wished to escape the fury of the people; but the city marshal on Tuesday evening denied, in presence of a number of witnesses, that he ever told any person that he warned the fellow to leave the city because he was a spotter.

Incidentally, our neighbor is very much exercised as to how the CHRONICLE will manage to extricate itself from the "scrape" into which it has got on the spotter question. Don't want to be extricated. We got on solid ground at the first, and cannot be coaxed off it to fight side issues; here's our platform, as first declared, and as we now stick to:

If the Times' account is correct, the present city marshal of Portsmouth is not a proper person for the position.

GOOD ADVICE.

Hon. Stillman B. Allen, in his address before the York county agricultural society at Berwick, Me., on the 24th ult., offered the following excellent advice to the boys and young men of York county and Maine generally, and it is equally as good for Rockingham county and New Hampshire, or any other county or State:

In this country it is the duty of every man to take an active part in making the laws which govern us all. Every man should vote, and vote according to his best wisdom and judgment and conscience. You cannot take an active part in government yet, but you can begin to prepare yourselves for doing so. I advise you whenever you can do so without interfering with other duties, to commence this preparation by reading political papers, not on one side only but on both sides, to listen to addresses on both sides of the subject, and to discuss the matter with those from whom you can learn something. Then when the time comes, attend the primary caucuses where most matters are practically decided, and be sure to vote at every election for the men and the measures which you believe to be best.

Read good books, such as will improve mind and heart, and if you turn at times to lighter reading for rest and amusement, be sure you have the best of that class. Never let a book be found in your room or desk which you would hesitate to let your mothers and sisters open and examine.

Read the newspapers. Every boy of fifteen ought to subscribe for some paper himself, and read it carefully and preserve it in files, marking those articles which interest him most, so he can readily refer to them afterwards.

If a mechanic, take some paper which explains inventions and the working of machinery; if a farmer, take some good agricultural paper. The amount of useful information to be obtained from any good paper will surprise you.

Mr. Allen closed his address to the boys who entered as competitors for the "corn prize," as follows:

You have all done well. I am sorry you cannot all have prizes. Suppose you try once more. I propose to offer to the boys of our State next year, for raising corn under circumstances similar to your competition this year, $100 as a first prize, $50 as a second prize, and five third prizes of $10 each, and if a boy from York county shall win the first prize, I will add to it a gold watch.

Boys of York county and of Maine—your fathers, your friends at home and abroad are looking to you anxiously and hopefully. The future of our State is in your hands. Be brave, be good, be earnest, be true.

"BOSON'S HILL."

A friend gives us still another origin for the name of this prominent feature of Newcastle scenery. He says that during a ramble thither in his schooling days, in company with a grandson of the Revolutionary hero Ethan Allen, (whose name he bore,) who had a home on the island, they met a man who told them the elevation was so called from the fact that a boatswain, during the war of 1812, who wandered away there while on a spree, was found frozen to death on one of the slopes of the hill, which he pointed out to them; and that the story was confirmed by the elder of young Ethan's relatives, who had lived long on the island, when they reached home to tea.

Important.

When you visit or leave New York city, save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire, and stop at Grand Union Hotel, nearly opposite Grand Central Depot. 350 elegant rooms reduced to $1 and upwards per day. European Plan. Elevator. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse Cars, Stages and Elevated Railroad to all depots. ug16'e0

Mob Law in Pennsylvania.

The supreme court of Pennsylvania has decided that Allegheny county is liable for the losses by the Pittsburg riot of 1877, under the act of 1841. Commenting on the circumstances of the riot the court says: "We see no evidence of any serious attempt upon the part of the local authorities to suppress it at the time of its commencement. A feeble attempt was made by the sheriff, resulting in the enrollment of some half-dozen deputies, but there was no proclamation calling upon a body of the county to come to his assistance in preserving the public peace. There are no doubts, at this day, that if a proper effort had been made at the proper time the mob could have been held in check, and no one doubts it would have been had the citizens of the county realized that they were responsible for the loss. The law will not tolerate the spectacle of a great city looking on with indifference while property to the value of millions is being destroyed by a mob. To prevent just such an occurrence was one of the objects of the act of 1841, and the fact that the State when called upon rendered its assistance and a portion of its military to the scene, did not absolve the county from its implied obligations to preserve peace nor from its responsibility for neglect of that duty. Were it otherwise, it might be for the interest of municipal authorities to increase the size of a mob."

—It is reported, via London, that Denis Kearney is writing a novel, of which he will be the principal character.

—Mr. Julian Hawthorne's new novel is a weird story in which a lover in a fit of madness locks his sweetheart in a secret room, and awakens years after to sanity, thinking she had been there but a few minutes.

Set back 42 Years.

"I was troubled for many years with Kidney Complaint, Gravel, &c.; my blood became thin; I was dull and inactive; could hardly crawl about; was an old worn out man all over; could get nothing to help me, until I got Hop Bitters, and now I am a boy again. My blood and kidneys are all right, and I am as active as a man of forty, although I am seventy-two, and I have no doubt it will do as well for others of my age. It is worth a trial.—(Father.)—Sunday Mercury.

Medicinal Wine.

Physicians from the New York Board of Health have visited the Vineyards and Wine Cellars of Alfred Speer, of New York city; he is known to be one of the most extensive producers and dealers in Pure Medicinal Wines and Brandies in the United States. He makes a superior Port, known as Speer's Port Grape Wine, which took the highest premium at the Centennial. It is extensively prescribed by physicians as the most reliable Port for medicinal purposes. It is sold by Preston, Kimball, F. B. Coleman, and H. F. Gerrish.

Rich Speculations.

A brakeman on a Western railroad placed $20 in a combination, which turned a profit of 3 7-8 per cent., equal to $387.50 per one hundred shares, netting a profit of $193.75 in addition to the $50 he invested. A conductor made $1,276.24 in two combinations. The superintendent of an Eastern railway made $16,310.13 in three combinations. Others have also made large profits. This system of stock speculations consolidates the interests of thousands into one whole, dividing the profits pro rata every thirty day. The combinations handled with the best skill and experience, attain great success in the stock market. From $25 to $10,000 can thus be invested with vast advantage. The new explanatory circular, with "unerring rules for success," mailed by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

HUMORS OF THE SCALP, LOSS OF HAIR.

Loss of Hair in thousands of cases is due entirely to some form of scalp disease. Seventy-five per cent of the number of bald heads might be covered with hair by a judicious use of CUTICURA, assisted by CUTICURA SOAP. It is the most agreeable as well as the most effective hair restorer ever produced by man. It is medicinal in the truest sense of the word. All others are some oleaginous mixture or poisonous dyes. None but CUTICURA possesses the specific medical properties that enable it to cure all itching and scaly diseases that inflame and irritate the scalp and hair glands and tubes, causing premature baldness. Medium doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT will purify the oil and sweat glands of the virus of scrofulous humor of the blood and insure a permanent cure, when taken in connection with the outward application of CUTICURA.

SALT RHEUM AND DANDRUFF

Cured that several physicians had failed to treat successfully.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have had the Salt Rheum on my head and all through my hair, also on my legs, for the past four years, having suffered exceedingly with it. The dandruff falling from my hair was very annoying. I consulted several distinguished physicians in regard to it, and have taken their prescriptions as ordered but did not find any cure and but little relief. I was told by many persons who have the Salt Rheum, and who have been troubled for years, that there was no cure for it; that it was in the blood, and I should always have it, and I was almost inclined to agree with them, but a friend wanted me to try CUTICURA, made by your firm. I did, and to my astonishment, in less than three weeks, my head was entirely free from all Salt Rheum and Dandruff, and I cannot see any appearance of Salt Rheum in my person. I think it a wonderful remedy. Respectfully yours,
GEORGE A. MUDGE,
PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Feb. 6, 1878.

HUMOR OF THE SCALP

That was destroying the Hair cured with one box of CUTICURA.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I want to tell you what CUTICURA has done for me. About ten years ago my hair began falling out, caused by Humor of the Scalp. I tried various remedies, too numerous to mention, without relief, until I began using CUTICURA, one box of which has entirely cured me and new hair is beginning to grow. Respectfully, MRS. C. J. ROOT,
807 W. Lake St., CHICAGO, ILL., Nov. 13, 1878.

SCALD HEAD

For Nine Years cured when all other Remedies failed.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Since July last I have been using your CUTICURA for Scald Head, and it has cured me when all medicines that I have taken for nine years did me no good. I am now using it as a hair dressing, but my head is well. It keeps the hair in very nice condition. Yours truly, H. A RAYMOND,
Auditor Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R. R.
JACKSON, MICH., Dec. 20, 1878.

THE CUTICURA REMEDIES

are prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a weekly invitation to customers, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 43 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

Dr. J. A. SHERMAN

Principal Office, 251 Broadway, N. Y.

BEWARE of a man named Sherman, who, taking advantage of my reputation calls himself Dr. Sherman, alias Dr. S. Sherman, alias Dr. Sherman, preferring to be famous for the cure of Rupture. He is a bold cheat, hoping to mislead and victimize the afflicted. Preserve this advertisement and show it to your afflicted friends. toct20

A GOOD PLAN

Anybody can learn to make money rapidly operating in Stocks, by the "Two Unerring Rules for Success," in Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s new circular; the combination method, which this firm has made so successful, enables people with large or small means to reap all the benefits of largest capital and best skill. Thousands of orders, in various sums, are pooled into one vast amount and co-operated as a mighty whole, thus securing to each shareholder all the advantages of the largest operator. Immense profits are divided monthly. Any amount, from $5 to $5,000, or more, can be used successfully. N. Y. Baptist Weekly, September 26th, 1878, says, "By the combination system $25 would make $75, or 5 per cent; $50 pays $230, or 7 per cent; $100 makes $1,000, or 10 per cent, on the stock, during the month, according to the market." Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, June 28th: "The combination method of operating stocks is the most successful over adopted." New York Independent Sept. 12th: "The combination system is founded upon correct business principles, and no person need be without an income while it is kept working by Messrs. Lawrence & Co." Brooklyn Journal, April 29th: "Our editor made a net profit of $101.25 from $20 in one of Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s combinations." New Yorker (medical free) explains everything. Stocks and bonds wanted. Governments bonds supplied. Lawrence & Co. Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y.

CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat,

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, that the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from a morbid condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the nose, the distinctive feature of Catarrh, in cases from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and so acid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellowish, emitting a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion; the surfaces being dry and feverish, the face, front and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it was encircled by a tight, inyielding band. This form of disease is called Dry Catarrh. The mucous discharges cause the passages to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to come directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The matter passing down the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate to free it of; but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing directly down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations, and hard masses, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, aching frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by the disease, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of the most serious diseases warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE are confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in the directions, mark it as a scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the esteem in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous diseases with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of symptoms and sympathetic affections, together with minute directions for affecting with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE a speedy and permanent cure. Also observations on diet and the preserving health, of vast importance to all afflicted with catarrh. It is printed on each bottle of the RADICAL CURE, or will be mailed free on receipt of stamp.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for use in all cases. Price, $1. The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 4 to 30 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $37.50 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "McCracken Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000).

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay rough dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect the five Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $5.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates will be promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. GEORGE FORTESCUE AND THE GENTLEMAN HIGHWAYMAN.

A TALE OF THE OLDEN TIME.

In the bygone days when highwaymen were a constant terror upon English roads, long before the iron horse that usurped the place of the old-fashioned stage-coach had been dreamed of, as a group of half-a dozen young gentlemen of fashion and fortune were chatting over their wine at a famous London tavern of the time, the conversation turned upon the latest exploit of one of the "knights of the road," an account of which was given in the newspapers of the day. Included among the number was George Fortescue, whose tall, elegantly-formed, but yet athletic figure, made him ever conspicuous among his companions, who expressed much incredulity as to many of the stories told of robberies upon the highway. "There are those," said he, "who seem to take a pride in being fleced by these vagabonds. For my part, I should feel exceedingly chagrined at being made one of their victims, and never travel without going well armed."

"You have no occasion, however, to travel at night," remarked one of the party, "the time when most of these outrages are committed."

"True," answered Fortescue, "my journeyings are chiefly by daylight; but to show that I have no more fear of being robbed at one time than another, I have a jaunt to make to-morrow to a country seat my father has lately purchased twenty miles from London, and instead of starting in the morning, which it was my intention to do, I will wait until the close of the day, and make the journey by moonlight."

"The greatest difficulty is," remarked the other, "that these fellows often come upon a traveller at a moment when least expected, and have a pistol at his head before he can get his arms, if he has them, in readiness to defend himself."

"I am always prepared for them," Fortescue rejoined, "as, in addition to the pistols in my holsters, I have this instrument ready at hand for any emergency;" taking from a pocket in the breast of his coat a beautiful piece of mechanism in the form of a double-barrelled pistol, that, small though it was, would have been a useful weapon in a time of need.

"Do you really intend taking the jaunt to-morrow evening?" asked another of the company.

"I purpose doing so," was the reply of Fortescue.

"Then," rejoined the other," I will bet a supper, and a dozen of the landlord's best, that you are robbed before reaching your journey's end."

"I accept the bet," Fortescue replied. "We will meet here on Wednesday afternoon, and whoever is the loser shall at once pay the forfeit."

The apartment where this conversation occurred was one of the public rooms of the tavern. No one chanced to be present, however, but the party of friends, save a gentleman whose handsome intelligent face, glossy black whiskers, and especially a remarkably well-formed nose, attracted attention as he sat in a corner reading a newspaper, and were the cause of many a significant glance from one to another. So intently was he in his reading, and seeming to pay no heed to the conversation of the others, he was soon, in a measure, forgotten, as the discourse became animated, and then laying down his newspaper, he reclined his head against the wall as if inclined to sleep.

As the pistol of Fortescue passed from one to another, it was discovered to be loaded, but he assured them it was with blank cartridges alone, and after being examined and highly commended for its elegance of workmanship, it lay upon the table and remained there when the owner suddenly left the room to speak to a friend who passed in the street. On his return, a few minutes later, the apartment was empty, but the pistol was where he left it, and replacing it in his pocket he thought no more of it.

His servant, who was to accompany him, being taken suddenly ill, he started alone on his journey the day following, about the hour of sunset. When five or six miles out of London, it suddenly occurred to him that he had forgotten to have his pistols placed in the holsters. It gave him, however, little uneasiness, as he had no idea that any occasion would arise for their use, but thought it would be as well to drop the bullets into the small pistol in his pocket, and in doing so, discovered that the charges had been withdrawn from both barrels. As the weapon had been in no other hands but his own after returning it to his pocket in the tavern the previous day, he came to the conclusion that it was a mischievous trick of some of his companions, and as the possibility presented itself to him, that notwithstanding his incredulity, it might be needed, his reflections, in which vexation at the imagined authors of the mischief was blended, were for a while by no means of an agreeable character. Nothing, however, long disturbed the natural equanimity of his temperament, and more agreeable thoughts soon occupied his mind as he journeyed onward in the clear moonlight of the evening. The only unpleasant sensation he experienced was that of loneliness, as no one had passed in either direction for more than an hour, when the stillness of the evening was broken by the tread of a horse in an adjoining road, the sound of which continued to approved nearer and nearer, and he was in momentary expectation that a traveller would present himself to view; when the sound suddenly ceased, and he was again left to the solitude around him. While ruminating upon the matter, and wishing himself at the journey's end, he had to pass through a small piece of woods, where the foliage was so dense as almost to obscure the moon, and just at the moment of emerging from it, a horseman suddenly made his appearance, who presented a pistol and demanded his watch and money.

Great as was his surprise at the encounter, it was greater still when he recognized in the robber the individual whose good looks had attracted his attention and that of his companions the day previous at the London tavern. Though the glossy whiskers might be concealed from view beneath others of a different hue and less trimly cut, there was no mistaking, in the brilliant moonlight, the features, and especially the well remembered nose, of the unknown stranger. In his defenceless state, there was of course no alternative but to comply with the demand of the "knight of the road," and in doing so, he said, "You will not find either my purse or watch much of a prize, as the former is nearly empty, and the latter but a two-and-six penny affair loaned to me by the watchmaker who is repairing my own. Little in value as they are, however, my fine fellow, you would have neither, at least not without a struggle, but for the fact that you found me entirely unarmed, through my own neglect, and a shabby trick that has been played upon me. It strikes me," he added, taking a look at him at the same time, "that a man of your appearance and intelligence, if I am any judge of physiognomy, might find some more honest calling than the knavish one you are at present pursuing."

The Indian War.

The war department at Washington is advised that Capt. Payne's (late Thornburgh's) command was able to hold the Ute Indians in check, and has been joined by Capt. Dodge's colored company of the 9th cavalry, which it was feared had been massacred. It is believed the worst of the trouble is over.

A despatch from Rawlins, dated Oct. 8th, says that Merritt's command reached Payne's position on the afternoon of the 6th, after a sharp fight with the Indians, in which thirty-seven of the savages were killed. All but two of the horses of Dodge's company were killed.

Democratic State Conventions.

The Massachusetts democratic convention, after nominating John Quincy Adams for governor, completed the ticket as follows: Wm. R. Plunkett of Pittsfield for lieutenant governor; Gen. M. T. Donahoe of Boston for secretary of State; D. N. Skillings of Winchester for treasurer and receiver general; William R. Field of Greenfield for auditor; and Richard Olney of Boston for attorney general. A stalwart democratic platform was adopted, and speeches were made by Messrs. Leverett Saltonstall, Josiah G. Abbott, Patrick A. Collins, Charles H. Thompson and others.

The democratic State convention of Louisiana met on the 6th inst. at Baton Rouge, and nominated L. A. Wiltz, the leader of the White League, for governor, by 276 votes to 174 for Gen. Fred N. Ogden.

Naval Affairs.

The U. S. S. Vandalia, Commander Meade, was at Aspinwall Sept. 22d, and expected to sail next day for the Cherique lagoon, returning to Aspinwall about Oct. 15th, after which she would proceed to Vera Cruz.

The school ship St. Mary's, Commander Erben, arrived at New York from her summer cruise, Oct. 5th.

News and Notes.

Robert A. Parrish, Jr., of Philadelphia, in whose desk the infernal machine exploded on Monday, the 6th inst., surrendered himself to the police Tuesday morning. He acknowledged that he placed the deadly contrivance there himself to check petty thefts. He was held without bail on a charge of felony.

The trial of Rev. Herbert H. Hayden for the murder of Mary Stannard of Madison, Conn., on September 3d, 1873, was begun in New Haven on the 7th inst.

The First national bank of Winchenden, Mass., was entered by burglars early on the morning of the 7th inst. A young man named Albert Perry, who slept in the bank, was shot in the arm. The burglars escaped without any plunder.

Two negroes, named Tom Jones and Bill Rearson, were taken from jail at White's Creek, Tenn., on the 6th inst., by a mob, and hanged. They were under arrest for the murder of a white man, which they confessed having committed.

A rich vein of argentiferous galena, four feet wide, has been discovered a mile north of Corinna village, Me. Work was commenced on this vein on the 6th inst., and fifteen hundred pounds of ore were taken out, pieces of solid galena weighing from ten to fifty pounds being blown out. The owner thinks it is the richest discovery east of the Rocky mountains. Great excitement prevails in the vicinity over this discovery.

The schooner Stephen Bennett, capsized some months ago on the passage from Boston to Baltimore, when the entire ship's company perished, and which has repeatedly been reported since as being seen floating, bottom up and apparently anchored, near Winter Quarter shoals, was towed to Delaware breakwater Oct. 5th, by wrecking tugs.

Johnson's lager beer pavilion at Staten Island was burned Tuesday morning, 7th inst. Johnson's body was burned to a crisp, and found in the ruins.

A Handy Boy.

A clerk in a Lewiston insurance office took a kerosene oil-can and went out to purchase some oil, the other evening. On the threshold he met an acquaintance whom he had not seen for some time, and stopped to converse with him a few minutes. A clever-looking, tow-headed urchin came along and the clerk hailed him in this wise: "See here, bub, just go and get my oil-can filled for me." The boy consented. The clerk placed thirteen cents in his palm and off he went at a dog trot. Meanwhile, the gay young insurance man enjoyed himself in conversation with his friend. The boy came back shortly with a filled can. The clerk rewarded him and reentered the office. The lamps were filled, burned brightly a few moments, commenced to flicker and finally went out. The lamps were examined and were found to be filled with water. The oil-can was then examined and that, too, contained water. If that clever-looking, long-haired boy could have been examined, the thirteen cents would probably have been found in his pocket! It did not require a close examination to discover disgust in the insurance clerk's face. If that boy's parents want to make a small fortune, they should have their darling's life insured for $5,000 and send him into that office.—Lewistown Journal.

—Small girl, very harshly, to her doll in a toy carriage, dolly having tumbled from the seat: "Sit right up, you horrid old thing! Don't you dare do that again, or I'll whip you." Seeing a passer, who had approached unobserved, she modified her voice and continued in dulcet tones: "Now sit up straight, darling, and be careful not to fall and hurt yourself."

—Two beautiful young men in Lonoke, Ark., procured licenses to marry the same girl on the same day. She lived four miles out of town, and was not considered a coquette. It was a case of "first come, first served." The young man who arrived an hour too late had boasted that no woman in America could jilt him. So the fair Leonora put her wits together to undeceive him, they being engaged at the time.

—A Belfast man, though strong and able-bodied, has elected to spend the remainder of his days in a chair. He is a ship carpenter by trade, and when a reduction of wages took place he refused to work longer. So he seated himself in a rocking chair by the window in his sitting-room, and there he sits, only rising to go to his meals or to go to bed. The rockers of his chair have worn grooves in the floor, and on the window-sill are the imprints of the fingers of one hand, with which he drums idly as he rocks to and fro. How fortunate that he has a wife to support him!

—Several San Francisco bartenders have been led into buying almost worthless paintings at $150 apiece in this way: A well dressed stranger lounges in the barroom a day or two, and then asks permission to hang a picture in the place for a raffle. The bartender thinks of the profit to come from incidental drinking, and readily consents. The painting is put up, the stranger praising it excessively, and placing 200 tickets on sale at $1 each. A second well dressed stranger soon appears. He sees the picture, and says that, knowing its high value, he will buy it for $200. Can the barkeeper make such a bargain? The barkeeper, intent on clearing $50, goes to the first stranger and succeeds in buying the daub for $150; but the second stranger never returns to take it for $200 or any other price.

Increasing cloudiness and possibly occasional rain, winds mostly westerly, nearly stationary temprature and barometer.

AROUND HOME.

Mr. Josiah W. Hussey had an arm broken by a fall while working on the new Franklin block, on Wednesday afternoon, the 8th inst.

Hon. Thomas L. Tullock, of Washington, D. C., was in this city for a few hours on Wednesday of this week, but left in the afternoon train for Washington.

A grand foot race in Eagle hall, Dover, on a recent Saturday night, turned out to be a grand fizzle, the entire receipts being only five or six dollars, and the contestants soon getting tired of tramping around a hall with nobody to look at them.

Dogs have been committing ravages among the sheep-flocks of North Hampton recently, Nathaniel B. Marston and Samuel D. Lane each losing five sheep. A number of sheep are also reported to have been killed in Hampton by dogs, within a short time.

James Ricker, the ex-bartender in Maj. George L. Wentworth's saloon at Salmon Falls, who was shot by Wentworth on the night of the 6th inst., is now said to be not dangerously wounded, though his hurt is quite severe. Ricker was drunk at the time the affair happened—ten o'clock at night—and after a warm dispute with Wentworth commenced to throw stones at him, hitting him twice; Wentworth then fired several shots from a revolver, one of the bullets striking Ricker in the side.

By an advertisement in another column it will be seen that there are to be two races at the Rockingham trotting park on Wednesday, the 22d inst., when two purses will be offered, as follows: Purse of $100, divided into four prizes, ($50, $25, $15 and $ 10,) the race being open to all horses owned in Rockingham county that have never beaten three minutes; purse of $100, open to all horses wherever owned, $60 to go to the first horse, $25 to second,, and $15 to third. The rules of the national trotting association will govern the races. Entries may be made up to Oct. 18th, with Mr. Henry R. Stoddard.

An exchange says that Frank Witham of Epping, who was recently killed at Hill's steam-power tannery in Nottingham, was literally ground to a jelly. While engaged in taking hides out of a pit inside of which swiftly revolved a large flanged wheel, he by some means got caught in the connecting machinery, when he was carried around at a fearful rate, his body being forced through a space of less than four inches, though he was a very stout-built man. The accident was not discovered for some time, when he was found to be literally reduced to a pulp. Mr. Witham was twenty-one years of age.

The sale of reserved seat tickets for Murphy's Miniature Opera Pinafore commenced at Dr. Preston's at nine o'clock on Wednesday, and at twelve o'clock more than a hunred had been taken, which clearly shows that persons desiring a choice of the best seats should not too long delay in securing them. This company is the one which held the boards at the Boston museum for four months, playing to large audiences all the time; Little Corinne, who as Little Buttercup won such plaudits in Boston, still takes that part, William H. Lee, the "boy soprano," is the Ralph Rackstraw, and the other characters are assigned to the same performers that took them in Boston. See advertisement.

POTATOES AND APPLES.

Mr. Peter Collins, who lives on a little place on the Islington road, has this year raised on a piece of land measuring about one-fourth of an acre, one hundred and twenty bushels of potatoes, which is at the rate of almost five hundred bushels to the acre! The gentlemen who gives us this item is one of the most enterprising and successful farmers in Rockingham county, who saw the potato path repeatedly while growing, and after the crop had turned out so enormously, took the trouble to "step off" the ground, which he found to be a little scant of a quarter acre.

A Rye subscriber informs us that the potato crop in that town is unusually fine, the yield being very heavy and the potatoes of superior size and quality. The potato crop in Seabrook is this year the best ever known in that town, the tubers being very large, fair and sound, and the yield enormous.

The apple crop of Rye is quite large—far beyond the anticipations at the opening of the year—and the fruit of fine quality. In Greenland the estimated yield of merchantable apples is placed at from eight thousand to ten thousand barrels. Parties have been shipping apples from North Hampton railraod station, paying $1.75 per bbl. for number ones; but the farmers generally are holding on, expecting to get $2 per bbl.

Throughout this immediate vicinity the potato-crop reports are everywhere satisfactory, and the yield of apples very large for an "off year," both potatoes and apples being of extra quality. The yield of Indian corn will in many places be hardly up to the average.

"SPOTTER" LITERATURE.

Our neighbor, the Times, is respectfully informed that every word on the "spotter" question which has appeared in this paper, with the exception of the "statement" in the CHRONICLE of Monday, has been written by its editor. By the way, the Times said that statement was not "authorized" by the city marshal, and we replied that it was; on Sunday, in presence of Hon. John H. Broughton and Mr. Michael E. Long—

It was read to him and approved by him as a correct statement of the facts in the case, and at his (the marshal's) request a slight alteration was made in t as originally written, so it should be exact.

To which the Times adds:

Which Marshal Entwistle emphatically pronounces false, which Hon. John H. Broughton also denies, and which Mr. Long will also deny, no doubt, when interviewed.

What any gentleman will "no doubt" do is not material; but the following has some bearing on the question:

PORTSMOUTH, Oct. 8th.

Ed. Chronicle: I was present in the police station on Sunday last when a statement was read to the city marshal; at his request a slight alteration was made therein; and as altered, the city marshal approved it as substantially correct.

(Signed) JOHN H. BROUGHTON.

But all this is outside of the original point of controversy, to which we once more return, as follows: The Times published a statement that City Marshal Entwistle met a liquor-spotter on the street, and because he was a liquor spotter warned him "that if he wanted to escape the direst vengeance from an incensed public" he had better clear out of the city, upon receiving which notice that he would get no police protection if attacked, the spotter "with blanched face and trembling limbs quickly departed, and has not since been seen hereabouts." Commenting upon this account, we said that if it was correct the city marshal was unfit for his position; but that we did not fully credit it, and would be glad to have it disproved, to which the Times wittily responded, "we are sorry you cannot be accommodated in any essential particular, poor fellow; so don't be too much agonized over facts."

Day after day our evening contemporary has repeated that "the marshal still sticks to the Times' account," and as often have we reiterated, "then he is not a proper person for city marshal;" but on the evening of Wednesday, the 8th inst., a few hours after our neighbor's regular announcement (this time in Italics) that "The marshal still sticks!" the marshal himself came into our office and declared that he did not drive nor in any way attempt to drive the liquor spotter from the city because he was a spotter, and that he never told any person that he did; that he did not drive him from the city at all; that the fellow was driven out by the mayor, who threatened to send him to Brentwood as a vagrant if he did not leave; and that his being a liquor spotter had nothing whatever to do with his expulsion. From which it appears that the Times' first chapter in the great spotter serial was wide of the facts, as we at the time expressed a hope it would turn out to be.

It may not be out of place here to mention that the Times itself, in its issue of Oct. 3d, also contradicted its first story, which was published Sept. 30th, on the later date asserting that the spotter applied to the mayor for city aid and was by him "ordered to leave the city before a certain hour the next day," this being "after the city marshal had spoken to the man"—an acknowledgement that the story of the spotter's hasty flight with "blanched cheeks and trembling limbs" on being threatened by the marshal with "the direst vengeance from an incensed public," was incorrect.

CIRCUIT COURT--LOWELL, J.

The October term of this court began at Exeter on Wednesday, the 8th inst., Judge Lowell presiding. The following is a list of the grand jurors summoned:

George M. Kimball, Atkinson; John E. White, Auburn; Orin Sanborn, Brentwood; Levi Bean, George C. Goss, Candia; William Shirley, Silas F. Learned, Chester; Arthur S. Collins, Danville; Amos L. Jenness, Deerfield; Henry C. Piper, Dublin; Melvin Wilson, William Williams, Fitzwilliam; Frank W. Minor, Gilsum; Thomas Annett, Jaffrey; Charles Mason, Marlesborough; Frederick Taylor, Nelson; Zachariah F. Whitney, Rindge; Freeman A. White, Keene, (ward one;) William C. Palmer, James M. Bacheldor, Derry.

Mr. Silas F. Learned was appointed foreman of the grand jury.

The petit jurors summoned are as follows:

Jeremiah T. Poor, Atkinson; Andrew F. Fox, Auburn; Frank H. Rowell, Brentwood; Edwin J. Godfrey, Candia; George W. Chase, Chester; Andrew J. Philbrick, Danville; James Allison, Dublin; Daniel Burbank, Fitzwilliam; Aaron D. Hammond, Gilsum; S. Hubert Mower, Jaffrey; George K. Harrington, Marlborough; Winslow W. Atwood, Nelson; Abraham J. Converse, Rindge; John M. Farnum, Keene, (ward one.)

Prayer was offered by Chaplain W. H. Stewart of the United States navy.

The forenoon was occupied in calling the docket.

The action Roberts vs. city of Nashua, wherein twenty thousand dollars were claimed for damages sustained from an injury resulting from a defective sidewalk near the Indian Head hotel, having been settled, was dismissed from the docket.

Case Perkins vs. Nashua Card and Glazed Paper Co., in order for hearing, was continued on the motion of the defendants, who asked for further time in which to take testimony. Noyes for pltf., Clark for deft.

Case No. 97, Samuel G. Dearborn vs. Augustus T. Post, action to recover the price paid for certain western bonds purchased of Post, a New York broker, which it is contended were bought with the agreement that the bonds "if not right" should be returned and the contract of sale be rescinded. The action has been removed from the State court. A question upon allowing certain amendments was argued by Hon. B. Wadleigh for the pltf., and Hon. A. F. Stevens for the deft. The plff. bought six coupon bonds of Bourbon, Douglass county, Illinois, for the payment of $500 each, to be exchanged or returned, and he afterward asked the deft. to take the bonds back. The deft. sold the bonds through a travelling agent at Nashua, who represented these bonds to be a first-class security, but the bonds were not first-class, being of no value. The damage claimed is $4000. The amendment was such that the deft. was not prepared for trial, and the case was accordingly continued, to the May term.

Benj. Waterhouse of Barrington, arraigned on an indictment for fraudulently voting for a candidate for Congress from the first congressional district in this State, in November, 1878, being then a minor, pleaded guilty. Sentence deferred.

The grand jury are expected to report this afternoon.

British Mail-Bag.

The late British postoffice report says: The past year appears to have been no exception to the rule as regards the miscellaneous nature of articles passing through the post, about 6000 packets having been forwarded contrary to the regulations of the department. The following are some of the numerous articles observed during the year: Live animals—such as rabbits, rats, moles, tortoises, bees and crabs—Devonshire cream, eggs, fruit, mince and pork pies, sausages, horseshoe nails, artificial teeth, revolvers, china ornaments, geranium cuttings, tobacco and cigars, glazier's diamonds, etc. A packet containing a small lizard and a lizard went to the returned letter office. Upon examining it the next day, the lizard had disappeared and, from the appearance of the snake, it was feared that it had made a meal of its companion.

Many devices are still employed, either from ignorance or with the view of evading payment of the registration fee, small as it is, to make remittances in irregular manner. In one instance a £20 Bank of England note was pinned to one of the pages of a book went to the foulids of a lady at a receiving house in the metropolitan district, and in another a half-penny wrapper was found to contain a letter, a bill of sale, and four £5 Bank of England notes. A brown paper parcel, tied with string, unsealed, and not even registered, was found to contain six sovereigns, one half-crown, two six-pences and three three-penny pieces, wrapped up in small articles of ladies' dress. In several instances coins have been imbedded in cake and pieces of toast.

The parcels of Christmas presents which passed through the registered letter branch of the General Post Office in London exceeded 30,000 in number and three tons in weight; and the officers of the branch were continuously employed from 8:45 A. M., on December 24th, until noon of the 25th, in disposing of this unprecedented amount of extra work. Inquiries were made respecting a letter addressed to Paris and intended to have been registered, the contents of which were stated to be worth £135,000. The letter was found among the ordinary correspondence. Inquiry was also made for a packet containing a watch addressed to a watchmaker in London, who positively denied having recieved it. The missing watch was found in a drawer in his shop.

Many curiously addressed letters are found among those undelivered in consequence of insufficient addresses. A letter from America was addressed to "Little Alice, Serio-Comic Singer, London, England." From Versailles there was one addressed, "Please to put this young man in the right train for Penge." In one case a depositor, whose occupation had been given as a "vender of cats'-meat," in applying for acknowledgement for a deposit which had failed him in due course, took occasion to add, "The next time it occurs I shall write to the Queen."

Two packets addressed to Australia were returned marked "unclaimed," and on being opened were found to contain respectively 100 sovereigns and 50 sovereigns, without any communication in either. It is presumed that the sender directed these packets to himself and followed them in another ship bound for the colony, but that having died on the passage, or the ship having been lost, no application was made at the post-office for them.

Medicinal Wine.

Physicians from the New York Board of Health have visited the Vineyards and Wine Cellars of Alfred Speer, of New York city; he is known to be one of the most extensive producers and dealers in Pure Medicinal Wines and Brandies in the United States. He makes a superior Port, known as Speer's Port Grape Wine, which took the highest premium at the Centennial. It is extensively prescribed by physicians as the most reliable Port for medicinal purposes. It is sold by Preston, Kimball, F. B. Coleman, and H. F. Gerrish.

It is Delicious,

Every one says that has used Walter Baker & Co.'s Chocolate and Cocoa preparations. They have stood the test of a century and have become articles of general consumption. Grocers everywhere keep these goods.

SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER is delicious, invigorating, refreshing, wholesome, and safe.

Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites is not only the most reliable remedy for consumption, but it is a specific also for bronchitis and asthma.

—Men are sometimes accused of pride because their accusers would be proud themselves if they were in their place.

—When in passing a stately mansion the only thing out of order is the front gate, it is evident that there is a marriageable daughter in the house.

—It takes a Turk about six months to collect a debt of fifteen cents against another Turk, but as an offset it takes the second Turk a whole year to persuade the first Turk to trust him.

—A new mode of collecting honey is being tried in Germany. A small apparatus with wires gives the bees an electric shock, and they fall to the bottom of the hive, remaining motionless for several hours.

—Two girls who lately ran away from Long Island are thus graphically described by their father: "Laura, age eighteen, dressed in a straw hat; Florence J., age sixteen, blue suit." We tremble in view of the possibility of the fair Laura's hat blowing off!

—A New England writer is noted for neglect in his personal appearance. The night before Christmas a gentleman spoke to a friend of making the author a present. "I want to get him something that he will keep," observed the gentleman. "In that case I would suggest a cake of soap," remarked the friend.

—About three months ago a man in a Kentucky town was shot at by a concealed assassin and slightly wounded. He recovered from his injuries in about a week and was again shot, and this time seriously wounded. He was out again in two months, and the other day he received a bullet in the head, which, it was thought, would prove fatal. It is strongly suspected that his would-be murderer is a sewing machine agent who is killing his victim on the "instalment plan."

Cuticura

HUMORS OF THE SCALP, LOSS OF HAIR.

Loss of Hair in thousands of cases is due entirely to some form of scalp disease. Seventy-five per cent of the number of bald heads might be covered with hair by a judicious use of CUTICURA, assisted by CUTICURA SOAP. It is the most agreeable as well as the most effective hair restorer ever produced by man. It is medicinal in the truest sense of the word. All others are mere oleaginous mixture or poisonous dyes. None but CUTICURA possesses the specific medical properties capable of so quickly allaying most agonizing diseases that induce and irritate the scalp and hair glands and tubes, causing premature baldness. Medium doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT will purify the oil and sweat glands of the virus of scrofulous humor of the blood and insure a permanent cure, when taken in connection with the outward application of CUTICURA.

SALT RHEUM AND DANDRUFF

Cured that several physicians had failed to treat successfully.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have had the Salt Rheum on my head and all through my hair, also on my legs, for the past four years, having suffered exceedingly with it. The dandruff falling from my hair was very annoying. I consulted several distinguished physicians in regard to it, and have taken their prescriptions as ordered but did not find any cure and but little relief. I was told by many persons who have the Salt Rheum, and who have been deafened for years, that there was no cure for it; that it was in the blood, and I should always have it, and I was almost inclined to agree with them, but a friend wanted me to try CUTICURA, made by your firm. I did, and to my astonishment, in less than three weeks my head was entirely free from all Salt Rheum and Dandruff, and I cannot see any appearance of Salt Rheum on my person. I think it a wonderful remedy. Respectfully yours,
GEORGE A. MUDGE,
PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Feb. 6, 1878.

HUMOR OF THE SCALP

That was destroying the Hair cured with one box of CUTICURA.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I want to tell you what CUTICURA has done for me. About ten years ago my hair began falling out, caused by Humor of the Scalp. I tried various remedies, too numerous to mention, without relief, until I began using CUTICURA, one box of which has entirely cured me and new hair is beginning to grow. Respectfully, MRS. O. J. ROOT,
387 W. Lake St., CHICAGO, ILL., Nov. 15, 1878.

We know the above to be true.

I am now using it as a hair dressing, but my head is well. It keeps the hair in very nice condition. Yours truly, H. A RAYMOND,
Auditor Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R. R.
JACKSON, MICH., Dec. 20, 1878.

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury usually inflicted, is now at his branch office, 43 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

A GOOD PLAN

Anybody can learn to make money rapidly operating in Stocks, by the "Two Unerring Rules for Success," in Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s new circular; the combination method, which this firm has made so successful, enables people with large or small means to reap all the benefits of largest capital and best skill. Thousands of orders, in various sums, are pooled into one vast amount and co-operated as a mighty whole, thus securing to each shareholder all the advantages of the largest operator. Immense profits are divided monthly. Any amount, from $5 to $5,000, or more, can be used successfully. N. Y. Baptist Weekly, September 20th, 1878, says, "By the combination system $15 would make $75, or 5 per cent.; $50 pays $350, or 7 per cent.; $100 makes $1,000, or 10 per cent; on the stock, during the month, according to the market." Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, June 29th: "The combination method of operating stocks is the most successful ever adopted." New York Independent Sept. 13th: "The combination system is founded upon correct business principles, and no person need be without an income while it is kept working by Messrs. Lawrence & Co." Brooklyn Journal, April 29th: "Our editor made a net profit of $101.25 from $20 in one of Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s combinations." New circular (mailed free) explains everything. Stocks and bonds wanted. Governments bonds supplied. Lawrence & Co. Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y.

CATARRH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the secretions and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from a scrofulous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, or Whooping Cough, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and so acid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellow-ish, resembling a foul odor, or dry and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the surfaces being dry and feverish, the face, front and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it were stretched by a tight, unyielding band. This latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free mattery discharges cause the passages to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The matter passing down the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate to throw it off; but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations, and hard lumps, which adhere firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, smiting frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Everything in its preparation, every line in the directions, mark it as a scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The testimonials received from the best people in the United States attest the extent in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind are afflicted.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work does on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.60 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "McCracken Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000; (four times as much as this Company,) and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill, during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOURTH ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends; all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $2.50 per share. [Written for the Chronicle.]

GEORGE FORTESCUE AND THE GENTLEMAN HIGHWAYMAN.

A TALE OF THE OLDEN TIME.

Concluded from yesterday.

"Why, my dear sir," was the ready reply of the individual addressed, "our great national poet tells us it is no sin for a man to labor in his vocation; and this happens to be mine, just now, for the want of a better one. It is not often that I find so agreeable a gentleman as you seem to be for a customer, and but for the fact that I chance to be very short of cash just now I would return your purse, as I do the watch, as it is not your own you say, and not because it is hardly worth stealing."

The rogue, proving, as Fortescue had imagined him to be, possessed of much intelligence, as well as a good share of ready wit, and a lively and good tempered chat was the consequence as they rode on some distance together. In taking his leave, raising his hat in the most courteous manner in doing so, he said to Fortescue, "I will give you two pieces of advise in bidding you good night, that may be of service to you hereafter; talk less freely before strangers, and never leave your pistol on the table in a tavern."

The parting words of the robber thus enlightening him as to the perpetrator of the trick relative to his pistol, relieved him greatly to his gratification of the unpleasant feeling he entertained towards those he suspected of being the authors of it, but another matter that gave him some annoyance occupied his thoughts as he proceeded on his journey. The amount of which he had been robbed, but a few guineas, was to him a matter of not the slightest consequence, and the payment of his bet would be but the occasion of an evening's enjoyment, yet he could not suppress a feeling of chagrin at being compelled to surrender in such a way what he would voluntarily have given under other circumstances, and he set his wits to work to devise some mode of retaliation.

He returned in due time to keep the appointment with his friends at their favorite resort, on the following day, and in acknowledging that he had fairly lost the bet, enjoined secrecy upon them in regard to the matter, as he was not ambitious of having his name appear in the newspapers in connection with such an affair. On making known the circumstance of the condition in which he found his pistol and his suspicion in relation to it, that had been removed by the hint of the robber, they all disclaimed having had it in their hands after he left the room; stating in addition, that as they took their departure together a few minutes subsequently, the stranger, from his heavy breathing, appeared to be in a deep slumber, exciting remarks of surprise as they passed into the street, from the fact of the continued conversation that had prevailed, mingled at one time with boisterous laughter at a humorous story told by one of the party.

Although a history of Fortescue's adventure did not find its way into the newspapers, several others were recorded, within the week succeeding, that he doubted not were attributable to the same source. The most prominent among them, and one that excited the most sympathy for the victim as well as indignation against the perpetrator of the outrage, was the robbery of a poor sailor, who, after returning from a three years' cruise in a government vessel, was stripped of all his hard earnings while on his way homeward to his aged parents.

A month subsequent to Fortescue's evening journey, and when the harvest moon was in its highest glory, as two elderly men, having the appearance, from their well-filled saddle-bags, of farmers returning from a market-town, were jogging along the road, they were accosted within a few yards of the spot where he had encountered him, by the same individual, and with a similar demand upon them. They assured him, as they dismounted from their horses, that all the money taken with them from home had been expended in the purchase of the articles of stores for their families that were in their saddle-bags, which he was invited to examine; also that their watches, of silver, were of little value except as family relics; but he was not satisfied, and after a search in their pockets being rewarded by the finding of but a few shillings, he proceeded to throw out the contents of the saddle-bags into the road, examining carefully each package in doing so. While busily engaged in the operation, and at a time when such an event was least anticipated, he found himself seized from behind by a couple of individuals, from whose sturdy grasp all his efforts at effecting a release were unavailing, his pistol taken from his bosom where he had placed it while in search of the money he imagined they had with them, and in about the time it takes to tell the story, he was a close prisoner, with his arms lashed to a stout staff behind him. In this condition he was placed upon his own horse, his legs made fast together by a cord beneath the saddle, and ere long he was on his way to London between a youthful pair he had mistaken, greatly to his chagrin, for others many years their seniors.

The explanation of the matter was this. A cousin of Fortescue, a lieutenant in the naval service, had returned from sea in the same vessel with the sailor whose robbery has been mentioned, and as they read the account together in a morning newspaper, the indignation of the lieutenant was aroused to a high pitch that so worthy a fellow as he knew the sailor to be, should have been so badly used, to use his own expression, by "a sneaking thief of a land-lubber." Improving the opportunity of such a mood in his relative, Fortescue proposed that they should act together in an effort to catch the rogue; thus, if successful, conferring a benefit on the public at large, as well as gratifying their own desire to bring the offender to justice. A braver fellow than the lieutenant never trod deck, or one more fond of adventure, and accepting the proposal with enthusiasm, the pair set to work, upon a plan devised by Fortescue, to carry the project into execution. After procuring the necessary disguises, and all things else needed in their programme of operations, they next called in the aid of a popular actor of the Drury Lane company, with whom Fortescue was familiar, who by the aid of paint and other accessaries so disguised them, and made them so much resemble what the robber never for a moment doubted them to be, a pair of elderly farmers, their own mothers would not have known them ten yards distant.

With the success that crowned their efforts the reader has been made acquainted. Besides a purse of ten guineas, found in his pockets, which they allowed him to keep, his captors discovered a considerable amount in gold and bank-notes concealed in the padding of his saddle, which, without the red tape of the law, they took the responsibility of awarding to the sailor, to replace the sum of which he had been robbed.

The evidence was so strong against the gentleman-highwayman, the jury convicted him without leaving their seats; but instead of being hung—the penalty in most cases then and now for highway robbery—through the efforts of his counsel, one of the most able members at the time of the London bar, who it was said took a fancy to him for his good looks, his sentence was commuted to transportation for life.

The Retirement of an Able Functionary.

The termination of the service of Ex-Gov. Straw, after forty consecutive years' employment in the interests of the Amoskeag Manufacturing Co. at Manchester, was marked on Wednesday, at the annual meeting of the corporation, by appropriate resolutions and eulogistic speeches.

Gov. Straw has long been identified with the interests of Manchester, and has had the rare faculty of serving well the corporate interests he represented, and at the same time caring for the welfare of the city, in whose growth and progress he had such constant pride and unabating solicitude.

Identified as he was with all local interests, with large influence with the capitalists who controlled the manufacturing investments on the Merrimack at this point, he has been able for a long series of years to exercise a controlling influence, seldom if ever before attained by any man in New Hampshire.

Constant and almost uninterrupted mental labor, with an intimate knowledge of all that was transpiring in relation to manufacturing and railroad interest in and about Manchester, even if not himself directing the same, have compelled Mr. Straw to be one of the hardest worked men of the State, and his health has succumbed to the tax he has imposed upon it.

His successor is a man of ability, one of the men who has grown by his inherent talents, coupled with his own efforts, to the position he to-day fills; and Manchester, that busy and growing city, is fortunate, as is the corporation of the Amoskeag, in the selection of the Ex-Governor's successor.

Manchester Manufacturing Companies.

The stockholders of the various mills in Manchester held their annual meetings in that city on the 8th inst.

The report of the treasurer of the Manchester mills showed that during the year there were printed 27,012,897 yards of cotton cloth, and dyed 16,887,363 yards of worsted goods. The sales were $4,822,020.34; number of yards, 51,779,753; quick capital, $1,182,049.52. For the year ending March 31st, 1879, semi-annual dividends of four and five per cent were paid.

The Amoskeag company manufactured during the past year 36,983,003 yards, at net profit of $308,331. The net earnings from all sources were ten and one-fourth per cent of the capital. Two dividends were paid, amounting to $300,000. The quick capital was $2,118,263.

From the report of the Stark mills it appears that 7,025,140 pounds of cloth were manufactured. The earnings were $121,760.27. Semi-annual dividends of three and four per cent were paid. The quick capital was $367,331.

The number of pounds of goods manufactured during the year by the Langdon company was 1,488,692, equal to 4,869,414 yards. The net profit for the year ending April 30th was $41,006.34. Two dividends, of three and four per cent were declared and paid.

The Afghan War.

Gen. Roberts, commanding the British advance on Cabul, the capital of Afghanistan, is reported in London despatches to have had a battle and won an important victory near Cabul on Monday, the 6th inst. Gen. Robert's columns were pushed close up to the city on Sunday night, and on Monday at daylight large bodies of Afghans marched out of the gates of the city in fine array, and after some parade took possession of the heights which command the city. General Roberts, although he might then have forced his way into the capital, deemed it unadvisable to permit the enemy to remain on the heights, and he ordered an assault. After a bloody fight the Afghans fled in confusion. Height after height was carried by the British troops in splendid style. Twelve Afghan guns and two standards were captured. Eight of the English were killed and wounded. The Afghans' loss is unknown. Gen. Roberts intended to advance and enter Cabul on Tuesday. He is sanguine in the belief that the country will soon quiet down, and that permanent peace will be the result of the campaign. The head men in the suburbs of Cabul appeared at General Roberts' headquarters, and paid him their respects.

New Hampshire Items.

Paul Boyton started from Plymouth at six o'clock on the morning of the 7th inst., for a swim down the Merrimac river to Newburyport. He arrived at Franklin Falls soon after noon on the 8th, and reached Boscawen that night.

John Babson of Barnstead was killed at Pittsfield on the 7th inst., by being thrown from a wagon.

Albert Everett Holt, fifteen years old, was accidentally shot on the afternoon of the 8th inst. at Nashua by Edwin L. Shattuck. Forty-two buck-shot entered his person, two striking him in the forehead. He lived but a few moments after the accident.

A despatch from Los Pinos, on the 8th inst., says Indian Agent Meeker and seven other men were killed at the agency by the Utes. Mrs. Meeker and her daughter, Mrs. Price and her two children, and a boy named Thompson, were spared. Mrs. Price's husband was killed.

Capt. Ebenezer Morgan of Groton, Conn., has been robbed at Kansas City, Mo., of $55,000, only $60 of which was in cash.

The indictment charging Rev. H. H. Hayden with the murder of Mary Stannard was on the 8th inst. quashed at New Haven, Conn., because of a flaw, and the prisoner was discharged. He was immediately re-arrested on a bench warrant and committed to jail.

A general strike in the coal mines of Pennsylvania is threatened, and the local authorities at several points, apprehending riotous demonstrations, have prepared themselves for any emegency. It is believed that ten or fifteen thousand miners will strike.

The battle-flag day committee at Hartford finds $1,771 left over, which will be given toward a soldiers' and sailors' memorial under the direction of a committee, of which Gen. Hawley is chairman.

David Tremblay, an elderly farmer and dealer in produce, of Sunbury, Ohio, was murdered and robbed some days ago by Peter King, Jr., and Edward Conley, the oldest of whom is but twenty-three years of age. The murderers fled, but were captured in West Virginia and taken back to Ohio for trial.

The steamer Pauline Collins, from the Arctic ocean, reports at San Francisco that almost the entire population of the southeastern end of St. Lawrence island have perished from starvation. Two hundred corpses were seen in one field. As long as the natives can get liquor, they neglect fishing till too late in the season, hence their calamity. On the northwest end of the island, two hundred natives are still alive. St. Lawrence (or Clark's) island is in Behring sea, latitude sixty-three. It is eighty miles long by thirty wide. It is inhabited mostly by Alaskan fishing tribes.

AROUND HOME.

The U. S. S. Marion hauled into the stream from the navy yard on Thursday evening, to sail this morning.

Schooner Lydia Y. Crowell, Capt. Allen, arrived at this port on Thursday from Orchilla, one of the Leeward islands, with 120 tons of guano to E. F. Sise & Co.

The schooner Kate Foster, Capt. Bunker, bound from New York for Portland, while in the lower harbor on the 7th inst. for shelter drifted foul of the schooner Kate Newman, carrying away the latter's head gear.

The 12th annual convention of the Young Men's Christian associations and evangelical churches of New Hampshire will be held in the Congregational church at Rochester from the 23d to the 26th insts., inclusive.

Five-sixteenths of the barque Adolph Engler, 648 tons register, which vessel has for several voyages been commanded by Capt. B. F. Williams of this city, were sold in New York on the 1st inst. to John Zittloson on private terms.

The games of cricket between the Portsmouth club and the clubs at Longwood, Mass., and Boston, have been postponed from the times first set, Oct. 10th and 11th, to the 17th and 18th, owing to some of the best players of the Longwoods being engaged in the American twenty-two now playing the English eleven in other States.

The sale of season tickets for Mr. Riddle's Shakespeare readings will commence this morning; single tickets will be on sale the day before each reading. We advise every one who can, to purchase tickets for the entire course, as the opportunity is one that will not occur again to hear the greatest works in our language interpreted not by one "star" supported by inferior actors, but where each part is assumed by a consummate artist, and each part, moreover, is as lifelike and as distinct from every other part as if the presentation were by a full company.

The body of Mr. Isaiah Hutchings, of Cape Neddick, Me., who lost his life in Boston harbor on the night of the 25th ult. through the heartless inhumanity of the person in charge of an unknown schooner, which ran down and sank a sand-lighter on which Mr. Hutchings was employed, but kept on her way without attempting to render any assistance, was taken to his late home in Cape Neddick, and buried on Tuesday of this week. Mr. Hutchings was about thirty-three years of age, a member of the order of Odd Fellows, and a worthy and respected citizen.

On Thursday afternoon, as Comdr. Robert F. Bradford, U. S. N., was turning his team from Deer street into High street, he met two other teams, and to avoid a collision with one of them was obliged to rein sharply to one side, when the wheel of his carriage struck the curbstone and he was thrown heavily to the ground, and considerably stunned by the shock; Dr. Potter was called, and after making him as comfortable as possible, advised his removal to his home. Mrs. Bradford, who was in the carriage at the time her husband was thrown out, and retained her place, caught the reins and succeeded in soon stopping the horse, which started on a run as soon as the accident occurred.

At the annual meeting of the Grand Encampment of Odd Fellows of New Hampshire, held at Rochester on Tuesday of this week, the following officers were elected: M. W. G. P., George D. H. Plummer of Farmington; Representative to Grand Lodge, J. W. Saul of Concord. The reports give the whole number of encampments in the State as twenty-six, a gain of two; the whole membership, 2233; number of persons relieved during the year, 177; gross receipts, $6636.34; paid for relief, $271.90.

The schooner Charles H. Trickey, of Dover, Kelley master, has this season landed seven cargoes of coal in Dover for C. H. Trickey & Co., her last cargo being 368 tons. CIRCUIT COURT--LOWELL, J.

THURSDAY, Oct 9th.

Case Thomas J. Plummer, administrator of the estate of Sarah B. Plummer, appellant, vs. John H. Plummer, assignee in bankruptcy of James H. Plummer. This was an appeal from the District Court, and was set down for hearing this morning, but the parties adjusted it, and the case was discontinued. The appeal was from the decision of Judge Clark upon a claim of a promissory note for $761.05, proved as a debt against the estate of the bankrupt, and which was wholly disallowed. D. Cross and Hatch for appellant; H. S. Clarke for appellee.

The grand jury returned five indictments, one against Charles J. Gilbert for wrongfully taking a letter belonging to another person from Portsmouth post-office. Plea, guilty; sentenced to hard labor for five months in jail; committed.

Benjamin Waterhouse, illegally voting for a member of Congress in Barrington, fined twenty-five dollars, costs twenty-five dollars and fifty cents; paid, and respondent discharged.

The Manufacturers' Insurance Co., of Newark, N. J., vs. Morrill & Danforth. The defendants are insurance agents at Concord, and were agents of this company in that city, with authority to take risks in Concord. They wrote a policy on property, as it was contended, at Pembroke, ten miles from Concord, which was burned. The piffs. had to pay for the insurance effected $1826.41; the insurance was $1850. The defendants deny the liability. The principal testimony of the piffs. consisted of paper evidence, such as instructions, among them letters ordering the cancellation of the policy in question. The defendants contended that the premises insured were within six miles from Concord, at the village of Suncook, where the facilities for extinguishing fires were abundant; that they had instructions to insure or to permit policies so to remain, as competing companies were insuring in that place; that the directions to cancel were neither direct nor explicit, but that Morrill & Danforth considered, from one of the general agent's letters, that they were to be permitted to allow said risk to continue. Messrs. John Hatch and A. R. Hatch for piffs.; Marston and Eastman for defendants.

A FINE SHOW.

The seventh annual exhibition of the Exeter Agricultural and Horticultural society was held at the town hall in that town on Wednesday and Thursday. The show of fruits and vegetables was indeed creditable. Among the visitors was a liberal delegation from North Hampton, accompanied by the fife and drum band of that town. The exhibition shew that the reputation of the part of the county represented, for good fruit culture and fine vegetables, was well maintained. The butter looked good; the needle-work was commendable; the rugs of hooked work by Mrs. T. Canney were beautiful to see; and other displays, of pen-and-ink sketches, etc., were fine. A model of the old garrison house, corner of Clifford and Water streets, built over two hundred years ago, was exhibited; the model was carved from a block taken out of the house, and was an admired curiosity. The North Hampton delegation, numbering nearly a hundred brave men and fair women, under the marshalship of Hon. John W. F. Hobbs, were handsomely entertained at a collation in the hall of the steam fire engine house on Water street by Mrs. Hobbs and the ladies of North Hampton. The hall is finely carpeted and furnished, and was an excellent place for the entertainment. John G. Gilman is president of the society, and George W. Wiggin is secretary. There was a good attendance, especially on Thursday evening.

REFORM CLUB ELECTION.

The Laconia Bank Robbers.

The grand jury at Laconia on the 8th inst. found indictments against five men for breaking into and robbing the Laconia national bank on the morning of April 25th last, and stealing cash and securities to the amount of $125,000. The thieves were "given away" by a man who was in jail in Vermont, and who was one of the gang that attempted to rob the Laconia bank in November, 1864; he had asked his fellow-thieves to bail him out of jail, and they not doing so he became enraged and gave all the information he could to the officers. The names of the burglars were kept from the public, but it was said that one of the gang (who are now in the hands of the officers) has told how the job was done. His story is as follows:

There were five in all connected with the robbery. We went to New Hampshire and made our headquarters at Fisherville. The evening before the robbery four of us bought tickets for Laconia at Concord; on the train we were joined by the other member, who had been to Boston and was returning that evening. Three of us left the cars before reaching Laconia, and walked to that place; the other two got off boldly at the Laconia depot; we met in a piece of woods outside of the village and went to work on the job about midnight, easily gaining an entrance to the building and having good luck in bursting the safe after the robbery. Two of us walked from Laconia to Barnstead in the darkness of the following night. We were hidden in some woods near Laconia the day after the robbery, not daring to show ourselves. At Barnstead the two men stole a team, with which they went to Dover, where they took the cars for Boston. One of the men who went to Dover had all the stolen property in the satchel which he carried in his hand. Three of the men, after lying in the woods all day, started for the south by night, walking on the railway through Tilton, and on to our old headquarters at Fisherville. At the latter place they stayed several days, and then took the cars direct for the west. At Fisherville the party stopped at the same place where they met at different times previous to robbing or attempting to rob the savings bank at Laconia in 1864, and also the banks at Bristol and Wolfeboro'.

The story another of the gang told to the officers is as follows:

After reaching New Hampshire we made our headquarters at Horace Bonney's hotel at Fisherville. From there we went to Laconia and stopped at the house of Jefferson Varrell, where we had our meals and where all our plans for the robbery were laid. The bargain was to divide the spoils equally with Jefferson Varrell and his brother, Hiram B. Varrell, in case we succeeded in breaking the bank. We gained an entrance to the building and commenced drilling through the safe, but the job was a hard one, and before we could complete it, it began to grow light and we concluded to leave. Hiram B. Varrell furnished us a team, with which we went to Fisherville, where we stopped at Bonney's hotel a short time. From Fisherville we went to Danielsonville, Conn., where we attempted another bank robbery, but were unsuccessful. [This apparently refers to the attempt to rob the bank in 1864.]

The two Varrells mentioned are now in the west. While in Laconia they were saloon keepers, and Hiram was in the same business in Concord during the late war. They are married men, and have a brother living in Laconia and a sister in Concord.

The towns of Buxton and Hollis, in York county, Me., had a joint fair on Tuesday of this week. Contrary to what appears to have been the rule at recent fairs in New Hampshire, there was very little liquor selling on or near the grounds, and that little had to be very slyly done, for there were five deputy sheriffs on the grounds especially to look after that business. The only saloons open were pocket ones, and they had a very miserable time of it. One of the travelling saloons, named Ham, was captured by Deputy Sheriff Tarbox, and taken before a trial justice. It need hardly be said that there was no drunkenness at that fair.

Political.

The democratic convention of Louisiana completed the State ticket as follows: For lieutenant-governor, S. D. McEnery; attorney-general, J. C. Eagan; secretary of State, Will A. C. Strong; auditor, Allen Jamel; superintendent of education, E. Hay. The platform recommends the adoption of the new constitution; declares for a free ballot, and denounces the elevation of Hayes and Wheeler to the presidency and vice-presidency as a crime against the freedom of the people; calls for the admission of Spofford to the United States Senate, and eulogizes Gov. Nicholls for great services to the State and the conservative democratic party.

Colorado had an election on the 7th inst., for supreme judge of the State, and county officers. There was but little interest, and the vote polled was very light. The republican majority on the State ticket is about 5000, a gain of 2000 over last year's vote. In Arapahoe, Gilpin, Weld and Larimer counties the republicans elected all their candidates.

The republicans of Brooklyn, N. Y., had an immense ratification meeting on the evening of the 8th inst. Hon. Roscoe Conkling made a stirring address, and was briefly followed by Rev. Henry Ward Beecher.

The Nevada Enterprise says that Ex-Gov. Foote of Mississippi says he can remember when Blackburn, just elected governor of Kentucky, was in Canada, trembling for fear the British government would hand him over to our people for the small-pox plot. None of the rebel leaders expected then to be ever allowed to live in the United States, and Dr. Blackburn knew that death would be his doom if he was tried at that time. Now he is a democratic governor.

Set back 42 Years.

"I was troubled for many years with Kidney Complaint, Gravel, &c.; my blood became thin; I was dull and inactive; could hardly crawl about; was an old worn out man all over; could get nothing to help me, until I got Hop Bitters, and now I am a boy again. My blood and kidneys are all right, and I am as active as a man of forty, although I am seventy-two, and I have no doubt it will do as well for others of my age. It is worth a trial.—(Father.)—Sunday Mercury.

Medicinal Wine.

Physicians from the New York Board of Health have visited the Vineyards and Wine Cellars of Alfred Speer, of New York city; he is known to be one of the most extensive producers and dealers in Pure Medicinal Wines and Brandies in the United States. He makes a superior Port, known as Speer's Port Grape Wine, which took the highest premium at the Centennial. It is extensively prescribed by physicians as the most reliable Port for medicinal purposes. It is sold by Preston, Kimball, F. B. Coleman, and H. F. Gerrish.

Rich Speculations.

A brakeman on a Western railroad placed $50 in a combination, which turned a profit of 3 7-8 per cent., equal to $387.50 per one hundred shares, netting a profit of $193.75 in addition to the $50 he invested. A conductor made $1,276.24 in two combinations. The superintendent of an Eastern railway made $16,310.13 in three combinations. Others have also made large profits. This system of stock speculations consolidates the interests of thousands into one whole, dividing the profits pro rata every thirty day. The combinations handled with the best skill and experience, attain great success in the stock market. From $25 to $10,000 can thus be invested with vast advantage. The new explanatory circular, with "unerring rules for success," mailed by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

It is Delicious,

Every one says that has used Walter Baker & Co.'s Chocolate and Cocoa preparations. They have stood the test of a century and have become articles of general consumption. Grocers everywhere keep these goods.

Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites is not only the most reliable remedy for consumption, but it is a specific also for bronchitis and asthma.

SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER is delicious, invigorating, refreshing, wholesome, and safe.

Peterson's Magazine, which a contemporary calls "pre-eminently the first of the lady's books," is on our table for November, ahead of all others. The present number leads off with a charming steel engraving, "The Little Haymaker," and is followed by one of those double-size steel fashion plates, superbly colored, only seen in this periodical. Then comes an engraving, "The Oriel Window," illustrating a story, and then some fifty wood cuts of dresses, patterns in embroidery, crochet, etc. With this number appears the prospectus for 1880. A specialty of "Peterson" is a monthly supplement, given to each subscriber, with a paper pattern for a lady's or child's dress, the patterns alone being worth more than the subscription price. Five original novelets will be given in 1880. A new feature will be introduced, in a series of brilliantly illustrated stories, and other articles. The price of "Peterson" is but two dollars a year, or less than any other first-class magazine, postage free; to clubs the terms are even lower. Address Charles J. Peterson, 306 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Cuticura

HUMORS OF THE SCALP, LOSS OF HAIR.

Loss of Hair in thousands of cases is due entirely to some form of scalp disease. Seventy-five per cent of the number of bald heads might be covered with hair by a judicious use of CUTICURA, assisted by CUTICURA SOAP. It is the most agreeable as well as the most effective hair restorer ever produced by man. It is medicinal in the truest sense of the word. All others are some elegaeent mixture or poisonous dyes. None but CUTICURA possesses the specific medical properties that enable it to cure all itching and scaly diseases that inflame and irritate the scalp and hair glands and lubes, causing premature baldness. Medium doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT will purify the oil and sweat glands of the virus of scrofulous humor of the blood and insure a permanent cure, when taken in connection with the outward application of CUTICURA.

SALT RHEUM AND DANDRUFF

Cured that several physicians had failed to treat successfully.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have had the Salt Rheum on my head and all through my hair, also on my legs, for the past four years, having suffered exceedingly with it. The dandruff falling from my hair was very annoying. I consulted several distinguished physicians in regard to it, and have taken their prescriptions as ordered but did not find any cure and but little relief. I was told by many persons who have the Salt Rheum, and who have been deafened for years, that there was no cure for it; that it was in the blood, and I should always have it, and I was almost inclined to agree with them, but a friend wanted me to try CUTICURA, made by your firm. I did, and to my astonishment, in less than three weeks, my hair began falling out, caused by Humor of the Scalp. I tried various remedies, too numerous to mention, without relief, until I began using CUTICURA, one box of which has entirely cured me and new hair is beginning to grow. Respectfully, MRS. O. J. ROOT.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 43 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. Reference given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

A GOOD PLAN

Anybody can learn to make money rapidly operating in Stocks, by the "Two Unerring Rules for Success," in Messrs. Lawrence & Co's new circular; the combination method, which this firm has made so successful, enables people with large or small means to reap all the benefits of largest capital and best skill. Thousands of orders, in various sums, are pooled into one vast amount and co-operated as a mighty whole, thus securing to each shareholder all the advantages of the largest operator. Immense profits are divided monthly. Any amount, from $5 to $5,000, or more, can be used successfully. N. Y. Baptist Weekly, September 25th, 1878, says, "By the combination system $15 would make $75, or 5 per cent.; $50 pays $350, or 7 per cent. $100 makes $1,000, or 10 per cent. on the stock, during the month, according to the market." Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, June 29th: "The combination method of operating stocks is the most successful ever adopted." New York Independent Sept. 12th: "The combination system is founded upon correct business principles, and no person need be without an income while it is kept working by Messrs. Lawrence & Co." Brooklyn Journal, April 29th: "Our editor made a net profit of $101.25 from $20 in one of Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s combinations." New circular (mailed free) explains everything. Stocks and bonds wanted. Government bonds supplied. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y.

CATARRH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from the influence of poison of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharge, from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and so acid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and tenacious, exhaling a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of prominent features being only feverish, the face, front and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it was encircled by a tight, unyielding band. This latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free mattery discharges cause the passages to clog and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The matter passing down the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate to throw it off; but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into masses, incrustations, and hard lumps, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter accreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, exciting frequently, inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in the directions, mark it as a scientific preparation adapted to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the esteem in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranges" and "Export" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them is several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.60 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "McCrackin Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which milled, with a Mill Company's mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $2.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be issued, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Daily Chronicle.

How South Carolina is Governed.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Journal writes:

United States District Attorney Northrup, of South Carolina, is here. He says that the State courts are wholly under the control of the democrats, and that when any political question is involved, a republican has no chance whatever. Some of the more thoughtful democrats, however, are beginning to admit that northern sentiment will no longer tolerate the outrages which have made South Carolina solidly democratic, and that swift retribution would follow any attempts to commit the outrages with which the last Congressional canvass was familiar. The republicans in some portions of the State are taking courage to renew their old organizations, and at the next Congressional election will poll a considerable vote. Mr. Northrup thinks that the republicans will be able to secure some Congressmen from South Carolina. Northrup knows Nix, the colored postmaster who was shot at Blackville, and describes him as a resolute, plucky and determined republican, while Luther White, the man who fired the shot, has been implicated in all the democratic outrages in Barnwell county for years. Northrup says that there is no other side to the story than that which has been published in northern republican papers. The State authorities are doing nothing in the matter. The Federal authorities will endeavor to bring White to trial. Northrup is a native of South Carolina, who has himself been regarded as a conservative.

Wealth Easily Obtained.

Jay Gould, combining vast amounts of money with several great capitalists, has frequently made colossal profits in stock speculations, paying millions to each shareholder. The new combination plan of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., confers similar benefits on the shareholders who invest small and large amounts, from $25 to $10,000. The money of thousands of customers thus massed in one mighty sum, and operated with the ripest experience and best skill, has secured the most brilliant successes. A hotel keeper in Ohio invested $100 in a combination, which netted $478. Three reinvestments resulted in a total profit of $13,801.18. A Boston gentleman invested $500 in a combination, which yielded a profit of $2,817.04; two reinvestments netted him $8,644.31. A Chicago merchant made $43,610.41 in four months of combination investments. New explanatory circular with "rules for unerring success." Apply to Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

--While a negro was whitewashing in the jail at Troy, Ohio, a prisoner blackened his own face with burnt cork, daubed his clothes with whitewash, and walked out unmolested.

—The evil effect of suddenly acquired wealth is graphically shown in the case of a Massachusetts editor, who invested fifty cents, the accumulations of years of honest toil, in a local lottery, and drew five dollars. The possession of so much money completely unsettled his judgment, and he at once entered upon a life of wild debauchery, and squandered the entire amount so suddenly obtained, and buried his office under a mortgage of five dollars, from which it never can be reclaimed, for the purpose of continuing his wild revels.

—At a distribution of prizes in a German village, a little girl, seven years old, whose parents had just been turned out of their lodgings because they had failed to pay their rent, was asked by the rector: "Have you studied sacred history, my child." "Yes, sir." "Do you know the history of the creation?" "I know that God made all." "Why were Adam and Eve turned out of Paradise?" The child hesitated a moment, and then, fixing her eye on the examiner, replied: "Probably they were turned out because they could not pay their rent!"

A Big Monopoly.

The recent sale of the Eastern Express Company to the American Express Company has a significance which will be felt ere long by every smaller company. The movement means the wiping out of all the private express companies in the country, and a consolidation of their routes into one large corporate concern over every line save where the railway itself will perform this service. The change will have its advantages and its drawbacks. It may cheapen express charges from distant points, and it may develop a system of extortion unless the State laws exercise a supervision over the newly-developed creation, which is to absorb so many lesser carriers. The American Company has to-day a capital stock of eighteen millions of dollars, and is indeed powerful and daily growing in influence. Their next move will be to consolidate or control the lines over the Eastern and Boston & Maine roads within fifty miles of Boston, as by its recent purchase it controls much of the business on the routes east of Portsmouth and Dover; and the question will remain to be solved whether the Eastern and Boston & Maine roads, like some others, will do their own express traffic or allow the American Express Co. to make a large profit out of their local freight and parcel business.

Railroad Disaster.

An express train westward from Detroit on the Michigan Central railroad ran into a switch engine at Jackson Junction on Friday, and the engine and several cars were wrecked. Up to noon eighteen dead bodies had been recovered, including those of the express engineer and fireman, and ten emigrants. Many others were wounded, and it was supposed there were other bodies still under or in the wrecked cars.

News and Notes.

A train on the Chicago & Alton railway was stopped on the nigh of the 8th inst. at Glendale, Mo., by about twenty masked men, and the express messenger's safe robbed of about $50,000. The railway offers a reward of $15,000 for the arrest of the gang of outlaws.

The Chilian and Peruvian fleets have had a fight and the ironclad Huascar was captured by the Chilians.

Walter Gould, seventeen years old, drowned himself at Pittston, Me., on the 5th inst.

The tramps who captured a Maine Central railroad train, and were afterward captured themselves, were held in $800 each for trial, stolen goods having been found in their possession.

Dea. Franklin S. Hazen, a prominent citizen of Hartford, Conn., hung himself last Thursday.

Edith B. Maynard of West Enosburg, Vt., seventeen years old, hung herself in her father's barn on the 7th inst., while despondent from ill-health. She had tied her hands behind her after adjusting the rope, and then kicked the chair from under her.

Judge Endicott, at Boston, has set aside the verdict awarding John E. Green of Portland, Me., $15,666.33 damages against the Old Colony road, for injuries received at the Wollaston disaster, on the ground that the award is excessive.

The starch factories of Aroostook, Me., are all running to their fullest capacity, and will probably get all the potatoes they can take care of this season.

Custom seizures at Eastport, Me., have been quite lively of late. About one and a half tons of wool were seized last week, besides a couple of small craft, a schooner and a sloop, the first of which got off free and the other with a fine of $100, for smuggling liquor.

The Providence Journal calls attention to the vacant English mission, and nominates Hamilton Fish for the place. The Boston Advertiser says that Mr. Fish might have had it any time in the last few years when it has been vacant, but has not been willing to accept it. The Boston Advertiser names Mr. Evarts and Ex-Governor Bullock as among the few who are eligible for the place.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry James of Brockton, Mass., during the twenty-two years of their married life, have been blessed with thirty-three children. There have been three sets of twins and one of triplets among their number. But four or five are now living.

Statistics gathered by the department of agriculture show that the present season there are 1250 acres of sugar beets in Maine and 300 in Massachusetts. It is estimated that refined sugar can now be produced from the beet root at a cost of rather less than seven cents a pound. If the present experiments prove satisfactory the farmers in the sugar beet belt will hereafter raise beets in large quantities, as it would make a profitable crop. The soil in some parts of northern New England is admirably adapted for the production of the sugar beet.

New Hampshire Items.

At the Unitarian convention at Nashua this week, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Col. William H. Hackett of Portsmouth, president; Hon. Solon A. Carter of Keene, vice president; Rev. Henry Powers of Manchester, secretary and treasurer. It was voted to hold the next convention in Keene.

It is reported that Mr. Hutchins, proprietor of the Washington Post, has recently been negotiating for the purchase of the Manchester Union, and will assume the management of that paper on or about November 1st.

The team stolen by the robbers of the Peterboro' post-office was found and identified Thursday. The wagon and harness were found in a pasture in Keene. The horse was loose on Beach hill.

The mills in Nashua are all in full operation, employing more help than heretofore, and paying better wages than ever before when the currency was on a gold basis.

John Babson of Barnstead, recently killed by being thrown from a wagon, was eighty years of age. He was a grandson of Gen. John Stark, the hero of Bennington, and supported his grandfather in his arms at the moment of his death.

The trains were discontinued on the Mt. Washington railroad on the 1st inst., but occasional trips may be made hereafter. A party of tourists rode in carriages from Fabyan's to the base of the mountain on the 3d, and chartered a train to take them to the summit.

Augustus Thorndike, aged sixty-seven years, was recently sentenced by the court at Laconia to six years' imprisonment in the State prison, for horse stealing. He has already served five terms, of five years each, in the State prison.

Naval Affairs.

The U. S. S. Constitution sailed from New York for Hampton Roads on the 8th inst.

The U. S. S. Monongahela is on the way to San Francisco from China.

Political.

The Progressive Age, the leading greenback paper in Maine, has an editorial favoring the abandonment of the greenback organization, and a union of all opposition to the republicans in a "national democratic" party.

The echoes of the democratic assertion that the plan of resumption was a failure have not died away, and the secretary of the treasury has resolved to compel the public creditors to take gold when they prefer greenbacks. Already, gold is, as silver long has been, a drug in the market, and greenbacks and national bank currency are in demand, beyond the supply. Now that their efforts against the elevation of greenbacks and national bank notes to an equality with gold have failed, the opponents of a sound currency turn their attention to the destruction of the national banks, which furnish the best currency that has existed in the history of commerce; always safe, because always convertible into the precious metals, and secured by the bonds of the government. The cry, "down with the banks!" can hardly be more popular than that of "more greenbacks," when greenbacks were irredeemable, and when an increase of them would have kept them so. The popular mind has been educated in finance by the stump and the press, and, still more, by the inevitable logic of events. All the predictions of the inflationists have been falsified, and it will be difficult for them to command the public credulity towards fresh ones.—Providence Journal.

We refer to Hop Bitters, the purest and best of medicines. See another column.—Republican.

STOMACH BITTERS

Fever and Ague is most common in the spring, but most severe in the fall and winter. It is strictly a malarious disease, and so surely as the Bitters are adopted, so surely will the individual who adopts this precaution be exempted from its pains and penalties. Add to this its value as a stomachic and anti-bilious agent, and who will venture to gainsay its claims to the first place among family medicines. For sale by all Druggists and respectable Dealers generally.

Rev. Wm. H. Dalrymple, formerly pastor of the Baptist church in Stratham, died in Haverhill, Mass., last month, at the age of seventy-two years.

A Rye correspondent of the Exeter Gazette says Joseph Berry of Rye has raised a potato weighing four pounds and one ounce! That potato evidently tried to grow to be a pumpkin.

U. S. S. Essex arrived at Philadelphia Friday, from Bahia, Brazil. Lieutenant Asa Walker and Boatswain Francis A. Drau are attached to this ship. She made the passage in thirty-eight days. All are reported well.

The U. S. S. Marion sailed from this port Saturday afternoon for the rendezvous at Hampton Roads, to take part in the fleet drill and inspection with the Powhatan, Kearsarge, Minnesota, Saratoga, Constitution and Portsmouth.

The city marshal's report for the quarter ending Sept. 30th shows that there were one hundred and seventy arrests for drunkenness during the quarter, and that the fines and costs collected amounted to $116.52. During the same period there were one hundred and four lodgers at the police station.

We notice that our neighbors, the Times and Journal, whenever they mention the captain of the ship William H. Marcy speak of him as "J. Truro Marcy." His name is J. Touro Marcy, he having been named in honor of the well-known Hebrew ship-owner, merchant and philanthropist, Judah Touro.

The committee appointed by the board of trade to canvass for subscriptions to the stock of the Eliot bridge company will commence at once. It will undoubtedly prove among the best of investments, as the travel across it must be very great. By a careful estimate there are at least 3000 persons living in Eliot, York and Kittery, who will do their trading in Dover if this bridge is built. This amount of travel, together with the travel from Dover, Great Falls and elsewhere to York beach, must make this the best paying property in the State.—Dover Enquirer.

The winter arrangement of the Boston and Maine railroad begins on Monday. Trains connecting with those of the Concord & Portsmouth railroad at Newmarket junction will run as now. The Sunday train will run between Great Falls and Boston, leaving the former place at 6:15 A. M., and Exeter at 7:20 A. M. for Boston, and Boston for Great Falls, etc., at 5 o'clock P. M. The Portland trains will leave Boston at 7:30 A. M., 12:30 and 3:30 P. M.; and Portland for Boston at 8:45 A. M., one o'clock and 3:30 P. M.

On Friday the high school received a very pleasant visit from Merrill Spalding, Esq., who graduated in the class of '64. Mr. Spalding presented to the school, on behalf of his brother, Lieut. Lyman G. Spalding, U. S. N., of the class of '61, a fine photograph of a drawing representing scenes in a voyage up the Amazon and Madeira rivers in Brazil. The drawing was made during a surveying voyage up those rivers by the Enterprise, to which Lieut. Spalding was attached. The picture is nicely framed, and will be of great value to the school, illustrating, as it does, some of its most interesting studies.

Hon. Warren Brown's new mansion at Hampton Falls is to be heated with steam, lighted with gas, and to be supplied with all the modern improvements.

Parties in South Newmarket and Stratham have petitioned for the freeing of the bridge between the towns, and a hearing was had at the bridge one day this week.

One of the jurors in attendance at the circuit court, at Exeter, on Thursday morning received a despatch that his mill at Keene had been badly damaged by fire that morning. He was excused from further service.

Correspondents of the Exeter News-Letter report that John W. Locke, of Seabrook, and the superintendent of Capt Caleph Wiggin's farm in Stratham, have this year each raised a potato weighing three pounds and eight ounces.

It is stated that Mrs. Gunn, wife of Justin L. Gunn, who was recently so shockingly murdered at Bridgewater, Mass., by his son it is supposed, is a native of Hampton and has relatives now living in Rye, where she was formerly a school teacher.

One day in the early part of this week, off Hampton beach, David F. Nudd of that town killed thirty-eight sea-fowl, and Charles G. Perkins fifty-one. Next day Amos Chase of Seabrook killed four loons, and Abner Chase three, also off Hampton beach.

The Weekly says a total abstinence society was organized in Greenland on Sunday, the 5th inst., with the following officers: President, J. W. Nowell; vice president, Ernest Holmes; secretary, Rev. George W. Ruland; treasurer, Mrs. George T. Ball; executive committee, A. D. Wentworth, A. Hoyt, A. Brown. Thirty-one persons signed the reform club pledge.

Old Oaken Bucket Division, No. 2, Sons of Temperance, installed the following officers on Monday evening of this week: Walter N. Moloon, W. P.; Mrs. Mary E. Smart, W. A.; Charles T. Larrabee, R. S.; Annie H. Cate, A. R. S.; Horace A. Martin, Chaplain; Mrs. Mary C. Taylor, Con.; Ida M. Deering, Asst. Con.; Louise Rowland, I. S.; L. T. Burnham, O. S.

Exeter had a runaway-job-wagon-team excitement on Thursday last. The reporters of the rival newpapers ran out into Water street with sharpened pencils and wits, while the agent of the associated press stood by to gather the particulars. The damage was inconsiderable, though the coming down the sidewalk of a heavy wagon attached to a frightened horse at one time promised a severe breaking of things in the way of the rushing steed.

Mr. George W. Randall of this city on Thursday last received a letter from his son, Percy Randall, who is on board the barque Furness Abbey, Capt, Henry Libby, now at Hioga, Japan. The letter was mailed at Anjier point, Java, and the writer says the barque had up to that time had a very rough passage with frequent adverse winds, but had shown excellent sea-going qualities in every respect; and of Capt. Libby he speaks in enthusiastic terms. The letter is dated at Anjier, August 11th, and the ship was then one hundred and eleven days out from Philadelphia.

Mr. Whittier's own statement of the origin of his poem of "Maud Muller" is quoted by a correspondent of the Springfield Republican. He was driving with his sister through York, Me., and stopped at a harvest field to inquire the way. A young girl raking hay near the stone wall stopped to answer their inquiries. Whittier noticed as she talked that she bashfully raked the hay around and over her bare feet, and she was fresh and fair. The little incident left its impression and he wrote out the poem that very evening. "But if I had had any idea," he said, "that the plaguey little thing would have been so liked I should have taken more pains with it." To the inquiry as to the title, Maud Muller, he said it was suggested to him and was not a selection. It came as the poem came. But he gives it the short German pronunciation, as "Meuller," and not the broad Yankee "Muller."

CIRCUIT COURT--LOWELL, J.

FRIDAY, Oct. 10th.

Manufacturers' Insurance Company vs. Morrill & Danforth, resumed. The defendants shew the means of extinguishing fires in Suncook to have been by an organized department under control of the manufacturing companies, which drive the pumps by steam and water power, keep night-watchmen, and have hose, etc., to be used in extinguishing fires in the village. The case was given to the jury in the afternoon.

Thomas H. Roach, mate of schooner Nellie F. Sawyer, of Portland, was arraigned upon an indictment charging him with an assault upon James Dillon, upon shipboard on the high seas, and pleaded "guilty." He was sentenced to pay a fine of $100, and the costs of prosecution. Ray for the United States; Frink for respondent.

The United States vs. Hall and others, of Barrington, is in order for Saturday morning.

MURPHY'S MINIATURE OPERA PINAFORE.—We clip the following from the Belfast (Maine) Progressive Age:

Our citizens were treated last Tuesday evening to a truly first-class entertainment—a too rare occurrence here. To say that the great audience that assembled at Hayford Hall was highly pleased with Murphy's Miniature Pinafore Company would not half tell the story. People were delighted. And for once the advance notices were not exaggerated. There was a charm about the children's rendition of Pinafore peculiarly their own,—it was earnest, rollicking, easy and, above all, harmonious. Each solo part was the complement of the other, while the strong well-trained chorus was a solid setting for the solo gems. Petite Corinne Kimball, as "Little Buttercup," was indeed wonderful; her singing was strong and good, and her acting marvellous for a child. She gave more meaning to her part, and read her lines more intelligently than any other Buttercup we have seen. Next in superlative excellence was Master Wm. H. Lee, the celebrated boy soprano, as "Ralph Rackstraw." He is justly celebrated, for his voice is as pure and sweet as a silver bell, and his method of singing is exquisite. Miss Ida Mulle, as "Josephine," deserves high praise for natural acting and beautiful singing. She has a sweet, highly cultured voice; in listening to her it is hard to realize that she is a mere Miss, and not an experienced prima donna. Little Master Eugene, the "Capt. Corcoran," is also a fine actor and his voice is musical, though not strong. Master Joseph Keefe made a bluff boatswain; his voice is strong and good; he gave "He is an Englishman" a splendid rendering and received an encore, which was well earned. Master Lodge as "Dick Deadeye" was grotesque and lugubrious in the extreme. "Hebe," the first cousin, Miss Mattie Coots, was pert and "stuck-up" enough to sustain the aristocratic connection. The little Quakeress, Miss Lizzie Harrington, danced a hornpipe to the great amusement of all, and was obliged to repeat it. The stage setting was one of the best ever seen here, and the management deserves full praise for keeping its agreements to the letter. An evening of pure delight was offered one of the best audiences ever assembled in Hayford Hall.

H. M. S. PINAFORE

Which was first presented by the M. M. O. P. at the Boston Museum, on Monday, May 12, when it immediately created a sensation unparalleled in the history of the Opera, which becomes more astounding when we consider the fact that Boston had previously been favored by twelve of the strongest troupes ever organized for the presentation of PINAFORE; but that the success of the M. THE LONGEST RUN IN AMERICA,

THAT OF

Medicinal Wine.

Physicians from the New York Board of Health have visited the Vineyards and Wine Cellars of Alfred Speer, of New York city; he is known to be one of the most extensive producers and dealers in Pure Medicinal Wines and Brandies in the United States. He makes a superior Port, known as Speer's Port Grape Wine, which took the highest premium at the Centennial. It is extensively prescribed by physicians as the most reliable Port for medicinal purposes. It is sold by Preston, Kimball, F. B. Coleman, and H. F. Gerrish.

Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites is not only the most reliable remedy for consumption, but it is a specific also for bronchitis and asthma.

SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER is delicious, invigorating, refreshing, wholesome, and safe.

—Scandal, like the Nile, is fed by innumerable streams; but it is extremely difficult to trace it to its source.

—Last year Kate Claxton paid a dollar per night for a borrowed baby to use in her play of "Double Marriage." During her summer vacation she has provided herself with a real little Claxton, and is now independent.

—The two sons of the Prince of Wales have left England on the Bacchante for a cruise around the world. The heirs presumptive of the British throne, who alone stand between the crown and reversion to a female line, will for some months be at the mercy of the sea.

—One of those immortal paragraphs that never die is the story of the pickpocket who robbed a lady of her pocket book containing $5, but left behind in her pocket a beautiful diamond ring worth $300, which must have slipped from his finger. This antediluvian anecdote staggers out again attached to a "Philadelphia lady," as confidently as if it was good for a walk through a thousand papers.

—The wife of a well-known literary gentleman, while reading one of his articles for the press, corrected it as she went along, and the errors were numerous and bad. "Why, husband," she exclaimed, "you don't know the first rules of grammar, else you are very negligent." "Well, well, my love," he exclaimed, looking up from his work; "What's the matter now?" "Why, in three cases you speak of our sex in the plural, and write it in the singular number." "I can't help it," was the retort; "woman is a singular being."

Large Crop of Beans.

The history of a single bean, accidentally planted in a garden in Southbridge, Mass., is traced by a newspaper correspondent, who figured out its produce for three years. The bean was planted in a rich, loamy soil, and when gathered in the autumn its yield, as counted, "was 1515 perfectly developed beans from a single stalk. Now, if a single bean produces 1515 beans, and each bean produces 1515 more, the sum total of the second year's product would be 2,295,225, equal to 1195 pounds, 597 quarts, or 2390 army rations, equal to 18 5-8 bushels. This would be the product of the second year. Now, if we plant this product and the yield is the same, we have a product of 5,268,058,800,625 beans, equal to 1,371,890 tons, or 42,871,572 bushels or 548,756,068 soldiers' rations. This third planting would give the steamship Great Eastern ninety-two full freights. Now, beans, however, start so well as this one did.

Bran for Cows.

A great recommendation of bran as food for cows is that it restores to the soil the phosphates and other saline materials which milk carries off in large quantity. The pastures of our old diary farms have become exhausted of their saline elements by the vast amount of milk and bones they have produced, and there is no more effectual restorer of fertility than bran. We have seen wonderful effects on old, worn out pastures by feeding the cows, not only in winter, but all through the year, with wheat bran. In summer it is fed, three or four quarts per day to each cow, made into a mush with whey, and the result is seen in the pastures, not as soon, but so nearly, as in the milk pail. In the winter, bran and roots, or bran and meal, in conjunction with early cut hay, make cattle thrive and give a wonderful poteney to the manure pile.—Exchange.

Chalk for Calves.

In an agricultural paper of forty-seven years ago, we learn that it is a good plan to put a piece of chalk in the pen with the young calves. They will lick it, and thus correct the acidity of their stomachs and assist digestion and prevent dyspepsia, which often leads to scours. There is no doubt but this is a most excellent practice. Prepared chalk is often prescribed by doctors as a remedy for heartburn, which is a symptom of dyspepsia, and for diarrhœa. The crude chalk (carbonate of lime) is, unquestionably, a good preventive and remedy for similar disorders in stock. The prepared chalk is the crude with all the gritty particles worked out.—Rural New Yorker.

Set back 42 Years.

"I was troubled for many years with Kidney Complaint, Gravel, &c.; my blood became thin; I was dull and inactive; could hardly crawl about; was an old worn out man all over; could get nothing to help me, until I got Hop Bitters, and now I am a boy again. My blood and kidneys are all right, and I am as active as a man of forty, although I am seventy-two, and I have no doubt it will do as well for others of my age. It is worth a trial.—(Father.)—Sunday Mercury.

It is Delicious,

Every one says that has used Walter Baker & Co.'s Chocolate and Cocoa preparations. They have stood the test of a century and have become articles of general consumption. Grocers everywhere keep these goods.

FELLOWS' COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

The Promoter and Perfector of Assimilation.

The Reformer and Vitalizer of the Blood

The Producer and Invigorator of Nerve and Muscle.

The Builder and Supporter of Brain Power.

Fellows' Compound Syrup is composed of Ingredients identical with those which constitute Healthy Blood, Muscle and Nerve and Brain Substance, while Life itself is directly dependent upon some of them.

By its union with the blood and its effect upon the muscles, reestablishing the one and toning the other, it is capable of effecting the following results:

It will displace or wash out tuberculous matter, and thus cure Consumption.

By increasing Nervous and Muscular Vigor, it will cure Dyspepsia, feeble or interrupted action of the Heart and Palpitation, Weakness of Intellect caused by grief, worry, overtax, or irregular habits, Bronchitis—Acute or Chronic, Congestion of the Lungs, even in the most alarming stages.

It cures Asthma, Loss of Voice, Neuralgia, St. Vitus Dance, Epileptic Fits, Whooping Cough, Nervousness, and is a most wonderful adjunct to other remedies in sustaining life during the process of Diphtheria.

Do not be deceived by remedies bearing a similar name: no other preparation is a substitute for this under any circumstances.

Look out for the name and address J. L. FELLOWS', St. John, N. B., on the yellow wrapper in watermark, which is seen holding the paper before the light.

Price, $1.50 per Bottle, six for $7.

Cuticura

HUMORS OF THE SCALP, LOSS OF HAIR.

Loss of Hair in thousands of cases is due entirely to some form of scalp disease. Seventy-five thousand of the number of bald heads might be covered with hair by a judicious use of CUTICURA, assisted by CUTICURA SOAP. It is the most agreeable as well as the most effective hair restorer ever produced by man. It is medicinal in the truest sense of the word. All others are some cleagenous admixture or poisonous dyes. None but CUTICURA possesses the specific medical properties that enable it to cure all itching and scaly diseases of the number of bald heads and hair glands and tubes, causing premature baldness. Medium doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT will purify the gill and sweat glands of the virus of scrofulous humor of the blood and insure a permanent cure, when taken in connection with the outward application of CUTICURA.

SALT RHEUM AND DANDRUFF

Cured that several physicians had failed to treat successfully.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have had the Salt Rheum on my head and all through my hair, also on my legs, for the past four years, having suffered exceedingly with it. The dandruff falling from my hair was very annoying. I consulted several distinguished physicians in regard to it, and have taken their prescriptions as ordered but did not find any cure and but little relief. I was told by many persons who have the Salt Rheum, and who have been doctored for years, that there was no cure for it; that it was in the blood, and I should always have it, and I was almost inclined to agree with them, but a friend wanted me to try CUTICURA, made by your firm. I did, and to my astonishment, in less than three weeks, my head was entirely free from all Salt Rheum and Dandruff, and I cannot see any appearance of Salt Rheum on my person. I think it a wonderful remedy. Respectfully yours,

GEORGE A. MUDGE.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Feb. 6, 1878.

HUMOR OF THE SCALP

That was destroying the Hair cured with one box of CUTICURA.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I want to tell you what CUTICURA has done for me. About ten years ago my hair began falling out, caused by Humor of the Scalp. I tried various remedies, too numerous to mention, without relief, until I began using CUTICURA, one box of which has entirely cured me and new hair is beginning to grow. Respectfully, MRS. O. J. ROOT,

897 W. Lake St., CHICAGO, ILL., Nov. 13, 1878.

SCALD HEAD

For Nine Years cured when all other Remedies failed.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Since July last I have been using your CUTICURA for Scald Head, and it has cured me when all medicines that I have taken for nine years did me no good. I am now using it as a hair dressing, but my head is well. It keeps the hair in very nice condition. Yours truly, H. A RAYMOND,

Auditor Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R. R.

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 43 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

BEWARE of a man named Sherman, who, taking advantage of my reputation, calls him-self Dr. Sherman, alias Dr. S. Sherman, alias Dr. S. J. Sherman, pretending to be famous for the cure of Rupture. He is a bold cheat, hoping to mislead and victimize the afflicted. Preserve this advertisement and show it to your afflicted friends. toc120

CATARRH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individuals. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a torpid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from scrofulous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharge from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause it may arise, may be thin and acrid and so acid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which it comes in contact, or thick and yellow like gelatine, a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the surfaces being dry and feverish, the face, front and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it was confined by a tight, unyielding band. This latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free mattery discharge ceases the parts become dull and heavy, thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The mucus secreted, falls into the throat, creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate to throw it off; but when the morning dawns it is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and, forms into scabs, incrustations, and hard lumps, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages as to resist the most persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, bodies being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, coming frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes incurable. The remedies offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe to be found in no other remedies. Every step in its preparation, every line in the directions, mark it as a preparation of merit, combined to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest its efficacy in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of symptoms and sympathetic diseases, together with minute directions for effecting a cure with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE a speedy and permanent cure. The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $85.00 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mineral rights and mineral concession of the "Mecrackin Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which millions of dollars have been spent during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE PRESENT, CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $3.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an economical and economic manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be reserved, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. Medicinal Wine.

Physicians from the New York Board of Health have visited the Vineyards and Wine Cellars of Alfred Speer, of New York city; he is known to be one of the most extensive producers and dealers in Pure Medicinal Wines and Boundies in the United States. He makes a superior Port, known as Speer's Port Grape Wine, which took the highest premium at the Centennial. It is extensively prescribed by physicians as the most reliable Port for medicinal purposes. It is sold by Preston, Kimball, F. B. Coleman, and H. F. Gerrish.

—A recent obituary notice says: "Mr. Smith was an estimable citizen. He died with perfect resignation. He had recently been married."

THE BEST OF INVESTMENTS.

Life Insurance as a Matter of Fact—The Great Perpetual Family Fund of $87,127,614.52.

The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York Pays Out in One Year (1878) $3,426,046 in Cash, to Widows and Orphans.

Reduction of Rates.

From Harper's Weekly August, 1879.

In every family, not of such positive affluence as to be beyond the reach of disaster by failure of the sources of income, there must always be a sense of apprehension for the future. Death casts a menacing shadow across the brightest prospects, and the fear of a bereaved family enduring wants for which no adequate resources can be afforded, makes the sharpest goad with which the man in business is incited. It is this, more than avarice, or the desire of inordinate gratifications, that impels the overstrained strife for money among our people.

But the fact that by a simple and practical expedient the corroding fear of death and of business failure may be superseded, and the provision of a moderate certainty secured at once, forms one of the peculiar developments of our time. By means of a life insurance, which may be maintained for a trifle from year to year, a man secures an indemity which protects, in case of his death, his family against want.

LIFE INSURANCE AT A REDUCED COST.

As a topic of the day, interesting to almost every household, the final settlement of the five years' controversy about the reduction of the cost of insurance commands attention. At the close of this period of strife and opposition on all sides, The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York has finally and permanently reduced its premium 15 per cent. from the established rates. This reduction is no longer an experiment, but has reached the level of regular and established routine.

THE IMPROVEMENT IN THE AVERAGE DURATION OF HUMAN LIFE.

Among the factors which make such a reduction practicable and safe is the truth that the average human existence, under modern institutions, has improved in an appreciable degree. In some of the Registrar General's reports, this improvement is hinted at in England, and Professor De Moran calls attention to the discrepancies between the old and the newer life-tables as explainable on this ground. He says: "The real improvement of life which has taken place from the introduction of vaccination, more temperate habits, better medical assistance, and greater cleanliness in towns," accounts in a degree for the differences in the tables. Is it not a significant and important testimony to the success of our great educational system, of our more expanded intelligence, of our institutions, whether political or social, that this practical result in life insurance has become feasible? This subject might be enlarged upon, but we must restrict our notice of it here to some details regarding the business of the Mutual Life Insurance Company.

THE MEASURE OF THE GREAT FAMILY FUND.

The great question, "Does it pay?" puts aside all others as to how the thing is done. Disputes about management must at last be solved by results. For those who want only insurance, it may be interesting to learn that The Mutual Life is a compact of individuals all assuring each other, the newcomer and the old being on one footing. There is no question of stock or proprietary interests of the shareholders of a corporation absorbing or controlling the common interest. The practical measure of its beneficent usefulness will be best seen in the exact list of its payment for a year. During last year $3,426,046 was distributed, and the printed tables in the Annual Report gives the names, residences, and amounts, respectively. Those policies showing extraordinary accumulations, even to the extent of two and threefold the amount of the original sum insured, attest alike the prudence and success of the management, and the obvious expediency and justice of the reduction of so large a percentage of premium rates. Those rates still exceed what is called for to secure the amount insured.

WHERE THE PITFALLS ARE—THE PATENT SAFETY INSURANCE GAMES.

The reckless efforts tending to degrade this beneficent scheme into the channels of mere stock speculation should meet with severe reprobation. All the devices of what may be termed fancy life insurance have come to grief. Although it is the latest development of the higher mathematical sciences, the system is reasonably simple and rigid in its requirements. It is as exact and inexorable as any of the other laws of nature. Any departures from its rules and experiences as to indiscriminate selection, non-forfeiture, incontestibility, or looseness of handling in any shape which may impair precision of estimates, are fatal to its very existence upon scientific principles. The various habits and plausibilities put forth in this way are of the same character as the luxury with which the lessee of the gaming-house are set forth to entice their victims to the faro-table. They lead merely to fraud, vexation, and disaster. They are resorted to for issuing temporary policies of which the great mass are abandoned inside of three years, affording the chief field of the speculative or proprietary companies for their private profits. The pretended liberality of such concerns is the least desirable of all features of the system. Like oratory, in regard to which it was said by the greatest orator that the first requirement was action, and, when asked what else, he said the rest also is action—so the first thing in life insurance is safety, and all the rest is likewise is safety.

In choosing between a stock company and The Mutual, it is as if the ownership and cultivation of your farm and the possession of all its avails for yourself, were compared with working it on shares with another person, who makes returns at his option. The stock companies must have their share of the profits, which they can deduct only from the money of the policy-holders.

SURRENDER VALUES AND INCONTESTIBILITY.

The Legislature of the State of New York having last Winter declared by statute the manner in which surrender values shall be adjusted for the future, The Mutual Life has applied the rule uniformly to the entire body of policy-holders, old as well as new, in the same spirit of liberality which the common equity of their association necessarily requires. The like essential principle which makes the interest of each individual the same as that of the aggregate members, compels the prompt payment of death claims as the imperative duty of the officers of the company. Policy-holders' just claims are not litigated. There are no cross interests of stock to suggest litigation, as in the stockholders' concerns, and it would obviously be against an immutable principle for a man to "law" himself.

The established revival of business will make a new demand for moderate policies. The acquisition of this safeguard will prompt a sacrifice of "first fruits" from profits, at the domestic altar. The true use of life insurance as the ark of the household covenant has been the great lesson in the wilderness of hard times.

Those insurance concerns attempting to build up a gambling feature of the system abuse its great usefulness, and commit an offence against policy. The Mutual Life inclines unformly this class of applications. All who seek legitimate insurance should beware of finding themselves associated with the sporting circles of hazardous pool-selling.

SOME OF LAST YEAR'S DEATH-CLAIMS FOR EXAMPLE—THE MUTUAL LIFE JUDGED BY ITS FRUITS.

An example of better business methods will be observed in the annexed record;

A large proportion of policy-holders have used dividends to pay their premiums, and in such cases, the profits being used as they accrue, there can be no addition to the face of the policy.

THE OLD AND NEW RATES COMPARED.

The new reduction in the rates of premium exhibits the following comparison from the old and the new tables of The Mutual Life for insurance of $1,000, annual payments:

Age of 25,	old rates	$19.88,	new	$16.91
" 30,	"	22.70,	"	19.36
" 35,	"	26.38,	"	22.42

" 60,	"	77.63,	"	65.99

The other companies continue to charge the old rates. The Mutual Life's new rates are uniform to the old as well as the new policy-holders, and to the different classes of the insured, whether life or endowment.

News and Notes.

Despatches from Afghanistan indicate that the British forces at Cubul have met with a serious defeat, and it is feared in London that, in spite of the temporary success of the 5th inst., Gen. Roberts has fallen into a trap and is in an exceedingly critical condition.

The O'Leary belt race in New York closed on Saturday night, Murphy winning first prize, the belt and $5000; Howard second, $2000; Faber third, $1000; Briody fourth, $500. Murphy's score was 505 miles, Howard 500, Faber 485, Briody 475.

A New York policeman named Radmus has been fined $2500 for beating and unlawfully locking up a citizen.

A balloon was seen floating at a great elevation above Dubuque, Iowa, on the 10th inst., by several persons. The car could be distinguished, but no human beings. It may possibly have been Wise's balloon, but this is not probable.

In making up the inventory of the estate of Mark Hopkins, of San Francisco, a trifle of $5,000,000 in government bonds, and $300,000 in gold, to the credit of Mr. Hopkins in the treasury at Washington, was overlooked, and has just been added to the inventory.

Peter McManus, a Mollie Maguire, was hanged Thursday at Sunbury, Pa., for the murder of Coroner Hesser in 1874. John O'Neill, who was to be hung the same time, was reprieved.

Patrick McBride of Sumner, Ill., sent his lady love a proposal of marriage, accompanying it with a promise to shoot her in case she refused. She did refuse, and he chased her all over town with a shot-gun, without catching her, however.

It is announced that "Mr. T. W. Keene, the new leading man at the Boston Theatre, will make his first appearance with the company in 'Drink.'" He had better appear sober on the first occasion.

Mary E. Gregory of New Haven, Conn., eighteen years old got hold of the wrong glass when she reached out of bed Thursday night for her medicine, and was found dead the next day from morphine.

As Randolph Johnson, of Tolland, Conn., fifty-five years old, was returning after a day's hunt, his loaded gun lying on the seat by his side suddenly went off, killing him instantly.

The selectmen of Bridgewater, Mass., have offered a reward of $5 for the capture of Henry Gunn, who is charged with having murdered his father, Justin L. Gunn, September 25th. They must want him bad.

A new thing in fire apparatus is the electric hose. A wire runs along in the cotton or rubber part of the hose, continuing the connection as each section is attached, and over this passes electricity generated by one of the engine's fly-wheels. Connected with the nozzle is a little contrivance by which the engineer can be told, although squares distant from the man who is playing water on the fire, to "turn her on," cut her off," "stop" or "go ahead," or anything else that can be agreed upon by a signal which is struck on a gong on the engine.

Cora Pearl, the once notorious English courtezan who, while a resident of Paris under the second empire, for many years set the fashions for the women of Europe and America, died in Paris on the 25th ult. Not much is really known of her life, except that she was a dissolute woman who dictated what the honest wives and maidens of two continents should wear.

Bogus Certificates.

It is no vile drugged stuff, pretending to be made of wonderful foreign roots, barks, &c., and puffed up by long bogus certificates of pretended miraculous cures but a simple, pure, effective medicine, made of well known valuable remedies, that furnishes its own certificates by its cures. We refer to Hop Bitters, the purest and best of medicines. See another column.—Republican.

Remedy for Lice.

A practical farmer writes that for killing lice on cows, horses or hogs, he has always found the following application successful: Take the water in which potatoes have been boiled and rub it over the skin of the animals to be treated. THE WEATHER.

Probabilities for the New England States, To-Day:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 13, 2 A. M.

Increasing cloudiness, preceded by occasional rains, winds mostly from north to east, stationary or lower temperature, higher barometer.

AROUND HOME.

Rev. C. B. Pilblado of this city delivered a lecture in the Free Baptist church at Biddeford on Thursday evening of last week, to a large, attentive and appreciative audience.

The annual session of the Rockingham Christian conference was held in the Christian church at Newton on Oct. 7th and 8th. It was voted to hold quarterly sessions, and the first will be held in North Hampton next month.

Capt. Frank W. Hilton, who managed the very successful Rockingham course of entertainments last winter, proposes to give another course this season, to consist of six and possible of seven entertainments, the first one to take place on the evening of Nov. 12th.

The St. Mary's Total Abstinence society of Dover celebrated the birthday of Father Matthew and its own anniversary with a parade through the principal streets on Friday. The society, composed wholly of young Irishmen, is one of the best conducted temperance organizations in the State, and its appearance on the street was excellent.

Exeter is terribly troubled by mosquitoes. It is contended that the pests were comparatively unknown in the town before the present summer, and their presence now is accounted for by the use of fresh river water, in sprinkling the streets. Many of the inhabitants sleep under bars, while the students and temperance people who discountenance bars, hunt the insects with the slipper, an hour before retiring each night.

The Eastern railroad company are applying patent mufflers to the safety valves of their locomotives, for the purpose of arresting the deafening noise made by the escaping steam. This improvement will be much appreciated by the general public, as there is no evil connected with railroads which has been the cause of more accidents, in the shape of runaways, then the sudden lifting of a safety value on a locomotive, and the noise consequent thereon.

Referring to the court of inquiry recently convened at this naval station, the Army and Navy Journal says: "From what we learn we are satisfied that the court of inquiry into the case of the Marion will entirely relieve Chief Engineer Louis J. Allen from responsibility, and place the fault where it belongs, upon the boilers of the vessel. Certainly the evidence, which was taken in open court, could not well lead to any other conclusion. Chief Engineer Allen is one of the most capable and conscientious officers of his corps in the navy, and we are glad to learn that the report of the court is likely to do him justice."

A fine portrait of Richard Hildreth, the historian, has been received at the Phillips academy at Exeter, and is to be placed beside the portrait of Geo. Bancroft. Among the recently received portraits is that of Col. Joshua W. Peirce, sent by his son, Robert C. Peirce of Portsmouth, and painted by Tenney. Of deceased Portsmouth men of note, whose portraits adorn the walls of the gallery, are those of Rev. Charles Burroughs, D. D., and Samuel Hale, the latter painted by his daughter. The collections of portraits here embrace likenesses of some of the most eminent men of the country, such as Webster, Carr, Everett and Jeremiah Smith. One of the best executed portraits is that of the late Woodbridge Odlin, a generous benefactor of the academy.

The staging around the Rockingham bank, used by the men engaged in coating the building with mastic, was taken down last week; the looks of the building have been much improved by the work done upon it. A portion of the staging around the National block was also taken down, giving an unobstructed view of the roof and upper portion of the fine building. Work on the Franklin block is progressing at a lively rate; the walls are going up rapidly. Now if somebody would only put up a handsome structure on the wilderness at the corner of Congress and Chestnut streets, opposite the Kearsarge house, that part of the city would present quite a metropolitan appearance when the jobs were all completed.

Major George L. Wentworth, the Salmon Falls liquor dealer who early last week shot James Ricker, a former "clerk" in Wentworth's saloon, in a row occasioned by rum, was tried and fined, but appealed, and his case goes to a higher court. Ricker was wounded near the heart, and the Great Falls Journal of Friday announced him as in a precarious condition. Fineing a man for inflicting on another a dangerous wound with a pistol seems a funny performance; either the shooter deserved severe punishment or none at all. The Dover Democrat of Friday says Ricker was on the street in Great Falls the day before, and quite lively.

The first regular meeting of the Hampton Gospel Temperance Union, was held at the Methodist church on Wednesday evening, the 1st inst. The following is a list of officers elected: Pres., R. H. Shelton; vice presidents, Rev. W. H. Cutler, Rev. A. B. Carter; secretary, John M. Ackerman; treasurer, George W. Lane; chaplain, Rev. L. L. Harmon. A temperance lecture was delivered by Rev. J. L. Wilfong of Philadelphia, and fifty names were added to the pledge. It is proposed to have a lecture each week during the winter.

Dr. Wood of Great Falls, for a considerable time past night editor of the New York Sun, and whose merciless "cutting" of long-winded articles has won for him the title of "The Great American Condenser" among his brethren of the press, it is announced is to go to San Francisco and take charge of the Chronicle of that city,—the paper of the De Young brothers, one of whom knocked the "Rev." Kalloch into the mayor's chair of San Francisco with a pistol bullet.

The annual meeting of the Portsmouth Washington Total Abstinence society will take place at Mr. A. F. Craig's insurance office, No. 5 Congress street, this (Monday) evening at half-past seven o'clock. All are invited to join the old society, and take part in the meeting.

The post office at Bonny Beag, in the northern part of the town of North Berwick, Me., and that at Bonny Eagle, in the town of Hollis, have been discontinued.

The annual meeting of stockholders of the Wolfeboro railroad will be held at Wolfeboro, Tuesday, October 14th.

PINAFORE.

The appreciation of this comic opera is similar to the fondness for olives—an acquired taste. Once attending its performance will hardly enable the non-professional listener to appreciate the fine music, the sweet airs, the keen burlesque and delicate sarcasm that sparkles all through the piece. Having witnessed this opera no less than a half dozen times some of its renderings being by the best companies in the country, we pronounce the entertainment promised by the Miniature Opera for Tuesday evening, to be one of the most enjoyable of any of the many productions in this country. The "Buttercup" in the M. M. O. P. is of the very best; and the opera given by them, as a whole, has been more generously applauded and more keenly enjoyed than has that of any other company. The treat will be a musical one in its enjoyment, as well as dramatic,—that is, the correctness in its execution, for performers of the age of those in this company, is pronounced most wonderful; and however one may be wearied of Pinafore in the abstract, there can be no doubt of new and fresh enjoyment to those who visit Music hall on Tuesday evening.

EASTERN RAILROAD.

The fall and winter arrangement of the Eastern railroad goes into effect this morning. There are important changes from the running time of the summer trains, as will be seen by reference to the advertisement. We are pleased to observe that a mid-afternoon train will continue to run. The Sunday train between Boston and Portland is discontinued, and in its place a train will leave this city for Boston at 7:25 o'clock A. M., and leave Boston for this city on its return at six o'clock in the evening. This arrangement will enable persons from this vicinity to catch the New York steamboats without having to start in the middle of the forenoon to do it; to go to Boston in the afternoon and return the same evening, allowing an hour and a half for the transaction of business in that city; or to visit the Boston theatres of a Saturday evening, spend the following day in the city, and get home Sunday evening in readiness for duty Monday morning. It is the most convenient winter arrangement the road has given the people of this region for many years, and we believe the furnishing of the extra accomodations will pay.

THE GREAT RACE.

Another juvenile championship go-as-you-please race of two hours came off on the Linden street rink Saturday afternoon, the prize on this occasion being a showy belt of black patent leather, lined with yellow and trimmed with red, and with the word "Champion" on the back in raised letters of metal, nickle plated, and with a nickle plated star at each end of the word. This belt was presented by Mr. Peyser, of the firm of Peyser & Kennedy. There were six starters in the race, including the little fellow Weeks who came in ahead at the previous race; but one after another dropped out until only two were left, and at the end Michael Hurley was declared the winner, with a score of thirteen miles and twenty-one laps, (the "rink" is twenty-seven laps to a mile,) and John Hurley second, with a score of thirteen miles and eighteen laps. There was another large concourse of spectators to see this contest, but the interest did not seem to equal that manifested on the previous occasions. One of the boys was compelled to give up the race on account of a pain in his side; and we have no doubt that such violent over-exertion as is called forth by these races, on the part of youths who are just at the age when every care of their physical condition is demanded by nature, will have a permanently injurious effect on many if not all of them.

CIRCUIT COURT--LOWELL, J.

SATURDAY, Oct 11th.

The United States vs. J. Hall and others. The trial of this indictment began on Saturday morning. The respondents are charged in the indictment with having, as the selectmen of Barrington, whose duty it was to prepare the list of voters, (or the registration, as it is designated in the statutes of the United States,) refused to insert in this list the name of one Frank McMahan, who was, as it is alleged, a legal voter in that town, and legally entitled to have his name inserted in such list of voters. The selectmen refused to insert his name because they had learned that he had a wife living in another town; but it was contended on the part of the government that the marriage of McMahan was a compulsory one; that he had never lived with his wife for a day; that he had been a legal voter and tax-payer of the town, and that his name was summarily erased without notice to him. It was further contended that the selectmen knew all the circumstances of McMahan's marriage, and that a fraud in the matrimonial affair had been practiced on him; that an analagous case, where a man's name was retained on the list, was shown, but the officers paid no attention to this; and that the circumstances of McMahan's living were precisely the same when taxed on the first day of April, as when refused the right of suffrage on the 5th day of November of the same year. The grounds of the defence were that McMahan had no right to vote in Barrington, and the selectmen had no belief that he had such right; that they consulted Mr. Dodge, a lawyer in Dover, who advised them that as a transient man McMahan's home followed his place of work or abode; that the selectmen acted upon conscientious motives; and that there was no object to do any fraudulent act, as the party they were elected by had a sufficient majority for all practical purposes, and there was no necessity for such conduct on their part! Page for United States; Frink for respondents.

Several witnesses were called and examined on the part of the defendants, and the trial will be resumed this (Monday) forenoon.

The court comes in this forenoon at eleven o'clock.

In the case Manufacturers' Insurance Co. vs. Morrill & Danforth, the jury on Friday evening returned a verdict for the defendant. Hatch for plaintiff; Marston for deft.

THE REVELLERS.—On next Wednesday evening the intensely funny "Revellers," who have been convulsing Boston people at the Gaiety Theatre in that city for the past six nights, are to appear at Music Hall in their new and original three-act farcical comedy entitled "Trouble." It abounds in absurdly comical situations, introduces songs, dances and comic operatic duetts, is full of grotesque features and surprises, and is nightly received with screams of laughter. The following is from the Boston Post:

"The Revellers," who appeared at the Gaiety on Monday evening, and who have furnished the entertainment at all the performances this week, have drawn large houses, and their entertainments have given general satisfaction. The performance is a very funny and enjoyable one. The party includes Miss Theresa Newcomb, Miss Emma Libby, Miss Mary Stuart, Mr. George C. Davenport, Mr. T. J. Jackson and Mr. Tom Kiins. The piece, which is named "Trouble," is a burlesque sketch of New England life, in which Mr. Davenport as Frank Randall, woos and wins Miss Emma Libby, who is supposed to be Grace Merryweather. Grace has a maiden aunt, who is vigorously opposed to the purpose of the young people, and, as a last resort, all or nearly all turn insane and scare the old lady into submission. Then the insanity disappears and all is well. Songs, dances and bits of eccentric acting are scattered throughout the piece, which add essentially to the fun. Miss Stuart gives a very good burlesque impersonation of a Yankee spinster, and Miss Newcomb's songs are a feature of the performance. A song and dance by Miss Newcomb and Mr. Davenport is specially funny.

Chronicle Correspondence.

BOSTON, Oct. 8th, 1879.

One of the prettiest social and musical affairs of the season occurred in Music hall, building last evening. Among the artists who attracted a full audience to the great hall itself on the occasion of the first Redpath concert of the season, was Mrs. Abbie Carrington, a lady who had received her entire musical education at the New England Conservatory, and who went to Italy two years ago, thinking to study further, but who found that she was already quite prepared to enter the operatic field. From time to time, word came to us and was circulated through our newspapers, of the remarkable success and enthusiastic ovations which everywhere greeted the American-born and American-taught prima donna, and last evening we had an opportunity of welcoming her home. After the concert, Mrs. Carrington was escorted up stairs to Conservatory hall, where a small party of old friends, teachers and class-mates were assembled to receive her. It was, as I have already said, an exquisite little affair, and those who received invitations were certainly most fortunate. The music store below was transformed, with plants and flowers, into a charming supper-room, where midnight found the select little company still assembled.

But I wanted specially to tell you of the Parisian costume in which the lady appeared. It was a magnificent affair of heaviest brocade. The body, and long, square, court train were of crimson, brocaded in fern patterns with robin's-egg blue, and the petticoat over which the train fell was of blue—the same pale, green-tinted blue—brocaded with silvery white. Point lace about the heart-shaped corsage, with cluster of natural crimson and white roses in front, were the only trimmings, and a few drooping flowers in the dark hair which was dressed low in the neck; white kids to the elbows met the short sleeves.

These court train costumes with contrasting petticoats, are unquestionably the thing for full dress this year, and brocade the material above all others.

The millinery opening for which I have been waiting to give you the really most reliable fashions in head-gear, viz: that of Mr. R. H. Wadleigh, will occur to-morrow, and by special favor, I secured a peep at the bonnets and hats to be exhibited, this afternoon. There is an advantage in these openings which occur a little later in the season than others, as one has had a chance, to examine and digest the first styles; and the imported patterns, too, are newer and choicer.

It is an indisputable fact that "poke" bonnets, with brims flaring high above the head, are the style this year. By rights, they should be entirely without face-trimming, except, indeed, a rich facing, as one of the French pokes I saw had the brim faced with cloth of gold, which costs the moderate price of $10, for a very narrow yard. But to make them becoming to most faces, it is necessary to put in a band to lie closely upon the hair. But remember that the most stylish way is a plain poke, and your hair in finger-puffs to fill in. The brims are usually cut down somewhat for our ladies, who do not like extremes very well.

The other style, which will be much more popular with younger and smaller ladies, is the turban. And there are delightful varieties of this most becoming shape. I may have told you of the softly folded satin and velvet ones, but there are charming ones with hard square crowns and narrow brims. I saw an exquisite one of crimson velvet, the crown piece richly embossed with a floral pattern, which was trimmed with jet fringe and feathers to match. These red bonnets are very stylish for dress occasions; and in darker wine or claret hue, they are suitable for all occasions, and are particularly elegant with a black suit. They are much worn by blondes as well as brunettes, and are a happy change from the everlasting blue to which light complexions have been latterly so confined.

Jet is used so much as to almost take one's breath away. I saw bonnets to-day literally made of jet. The whole frames were covered closely with the sparkling beads, and clusters of nodding flowers were made entirely of jet strung on wire. Cardinal strings are often used to brighten them up. These jet bonnets are both in the poke and the turban shapes. Brilliant bugs and beetles are greatly used, one beautiful olive velvet bonnet having dozens of the sparkling little insects scattered over it in spots. The effect is very pretty. ROBIN.

Cuticura

HUMORS OF THE SCALP, LOSS OF HAIR.

Loss of Hair in thousands of cases is due entirely to some form of scalp disease. Seventy-five per cent of the number of bald heads might be covered with hair by a judicious use of CUTICURA, assisted by CUTICURA SOAP. It is the most agreeable as well as the most effective hair restorer ever produced by man. It is medicinal in the truest sense of the word. All others are some oleaginous mixture or poisonous dye. None but CUTICURA possesses the specific medical properties that enable it to cure all itching and scaly diseases that infest one and irritate the scalp and hair glands and tubes, causing premature baldness. Medium doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT will purify the oil and sweat glands of the virus of scrofulous humor of the blood and insure a permanent cure, when taken in connection with the outward application of CUTICURA.

SALT RHEUM AND DANDRUFF

Cured that several physicians had failed to treat successfully.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have had the Salt Rheum on my head and all through my hair, also on my legs, for the past four years, having suffered exceedingly with it. The dandruff falling from my hair was very annoying. I consulted several distinguished physicians in regard to it, and have taken their prescriptions as ordered but did not find any cure and but little relief. I was told by many persons who have the Salt Rheum, and who have been doctored for years, that there was no cure for it; that it was in the blood, and I should always have it, and I was almost inclined to agree with them, but a friend wanted me to try CUTICURA, made by your firm. I did, and to my astonishment, in less than three weeks, my head was entirely free from all Salt Rheum and Dandruff, and I cannot see any appearance of Salt Rheum on my person. I think it a wonderful remedy. Respectfully yours,
GEORGE A. MUDGE.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 43 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed free to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

A GOOD PLAN

Anybody can learn to make money rapidly operating in Stocks, by the "Two Unerring Rules for Success," of Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s new circular; the combination method, which this firm has made so successful, enables people with large or small means to reap all the benefits of largest capital and best skill. Thousands of orders, in various sums, are pooled into one vast amount and co-operated as a mighty whole, thus securing to each shareholder all the advantages of the largest operator. Immense profits are divided monthly. Any amount, from $5 to $5,000, or more, can be used successfully. N. Y. Baptist Weekly, September 26th, 1878, says, "By this combination system $25 would make $75, or 5 per cent.; $50 pays $350, or 7 per cent.; $100 makes $1,000, or 10 per cent, on the stock, during the month, according to the market." Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, June 28th: "The combination method of operating stocks is the most successful ever adopted." New York Independent Sept. 12th: "The combination system is founded upon correct business principles, and no person need be without an income while it is kept working by Messrs. Lawrence & Co." Brooklyn Journal, April 29th: "Our editor made a net profit of $101.25 from $20 in one of Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s combinations." New circular (mailed free) explains everything. Stocks and bonds wanted. Governments bonds supplied. Lawrence & Co. Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y.

CATARRH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individuals. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclemente weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the health and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from a scrofulous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and so acid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellowish, emitting a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the surface being dry and feverish, the face, front and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it was encircled by a tight, throbbing band. This latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free mattery discharges cause the passages to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The mucus passing down the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate, to throw it off; but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations, and hard lumps, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye is painfully bloodshot, inflamed, red, weak, and watery. Or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, coming frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A sufferer of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for the treatment of both acute and chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidence believe are to be found in no other remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in the directions, mark it as a scientific remedy, calculated to meet the wants of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the esteem in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of symptoms and sympathetic diseases, together with minute directions for effecting with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE a speedy and permanent cure. Also observations on diet and the general health, of vast importance to all afflicted with catarrh. It is wrapped about each bottle of the RADICAL CURE, or will be mailed free on receipt of stamp.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for use in all cases. Price, $1. Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

The Contest in Massachusetts.

The republicans in the Bay State appear to have become alarmed sufficiently to go to work in the campaign and "save the commonwealth." There are many republicans in and out of the Bay State who are quite willing to see a new set of names in the list of office-holders in the State, and even a change in the policy of the government to some extent. There might be an improvement in the laws regulating the management of corporations, which perhaps could prevent the treasurers of some of these bodies having the control of their affairs sufficiently to enable them to abstract all the funds before any trouble is discovered by the "boards of directors," which in factory companies, at least, in Massachusetts as in New Hampshire, are simply lists of gentlemen selected by the treasurer or larger owners of the stock to fill certain places required by the charter of the company or the laws of the State. But these and other reforms can be carried out as well by Gov. Long as by would-be Gov. Butler. The people desire the change, but they fear the proposed remedy would prove worse than the disease; and the indications are that though the general may bawl himself hoarse in his protestations of integrity, political or otherwise, the people will fight shy of the candidate whose promises have always been more frequent than his performances have proved salutary. The Massachusetts papers are so filled with Butler news at this time that people have to seek for general news from journals out of the State.

Double Murder.

Roland D. Pollard, of East Lempster, was arrested on Wednesday night of last week on a warrant charging him with procuring a criminal operation to be performed upon Miss Nellie F. Bumford, from the effects of which she died on Sunday, the 5th inst. Pollard was arraigned Thursday, pleaded not guilty, waived examination and was committed for trial. During the following night he broke down completely, and confessed his guilt. Had he not been held on the charge mentioned, he would had been immediately re-arrested on a charge of murder, as there is evidence that the girl's infant was born alive.

The murdered girl was twenty-two years old and very handsome; she had succeeded in acquiring by her own exertions a good public school education, and had taken lessons in music; she was a general favorite, and highly respected. She was engaged to be married to Pollard, who is thirty years old and has some property; and for a few months previous to her death was an inmate of the Pollard family, where her death occurred.

The operation was performed by Dr. F. B. Richards of Bradford, at his house, whither Pollard took her for the purpose. Richards is an eclectic physican, and for some time has had a reputation for this kind of practice. He has lived many years in Bradford, is of Indian descent, and calls himself "the Indian doctor." He is about fifty years old, married, and has a good property. After the arrest of Pollard, officers went to Bradford to catch Richards, the warrant charging him with murder; but he had hidden himself in a swamp not far from his home, and up to Saturday night had not been captured.

News and Notes.

Walter Paine, the defaulting treasurer of the linen mill at Fall River, Mass., has been arrested in Quebec, just as he was on the eve of departing for Europe in a steamship, with his wife and daughter.

Joseph D. Barker, a well-known resident of New Rochelle, N. Y., was killed Sunday morning by his nephew, Benjamin S. Clark, a patent lawyer of New York city, who took his uncle for a burglar. The coroner's jury exonerated Mr. Clark.

By a collision between two express trains on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at Bellton, W. Va., Saturday night, an engineer, fireman and two tramps were killed, the other fireman and a postal clerk badly injured, and both engines and several cars wrecked. None of the passengers were seriously hurt.

At Centralia, Wis., on Thursday last, Judge Henry Hayden was shot dead by Cashier W. H. Cochran, of the national bank, for improper intimacy with the latter's wife.

The supreme court at Boston on Saturday mulcted the Fitchburg railroad in $11,950 because an engine, which did not give the usual signals, ran into Miss Jennie A. Eaton's carriage on a grade crossing in Shirley. Miss Eaton is not expected to live.

A Montreal despatch says bar iron jumped up $2 per ton on Saturday. The rise since August in the article is $9 per ton.

On Sunday afternoon Mr. S. M. Hickey, advance agent for Mary Anderson, was shot in a parlor of the Burnett house at Cincinnati by a young woman named Florence McDonald, belonging in Syracuse, N. Y., who then shot herself; both were shot in the head, the woman dying in a short time, and Hickey being mortally wounded. The cause of the crime was jealousy, illicit relations having formerly existed between the parties, which had been broken off by Hickey after he became agent for Miss Anderson; and the discarded mistress followed the man from place to place, finally committing murder and suicide.

Charles W. T. James, a crazy Boston man who says he has invented a flying machine, has been arrested at New York for stealing a Bridgeport (Conn.) yacht.

At Aldridge's Plantation in Texas, Saturday, a negro woman named Esther was visited by a band of forty disguised men, who demanded her son Charley. Upon refusal, the door of the house was fired into, wounding a girl in the head. Those inside the cabin fired upon the attacking party, wounding one. The door was then forced open, and Esther and her family, with a negro from a neighboring cabin, were carried away. Several of the negroes escaped, but Esther and her son Charley were shot dead, both being riddled with buckshot.

The recent singular and painful death of Mr. G. A. Gardner of New York has been extensively attributed to the use of arsenic in a hollow tooth by his dentist. Those who have examined the circumstances believe that Mr. Gardner died from entirely different causes. So many persons are annually in the hands of the dentist that it may be interesting to know that arsenic is not used now, or, if at all, in infinitesimal quantities. Dr. Waters, the Boston dentist who treated the fatal tooth, denies having used it at all for twenty years.

State School Commissioner Orr, of Georgia, has appointed fourteen colored pupils to Peabody scholarships in Atlanta university.

Redmond, the notorious South Carolina moonshiner on whose head the government has placed a reward of $250, is firmly intrenched with twenty-five or thirty desperate followers in the mountains of Swain county, N. C., and a posse of United States deputies who happened upon the band recently withdrew without ceremony.

The verdict of $5,208 for Emeline Wardwell against Asahel Boyden and others, Boston apothecaries, for a mistake in putting up laudanum instead of tincture of rhubarb, as a prescription called for, has been set aside and a new trial ordered.

Jacob Graff, a well known tenor singer, was knocked down, and four shots were emptied into him from a revolver, one night last May, on a street in New York city, by a young rough named James McCabe, who robbed Graff of a gold watch, which had been presented him by the Arion Society. McCabe went east and luxuriated, but returned to New York on Friday, and was promptly arrested. He was on Saturday held in $5,000 for trial for attempting murder, and for highway robbery.

A Miss Whitten, now at Damariscotta, Me., has probably the longest hair of any woman in the world. It is eight feet long, and when dressed in a French twist it passes six times around her head. The growth is perfectly natural.

The Portland, (Me.) machine company are building the machinery for five steamers, and have orders on hand for large amounts of boiler and tank work. They also have in hand six locomotives, one of which has just been sold to the Portland & Rochester railroad.

On Saturday, Edward Burgess, a farmer of Auburn, Mass., while trying to separate some fighting cattle, was attacked by the animals, thrown down and his leg broken, and was injured internally.

See a Woman!

In another column, picking grapes for SPEER'S WINE. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals and by the first-class families in Paris, London and New York, in preference to European or California Wines; excellent for Ladies and invalids.

CAUTION.

Do you wish to have your hair canterized from the scalp? No! Then beware of the new brood of vitriolic and caustic dyes got up by nostrum-mongers, who bear the same relation to the respectable chemical like bear to honest merchantmen. Remember that the experience of years and the very highest scientific endorsement guarantee the superiority of over every other in use. It is purely vegetable, infallible and instantaneous. Manufactured by J. CRISTADORO, No. 81 William Street, New York. Sold by all Druggists. Applied by all Hair Dressers.

Political.

Hon. John Quincy Adams has accepted the nomination of the democratic State convention of Massachusetts as the candidate for governor.

The Ohio election occurs to-day. The republicans are confident, and the democrats hopeful. It is probable that the republicans will elect Foster governor, but the State is so gerrymandered in favor of the democrats that they are likely to carry the legislature even should the republicans have a popular majority of 20,000.

Naval Affairs.

The U. S. S. Nipsic has been put in commission, with Comdr. C. M. Schoonmaker in command, and Lieut John S. Newell as executive officer. Lieut. A. B. H. Lillie, Chief Eng. David Smith, Passed Asst. Paymaster Jonathan O. Barton and Boatswain John Brown have been ordered to the Nipsic.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14, 2 A.M

Generally clear weather, colder northerly winds, stationary or higher barometer.

AROUND HOME.

Mr. Albert Hayes, a workman at Jones' brewery, dislocated one of his shoulder by a fall on Monday. Drs. Whittier and Parsons attended to his hurts.

John Conlon and John Sullivan went to Brentwood from the police court, Monday, in default of $9.90 each, fine and costs for drunkenness. Edward Murphy was assessed the same amount, for the same offence.

A number of the members of New Hampshire Lodge, I. O. O. F., of this city, with ladies, by invitation paid a visit to Riverside Lodge of Kittery on Monday evening, going over in the steamer James Sampson, and returning well pleased with the attentions of their hosts.

A large party of young folks gave a surprise donation party to Miss Sarah Carter of Kittery a few afternoons ago. Miss Carter is still sprightly at eighty-three years of age. The pleasures of the visit were continued well into the evening, and ended with a generous collection of a snug little sum, which, together with a large supply of edibles, was presented to the happy and well-preserved "aunt Sarah."—Times.

This evening, at Music hall, Pinafore will be given by Murphy's Miniature Opera company, with the same cast as in the Boston Museum, where the piece was played by them 106 consecutive times. Little Corinne, who as "Little Buttercup" was so warmly applauded by the Boston press as being a wonderful actress, will fill the part to-night. See adv't.

The whole number of students at Phillips academy, Exeter, is one hundred and eighty-eight, among them being T. H. Bartlett of Portsmouth; J. P. Brooks, Kittery; I. B. Burgess, A. M. Dodge, Hampton Falls; A. W. Ladd, A. H. Pike, and D. W. Ladd, Jr., of Epping; S. S. White, Newmarket; C. Lindsey, Wells, Me.; K. O. Tong, Canton, China; S. C. Niu, P. T. Kin, Y. K. Li, T. L. Wong, K. K. Chin, Shanghai, China.

On Sunday last the steamer Clara Batemen towed in from the Shoals the water-logged hull of the schooner Mary E. Caswell, formerly for some years employed as an excursion boat by the Laighton Brothers during "the season," but which has been lying idle at the Shoals, a dismantled hulk, since she met with disaster during one of the heavy gales last spring. The schooner yawed about in the most eccentric manner while in tow, and did her best to run into both sides of the river, but the steamer had too much power to be fooled with in that way, and brought her safely up to town. The Laightons have given the schooner, with her spars and seven tons of pig-iron ballast, to Mr. Levi Downs of Star island, and she will be at once repaired and fitted out for winter fishing. It is a handsome present to a very industrious and worthy man.

Under the heading "America vs. England," the Hawaiian Gazette, a paper published at Honolulu, Sandwich islands, thus speaks of the ship Gov. Goodwin, which is commanded by Capt. William Lester of Stratham: "As a test of the sailing qualities of the ships of respective nations it may not be out of place to mention that the American clipper ship Governor Goodwin, of Boston, now in our harbor, left Glasgow four weeks after the British ship Ravenscraig from Liverpool, and three weeks after the British bark Stormy Petrel from Liverpool, both vessels consigned to the house of Messrs. G. W. Macfarlane & Co. Up to the present date neither of the vessels have as yet put in an appearance, while the Governor Goodwin has made the passage in 108 days. We think that the foregoing facts establish the reputation of the American ship for rare fast sailing qualities."

The sea-serpent, which appeared to a bold and reliable mariner off Hampton some months ago, as he—the mariner, and possibly also the serpent—was fishing, and which has since then been reported as seen in several other places, has again shown up. The Biddeford Times of last Friday says: "Five persons in this city are positive they saw the sea-serpent. Two gentlemen and three ladies—Mr. S. F. Gibson and wife, and three others—were at Fortune's rocks about one o'clock Thursday afternoon when they saw the monster which they believe to have been the sea-serpent of which so much has been said. The object appeared to be some fifty or more feet in length, and one of the ladies counted thirteen places along on the water where sections of his body could be seen. His head very much resembled that of a horse while in the water swimming. The monster was headed for the south and about one hundred feet from shore." What the sea-serpent wants to be fooling about along the shores for now, is inexplicable; the beach season has ended.

An incident of absorbing interest to the ladies, and possibly of sad apprehension to their husbands and fathers, is advertised to occur to-day. J. M. Tebbetts, at No. 14 Market street, announces the fall opening of pattern bonnets and hats, including all the novelties of the season.

THE RIVERSIDE BAND SCHOOL.

The sewing school for poor children, conducted by the Riverside Band, Miss F. A. Mathes president, begins its work for the fall and winter on next Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock, at the mission rooms No. 64 State street, corner of Pleasant street. Gifts of second-hand clothing, new materials or money will be thankfully accepted, and made to serve the double purpose of helping on the instruction of the pupils and afterward relieving distress. During the past two years this organization, which is composed of ladies from various churches, and strives for the good of the poor and not the advancement of any sect or creed, has in a very quiet and unassuming manner done an admirable work in aiding to day and Sunday schools children who would not otherwise have attended either. The workers freely give their time, their labor and their interested attention; they ask that other friends of the poor children contribute as they are able for the good of the cause, and their request should meet with a hearty response.

CIRCUIT COURT--LOWELL, J.

MONDAY, Oct. 13th.

In case Manufacturers' Ins. Co. vs. Morrill & Danforth, the plff. filed a motion for a new trial.

Homer Strauss and John S. Locke appeared by counsel, and asked to have judgement against them upon scire facias suspended, in the hope that they can find the absconding principal, Ford, before the next term.

The United States vs. New Hampshire Savings bank. Action to recover taxes on deposits under the internal revenue laws. The defendants claim that nothing was due the United States upon this claim; and that if there was, at the time the suit was commenced, it is now disposed of by subsequent legislation releasing the bank from any liability; and asked to have suit dismissed. The court took the case under advisement. Ray for United States; S. C. Eastman for bank.

The trial of Hiram Hall, Amos B. Tebbetts and Jeremiah Chesley, selectmen of Barrington, was resumed. The defendants produced several witnesses as to McMahan's statements concerning his residence at Dr. McDaniel's; including the defendants, fifteen witnesses were called by the defence, and twelve by the government. The evidence closed in the evening; arguments to be made Tuesday. Ray for government; Frink for respondents.

Edwin C. Eastman, Esq., of Exeter, was on motion of Hon. Albert R. Hatch admitted to practise as an attorney of this court.

N. H. S. P. C. A.

At the last monthly meeting of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals the secretary's report showed the following cases attended to during the last quarter: Overdriving, eight; working old, lame and sick horses, six; neglected and starving animals, six; beating horses and oxen, six; overloading, two; cruelty to dog, one; cruelly fettering, four; injured animals, one; not found, two; horses humanely killed, one.

The president reported the receipt of $18.75 as the net proceeds of the entertainment at the Shoals.

The thanks of the society were tendered the Garrich club for their kind services in giving an entertainment at the Shoals in behalf of the S. P. C. A.

IMPORTANT TO LETTER WRITERS.

Something that everybody who writes a letter or puts a newspaper in the post-office should know, but which many persons are not aware of, is that under recent orders from the post-office department at Washington, all postmasters are forbidden to forward letters not addressed to the exact designation of some post-office and State. The consequence of this order is shown in Boston, where the weekly average of dead-letters was formerly twenty-five, and is now 3500! No matter how urgent the letter, nor how valuable, nor how perfectly assured the post-office clerk may be of the letter's intended destination, it must go to the dead-letter office unless its face bears the precise name of the office and State. For instance, a letter addressed to "Boston Highlands, Mass.," is a dead-letter; the address should be "Roxbury, Mass."

This order will immensely increase the work of the dead-letter office, without any corresponding advantages. For instance, in a country town there may be two or three post-offices, neither of them bearing the name thereof, but some other designation, derived from locality or the names of villages, such as Foss's beach or Little Boar's Head. A letter is directed to some person in that town, to the name of the town. In the course of a day or two the letter could be sent to every office within its limits, and thus reach the person for whom it was intended. Frequently the postmaster in any part of the town could send the letter without mistake to the person to whom it was directed, without delay. This also is true of the postal agents. Frequently they receive letters addressed to localities not down in the register, but well known to them, and they distribute accordingly, so that no delay is occasioned because of the direction. To illustrate: On one mail route in this State there are thirty-two localities to which, during the tourist season especially, letters are frequently addressed, and yet are not regular post-offices. Thus, letters are sent to Weirs Landing, Weirs Camping Ground, Mt. Washington Railway, Mt. Pleasant House, Wolfeborough Junction, Flume House, Meredith, Salem Village, Salem Center, Sandwich Lower Corner, etc., and, heretofore, although no post-offices are located at these places, they have reached the parties to whom addressed without delay. Under the new order all such letters must be returned to their writers, through the dead-letter office, for better direction.

Again, the word "city" will not do as an address on a local letter. A letter addressed to "Box 187, Portsmouth post-office," or to "Mayor William H. Sise, Portsmouth City Rooms," or to "John Smith, Bill-poster, city," must go to Washington as an insufficiently-directed letter, and be thence returned to its writer to have "Portsmouth, N. H.," put on it, before it can be delivered. A letter addressed to "Boston" will not stop there unless "Mass." also is on the envelope; and "New York city" will not answer, the proper address being "New York, N. Y." Possibly the sender will be allowed to write "New York city, N. Y.," if he wants to.

We see it stated that this order is an old one, first published in the Laws and Regulations of the Post-Office Department in 1857, by Buchanan's postmaster-general, Aaron V. Brown, and that it has been in force ever since, the present authorities simply putting in operation what has long been the law. Better have allowed it to remain a dead-letter than to have set it to work making so many others.

THE REVELLERS, who are announced for Wednesday evening at Music Hall, played at the Gaiety Theatre in Boston every evening last week to crowded houses. The entire Boston press commend their entertainment. The following is from the Herald:

The entertainment, which is modelled after that given by the Vokes Family, the Troubadours and similar organizations, includes songs, dances, character impersonations and numerous other amusing features, in which the party exhibits considerable skill. Miss Theresa Newcomb and Mr. George C. Davenport take the lead in the fun, and, both having fine voices, the musical portion of the roles is especially worthy of praise. Miss Mary Stuart evolves a great deal of amusement out of a character of a Yankee old maid; Mr. F. J. Jackson furnishes a companion picture as an old country doctor; Miss Emma Libby, a young lady possessed of many personal attractions, acts with great earnestness and sings with a pleasing voice, and Mr. Tom Kline does much in a humorous role. Altogether, the company give a very amusing performance.

New Publications.

The Bodleys Afoot. The young folks who have read the former Bodley books know what enjoyment is in store for them in the new Bodley book with the above title, which Messrs. Houghton, Osgood & Co. of Boston have recently published. The Bodley books are sui generis. There has appeared of late nothing in the way of literature designed for juvenile amusement and instruction combined, that compares with them. The sagacious parent who early casts about for the inevitable Christmas present, will secure a "Bodley." There will be no long faces among the juveniles in the household where one of these books appears on Christmas morn, and for many a day the enjoyment of the last of the Bodleys will gladden the household in which it is found. The book, like its predecessors, can be found at Mr. Willis G. Myers' bookstore on Congress street.

Messrs. Roberts Brothers of Boston, have published "Blanid," a poem by Dr. Robert D. Joyce, whose Deidse two seasons ago attracted so much attention. Blanid was the daughter of the King of the Isle of Man, and much sought for in marriage by the princes of her day. Declining the attentions of all these suitors, she falls in love with Cuhullin, the son of a king, who was her father's most potent foe. The princes league together to win her, and assembling fleets, sail with Cuhullin as commander of expedition to attack the king's stronghold. In the division of the spoils of war, Blanid, by stratagem, falls to the lot of Curoi, prince of South Munster, who takes her away but is pursued by Cuhullin, who overtakes him and fights for the possession of the princess. In this contest Curoi is victor, and bears away the blushing and regretting Blanid. After many days, the true lovers, as a matter of course, again see each other, and by the kindly aid of Blanid's foster mother, a plan is laid for killing Curoi, which is perfected on the night of a banquet after he had druak from the sparkling bowl and Blanid is borne away by Cuhullin. Instead of happily living together, after all these annoying struggles in the course of true love, Curoi's minstrel follows the newly rejoicing pair, and at another feast dashes down his harp with a crashing clang, and seizing the fair lady ere the lord or knight can overtake him springs over a cliff with her closely clutched into the foaming sea, and neither the revengeful minstrel or his unfortunate victim are ever again beheld. The poem is full of vivid interest, the versification is good, and we believe the book will be of the kind that the reader who takes it up will go through with, with increasing delight. To be found at W. G. Myers'.

"Unto the mistress of his soul,"

"How is that?" said the man, pleased with what he thought a very complimentary association. "Why," said the doctor, "you know everything except that you are a fool, and I know that."

Cuticura

HUMORS OF THE SCALP, LOSS OF HAIR.

Loss of Hair in thousands of cases is due entirely to some form of scalp disease. Seventy-five per cent of the number of bald heads might be covered with hair by a judicious use of CUTICURA, assisted by CUTICURA SOAP. It is the most agreeable as well as the most effective hair restorer ever produced by man. It is medicinal, and the purest of the world. All others are some oleaginous mixture or poisonous dyes. None but CUTICURA possesses the specific medical properties that enable it to cure all itching and scaly diseases that inflame and irritate the scalp and hair glands and tubes, causing premature baldness. Medium doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT will purify the oil and sweat glands of the virus of scrofulous humor of the blood and insure a permanent cure, when taken in connection with the outward application of CUTICURA.

SALT RHEUM AND DANDRUFF

Cured that several physicians had failed to treat successfully.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have had the Salt Rheum on my head and all through my hair, also on my legs, for the past four years, having suffered exceedingly with it. The dandruff falling from my hair was very annoying. I consulted several distinguished physicians in regard to it, and have taken their prescriptions as ordered but did not find any cure and but little relief. I was told by many persons who have the Salt Rheum, and who have been doctored for years, that there was no cure for it; that it was in the blood, and I should always have it, and I was almost inclined to agree with them, but a friend wanted me to try CUTICURA, made by your firm. I did, and to my astonishment, in less than three weeks, my head was entirely free from all Salt Rheum and Dandruff, and I cannot see any appearance of Salt Rheum on my person. I think it a wonderful remedy. Respectfully yours,

GEORGE A. MUDGE.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 43 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies, for the past 35 years more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

A GOOD PLAN

Anybody can learn to make money rapidly operating in Stocks, by the "Two Cents Daily Railroad Success," in Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s new circular, the combination method, which this firm has made so successful, enabling people with from $10 or small sums to reap all the benefits of largest capital and best skill. Thousands of orders, in various sums, are pooled into one vast amount and co-operated as a mighty whole, thus securing to each shareholder all the advantages of the largest operator. Immense profits are divided monthly. Any amount, from $5 to $5,000, or more, can be used successfully. "N. Y. Globe Weekly, September 26th, 1878, says, "By the combination system $15 would make $75, or 5 per cent.; $50 pays $350, or 7 per cent.; $100 makes $1,000, or 10 per cent. on the stock, during the month, according to the market." Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, June 29th: "The combination method of operating stocks is the most successful ever adopted." New York Independent Sept. 12th: "The combination system is founded upon correct business principles, and no person need be without an income while it is kept working by Messrs. Lawrence & Co." Brooklyn Journal, April 26th: "Our editor made a net profit of $101.25 from $20 in one of Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s combinations." New circular (mailed free) explains every thing. Stocks and bonds wanted. Government bonds supplied. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y.

CATARRH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the system is thus deprived of its vital energy. The disease may arise from scrofulous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the nose and ear are generally affected, and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the nose, in the chronic form of the disease, are at intervals caused from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and to acid, as to cause roseness and excoriation of the nostrils with which they come in contact, or thick and yellowish, emitting a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the surface feeling dry and feverish, the face, front and upper portion of the head, throbbing, aching, and as if it was encircled by a tight, unyielding band. This latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free matter discharges cause the passages to swell and become blocked, rendering breathing through the nostrils difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The matter passing down the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate to free the throat, but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations, and hard masses, which adhere firmly to the nasal passages and throat, as to require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, becoming visited by the most vicious neuralgic pains, ending frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when production of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to use every precaution for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages derived from SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE are confidently believed are to be found in no other remedy. Everywhere it is represented in the strictest terms, mark it as a scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best physicians, the United States and European, in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Experiment" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.60 per ton. The three shafts already down show a plentiful body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "Montezuma Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000 (four times as much as this Company), and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months only, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000).

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $3.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Subscriptions exceeding $100 may be sent by express, C. O. D., to

New Publications.

Harper & Brothers, a firm name which has become a household appellation in the land through their monthly and weekly periodicals, are as usual publishing many valuable works at this season. The half-hour volume series are rapidly appearing, and for the economy of spare moments and convenience to tourists and business men there is nothing better published. Among the recent numbers issued is the argument before a Congressional committee by Edward Atkinson, the well-known political economist of Boston, from whose pen many able treatises have appeared. Mr. Atkinson contends that the common sense of the people rather than the statesmanship of our rulers has brought our money back to the safe standard of gold coin, while others will maintain that our exports have had as much to do in arriving at this result as has anything. He maintains that the abuse of legislative power is the most potent cause of conflict between labor and capital.——"The origin of the English Nation" is treated in a scholarly and positive manner by Dr. Edward A. Freeman. His book of 172 pages will bear a careful perusal, and will be of service to the learned as well as to the unlettered.——A work that interests every one, old and young, in this country, is "Food and Feeding," by Sir Henry Thompson. Here is a sensible treatise on our manner of dining, with useful hints, if we would observe them, and much that every one who grows older must admit to be not only true, but important to remember in matters of the preparation and partaking of food. These books are each sold at twenty cents, and they are well worth their price.

"Moondyne." This story of Australian hardships, written by Boyle O'Reilly of the Boston Pilot, has reached its third edition, published by Roberts Brothers of Boston. The story as it first appeared had many readers. It fastens the interest of whoever takes up the book, and has in its reception by the press and the public, shown the editor of the Pilot abundantly qualified to excel in this new role. There is nothing of the especial spic-span of Boston authorship to be seen in the work, but it is a book that the average reader who is fond of stories of this kind will enjoy to the last page, while it conveys a deal of information in regard to Australian life and the hard lot of the transported transgressor.

—A good way to clean teeth is to dip the brush in water, rub it over genuine white castile soap, then dip in prepared chalk. A lady says "I have been complimented upon the whiteness of my teeth, which were originally anything but white. I have used the soap constantly for two or three years, and the chalk for the last year. There is no danger of scratching the teeth, as the chalk is prepared, but with a good stiff brush and the soap it is as effectual as soap and sand on a floor."

Bogus Certificates.

It is no vile drugged stuff, pretending to be made of wonderful foreign roots, barks, &c., and puffed up by long nogus certificates of pretended miraculous cures but a simple, pure, effective medicine, made of well known valuable remedies, that furnishes its own certificates by its cures. We refer to Hop Bitters, the purest and best of medicines. See another column.—Republican.

Medicinal Wine.

Physicians from the New York Board of Health have visited the Vineyards and Wine Cellars of Alfred Speer, of New York city; he is known to be one of the most extensive producers and dealers in Pure Medicinal Wines and Brandies in the United States. He makes a superior Port, known as Speer's Port Grape Wine, which took the highest premium at the Centennial. It is extensively prescribed by physicians as the most reliable Port for medicinal purposes. It is sold by Preston, Kimball, F. B. Coleman, and H. F. Gerrish.

Money Rapidly Made.

Small and large investments (from $25 to $10,000), in the combinations of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., pay large profits. This new and successful system unites thousands of orders from customers into one immense capital, and is managed with the best skill and experience in the stock market. Profits are shared pro rata by customers every month. Shareholders thus obtain all the advantages of large capitalists. Thousands are rapidly making money, and many have acquired handsome fortunes by this safe and legitimate method, which has been among the most successful of the movements of the Stock Exchange. $25 will make $125, or 5 per cent., $100 will return $500, $800 will net $3,000, etc., according to the state of the market. New explanatory circular with "morning rules for success," mailed to all applicants by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

WHERE pangs the mortal flesh assail,
And give a bitterness to life,
Making the cheek with anguish pale,
Amid the fierce internal strife;
Then Sanford's Ginger soothes the pain,
And smiling Health looks up again.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1879.

The Ohio Election.

The most important election which has occurred this year, and excepting the New York election the most important one that will occur this year, took place in Ohio on Tuesday, when a governor and members of legislature were elected, the legislature being important from the fact that it will elect a United States senator. Before the voting both parties claimed a prospective victory, Sherman, Raum and Matthews being quoted as having received estimates of from 20,000 to 40,000 republican majority, while John G. Thompson, whose rule is to "claim everything," set the democratic figures as high, and had the legislature set down sure to his side.

The truth probably is that neither party felt so sure as pretended; Ohio is always an uncertain State, and a victory for either side is hardly a criterion by which to judge of the election in the same State in 1880. Ohio has not been in the habit of making "sweeps" of late years. It has swung back and forth like a pendulum, and staid with no party long. In 1873 the democrats carried it by only 873 votes more than the republicans, in a total vote of nearly half a million. In 1874 they increased their majority to 17,000; but in 1875 the republicans reversed that result and had nearly 5,000 majority, which they increased to 7,000 the next year. In 1877 the democrats got the State again by a plurality of 22,000, only to lose it again last year by 3,000 republican plurality.

No returns were received up to our hour of going to press.

The Carter County War.

A correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette sends that paper word from Grayson, Ky., that Jesse Underwood was shot in the door of his father's house Sunday morning. The Holbrook party surrounded the house, threatening to kill anybody who would dare to bury Jesse's body or attempt to rescue George, who is badly wounded, and who, with the women and children (all that remain of the unfortunate Underwood family) is inside of the house. George Underwood on Monday managed to send word to the county judge, praying for help and protection, and the governor has been appealed to, but has not responded. This is the fifth murder within the last three weeks in Carter county, four of the murdered men being Underwoods and one a member of the Holbrook tribe, and nothing has been done by any officer, from the governor down to the county magistrates, to check the fearful bloodshed.

This is a striking comment on the oft-repeated declarations of the democratic press of the north, that life is as safe and the laws as well enforced and as much respected in the democratic States of the south, as in any northern State.

News and Notes.

A letter from Brigadier General Crook, whose thorough acquaintance with affairs in the Indian country is not likely to be disputed, says the recent outbreak of the Utes arose from the fact that the Indians have been made desperate by the ravages of white bands of horse and cattle thieves, who regularly strip them of their most valuable possessions, and that these bandits operate with impunity because recent legislation by Congress has forbidden the soldiers to interfere with them. Under the "posse comitatus clause" the army can do nothing to check such outrages, or to enforce the Indians treaties; and the army, of course, is the only protection for life or property in all the Indian country. Hence it appears that the democratic attack upon the army was the direct cause of the Ute attack on Thornburgh's command and Father Meeker.

Baldwin county, Georgia, is infested by a gang of murderers and incendiaries, known as the "Georgia Tigers," and an appeal has been made to the government for military to protect the people.

A counterfeit $20 new legal-tender note, series of 1878, letter C, has just been discovered. The line engraving is rather blurred. The words "Register of the Treasury" under Allison's signature are crooked, almost a curve; also the words, "Treasurer of the United States," under the treasurer's signature, irregular; and Hamilton's coat dark and blurred. The inks and paper are almost perfect. It is a very dangerous bill, and was made by a new process.

Many of the Biddeford and Saco mills are running evenings. The cotton manufacturers are shiping to China and the East Indies. The Pepperell company employs 1,200 hands, the Laconia 2,300, and the York mills 1,000.

The village of Shediac, N. B., was almost entirely destroyed by fire Monday morning. The losses are estimated at $100,000. Thirty-six buildings were burned.

Solomon Elliott, colored, Thomas Duffy, Patrick Finnerty, Michael Flanagan, Edward Frost and Jeremiah Murphy, were each fined in the neighborhood of $100 and costs in the United States court in Boston last week, for violating the federal election laws last year.

At Paris, Texas, on Monday, J. J. Wheeler, editor of the Banner, was shot dead by William B. Bonner, an attorney. Wheeler had preferred charges for removal against a policeman, whom Bonner defended and succeeded in getting acquitted, which appears to have incensed Wheeler, he having several times threatened Bonner's life.

A couple by the name of Barnes, baby-farmers at Birkenhead, near Liverpool, England, were lately brought up on a charge of the willful murder of two children, when investigation proved that from thirty to forty children, who had been handed over to them, were missing.

While John Bowles was eating dinner on Monday at a hotel in Barrington, Mo., Lou Gayhart, his brother-in-law, entered the room and commenced shooting at him. Bowles pulled a pistol and returned the fire; the result, three wounds each, Gayhart dead and Bowles dying. The cause of the shooting was an old grudge.

The reports of the situation in the Indian country are contradictory. It is stated that hostilities will cease at once, and by other authorities that more fighting may be expected. Later reports from the White River agency confirm the story of the massacre of Father Meeker and all his assistants and attendants. The women and children are missing, and nothing whatever could be found to indicate what had become of them. They have either been murdered and buried, or taken away as hostages, and their fate calls forth the most profound sympathy.

The directors of the Maine Central railroad, accompanied by Boston & Maine and Eastern officials, have just made a tour of their road. They have traversed the whole line and branches, making some very quick running time. They made one mile in fifty-four seconds, another mile in fifty-seven seconds and another mile in fifty-nine seconds. The twenty-seven miles between Newport and Bangor were travelled in thirty-five minutes.

The postmaster at Louisville, Ky., has refused to deliver letters addressed to "T. J. Commerford, Secretary of the Commonwealth Distribution Company." Suit was commenced in the federal court to test the validity of Gen. Key's order regarding lottery letters. The court decided that letters directed to T. J. Commerford could not be detained, but that the department orders regarding letters addressed to individuals as agents, or to lottery firms, was valid.

William B. Riddle, the suspected Norwich, Conn., wife-poisoner, is refused admission to the jail unless the city or town will pay for his board. It seems that the State refused to settle for the board of Mrs. Cobb and Wesley Bishop for the time they were held previous to the hearing, and the local authorities have since also refused to pay the bill. So the county commissioners will run no more risks.

There is an English woman visiting in Portland, Me., who is forty-four years of age and is the mother of twenty-one children.

The city council at Worcester, Mass., was surprised last week by a bill for services from a member of the board of health for $1,404, or $78 a month for eighteen months. The board consists of the city physician, and two members elected by the aldermen. The question is now raised whether the board is of sufficient utility to justify the unexpected cost.

The Little Ship Golden Gate.

A letter has been received in Boston from H. F. Burrill, one of the two adventurous men who sailed from that port in the little boat Golden Gate, bound on a voyage around the world. Capt. Burrill's letter, which is dated at the Cape de Verde Islands, gives an interesting account of the voyage, which up to their arrival had occupied fifty-eight days. They took their first gale just after getting into the Gulf Stream, but the little craft, to use the words of the letter, cut through the heavy seas like a dolphin. During rough weather, however, the occupants of the boat have been unable to eat, drink or sleep, and the skin has been worn off their persons by the contact of wet clothing. After leaving the stream the voyage was pleasant, light airs wafting the little ship over smooth waters. When eighteen days out the New Bedford brig Eunice H. Adams was spoken, and the voyagers paid the captain a visit. The only other vessels spoken were the English ship Iron Cross, bound to New Orleans, and the English barque Genroy. The meeting with the last-named vessel was a fortunate one, Capt. Burrill says, for during the preceding night the handsome compass and brass lamp with which the Golden Gate was equipped had been washed overboard. Capt. Strafford of the Glenroy duplicated the missing articles, and compelled the presumptuous mariners to take supper with him. Just as the Golden Gate reached the islands Capt. Flakham of the English barque Pride of Devon exhibited similar hospitality, and his crew gave three hearty cheers as the little vessel put off. Capt. Burrill writes that they would next go down the trades to Cape Town, leaving the Cape de Verdes on the 16th ult., and adds: "My boat sails well, and is all that a boat can be." The dignitaries of the islands, and the inhabitants generally, expressed great admiration for the Golden Gate and her crew, and the stay in port was quite like an ovation.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 15, 2 A.M

Clear or partly cloudy weather, variable winds, mostly westerly, nearly stationary temprature and barometer.

AROUND HOME.

A number of painters have been taken on at the navy yard, to paint the dry dock and the three ship houses.

Dennis Delaney, of Biddeford, Me., challenges any man in York county to run a race of one mile or five, for any amount between $100 and $500.

The schooner Mary E. Caswell went on the railway at Kittery, Tuesday afternoon, where she will be thoroughly repaired under the superintendence of Mr. Warren Keen.

The ship Columbia, commanded by Capt. Fernald of Kittery, sailed from New York for Yokohama, Japan, on Monday. The Columbia takes out 53,000 cases of oil, and sixty tons of general cargo.

The hulk of schooner Mary E. Eldredge, formerly of this port but some months ago burned to the water's edge at Cape Cod, has been sold to Capt. Edwards of Chelsea, Mass., for $1200. She will be fitted up as a two-masted schooner, and placed in the lumber business.

About ten o'clock Tuesday forenoon Capt. John F. Mason, a well-known retired shipmaster of Kennebunkport, who has been deranged for some time, stabbed his wife's sister, Mrs. E. G. Moody, with a dirk knife, and then took his own life with the same weapon. It is thought Mrs. Moody will recover.

A gentleman of this city recently made the journey to Boston with his horse and carriage, carrying five persons, and returned over the same route in good condition. A Rye farmer recently made the trip in the same way. The drive over the road from here to Boston at this season is a very pleasant one.

Fountain Engine Co. No. 3, of Dover, with their engine and the National brass band, and accompanied by a part of the city government and board of engineers of Dover, went to Newburyport on Tuesday on invitation of Neptune Engine Co. of the latter city, to have a good time and try squirting powers with the Newburyport engines in the afternoon.

The Revellers will make their first appearance in this city this evening, at Music hall, when they will present a new three-act comedy called "Trouble." The company is said to combine the best points of the Vokes Family and Eliza Weathersby's Froliques, and of course to give a rollicking entertainment, while at the same time carefully avoiding anything that can offend.

The Nashua Telegraph of Monday says: "The concert at the city hall on Saturday evening by the Kate Thayer concert company was one of the very best ever given in Nashua. Miss Kate Thayer is a graceful and grand singer, whose praise has not been overheralded. She has perfect control of her voice, and sings without apparent effort. She was persistently encored, and she responded with light selections which were well received. The other members of the company are star performers, some of whom, particularly Mr. Arbuckle, are well known to the public." This company will give a concert at Music hall in this city on Tuesday evening of next week.

The southeastern convocation of the Episcopal clergy of the diocese of New Hampshire assembled in St. John's church in this city Monday evening. Addresses were made by Rev. Lorenzo Sears of Manchester, Archdeacon Roberts of Concord, Rev. Mr. Waterman and others. There was also a full choral service. Tuesday forenoon Rev. James H. George of Pittsfield preached, reports were read, and the exercises closed with the communion, Rev. Lorenzo Sears of Manchester conducting, assisted by Rev. Ithamer Beard of Dover and Rev. Julius Waterman of Tilton. In the afternoon the clergy in attendance on the convocation went down river in the navy yard steam launch, by invitation of Commodore Beaumont.

The Union Five Cents savings bank of Exeter has been notified by the revenue department that the commissioner has abated all the taxes against the bank. This ends the suit between the government and the bank.

The entries for the races at the Rockingham trotting park on Wednesday of next week, close on Saturday next. Two races will take place, each for a purse of $100, divided; one race being open to all horses, wherever owned, and the other to all horses owned in Rockingham county that have never beaten three minutes.

Deputy Sheriff Brown of Seabrook on Sunday arrested Hiram Gove in that town, for an aggravated assault on John F. Philbrick, whereby the latter's leg was broken and he was otherwise badly hurt. Gove was taken to Hampton on Monday and brought before Justice Lamprey, who bound him over in $500, in default of which he was lodged in jail in this city.

Mr. Winslow T. Perkins, who is station agent of the Eastern railway in this city, in addition to being one of the livest men we have ever met in this position anywhere, displays a respectful and civil way in the transaction of the company's business, which is most commendable. Mr. Phillips, the president of the Eastern road, did a wise thing in sending Mr. Perkins to look after the business in this city.

Some time ago, a young man in Cape Elizabeth eloped with a young girl and they were married in Portsmouth. The girl afterwards declared she was drugged and did not know what she was doing, and the husband went off to sea. He returned recently, and was arrested.—Portland Press.

Hereafter, in addition to the usual questions to be propounded to candidates for matrimonial felicities, coming from the State of Maine to Portsmouth, should be added the query, "Have you been drugged, and do you know what you are doing?" Clergymen and magistrates should exercise a care in cases of manifest elopements, to propound this enquiry.

CITY OF PORTSMOUTH,

A Joint Resolution regarding Railroad Crossings:

Resolved by the City Councils of the City of Portsmouth as follows:

That the Eastern Railroad be required to secure the crossings of their tracks across Vaughan street, and across Green street, so-called, both of said crossings being owned and operated by said Eastern Railroad, by the erection and maintenance of gates on each side of the tracks at each of said crossings.

Resolved, That the Concord Railroad be required to secure in like manner the crossings of their tracks with the highways known as Market street and Creek street.

Resolved, That the Mayor be authorized and requested to enforce the performance of the requirements contained in the above resolutions.

Passed Oct. 2d, 1879.

JOHN M. CLARK,
President Common Council.
WILLIAM H. SISE, Mayor.

TUESDAY, Oct. 14th.

In case United States vs. New Hampshire Savings Bank, of Concord, the court ordered a judgment in favor of the defendant. S. C. Eastman for defendant.

United States vs. Hall, Tibbetts and Chesley was given to the jury at noon. Toward four o'clock in the afternoon the jury came into court and enquired as to whether they could render a verdict of guilty or not guilty without deciding upon the question as to the right of McMahan to vote. The court told them that they could render a verdict of not guilty without deciding upon the question; but to find the respondents guilty, they must find both propositions, as to residence and willful refusal, for the government. The jury retired, and shortly reappeared with a verdict of not guilty as to each respondent, and they were discharged.

The jurors were then excused from further attendance.

In suit on equity docket, Badische Anilin & Soda Fabrick Co. vs. the Cocheco Manufacturing Co., a decree has been entered by agreement against the defendant, the damages being agreed upon by the parties; and an injunction was issued. Van Santvood and Hauff (of New York) for complainants; Browne, Holmes & Browne for defts.

In United States vs. H. J. Leidy, indicted this term for stealing a registered letter from the Portsmouth post-office, the recognizance was called and forfeited. The sureties will be called on to pay the sum in which they recognized.

H. M. S. PINAFORE.

A very large audience witnessed the presentation of Pinafore by Murphy's Miniature Opera company at Music hall on Tuesday evening, and greatly enjoyed it. Without regard to the size and years of the performers, the opera was well given. Little Buttercup, about two feet long, was immense; Miss Ida Mulle, as Josephine, sang her music nicely, and both she and Capt. Corcoran acted their parts better than they had previously been done on Music hall stage; Wm. H. Lee made a good Ralph Rackstraw, and of course sang finely, and Joseph Keefe was deservedly encored for his song as Boatswain; and the other parts gave good satisfaction. Josephine was complimented with a floral horse-shoe big enough for an elephant, and Little Buttercup received a bouquet; both were liberally applauded, and there were several persistent encores during the performance.

Two slight alterations were noticed in the text; Capt. Corcoran, when he gets mad at the audacious tar, and swears, says "Dash it" instead of "Damme;" and when he is interrogated for the second time as to his never being "untrue" to Little Buttercup, instead of answering "Hardly ever," he replies "No, never," as at first. These changes bring the opera just up to the refinement of this latitude, and we can now commend it as being entirely harmless to the average theatre goer.

A "FOREIGN COURT."

The Dover Democrat is very indignant that Ben. Waterhouse of Barrington should be punished by a United States court, for violating the federal election law by voting, before he was of age, for a member of the National Congress. It says: "It was the business of the State law to punish him, and it was the business of no other law or authority in God's universe. But a foreign court assumed jurisdiction, and yesterday the curious proceeding of passing sentence upon him transpired at Exeter. He was ordered to pay a fine of $25 and costs, amounting in all to $50.60. He paid at once and marched out of that jurisdiction into the jurisdiction of New Hampshire once more. The law makers of Congress were in immense business probably when they authorized such little episodes as this for the purpose of impressing we the people with its tremendous power."

Then we are to presume that the democratic talk about purity of elections is all bosh! Illegal voting, a potent element of strength with the democracy in some places, of course should not be punished. Suppose the case reversed, and that Waterhouse had voted for Joshua G. Hall, and Mr. Hall had been elected by one vote, and that under any circumstances Mr. Hall's vote should decide a Presidential choice or some other great issue—how would such a state of things be relished by the unterrified democracy? We are glad to know that in that party there is found a not inconsiderable number of men who think that if the law against fraudulent voting for a member of Congress is broken, the penalty should be enforced. If a notice of this offence were brought home to the United States officials and they ignored it, they would be remiss in their duty. People who pay taxes, and believe that only those who are entitled should vote at any election, entertain correct views in this respect, no matter what a few of the democratic managers may hold upon the question.

The Fortunate Trust of a Lawyer,

Who promptly collects a $10,000 prize which cost his Client, $2.

David D. Terry, the well-known lawyer, at No. 8 John street, New York City, was asked if he had not held ticket No. 31,913, which drew the second capital prize of $10,000 in the Louisiana State Lottery Company's drawing, on September 9th, and said:

"Yes; I held whole ticket No. 31,913 in trust for a client. It cost $2 at the office of M. A. Dauphin, 319 Broadway, New York. I forwarded it through Adams Express for collection, and received $10,000 in cash without deduction. I would rather not tell the name of the fortunate possessor of the money, since it would be a breach of confidence, and the principal object of collecting the ticket in my name would be defeated."

The reporter did not pursue his investigation further, as he was assured by the representative of the company that the Louisiana State Lottery never desires to reveal the identity of any of its patrons without their authority.

The Wrecked Frigate Hussar.

Notwithstanding the many thousands expended at various times since 1820, in useless efforts to recover the vast treasure tradition has reported as sunk in the above-named craft while the British had possession of New York, a history of which was given by the writer in the CHRONICLE of Nov. 12th, 1878, a new company has been formed for the further prosecution of the search, in which electric lights are to be used. In the above mentioned statement appeared the following, taken from T. H. Miller's New Hampshire Repository and Observer, of Sept. 27th, 1827, by which it would seem that the amount of gold, stated to be two hundred thousand guineas, was greatly exaggerated, and that whatever it may have been it was removed in safety previous to the accident that caused the sinking of the Hussar:

"A communication has appeared recently in the Edinburg, (Scotland,) Observer, signed by Fletcher Yetts, who was an officer in the British frigate Hussar, sunk at Hell Gate, New York, in the Revolutionary War. He affirms that all search for the money supposed to be lying in the wreck will be in vain, as the twenty thousand pounds which was on board until two days before she was lost, he himself saw removed and delivered to Commissary General Delancy."

It appears much more probable that the sum in question was £20,000, instead of two hundred thousand guineas, as it is preposterous to suppose such an amount would be required for paying off the British troops in Connecticut, the purpose for which it is said to have been intended.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 11th.

Hereafter letters addressed to a lottery company, or to an individual as manager, or agent of such company, will not be forwarded through the mails. For the present letters addressed to individuals known to be such agents or managers, but not so designated in the address, will be forwarded. Various erroneous reports of the recent action of the post-office department on this subject have been published, but the above is correct.

The first agricultural fair ever held in Washington, which could be considered creditable to the District, will open on the 28th of this month. Entries of stock and produce from several distant States have been promised. The managers have plenty of money and energy, and will endeavor to make the annual exhibitions a great attraction.

Out of the present Indian war will doubtless grow hostility between the heads of the war and interior departments. Secretary Schurz is preparing for publication his views of the causes of the outbreak, and he will doubtless be followed by Secretary McCrary. It seems not unlikely that Congress will decide to transfer the Indian bureau to the war department. In that case, at all events there could be no question of responsibility for these expensive wars.

It is also proposed, by the way, to restore the pension bureau to the war department. The pension office, as now organized, is wholly unable to do the work required of it; at the war department, where the records on which pensions are based are kept, it is manifest the work could be much more rapidly performed.

The Gate City Guards, of Atlanta, Ga., who left here a day or two since for the north, deserve a cordial reception wherever they go. The company is excellently drilled, and its members are gentlemen.

An effort will be made by our citizens—all of them will join in it—to secure Congressional aid at the coming session for the improvement of the harbor and river channel at this point.

KNOX.

Iowa on Tuesday voted for governor and other State officers, legislature, etc., and for a member of Congress to succeed Rush Clark, deceased. No particular interest was attached to this election, outside of the State, which is strongly republican.

"I was troubled for many years with Kidney Complaint, Gravel, &c.; my blood became thin; I was dull and inactive; could hardly crawl about; was an old worn out man all over; could get nothing to help me, until I got Hop Bitters, and now I am a boy again. My blood and kidneys are all right, and I am as active as a man of forty, although I am seventy-two, and I have no doubt it will do as well for others of my age. It is worth a trial.—(Father.)—Sunday Mercury.

Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer has for many years occupied an honorable place in the toilet of American women, and has also attained popularity in foreign countries. This is because it does perform what it promises. Its warmest friends are those who have used it longest, and those who sound its praise the loudest are those who from actual experience and personal trial have demonstrated that by its use gray hair is restored to its natural color and dry, harsh, and wiry hair is made soft and lustrous, a thing of beauty, and a matter of joy and pride to the wearer.—Sub-Soiler and Democrat, Corinth, Miss.

Cuticura

HUMORS OF THE SCALP, LOSS OF HAIR.

Loss of Hair in thousands of cases is due entirely to some form of scalp disease. Seventy-five per cent of the number of bald heads might be covered with hair by a judicious use of CUTICURA, assisted by CUTICURA SOAP. It is the most agreeable as well as the most effective hair restorer ever prepared by man. It is medicinal in the truest sense of the word. All others are some oleaginous mixture or poisonous dye. None but CUTICURA possesses the special medicinal properties that enable it to cure all itching and scaly diseases that irritate the scalp and hair glands and tubes, causing premature baldness. Medium doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT will purify the oil and sweat glands of the virus of scrofulous humor of the blood and insure a permanent cure, when taken in connection with the outward application of CUTICURA.

SALT RHEUM AND DANDRUFF

Cured that several physicians had failed to treat successfully.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have had the Salt Rheum on my head and all through my hair, also on my legs, for the past four years, having suffered exceedingly with it. The dandruff falling from my hair was very annoying. I consulted several distinguished physicians in regard to it, and have taken their prescriptions as ordered but did not find any cure and but little relief. I was told by many persons who have the Salt Rheum, and who have been doctor'd for years, that there was no cure for it; that it was in the blood, and I should always have it, and I was almost inclined to agree with them, but a friend wanded me to try CUTICURA, made by your firm. I did, and to my astonishment, in less than three weeks, my head was entirely free from all Salt Rheum and Dandruff, and I cannot see any appearance of salt Rheum on my person. I think it a wonderful remedy. Respectfully yours,

GEORGE A. MUDGE.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Feb. 6, 1878.

HUMOR OF THE SCALP

That was destroying the Hair cured with one box of CUTICURA.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I want to tell you what CUTICURA has done for me. About ten years ago my hair began falling out, caused by Humor of the Scalp. I tried various remedies, too numerous to mention, without relief, until I began using CUTICURA, one box of which has entirely cured me and new hair is beginning to grow. Respectfully, MRS. O. J. ROOT.

SCALD HEAD

For Nine Years cured when all other Remedies failed.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Since July last I have been using your CUTICURA for Scald Head, and it has cured me when all medicines that I have taken for nine years did me no good. I am now using it as a hair dressing, but my head is well. It keeps the hair in very nice condition. Yours truly, H. A RAYMOND.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 43 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of the successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

A GOOD PLAN

Anybody can learn to make money rapidly operating in Stocks, by the "Two Unerring Rules for Success," in Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s new circular; the combination method, which this firm has made so successful, enables people with large or small means to reap all the benefits of large capital and best skill. Thousands of orders, in various sums, are pooled into one vast amount and co-operated as a mighty whole, thus securing to each shareholder all the advantages of the largest operator. Immense profits are divided monthly. Any amount, from $5 to $5,000, or more, can be used successfully. N. Y. Baptist Week ly, September 20th, 1878, says, "By a combination system $25 would make $75, or 5 per cent.; $50 pays $250, or 7 per cent.; $100 makes $1,000, or 10 per cent. on the stock, during the month, according to the market." Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, June 29th: "The combination method of operating stocks is the most successful ever adopted." New York Independent Sept. 18th: "The combination system is founded upon correct business principles, and no person can be without an income while it is kept working by Messrs. Lawrence & Co." Brooklyn Journal, April 29th: "Our editor made a net profit of $101.05 from $20 in one of Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s combinations." New circular (mailed free) explains everything. Stocks and bonds wanted. Governments bonds supplied. Lawrence & Co. Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y.

CATARRH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing of clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from acrofula, scrofula, impurity of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge more or less of matter. The discharge from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, may be clear and watery, so acid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which it may come in contact, or thick and yellow, also emitting a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the surfaces being dry and parch, the face, front and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it was encircled by a tight band. This last or latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free mattery secretion causes the passages to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the nasal tones quite apparent to a trained ear. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when previous to the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A thorough cure of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in its directions, may be cited as the result of years, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the esteem in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of symptoms and sympathetic diseases, together with minute directions for effecting a cure with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, a speedy and permanent cure. Also observations on diet and the general health, of vast importance to all afflicted with catarrh. It is wrapped about each bottle of the RADICAL CURE, or will be mailed free on receipt of stamp.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for use in all cases. Price, $1. Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.80 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "McCracken Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company) and which mills with a very handsome result during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital. Stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $6.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the' General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. New Publications.

"The American Journal of the Medical Sciences" (quarterly) for October is received from the publisher, Henry C. Lea, Philadelphia, Penn.; I. Minis Hayes, A. M., M. D., editor; $5 per year, postage paid. This work is too well known to the medical profession to need anything more being said than that the present number appears to contain the usual large amount of information of interest and value to the profession.

"Abraham Lincoln and the Abolition of Slavery in the United States," by Chas. Goodfrey Leland; New York, G. P. Putnam's Sons; pp 246. This is the initial volume of a series of biographies of men of action. The books will form a collection to be known as the "New Plutarch series" and to be the work of writers of acknowledged ability in this country and in England. There have been published before several lives of President Lincoln. His biography, from a certain period, is but a sketch of an important epoch in the history of the country. As time rolls on candid men, of whatever political views in the past, acknowledge the strong, the noble and the true in Mr. Lincoln. Prejudice gives way to calm judgment, and his life is read as in days past men read the lives of Washington and Jefferson—as biographies of true patriots. The American reader seems never to tire of reading illustrations of certain characteristics of Lincoln. He was so emphatically a man of the people that every event of his life is now eagerly sought out and remembered. Mr. Leland has a wide reputation as a writer. Perhaps as the biographer of a man of whose life and times so much had before been written and known, he may not have had a good opportunity to display his talents as a writer, but the style will be appreciated and the power of condensation seen, when one reflects how much in the way of material the biographer must have been compelled to dispense with. The book is the precursor of a series of works similar in design, all of which will be published by this house at $1.00 per volume. To be had by a remittance to the publishers, 182 Fifth avenue, New York, or of the leading booksellers.

"Harper's Magazine" for November is an unusually attractive number, containing eleven illustrated articles, with about seventy illustrations. The Old National Pike, Early American Art, the Mimicry of Nature, and the Cattle Ranches of Colorado, are of especial interest and freely illustrated; there are poems, sketches, continuations of White Wings, Young Mrs. Jardine and Mary Annerly, and full and varied editorial departments. For sale at Myers' bookstore and the news depot of Moses Bros.

—A country editor in Michigan thus bids farewell to his readers, his newspaper having expired: "Good-by. Toll the bell gently—This is our last kick—Handle us with care—Lower us gently to rest—We die a natural death—The wolf is at our door—Bury us under a rose bush—Listen to the mocking bird."

—Young Mr. Loveberry fell asleep in the barber's chair last evening. When the razor man finished his work and shook his customer, he remarked sympathetically and respectfully:—"Tired, Mr. Loveberry?" "Tired, shir, tired?" replied the young man with dignity. "No, shir; can't you shee I'm drunk, you (hic) you jift?"

—Two preachers at Bird Island, Minn., went out goose-hunting. One of the geese took a turn directly over and but a few feet above the reverend sportsmen. One of them raised the gun to shoot his goose-ship, and pulled upon the trigger two or three times but it wouldn't work. When the game was out of range they examined the gun, when they found both hammers down.

Bogus Certificates.

It is no vile drugged stuff, pretending to be made of wonderful foreign roots, barks, &c., and puffed up by long bogus certificates of pretended miraculous cures but a simple, pure, effective medicine, made of well known valuable remedies, that furnishes its own certificates by its cures. We refer to Hop Bitters, the purest and best of medicines. See another column.—Republican.

Medicinal Wine.

Physicians from the New York Board of Health have visited the Vineyards and Wine Cellars of Alfred Speer, of New York city; he is known to be one of the most extensive producers and dealers in Pure Medicinal Wines and Brandies in the United States. He makes a superior Port, known as Speer's Port Grape Wine, which took the highest premium at the Centennial. It is extensively prescribed by physicians as the most reliable Port for medicinal purposes. It is sold by Preston, Kimball, F. B. Coleman, and H. F. Gerrish.

WHERE pangs the mortal flesh assail,
And give a bitterness to life,
Making the cheek with anguish pale,
Amid the fierce internal strife;
Then Sanford's Ginger soothes the pain,
And smiling Health looks up again.

Portsmouth Chronicle

Ohio Election.

The first reports from the Ohio election indicated the success of the republicans, and the election of Charles Foster as governor, the republicans claiming a majority of 25,000 or more, and the democrats conceding a small majority. There were four candidates in the field, viz.: Foster, republican; Thomas Ewing, democrat; A. S. Piatt, greenbacker; Gideon S. Stewart, prohibitionist. The republican vote for governor in 1877 was 249,105, against an opposition vote of 305,862, the republican minority being 56,757. For secretary of State, in 1878, the republican vote was 274,120, democratic 270,966, greenback and prohibition 44,006; republican minority 40,852. In the legislature at the last session the republicans had 48 members, and the democrats and greenbackers 96, the fusion majority being 48.

Advices from Columbus and Cincinnati, on the morning of the 15th, reported Foster's majority anywhere between 20,000 and 40,000. Hamilton county is republican by nearly 4000 majority. The republicans at noon on the 15th claimed a majority on the governor vote of 35,000, and a clear majority of the legislature on joint ballot, assuring a republican successor to Thurman as United States senator.

The republican State committee at Columbus, on the afternoon of the 15th, reported a sure majority in the legislature; and a private despatch from the same place at two o'clock placed the majority at no less than fifty.

Iowa Election.

Meagre reports from Iowa, by way of Chicago on the night of the 14th, indicated the election of Gear, republican, for governor, and of the republican State ticket, by an increased majority over the last election. Last year the vote for secretary of State was: Republican 134,544, democratic 1,902, greenback 128,577; republican majority 9,665. The legislature at the last session stood 109 republicans to 41 democrats and greenbackers. A republican victory in Iowa being a foregone conclusion, no interest attached to the election, outside of the State lines.

The greenback vote in Iowa fell off greatly. Madison county was regained by the republicans, who have gained largely in many places where gains were not looked for.

News and Notes.

A prisoner who was being taken to jail at Ipswich, Mass., on the afternoon of the 15th inst., on an Eastern railroad train, received permission of the officer in whose custody he was to enter a closet, and though handcuffed escaped through the window. The train, which was running at a high rate of speed, was stopped and backed up, but no trace of the escaped convict could be found. The fellow was under a sentence of three months.

Henry J. Gunn, who murdered his father, Justin L. Gunn, in Bridgewater, Mass., on the night of the 24th ult., was arrested on Court street, Boston, on the night of the 14th inst., and confesses having committed the crime. He has been in Boston several times since the murder, and once within a few miles of Bridgewater.

Gen. Merritt's command buried the bodies of the murdered white men at or in the vicinity of ten White River agency, among them being that of Agent Meeker. Fourteen of Thornburgh's command were killed during the first day's fight and the subsequent siege, and forty-two wounded. Thornburgh's body was not mutilated, though most of the others were. After Merritt's arrival at the besieged camp, among the dead assailants was found the body of a white man, dressed in buckskin, who had a bullet-hole in his forehead; he was crouched behind a rock, and his rifle was aimed at the soldiers' camp, showing that he was struck when in the act of firing on the whites. The renegade was not recognized.

Gen. Grant arrived at Vancouver on the 14th inst., and was received by almost the entire population of the district, fully 20,000 persons being in the city.

Herbert B. Waterman, confidential clerk of the firm of Henry Memory & Co., of Chicago, has absconded with $20,000, and perhaps more, belonging to his employers. He has been thoroughly trusted, and had doctored the books for some months.

The Worcester Gazette says that "the order of the post-office department just sprung without warning upon the people, might be called a 'piece of idiocy' except that such an expression would be uncivil."

An English paper rebukes Mr. Talmage for the estimate he places on his own labor. He did indeed lecture for the Leeds Y. M. C. A., twenty-five times for £1000, but when he started out for small places he charged a round £100 a night. At Burnby, where he lectured for the United Free Church chapel, the net proceeds were only £50, but although the congregation was composed of workingmen, Mr. Talmage, so it is stated, obstinately refused to reduce his price a penny. His lecture on this occasion was appropriately styled "Big Blunders."

Mr. Joseph H. Dana, of St. Louis, is a genius. A few days ago an officer heard a pistol shot in Mr. Dana's house, and on going in found him lying on the floor apparently in the agony of death, with a smoking pistol at his side and his wife suffering, as well as any woman might under the circumstances. Mr. Dana got up. He was not hurt at all, and with a broad smile on his face explained that the whole affair was one of his little jokes, and that he was feigning suicide to see how his wife would take it. Mr. Dana's idea of a joke is a little out of the common. The policeman at any rate thought it was, for he very quickly marched him off to a station-house and locked him up.

Mr. J. R. McClintock of New Orleans and Mr. E. C. Swain of South Boston were blown to pieces in the lower harbor, Boston, on Monday afternoon of this week, by a torpedo, with which they were experimenting. Not a trace of their bodies has been found.

The grand jury at New Haven, in the case of Rev. H. H. Hayden, found a true bill charging him with murder in the first degree. There are four counts in the indictment. The prisoner was put to plea on the new indictment, alleging, in addition to the use of a knife and poison, the killing of Mary Stannard by a blow with a heavy stone found near the corpse. He pleaded not guilty, and the empanelling of a jury commenced.

A sharper has been arrested at Kansas City, Mo., who swindled an Ohio bank president out of $14,000 while the latter was visiting Leadville, by getting an advance on a 52-lb. gold brick, which proved to be gold only on the corners.

The yellow fever has broken out in Louisiana. There is a panic in an Arkansas town named Forest City, where there have been six deaths within a week. Business is suspended, and the town is almost depopulated.

The tenant farmers in Ireland are organizing, and solemnly pledge themselves to pay no more rent until a reduction be granted proportionate to the great fall of prices on all kinds of agricultural produce.

The Pennsylvania company who were awarded the contract for the iron bridge at Birmingham, Conn., have refused to sign it because of the great advance in iron. So a covered wooden bridge will probably be built.

At a variety theatre in Baltimore, on the evening of the 13th inst., in the act of the play of "Roving Jack," in which a discharge of musketry takes place, a young man named John Nelson, a medical student at the University of Maryland, who was seated in the audience, was fatally shot from the stage, one of the muskets being loaded with a ball instead of a blank cartridge. Nelson was shot through the head, the bullet passing through the brain.

A lady and her daughter in Chicago, who rented some land for a beer garden and were seen to drink a glass of beer there, have been expelled from the Methodist church that they belonged to by a vote of nine to six.

In a London police court, Saturday, Mrs. Cornwallis West charged Rosenberg, proprietor of a weekly paper called the Town Talk, with stating that she was in the habit of calling on photographers and asking for commissions on the sales of her photographs. Her husband testified that the statement was untrue. He declared that he had done all in his power to prevent the sale of his wife's photographs. Mrs. Langtry charged Rosenberg with stating that her husband had filed a petition for divorce, coupling the names of the Prince of Wales, Lord Landesborough and Lord Lonsdale, as correspondents in the action. Her husband testified that the statements were untrue; he lived with his wife, and had never thought of filing a petition for divorce. Rosenburg was remanded in default of bail. Mrs. Langtry and Mrs. West have instituted criminal libel suits against Rosenberg.

New Hampshire Items.

Hon. George W. Nesmith of Franklin, a resident on the old Danial Webster farm, has presented Gov. Van Zandt of Rhode Island with the cane carried by Webster during the latter part of his life. It is of lancewood, mounted with a large ivory knob, and bears marks of handling.

C. T. Ridgeway, proprietor of a grocery store in Nashua, left five barrels of choice kerosene on the sidewalk overnight, and in the morning each was found empty. Some rascal tapped them with an auger and the contents ran out into the street.

Charles H. Carlton of Winchester hanged himself to an apple tree on Saturday, the 11th inst., and was found Sunday. He was married and had one child. His age was twenty-nine years.

Sheriff Tappan of Bradford has not been able to get any clew to the whereabouts of Dr. Richards, who is wanted to answer for malpractice, and has concluded to wait for his game to come out of his hiding-place. Where he disappeared is a hard section of country to track a criminal in.

In court at Nashua, on the 14th inst., Miles S. Wilson of Nashua, who had ten indictments against him, pleaded nolo contendere, and was sentenced on one count for arson to ten years in the State prison. The other indictments are held in abeyance.

The last developments in the Laconia national bank robbery of April last are that three of the five men connected with the robbery are in a State prison, sent there for burglary and arson committed outside of New England since the Laconia crime. Brockway, alias Seymour, the celebrated Chicago forger, is said by the officers to be without doubt the man who signed the name of Cashier Dinsmoor to the unfinished bills of the bank that were carried away by the burglars. Brockway has many acquaintances in this State. He was a soldier in the late war, from New Hampshire.

Sunday morning, 5th inst., Alonzo Holt of Greenfield, fourteen years of age, attacked his mother and beat her so badly that she cried for assistance, and when Wm. Norris, a hired man, hastened to her aid, young Holt drew a jack-knife and furiously attempted to stab him, cutting four or five bad gashes in his arms. He was arrested and fined $5 and costs, amounting in all to about $15.

Political.

The citizens of Falmouth, Ky., have held an indignation meeting and passed resolutions protesting against Governor Blackburn's reckless use of the pardoning power. The sentiment of the meeting was unanimous for censure.

Voorhees is followed up by a merciless persecution in Ohio. He has more trouble every day with his claim to be a friend of the soldier. He denied with his customary vehemence that he had ever recommended placing upon the neck of each Union soldier a collar marked: "My dog; A. Lincoln," but the denial brought out a card signed by twenty ladies and gentlemen who declared they heard him say it. Then a letter which he thought was dead was brought to life showing that he had written himself down a thorough southern sympathizer at the beginning of the war; and finally an old speech made by him in 1861 has been dug up in which he declared that as a representative of Indiana in Congress he would "never vote one man, one dollar, one gun to the administration of Abraham Lincoln to make war upon the south."

A solid south means 138 electoral votes, and a solid north means 231 electoral votes. The two together mean the election of the solid north candidate by ninety-three majority of the electoral votes. They mean that the election will not go to the House, and that it will be of no use to unseat republicans and seat democrats with a view to such contingency.—Chicago Times (ind. dem.)

—The late Rev. John Pierpont, though a pronounced temperance advocate, had a wonderfully red nose and of large proportions. One of his neighbors in Medford, a witty old farmer, asked him to just look over his fence so as to ripen his melons!

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 16, 2 A. M

Clear or partly cloudy weather, winds mostly westerly, nearly stationary temrature and barometer.

AROUND HOME.

Uncle Tom's Cabin will be played at Music hall on Monday evening next by George A. Jones & Co.'s combination of sixty boys and girls.

A barn in Dover belonging to Charles Bogan was burned on the evening of the 14th. The stable of the New Hampshire house, and the house of Elbridge Smith, were somewhat damaged. Loss $800; covered by insurance.

Prof. Hartz, the magician, will give four performances at Music hall, on the evenings of Nov. 6th, 7th and 8th, with a matinee on the 8th for the children. Hartz is accompanied by a fine company, who have been playing since the opening of the season to a succession of good houses.

A big load of hay, bound for Cochran's stable on Vaughan street, got as far as the Commercial house without mishap, Wednesday afternoon of this week, and then a large part of it tumbled off. The driver thought it might just as well have stuck on long enough to go two hundred feet further.

Mr. Albert Emery of this city, who has for a number of years sailed as mate on the steamers of F. Alexandre & Sons' mail line between New York, Havana and Vera Cruz, has been promoted to be captain of the steamer City of Merida, belonging to the same company, and sails for Havana on Saturday.

The handsomest sample of Baldwin apples we have ever seen was handed into our office on Wednesday evening of this week, by Mr. Edward Pickering of Newington. The apples are eight in number, weigh six pounds and three-quarters, and are very smooth and fair; they are on exhibition in the window of Mercer Goodrich's book and room-paper store, under the city rooms. With a bushel of such apples Mr. Pickering could have taken a "double first" at any agricultural fair in the country.

Mr. Charles A. Shannon a day or two since left on our desk several dahlias grown in his garden, which to us seem somewhat peculiar. One of the flowers is oddly variegated, being divided by a straight line into two nearly equal parts, the portion on one side of the line being of a very dark crimson, and on the other side of a bright scarlet, without the slightest admixture of the colors. On another bush are several dahlias, one crimson and all the others scarlet.

There are people in town funny enough to maintain that the Boston mail which reaches this city, with a large number of letters at eight minutes past nine o'clock in the evening, should be distributed before eight o'clock the next morning, in order that business men going out of town by morning trains might secure their letters, before their departure. In some towns in this State when the mail arrives at that hour, it is at once assorted; as we have lock boxes, such an arrangement would be of much convenience here.

The proprietors of Lake Auburn Mineral Spring Water have appointed James R. Yeaton & Co. agents for the sale of their celebrated Mineral Water in this city. Numerous testimonials have been published from those who have been benefitted by the use of this water, and they pronounce it a cure for Brights disease, dyspepsia, liver complaint and all diseases of the kidneys. Prof. S. Dana Hayes, State assayist and chemist of Massachusetts, after giving an analysis of this water says: "It is alkaline, odorless, tasteless, colorless, sparkling and free from any organic matter; an uncommonly pure spring water."

Mr. Editor: Allow me, through the columns of your paper, to suggest to the managers of Music hall the necessity of a railing in front of the ticket office so that those waiting for tickets can file in singly and await their turn respectfully and respectably, thereby avoiding the disgraceful wrangle that occurs by a crowd rushing en masse to the office window. Ladies without escort and desiring gallery seats, are, by the present custom, deprived of a chance of obtaining a choice of gallery sittings until a crowd of rude men, (who rush up and maintain their positions through sheer physical force) can be served. A GALLERY PATRON.

The citizens of Exeter, and of the towns around whose mail-matter is delivered there, are much pleased with the new quarters of the post-office. Geo. S. Leavitt, Esq., at his own expense fitted up very conveniently the new office in Morrill's block on Water street. Postmaster Leavitt gives his duties a constant personal attention, and he is regarded by the department as one of the best deputy postmasters in the State.

The costly stone wall by the roadside at the March farm in Greenland, gives frequent signs of dilapidation. When the wall was laid it attracted much attention, and was supposed to be intended to last well nigh forever; but it seems that the foundations were not laid deep enough. The substantial wall on the well-known Pierce farm, on the opposite side of the road, laid long before, stands now just as it was twenty years ago, because like everything else on that place, it was done thoroughly at the first.

The post office department has ordered that all letters addressed by mistake, to a post office wrongly named, as for example to "Eliot Depot" instead of "Eliot," shall be considered unmailable and forwarded to the dead letter office at Washington. This rule, if interpreted too literally, is likely to make a good deal of trouble, and one source of confusion, it appears, is found in the post marks themselves. We received yesterday, for example, a communication post-marked "Eliot Depot." But if the reply had been addressed to the same place, it could not have been forwarded, as the post office is known to the department as "Eliot." If the new rule is to be enforced, some way ought to be invented to prevent the postmasters themselves from setting traps for the unwary by using official stamps giving the names of offices which no longer exist.—Portland Advertiser.

The ship Gov. Goodwin, Capt. William Lester, at the Hawaiian islands from the United Kingdom, has been chartered to arrive at San Francisco, to load grain for Liverpool at 60*s*, or for Havre at 62*s* 6*d*, as the shippers may prefer. San Francisco advices of the 6th inst. say that on that day a wooden ship was offered 65*s*, but refused to accept; and that vessels were holding out for £4, and would get it. On the same date a number of fine vessels were about ready for sea, having taken grain at £2 2*s* 2*d* and £2 5*s*—and they were pretty mad about it. It is not always easy to tell at that port whether a ship had best take a good charter or wait for a better one; last year a Portsmouth ship had the offer of a charter to arrive, at £3 for the United Kingdom; the offer was rejected, and when the vessel arrived freights were away down; and after lying idle for several months, waiting for a rise, she finally took a cargo at £2 5*s*.

A BEAUTIFUL PLACE.

Mr. Editor: While strolling recently in the quiet town of Kittery, we dropped in on Mr. John Rogers, the ever genial and sociable florist, who showed us through his grounds, and we were much pleased to see how nicely everything is kept. He took us to each of his seven gladiolus beds, in which he has over a hundred varieties of that beautiful flower; such a sight never fell under our vision before, and it was with a feeling of regret that we turned away from the beautiful show, which can be excelled only in the everglades of Florida. Mr. Rogers informed us that he shall gather about 250,000 bulbs; he has been a cultivator of the gladifolus for about fifteen years, and has supplied the trade with 50,000 bulbs in that time; probably no other florist in the country has such a stock to offer for the coming season. His bed of pansies is also very fine, and covers a quarter of an acre.

Mr. Rogers has recently added to the attractions of his already beautiful grounds, a fine pond of about an acre in extent, which he contemplates stocking with trout; and he is in communication with the commissioners of Central park, New York city, with a view of procuring several swans. His hot-houses are fully stocked with numerous varieties of plants. There is an English ivy in bloom, the first we ever saw in New England, they rarely blooming outside of old England. It will well repay lovers of the beautiful to visit these attractive grounds. RAMBLER.

NAVY YARD ITEMS.

Work was suspended in the department of steam engineering at the navy yard on the evening of Wednesday, the 15th inst., for the remainder of the month.

Mr. Robert B. Lincoln, for several years past draughtsman in the department of steam engineering at the yard, resigned that position on Wednesday. Mr. Harry Stuart takes his place.

—Heaven ever renders her dews to the earth, but earth seldom or never renders her dues to Heaven.

—A New Jersey boy on the St. Mary, in writing home, says: "There are three things a boy wants as soon as he gets to sea—first, to get home; second, a good square meal; and third, to get his fingers on the fellow who wrote 'Jack Harkaway.'" —Men that drag out an existence—fishermen.

—The ordinary life of a locomotive is thirty years. No doubt it would live much longer if it didn't smoke so much.

—Captain J. F. Cox, of the ship Privateer, was favored with a remarkably good view of the sea serpent off Brest, France, last August. He even went so far as to "carefully note its great melancholy eyes." It is enough to make even a sea serpent look melancholy to be so misrepresented as he has been.

—The countess gets up on a chair to explain to her servant-man how she wishes the chandelier cleaned. "I beg your ladyship's pardon," says the domestic respectfully, "but one leg of the chair that your ladyship condescends to stand upon is out of repair, and if your ladyship doesn't look out she'll break her darn neck!"

—The wealthiest man in Kalamazoo, Mich., was approached in the street by an excited little boy, who said, "Mister, my sister is in the flume over there; if you'll get her out I'll give you a dollar." The man rescued the imperilled child. A few days afterward the boy entered his office and put on his desk a dollar in small coin, having broken open a toy bank and sold a hobby-horse to raise the amount.

—In the midst of the performance of an extravaganza at a Boston theatre an old man rises in the parquet and says that he is displeased with his seat, and he is unable to hear well. One of the actors invises him to sit in a chair on the stage, which he does, and finally takes a ludicrous part in the acting. It is not until near the close of the piece, so clever is the imposition, that the audience sees that the old man is a member of the company.

—During a recent runaway, Mr. Edwin Price descended rapidly from the endangered vehicle, leaving Miss Fanny Davenport to climb over the dashboard, grab the lines, and stop the agitated horse. The lady looked daggers when it was all over, but the gentleman promptly explained. "Strike, but hear," he said, brushing the dirt out of his hair; "I descended with the intention of grabbing the wheels, and I should have succeeded if the infernal brute hadn't been going so fast."—Buffalo Express.

—A German scientist has succeeded in obtaining a chemical composition by means of which a mirror image may be fixed and sold as a photograph. With this composition the mirror surface is painted, and the back part of the mirror receives also a coating of oil. The mirror thus prepared is held before the person who is to be photographed. The oil coating evaporates, and the likeness of the person remains in natural colors on the light surface. The image so fixed is brought into a bath, and is exposed half an hour to the sunlight before delivery.

—Mr. Blaine's wonderful memory for people was brilliantly exercised in Ohio the other day. "Don't you remember me?" asked an old man. "Why, yes," said the senator, pronouncing his name. "I saw you tairty-five years ago at Caldwell's Mills." "No," said the old man, "I never was there; you are mistaken." "No, I'm not," answered Mr. Blaine; and he named the day a-many years ago, and an incident of the day. Then the old gentleman brightened up and remembered that that senator was right. "I was there," he said, "and I've never been there since." "Nor I either," said Mr. Blaine.

A "Democratic Reform" Government.

The Post and News, an independent paper published at Louisville, Ky., lands the results of long continued democratic rule as follows:

The condition of State affairs is lamentable. We are cursed with the worst system of assessment of any State in the Union, and our system of assessment is one degree better than our system of collection. Our public schools are in a decaying state; our rivers are unnavigable; our penitentiary is full; and the State treasurer has suspended payment. Our judiciary excites no feelings of respect; the fee system and elective judges have degraded it and brought it into contempt. The fee system prevails in every department, and it is a fruitful source of trouble. Lawlessness prevails everywhere, our courts seldom punish crime, and Judge Lynch is the chief protection in many counties. On the supreme bench of the State the democratic party placed a man whose chief merit was that he once blacked boots; now he is undergoing a judicial investigation for blacking his record. And they have placed at the head of the executive department a man whose record during the war is making many votes for the republican party in Ohio. This is no overdrawn picture of the result of the reign of Bourbonism. This State will support Tilden in the national democratic convention, but it will not be long before the support of Kentucky will be of questionable value.

Intimidation by Troops.

Whatever differences of opinion there may be upon the question which side did the most lying in the matter of Louisiana investigations, nothing has become more thoroughly and conclusively established than the fact that no troops of the United States ever intimidated any voter, or prevented any voter in any part of the south, from casting his vote for whomsoever he pleased. No troops of the United States have ever been employed to deter men from voting, but they may have been employed, in rare instances, to prevent armed bodies of lawless southern men from surrounding polling places with the intention of overawing and preventing men who had a right to vote, from voting according to their convictions.

This jealousy of the employment of United States troops is quite a modern feature of democratic manifestation. When the Missouri Compromise was repealed and violated by the democratic party, and other efforts were made by that party to force slavery into Kansas against the wish of a clear majority of the people of that territory, there was no compunction at the employment of force, and it was done so objectionably, that one after another even of the democratic governors of that territory, sent out by a democratic administration, were forced to reign and declare against the iniquity of the measures employed. Not only the democratic party, but the ultra wing of the whig party (now represented in the present democratic party) had nothing but defence and approval of the employment of marines from the Charlestown navy yard to execute the fugitive slave law in the city of Boston against the "treason" of the free-soilers of that day, the words actually employed against them in Mechanic hall, in our own city, by a leading party orator. Caleb Cushing was the democratic attorney-general who held to the rightfulness of that employment of the national forces which the democrats of modern times have made so much complaint about. So long as the interests of slavery required any use of the army in any State or any territory, the democratic party was always ready to justify this use. It is only when "the united south" wishes to crush out by lawless force any voting in opposition to the democratic ticket, that the democratic party sets up a howl against the use of the army.—Salem Mercury.

Set back 42 Years.

"I was troubled for many years with Kidney Complaint, Gravel, &c.; my blood became thin; I was dull and inactive; could hardly crawl about; was an old worn out man all over; could get nothing to help me, until I got Hop Bitters, and now I am a boy again. My blood and kidneys are all right, and I am as active as a man of forty, although I am seventy-two, and I have no doubt it will do as well for others of my age. It is worth a trial.—(Father.)—Sunday Mercury.

—A young man who went from Burlington to Leadville six weeks ago, writes cheerfully back to his friends, "I have gained three pounds since I came here, and gained it all in half-ounce installments. Haven't been shot in the head yet."

Cuticura

HUMORS OF THE SCALP. LOSS OF HAIR.

Loss of Hair in thousands of cases is due entirely to some form of scalp disease. Seventy-five per cent of the number of bald heads might be covered with hair by a judicious use of CUTICURA, assisted by CUTICURA SOAP. It is the most agreeable as well as the most effective hair restorer ever produced by man. It is medicinal in the truest sense of the word. All others are some oleaginous mixture or poisonous dyes. None but CUTICURA possesses the specific medical properties that enable it to cure all itching and scaly diseases that lurk in and irritate the scalp and hair glands and tubes, causing premature baldness. Mountain doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT will purify the oil and sweat glands of the virus of scrofulous humor of the blood and insure a permanent cure, when taken in connection with the outward application of CUTICURA.

SALT RHEUM AND DANDRUFF

Cured that several physicians had failed to treat successfully.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have had the Salt Rheum on my head and all through my hair, also on my legs, for the past four years, having suffered exceedingly with it. The dandruff falling from my hair was very annoying. I consulted several distinguished physicians in regard to it, and have taken their prescriptions as ordered but did not find any cure and but little relief. I was told by many persons who have the Salt Rheum, and who have been doctored for years, that there was no cure for it; that it was in the blood, and I should always have it, and I was almost inclined to agree with them, but a friend wanted me to try CUTICURA, made by your firm. I did, and to my astonishment, in less than three weeks, my head was entirely free from all Salt Rheum and Dandruff, and I cannot see any appearance of salt Rheum on my person. I think it a wonderful remedy. Respectfully yours,

GEORGE A. MUDGE.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Feb. 6, 1878.

HUMOR OF THE SCALP

That was destroying the Hair cured with one box of CUTICURA.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I want to tell you what CUTICURA has done for me. About ten years ago my hair began falling out, caused by Humor of the Scalp. I tried various remedies, too numerous to mention, without relief, until I began using CUTICURA, one box of which has entirely cured me and new hair is beginning to grow. Respectfully,

MRS. O. J. ROOT.

SCALD HEAD

For Nine Years cured when all other Remedies failed.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Since July last I have been using your CUTICURA for Scald Head, and it has cured me when all medicines that I have taken for nine years did me no good. I am now using it as a hair dressing, but my head is well. It keeps the hair in very nice condition. Yours truly, H. A RAYMOND,

Assistant Tax Ward, Assessor of Sagtacoe R. R.

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 43 Milk street, Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. Reference given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

A GOOD PLAN

Anybody can learn to make money rapidly operating in Stocks, by the "Two Unerring Rules for Success," in Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s new circular; the combination method, which this firm has made so successful, enables people with large or small means to reap all the benefits of largest capital and best skill. Thousands of orders, in various sums, are pooled into one vast amount and conducted as a mighty whole, thus securing to each shareholder all the advantages of the largest operator. Immense profits are divided monthly. Any amount, from $5 to $5,000, or more, can be used successfully. N. Y. Daily Week, Sept. 6th, 1879, says, "By the combination system $25 would make $50, or 2 per cent.; $50 pays $250, or 7 per cent.; $100 makes $1,000, or 10 per cent. on the stock, during the month, according to the market." Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, June 20th: "The combination method of operating stocks is the most popular offer ever adopted." New York Independent Sept. 12th: "The combination system is founded upon correct business principles, and no person feel be without an income while it is kept working by Messrs. Lawrence & Co." Brooklyn Journal, April 26th: "Our editor made a net profit of $101.25 from $20 in one of Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s combinations." New circular (mailed free) explains everything. CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions may be severally in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled; when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from an scrofulous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and so acid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellowish, emitting a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the surface being dry and feverish, the face, front and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it was encircled by a tight, unyielding band. This latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The thin watery discharges cause the passages to swell and become fabricated, frequently producing polypus in the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to come directly in contact with the tubes and lungs. The matter passing down the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate to throw it off; but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose as at other times, the mucous becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations, and hard masses, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent nervous pains, ending frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and total deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, such as follows, it becomes alarming.

A brief survey of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted, with its manifold miseries, to prepare for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in the directions, shows it as a scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the esteem in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most distressing and dangerous diseases with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of symptoms and sympathetic diseases, together with minute directions for effecting with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE a speedy and permanent cure. Also observations on diet and the general health, of vast importance to all afflicted with catarrh. It is wrapped about each bottle of the RADICAL CURE, or will be mailed free on receipt of stamp.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for use in all cases. Price, $1. Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which, according to the Government Survey, are in Arizona. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 inches. Assay returns have proved enously from these openings show a value of $67.00 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "Mc Cracken Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, from mines as much as this Company, and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, yield shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars. ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To obtain the money for this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the unexpiring price of $5.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The remainder will be continued in an energetic and economical manner.

Daily Chronicle.

Noted Dry Seasons.

An interesting record is that of severe droughts, as far back as the landing of the Pilgrims. How many thousand times are observations made like the following: "Such a cold season!" "Such a hot season!" "Such dry weather!" or "Such high winds, or calms!" etc. All those who thinks that the dry spell we had last spring was the longest ever known, will do well to read the following:

In the summer of 1621, 24 days in succession without rain.

In the summer of 1630, 41 days in succession without rain.

In the summer of 1635, 75 days in succession without rain.

In the summer of 1662, 80 days in succession without rain.

In the summer of 1674, 45 days in succession without rain.

In the summer of 1688, 81 days in succession without rain.

In the summer of 1694, 62 days in succession without rain.

In the summer of 1705, 40 days in succession without rain.

In the summer of 1715, 46 days in succession without rain.

In the summer of 1728, 61 days in succession without rain.

In the summer of 1730, 92 days in succession without rain.

In the summer of 1741, 72 days in succession without rain.

In the summer of 1749, 108 days in succession without rain.

In the summer of 1755, 42 days in succession without rain.

In the summer of 1762, 123 days in succession without rain.

In the summer of 1773, 80 days in succession without rain.

In the summer of 1791, 82 days in succession without rain.

In the summer of 1802, 23 days in succession without rain.

In the summer of 1812, 28 days in succession without rain.

In the summer of 1856, 24 days in succession without rain.

In the summer of 1871, 42 days in succession without rain.

In the summer of 1875, 26 days in succession without rain.

In the summer of 1876, 26 days in succession without rain.

It will be seen that the longest drought that ever occurred in America was in the summer of 1762. No rain fell from the 1st of May to the 1st of September, making 123 days without rain. Many of the inhabitants sent to England for hay and grain.—Lebanon (Mo.) Leader.

Religious Progress in Japan.

In a paper read at the late annual meeting of the American Board, Dr. Clark thus stated what has been accomplished by the American missionaries in Japan:

Less than ten converts ten years ago; no church organized; no native agency; no schools for the training of such an agency; no missionary devoted to preaching; only the scantiest Christian literature, and that derived from China; placards everywhere denouncing the very name of Christian, till the utterance of the word blanched the cheek and sent a thrill of horror through the listener. To-day more than two thousand five hundred professed believers in Christ; a recognized evangelical community three times larger; a tee body of earnest and faithful native preachers; Christian schools for the preparation of native ministry; a Christian literature, including more than 100,000 copies of portions of the New Testament; editions of the life of Christ and other works reckoned by thousands and finding a ready sale; a Christian newspaper that circulates in all parts of the empire; and, illustrating in their lives the faith that breathes through all, more than a hundred and sixty devoted men and women from Christian lands—these are facts to quicken the faith and encourage the most vigorous exertions till the fields be won.

Bogus Certificates.

It is no vile drugged stuff, pretending to be made of wonderful foreign roots, barks, &c., and puffed up by long bogus certificates of pretended miraculous cures but a simple, pure, effective medicine, made of well known valuable remedies, that furnishes its own certificates by its cures. We refer to Hop Bitters, the purest and best of medicines. See another column.—Republican.

Medicinal Wine.

Physicians from the New York Board of Health have visited the Vineyards and Wine Cellars of Alfred Speer, of New York city; he is known to be one of the most extensive producers and dealers in Pure Medicinal Wines and Brandies in the United States. He makes a superior Port, known as Speer's Port Grape Wine, which took the highest premium at the Centennial. It is extensively prescribed by physicians as the most reliable Port for medicinal purposes. It is sold by Preston, Kimball, F. B. Coleman, and H. F. Gerrish.

We have no nervous tonic at once so reliable and convenient as Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and we, therefore, cheerfully recommend it in the diseases of such organs as depend for health upon involuntary muscular action.

—Anybody is apt to be mistaken, but a boy never but once attempts to pat a short-horned bull on the head.

WHERE lurks the mortal death assail,
And give a bitterness to life,
Making the cheek with anguish pale,
Amid the fierce internal strife;
Then Sanford's Ginger soothes the pain,
And smiling Health seeks up again.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1879.

Ohio Election.

The republican State committee's returns, at 9:30 o'clock P. M. on the 15th, gave the republicans a majority in each branch of the legislature, the majority on joint ballot being thirteen. Foster's majority was placed at about 20,000, with a possibility of its going lower. The democrats still refused to concede the legislature, though they gave up the governorship. The democrats, while in power, gerrymandered the legislative districts—that is, they divided democratic territory into numerous districts, and lumped together the districts in republican territory; for this reason, the vote for members of the legislature does not correspond to the vote for governor. The democrats also gerrymandered the congressional districts, so as to enable them to elect a large majority of the members of Congress, even though the republicans should throw a large majority of the votes; this work was done by order of Samuel J. Randall, and secured his election as speaker of the present House. If the republicans prove to have carried the legislature by a sufficient majority, the State will of course be redistricted; and the registration law, which was repealed by the democrats so as to enable their gangs of repeaters to get in their work, will be re-enacted and made more stringent than ever.

Iowa Election.

The returns received at Des Moines up to the evening of the 15th indicated a republican majority on the State ticket of 25,000 over all three of the other parties, and a gain of 27,000 over the vote of 1877; the chairman of the committee claimed 26 out of 29 senators, with a chance that all the republican candidates were elected, and 80 out of 100 representatives. The prohibition vote in the State was about 3000. Thompson, republican, is elected to Congress from the 5th district, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Hon. Rush Clark.

The Torpedo Disaster in Boston Harbor.

The accident in Boston harbor on Monday afternoon, the 13th inst., by which Mr. J. R. McClintock of New Orleans and Mr. Edward C. Swain of South Boston were killed, was at first enveloped in some mystery, but is now pretty well cleared up. McClintock, and Mr. George Holgate of Philadelphia, hired a sail-boat of Messrs. Hutchings & Prior of South Boston to make torpedo experiments down the harbor, and engaged Mr. Swain and a lad named Oliver Holmes to work the boat. The boy returned the boat to her owners Monday evening, and said McClintock and Swain had been blown to pieces while in a dory some distance from the sail-boat. Holgate disappeared Tuesday morning, and could not be found. The Boston papers of Thursday add the following particulars:

Prof. Wingarde, an intimate friend of Mr. McClintock, stopping at the United States hotel, says that he was on board the tug Edith, having in tow the hulk of an old brig, purchased for experimental purposes with the torpedo. The Edith was about two miles from the scene of the disaster at the time of the explosion. He saw the sail-boat anchored in the bay and noticed two men row away from her in a dory a distance of nearly a mile. He heard a tremendous report while looking in another direction. Quickly turning toward the small boat, he saw a column of spray, splinters and debris in the air where the boat had been. The Edith immediately steamed to the spot, but no sign of humanity could be found, a few splinters of the boat being all that remained. After cruising around for a short time the Edith returned to the city. Prof. Wingarde next saw Holgate at eight o'clock in the evening, when he received a call from him at the United States hotel. He was very much excited about the accident, and manifested great terror. Prof. Wingarde directed him to notify the owners of the sailboat and the friends of Swain in South Boston, as they would otherwise think there had been foul play in the case. Holgate said he had no money, not even enough to go to South Boston. Prof. Wingarde gave him a dollar, and he went to South Boston, as has been stated. The next morning (Tuesday) the professor saw Holgate again. He had a small bag, and said he was going to New York, as he had no money or friends in Boston. Prof. Wingarde gave him another dollar, and the man has not been seen since. He left his baggage with that of Mr. McClintock at the Adams house, where there is an unpaid bill against him for several days' board.

It is stated that Mr. McClintock was at work upon a torpedo boat for the Turkish government, for which it is understood he was to receive $1,000,000 if it proved a success. It is said that Holgate was the only one besides the inventor possessing the secret of McClintock's invention, which Prof. Wingarde says is quite valuable, some parties in New York having offered $75,000 for an interest in it a few days ago. The professor has been acquainted with Mr. McClintock for many years, and describes him as a well-to-do inventor of great ability. Professor Wingarde never saw or heard of Holgate until Monday. It is now supposed that he (Holgate) has returned to the friends in New York spoken of, fearing that he may be regarded as in some way to blame for the disaster.

More Indian Fighting.

Advices from New Mexico announce a fight between the troops under Gen. Morrow and a body of Indians under Chief Victoria, in which the Indians were defeated and took to the mountains, with Morrow in pursuit. Morrow says the Indians are determined to fight, and it will probably take him a two months' campaign to whip them. It is stated that Indians made their appearance in Mesilla valley on Saturday, the 11th inst., and continued murdering and fighting. On Saturday and Sunday thirty men were attacked by about 100 Indians, and so far but one escape is reported. Nine men and two families, with the exception of two persons, were killed at McEvers' ranche, five miles from Pillsboro', the women being outraged previous to the killing, and the bodies of the men burned. Lloyd's ranche, near by, was burned, and several Mexicans killed. It is believed the Indians scattered before the advance of the soldiers and again consolidated in the rear, commencing the depredations reported. It is thought the Indians have been reinforced from Mexico. There are some 350 soldiers in the field, and authority has been granted to enlist twenty-four Navajo scouts. Companies are forming at Las Cooces and Mesilla. Wednesday a war meeting was held in the office of Governor Wallace in Santa Fe, and a committee of safety appointed. The Territorial officers joined with Governor Wallace, and have telegraphed to the secretary of war and General Pope for rations for 500 men for sixty days.

Patent Office Business.

The statement of the operations of the patent office for the last fiscal year, prepared for the forthcoming annual report of the secretary of the interior, shows that during the year ended on June 30th last, 19,300 applications for patents were received, and 2,674 caveats filed; 12,471 patents issued; 1,547 trade-marks and labels registered; and 828 patents granted, but withheld for payment of final fees. The total receipts of the office were $703,146, being $154,495 in excess of its total expenditures. The acting commissioner informs Secretary Schurz that recent reductions in the amount of appropriations made by Congress have not only crippled the office seriously, but have begun to dry up the revenue. He says that the examining, clerical and laboring force of the office must be materially increased, and more room and better facilities for the conduct of its work provided for this purpose, and increased appropriations are necessary.

News and Notes.

The Hanlan-Courtney boat race at Chautauqua lake, N. Y., which was to have taken place on the 16th, for a prize of $6,000, did not come off, owing to Courtney's boats being sawed in two on the previous night.

Dr. Francis Julius Lemoyne, the distinguished advocate of cremation, died on Tuesday, the 14th inst., at his home, Washington, Penn., after a lingering illness, aged eighty-one years. He was a man of large fortune and great generosity, and was an active politician until the latter part of his life. He was a strong abolitionist, and a great friend of the slaves, many of whom he helped to escape to the north. He left instructions in his will that his body should be cremated in the furnace constructed by him; but the time has not been fixed.

Seven or eight Turkish officers stationed in this country to inspect arms which are being manufactured here for their government, have joined the Freemasons in Springfield, Mass. It is understood that in Turkey it costs so much to join the order that only the highest classes can afford it, and these officers by joining here are able to be themselves on a level with men who at home are considered their superiors.

The Russian invasion of central Asia has proved most disastrous to the forces of the Czar. The Turcomans have defeated them, and compelled them to retreat.

A new trial has been ordered in the case of William Bucholtz, convicted of the murder of John H. Schulte, at Norwalk, Conn., in December last. A juryman talked too much while the case was on trial.

The Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Co. on the 15th inst. gave notice that an advance of twenty-five cents a ton in the price of coal would go into effect on the 20th.

Colorado despatches state that the women and children who were spirited away from White River agency soon after the assault of the Utes on Maj. Thornburgh, were safe at last accounts. The greatest uneasiness is felt concerning the situation of the miners, of whom there are fully a thousand scattered about the Indian reservation and adjoining country, poorly armed.

A game of cricket was played at Brooklyn, N. Y., on the 15th inst., between the Providence base-ball team, strengthened by players from near New York to number eighteen men, with Daft's All-England eleven. The English eleven scored 107 in the first innings; the American team scored 62 in the first innings and 27 in the second, the visitors winning the game in one innings.

Schooner Ellen M. Adams of Gloucester, Mass., has landed 3000 barrels of mackerel this season, stocking $10,000, and claims to be high line of the fleet.

The English newspapers are taking alarm at the rapid outflow of gold to America, and suggest the advisability of adopting measures to check it.

Political.

The Boston Post of Thursday says: "In view of the results in those States in which democrats have coquetted with the greenback heresy, the series of platforms reported from year to year by Hon. Chas. Levi Woodbury representing the views of Massachusetts democrats grows brighter and brighter. Though it has not been their good fortune to be in a position under such leadership to work out local reforms so long at heart, there is still cause for congratulation that there is a sound and wise statesmanship at the bottom, on which success must be built if ever attained." When the democrats of Maine were "coquetting with the greenback heresy" so furiously, the Post's opposition to such shameful coquetting—or harlotry, rather—was not at all noticeable.

Out of forty students of Wesleyan university at Middleton, Connecticut, who voted at the town election there recently, only two voted the democratic ticket.

Forbes Rigs.

The Nautical Gazette, of New York, has illustrated drawings of Capt. R. B. Forbes' rigs for fore-and-aft vessels and for ships. In the Gazette of the 4th inst. there is a drawing of a three-masted schooner, the sails of which are arranged in such a way as to be easily handled under every circumstance, on account of their convenient size. In the ship the lower mast-heads are long enough on which to set the lower topsails, and the topmasts are fidded abaft the lower mast-heads, so that they can be housed without untrussing the lower yards. For steamers and ships of war this rig has no equal, and merchant ships might use it with advantage, when riding in open bays. With patent fids, the topmasts could be housed when a vessel was drifting. In such cases, as ships are now rigged, the rule is to cut away the lower masts. The square-rig is illustrated and described in the Gazette of the 11th inst. The description of the rigs is clear and and concise, and can be readily appreciated by any person moderately acquainted with shipping.

Apples have gone up, and potatoes have dropped slightly in price. In Hampton and vicinity, Boston parties are buying up all the number one apples they can get at $2 a barrel, but many of the farmers are holding on for still higher prices. Potatoes, which were selling a few days ago at fifty cents a bushel, are now sold for forty-five cents. A number of Hampton farmers who planted sugar beets this year are now pulling them and forwarding them by rail to the Portland sugar works, at $5 per ton delivered; the average yield is about fifteen tons per acre.

Augustus Fowler, thirty years old, of Seabrook, was fatally injured by a recent fall from a tree.

The fellow who escaped from the custody of an officer on the 15th inst., by jumping while handcuffed from the saloon window of an Eastern railroad car, between Peabody and Ipswich, Mass., was James alias "Monkey" Murphy, who deserted from a United States ship at this port some time ago. "Monkey" once before jumped from a train under similar circumstances, but the officer jumped after him and caught him.

On the 10th inst. the schooner C. D. Oliver, of Portland, Capt. Morey, on a fishing trip, when making land about daylight, struck on the east end of Vaughan's island, near Kennebunkport, and was left high and dry till the evening tide, when, after discharging twenty-one barrels of mackerel and other movables, she was floated; but she was so much damaged that she could not be kept afloat long enough to reach the river, and was run into Turbott's creek, where she sank. On the 14th inst. she was again floated, and started for Portland for repairs.

The schooner Hattie V. Kelsey, Capt. Etheredge, arrived at the navy yard Thursday forenoon with 730 tons of anthracite coal for the yard. A few hours later the schooner Clara E. Simpson, Capt. Talpey, arrived at the same place, having on board 500 tons of bituminous coal for the yard, and eighty-seven tons for the Concord railroad. At the same time the schooner Golden Gate, Capt. Amee, was below waiting a chance to come up to the yard, having on board a quantity of materials for the department of yards and docks, per account of Messrs. Rider & Cotton. The coal is on account of Messrs. C. E. Walker & Co.

The schooner Evelyn, of Boothbay, Me., came down the river on Thursday forenoon with a load of apples which she picked up on a trading trip up river, and passed through the draw of Portsmouth bridge. After leaving the draw-pier the wind died away, and the tide took the schooner rapidly toward the bridge; both anchors were let go, but failed to bring her up, and she struck about midway of the bridge and swung broadside to it, the tide heeling her over against the piles so that her rail was crushed in several places. The tug Clara Batemen hauled her clear of the bridge, and Mr. Warren Keen was employed to repair the damages.

The Kate Thayer concert company, which will give an entertainment in Music hall on Tuesday evening next, gave a concert in Boston last Tuesday evening, and next day the Journal said: "The second concert in the Redpath Lyceum course was given at Music hall last evening by Kate Thayer and the artists who are associated with her in her tour through the country. Miss Thayer made an instantaneous hit. Her voice is a soprano of extensive compass, and of great sweetness, purity and flexibility. Her first number was a grand aria from Verdi's 'Nabucco,' which she sang with great brilliancy and finish. Upon an encore she favored the audience with an exquisite rendering of 'The Merry Postilion,' by Abt. She also sang an aria from 'The Crown Diamonds' very sweetly, and best of all, perhaps, was Schubert's Serenade arranged as a duo for soprano and cornet, in which the voice part was sustained by Miss Thayer with a nicety of execution and intonation that fully equalled Mr. Arbuckle's efforts. That Miss Thayer is an acquisition to the concert stage, and that she will find favor wherever she is heard, cannot be doubted."

A council of the American Legion of Honor was instituted in Manchester on Tuesday evening, the 14th inst.

In the supreme court at Concord, Thursday, the grand jury reported indictments against P. B. Richards for murder in the second degree, and Roland D. Pollard as accesory before and after the fact, they being the parties concerned in the Bradford abortion case; and against one Hopkins of Franklin for incest.

Manchester is to have a new opera house, capable of seating 1500 people.

The famous suit of Conant and Davis against the Enfield Shakers, which has been in controversy for several years, and during the past winter was heard by Judge Isaac W. Smith as auditor, was decided a few days since in favor of the plaintiffs. The judge's report awards the plaintiffs $5,700 and interest from October 1st, 1864, the whole amounting to nearly $12,00. This is about $1,500 more than the award by a board of three referees made in 1871.

Forest fires are raging on Grantham mountain in Lebanon, doing damage to timber lands. Gangs of men are fighting the fire. Numbers of farm buildings are in imminent peril; hundreds of acres are burned over, and nothing but rain can stay the progress of the flames.

A fire broke out on the wood land owned by Mr. Ela at Allenstown, on the 14th inst., and burned over considerable territory, consuming about 2,000 cords of wood belonging to Sullivan & Cutting.

—The Portland, (Conn.,) quarries are turning out some immense blocks of brownstone for Mr. Vanderbilt's new house. Quick Fortunes in Stocks.

Vast sums of money are made in quick turns of stocks in Wall street. Business has never been more successful. By the new combination plan, large and small investments, (from $25 to $10,000) are combined in one vast sum, and operated by the most skillful experience, securing immense power in the stock market and gaining splendid profits. Thousands of customers are thus united in one concurrent enterprise, and receive their pro rata profits monthly. An Indiana country merchant made $17,892.41 in four operations. A Texas cattle dealer made $32,615.94 in two combinations; a St. Louis shipping merchant made $47,876.21 in less than six months, all through the new combination plan of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., which has realized the grandest success in the history of the stock market. Their new circular, with "unerring rules for success," and complete explanations, how to make money in stocks, mailed by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

HUMORS OF THE SCALP, LOSS OF HAIR.

Loss of Hair in thousands of cases is due entirely to some form of scalp disease. Seventy-five per cent of the number of bald heads might be covered with hair by a judicious use of CUTICURA, assisted by CUTICURA SOAP. It is the most agreeable as well as the most effective hair restorer ever produced by man. It is medical in the truest sense of the word. All others are some oleaginous mixture or poisonous dyes. None but CUTICURA possesses the specific medical properties that enable it to cure all itching and scaly diseases that infl-me and irritate the scalp and hair glands and tubes, causing premature baldness. Medium doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT will purify the oil and sweat glands of the virus of scrofulous humor of the blood and insure a permanent cure, when taken in connection with the outward application of CUTICURA.

SALT RHEUM AND DANDRUFF

Cured that several physicians had failed to treat successfully.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have had the Salt Rheum on my head and all through my hair, also on my legs, for the past four years, having suffered exceedingly with it. The dandruff falling from my hair was very annoying. I consulted several distinguished physicians in regard to it, and have taken their prescriptions as ordered but did not find any cure and but little relief. I was told by many persons who have the Salt Rheum, and who have been doctored for years, that there was no cure for it; that it was in the blood, and I should always have it, and I was almost inclined to agree with them, but a friend wanted me to try CUTICURA, made by your firm. I did, and to my astonishment, in less than three weeks, my head was entirely free from all Salt Rheum and Dandruff, and I cannot see any appearance of Salt Rheum on my person. I think it a wonderful remedy. Respectfully yours,

GEORGE A. MUDGE.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Feb. 6, 1878.

HUMOR OF THE SCALP

That was destroying the Hair cured with one box of CUTICURA.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I want to tell you what CUTICURA has done for me. About ten years ago my hair began to come out, caused by Humor of the Scalp. I tried various remedies, too numerous to mention, without relief, until I began using CUTICURA, one box of which has entirely cured me and new hair is beginning to grow. Respectfully, MRS. O. J. ROOT.

SCALD HEAD

For Nine Years cured when all other Remedies failed.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Since July last I have been using your CUTICURA for Scald Head, and find it cured me and all medicines that I have taken for nine years did me no good. I am now using it as a hair dressing, but my head is well. It keeps the hair in very nice condition. Yours truly, H. A RAYMOND,

Minister Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R. R.

THE

New Hampshire Gazette!

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

Contains more original matter

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a weekly invitation to customers, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 43 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant it may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of its successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from scrofulous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharge from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and so acid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellow, emitting a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the surface being dry and parched, the face, front and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it were encircled by a tight, unyielding band. The latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free matter in the phases cause the patient to swallow it, becoming thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the patient finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs, the matter passing down in the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate to throw it off; but when the membrane is dry and forbidding, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations and hard masses, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery; and in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, ending frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when production of the nervous system is superaddded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE are constantly before us to be found in the other remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in the directions, is the result of extensive experience, adapted to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the esteem in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of symptoms and sympathetic diseases, together with minute directions for effecting a cure with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE a speedy and permanent cure. Also observations on diet and the general health, of vast importance to all afflicted with catarrh. It is wrapped about each bottle of the RADICAL CURE, or will be mailed free on receipt of stamp.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several hundred shafts, in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 96 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.00 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "Mecrackin Lode," capitalized at the rates of $10,000,000, from time to time as much as this Company, and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside the Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $2.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates issued and promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Daily Chronicle.

Chronicle Correspondence.

BOSTON, Oct. 15th.

I was sitting in a glove-store to-day, patiently waiting my turn while others who came before me were served, and using my ears and eyes, found myself in happy possession of ample material for a fashion letter on gloves before I left the place. And certainly there can be no subject of greater interest, for let one be otherwise ever so perfectly dressed, a soiled, or ripped, or ill-fitting or ill-chosen glove spoils the whole costume utterly. Gloves, boots and handkerchiefs are perhaps the first care of every lady, in the matter of dress. For there need not be any of these things. In these days, when light gloves are cleaned "as good as new" for ten cents, there is no excuse for their being soiled. Even the ten cents can be obviated by the use of a little time and patience and benzine, for I suppose every lady knows that she can clean her gloves by putting them on the hand, rubbing all the soiled places with a piece of flannel saturated with benzine, hanging them out in the air to deodorize them, and then pulling them into shape and softness. Squares of soft, spongy rubber come for ten cents, with which to clean gloves, just as you would rub a pencil mark from paper, but they are apt to rub the surface off the kid too, unless very carefully handled. Gloves need not be ripped, for certain, nor need the mend show, if one will but use fine cotton—not silk, which is too shiny and shows—and a very fine needle. And if a decently good glove be bought, which really fits the hand, they will not tear.

In these days, a glove need not be ill-fitting, for if one lives near any large city, there are stores now where they make a specialty of fitting gloves, putting them on for you, and if they are not a perfect fit, changing until they are. There are other places, to be sure, where the old plan is followed, and you are obliged to buy gloves "on guess," the better qualities being only warranted not to split out. But of course the advantage is immense of having a new pair of tight kids — or "snug-fitting" kids, as it is called, to save appearances—put on for you the first time, by one who understands the business. Gloves are made now, too, in all varieties of sizes and shapes, with long and short fingers, and it is said that every hand can be perfectly fitted out of the stocks which the best houses send out, when sufficient care is taken. And if one has a peculiarly-shaped finger or thumb, the glove can be altered to fit, now that glove-sewers have been imported to this country. When one is once perfectly fitted to a glove of a standard make, one has only to remember the number and letter as well as the size, to know exactly what she can always be safe in getting or sending for. For manufacturers who have a reputation to maintain are always exact in their sizes. One reason that very cheap gloves are so uncertain as to shape and size is that they are cut out a dozen at a time,—hacked out almost any way for haste, while the better gloves are always cut in single pieces, one at a time. I do not mean the most expensive ones, by the better gloves, for some of the most perfectly-fitting and exquisitely made gloves of nice, soft kid, in the new shades and with three buttons are now sold for $1.25 a pair, while the same thing in undressed kid, or gants de suede, are but a dollar. These undressed kids, by the way, are still very fashionable for all except the most dressy occasions, and their soft, beautiful finish is very pretty. Gloves are certainly extremely cheap this season,—I wanted to ask why, but didn't get a chance. They sell for two-thirds, and in some cases a half of the prices asked a year ago for precisely the same thing.

As to choosing gloves it is certainly a matter of good taste entirely, which, if one hasn't learned, one should learn as soon as possible. All dark suits may be matched with gloves just a tint darker, for they are brought out every season in all the tints of the new dress goods. Then for dressy occasions gloves of any delicate shade of pearl, cream, straw, golden ecru, or the dainty mode colors, are always correct with any dark dress. With a light dress light gloves must be more carefully chosen. Black gloves are very stylish, in dressed or undressed kid, with or without colored lines embroidered on the back, and, in a good quality, they are always very useful and handsome to wear with anything except a brown dress. Never mix black and brown in your costume if it can possibly be avoided.

Fleece-lined gloves are not very desirable, for they are so clumsy; if they fit at all close the lining is so tight that it stops the circulation. Castor gloves are the better thing for warmth and will wear splendidly. The dog-skin gloves are warm too, but they stiffen with perspiration. The whole matter of dress is becoming a science in these days, and in no department more so than in that of gloves.

I must tell you before closing this letter of an entertainment I attended last evening, where, although it was an oyster supper, there weren't many gloves worn of any kind. It was down on North street,—a street which has been long notorious for the ill characters of its houses and its inhabitants, but which is a haven of quiet and peace now compared to what it was a dozen years ago, when it was literally as much as one's life was worth to go through this street at night; drunken brawls and rows, ending with pistols or knives, were common occurences, and in the very faces of all who might, from motives of business, curiosity or charity, find themselves in this unhappy neighborhood. When the first efforts were made to civilize this heathendom in a Christian city, by opening a mission for the shelter and care of such as might wish to reform, wherein religious and temperance meetings might be held, bricks were thrown through the windows and mobs gathered and threatened the lives of those engaged in the mission work.

But now all is quiet, and quasi-respectable. The Mission—the North End Mission—has a large house, where meetings have been held for years, and hundreds of wanderers reclaimed. There are twenty odd children in the nursery; forty more attend the Kindergarten,—little things of from three to five years old; twenty children meet every week to learn housework in the pretty Kitchen-garden school; there are sewing rooms for women and children; prayer and temperance meetings every night; and religious services and Sabbath school every Sunday. It was the teacher of one of the adult classes who gave the supper last evening, which was attended by some thirty or forty men and women to, whom it was certainly a great treat, socially as well as physically. I wish you could have seen them, and heard the after-supper addresses.

There are other branches to this noble charity of which I haven't time to write you. But you will be repaid by sending to the noble missionary for further information, which I believe is regularly printed for distribution, and if you have a kindly heart, as who shall doubt? you will be glad of the opportunity to add your mite to this charity, by working some pretty nothings, or contributing money, toward the grand fair in its aid which is to open in Music Hall—on the 15th of December, don't forget. ROBIN.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1879.

News and Notes.

The Gate City Guards of Atlanta, Ga., arrived at Boston on Friday, and were received as the guests of the city.

Mr. George Holgate of Philadelphia, who hired the boat of Mr. H. T. Hutchings, of Hutchings & Pryor, Boston, which was used by J. R. McClintock, the torpedo inventor, for an experiment in Boston lower harbor on the 13th inst., is in New York, and has written from there saying that he will soon explain his disappearance and tell all he knows about the premature explosion by which McClintock and E. C. Swain of South Boston lost their lives.

The Association of the Veterans of the War of 1812 met in Boston on Thursday, in accordance with a vote of the last annual meeting to assemble once again and dissolve the organization, which was done after the final address of the president, Hon. Charles Hudson, had been read.

Cable despatches affirm that there is danger of war in Europe. Bismarck has secured a secret defensive alliance between the German and Austrian empires, and the relations between England and Russia are critical.

The body of Dr. Le Moyne was cremated at Washington, Pa., Thursday.

Boston capitalists announce that they will begin the construction of a mill for manufacture of sugar from beets at Northampton, Mass., in a short time, a delay being made to learn from this year's beet raising what soils and manures are best adapted to beet culture. The beets raised in the Connecticut valley this year as an experiment prove that great things may be expected from beet raising and sugar manufacturing in the valley. In one case thirty-six tons to the acre have been raised.

Willis Cooper, a young married man of West Parsonsfield, York county, Me., has eloped with his wife's sister, a daughter of Richard Towle of Freedom, N. H. He leaves his wife with a young child four months old.

Hon. James C. Madigan, a prominent lawyer and leading democrat of Maine, died at his home in Houlton, Thursday.

The owners of the silver mine at Corinna, Me., held a meeting on the 15th inst. Among the principal owners present were George Lancaster, F. Strickland and A. H. Thaxter of Bangor. They employed an expert, Prof. Turner of Guilford, to look the mine over, and he pronounced it the richest silver-ore-bearing mine this side of California, and advised them to go ahead with the work. J. C. Tripp took out of this mine at one blast about 900 pounds of galena ore, in the presence of the owners. The last assay obtained on the ore from this mine was $3.57 gold, $58 silver, and $53 lead. Another rich mine is being opened in St. Albans, about four miles west from Corinna, under the directions of Col. J. Cary French, an expert mining engineer from Colorado.

The Newburyport Herald says: "A sad result of the present religious revival movement has just transpired in the terrible mental affliction of one of the best known lady school teachers of this city. She has of late been a constant attendant at the revival meetings, and during the last few days has been untitled for her duties, being engaged most of her waking hours in singing the emotional hymns in an evidently demented manner. There is already fear of it being necessary to place her in an asylum, while her friends are in great grief over the affair."

The Great "Race."

The Hanlan-Courtney boat race fizzle at Mayville, N. Y., will probably end in a squabble over the stakes. By order of the referee, Hanlan rowed over the course alone, in thirty-three minutes and 56 1-4 seconds. The referee, Blaikie, gave Hanlan a check for $6000; but Mr. Soule, the giver of the prize, says he will not pay it as the conditions—a race between Hanlan and Courtney—have not been fulfilled. Courtney on Thursday evening said he had previously been approached by Hanlan's friends with large offers of money if he would consent to lose the race, naming the persons who made the offers and the amounts offered, which they deny. But there is no question that there was rascality somewhere.

New Hampshire Items.

Ninety in the shade at Laconia on Thursday last.

Mrs. Emma J. Howe of Holderness, who had her arm broken recently by a runaway accident, has died of lockjaw.

Hugh Fallant, a well-known citizen of Concord, was accidentally shot in the leg, Thursday, by his wife, who in handing him a loaded gun caught the lock on her dress, discharging it.

Political.

It now comes out that the Tilden negotiator in South Carolina who proposed to bribe four members of the legislature of that State in November, 1876, with $20,000, and then secure the arrest of the republican electors so as to prevent them from casting the electoral vote of that State, was Mr. McLean, the Tilden police commissioner of New York. When the cipher dispatches fell into the hands of the Tribune he begged so hard not to be exposed that he was promised that it would not be done unless it was necessary.

The New Orleans Picayune (dem.) says: "It is an open secret in New Orleans that the republican party has resolved once more to carry Louisiana. The central men in Washington have already sent their orders over the wires. The State ticket is all ready; the parish slate is in process of formation. The plan, both in the city and the State, is to nominate white men of respectability, of unblemished records and of conservative repute."

New Publications.

"The Earl of Mayfield" has had a remarkable success. Its publishers, T. B. Peterson & Brothers, of Philadelphia, have already issued the fourth edition. The leading papers speak of it in terms of high praise, and it has all the appreciation the most sanguine expectations of the author could have anticipated. It is a decidedly popular romance. For sale by all booksellers.

The International Review for November will contain chapters on "The use and abuse of the pardoning power," "The dawn of better times" and "M. Victorien Sardou," the distinguished French dramatist. William Everett is writing an article on "Catullus," a Latin poet of consummate genius, but little known, for the same Review.

"The Light of Asia, or the Great Renunciation." Being the life and teachings of Gaulama, Prince of India and Founder of Buddhism, as told in verse by an Indian Buddhist. By Edward Arnold, M. A., F. R. G. S., etc. The book, originally appearing in London, is published in this country by Roberts Brothers of Boston. The work was very ably reviewed by Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes in the International Review for this month. The Doctor writes: "The reader of the poem we have been looking over together has before him one of the world's greatest ideal characters in a narrative embodying some of the most striking legends of the story-telling East, all woven together in the richest and most effective phrases of an affluent English vocabulary. To lay down the poem and take up a book of popular rhymes is like stepping from the carpet of a Persian palace upon the small tradesman's Kidderminster, or exchanging the shawl of an Indian empress for the painted calico which graces the matinees of the basement." Notwithstanding the poem was composed in the brief intervals of days without leisure, and its author disclaims his being free from shortcomings, it will become a prominently sought for publication on both sides of the Atlantic.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 18, 2 A. M.

Southeast to southwest winds, partly cloudy weather and local rains, falling barometer, and slight change in temprature.

AROUND HOME.

A wedding took place in this city a few days ago, the groom being but eighteen years of age, and the bride only fifteen.

The city of Dover has recently laid a sewer over fourteen hundred feet long, using Shea's cement pipe, made in this city. It will last.

Henrietta Varrell, charged with keeping a disorderly house, was before the police court on Friday, but the complainant not appearing the case was dismissed.

The schooner Willie Seavey, Capt. White, arrived on Friday with 8000 lbs. of pollock, and the schooner Flying Cloud, Capt. White, arrived the same day with 17,500 lbs.

Schooner C. D. Oliver, Capt. Morey, from Cape Porpoise, arrived at Portland on the 15th inst., leaky and with keel started, having been ashore on Vaughn's island, as previously reported.

The barn upon the Shapley estate, upon which Mr. John Sise's new house is being built, has been sold to Mr. Nathaniel Wiggin, and will hereafter rest on the Tabor farm on the Greenland road, now owned by Mr. Wiggin.

Mr. M. W. Earing in another column briefly sets forth some of the claims of the Model Range to be considered the best range in the market, and invites inspection of that and other ranges, cooking and parlor stoves, etc., at the stove and house-furnishings store No. 61 Market street.

Hon. Eugene Hale was carried through this city on a bed Thursday, over the Eastern railroad, on the way to his home in Ellsworth, Me. He is very weak from loss of blood caused by hemorrhage of the lungs. He has been speaking to immense audiences in New York for the past ten days, and no doubt overtaxed his voice.

Among the notable improvements in this city the present season, is the renovation of the old Goodrich block on the corner of Water and Court streets. The building has been raised, the first story being built up of pressed brick, and containing several fine stores, a new sidewalk laid on both streets, and the whole premises put in complete order.

Some alarm is felt among the physicians that unless the weather changes the diphtheria may become a common complaint in this city. On the 14th inst. Mr. Joseph D. Hanscom, who resides on Dennett street, lost a little daughter by this dread disease; on the 16th a child of Mr. George E. Morrison died, and on the 17th Mr. Richard H. Waldron also lost a child, both from diphtheria. The medical men say the progress of the disease can be distinctly traced from Newington to the vicinity of the railroad depots.

The Kate Thayer Concert Company gave an entertainment at Biddeford on the 15th inst., and the Times of that city says: "It is doubtful if anything equalling it was ever before in the city. The five persons composing the troupe were each solo artistes of the first rank. This was emphatically a solo concert by finished artistes. It has been pronounced by Annie Louise Cary as one of the finest troupes in the country. The audience last evening was enraptured and paid the utmost attention from commencement to close. The applause was heartily given, and instead of eleven numbers as down on the programme, the company were called on for nearly twice that number. Kate Thayer was of course the particular star of the company, although her associates were close up to her standard. Her opening number was a grand aria from Verdi's 'Nabucco.' Here the great range of her voice was shown to perfection. It is pure, flexible and sweet. Her execution is very fine. It should be heard to be fully appreciated. Instead of 'The Clock,' announced on the programme, she sang an aria from 'Crown Diamonds,' and on being recalled gave that ever welcome selection 'The Old Folks at Home' in a manner at once touching and sweet. Mrs. Helen Norman possesses a fine contralto voice, and her lower notes were especially fine. She was suffering from a cold which slightly marred some of the notes. Signor Tagliapietra poseses the most musical baritone voice we ever listened to. Mr. Arbuckle, the cornetist, was received with rounds of applause. It is seldom that piano forte playing receives any great amount of applause in this city, but last evening it was hard to satisfy the audience. Madame Teresa Carredo took it by storm. Her execution was remarkable, and she held the audience entranced."

Mrs. Elizabeth Talpey, eighty-four years of age, a resident of Cape Neddick, Me., having recently during her spare hours made a very neat patch-work quilt, on Friday presented it to Faith Home in this city for the use of one of the old ladies most needy. Mr. Loyne informs us that a number of aged ladies have done the same, since the establishment of the Home.

The Biddeford Times says: "If property owners know when they are well off they will oppose to the bitter end the building of a filled pier at Old Orchard. It cannot work otherwise than a great injury to the beach. Better move against it in time than to wake up after it is too late. The only kind of a pier that can be put in there without injury to the beach is an open pier."

Mr. Lemuel Coolbroth, who has been in the employ of the Portland, Saco & Portsmouth railroad since its organization, was putting mail-bags aboard the Maine Central train at the transfer station, at Portland, on Wednesday forenoon, when his foot slipped and he fell beneath the moving wheels of the train, and had a leg cut off. Mr. Coolbroth is an old man and the shock may prove fatal.

On Thursday last Mr. Asa Ham, who has charge of the Woodbury place near the Creek, found a number of boys at work harvesting the walnuts on the place, and captured three or four of their coats and as many vests, which they had laid aside while climbing the trees. The boys showed fight, and one of them struck Mr. Ham a blow on the arm with a club, but he made good his seizure. We are requested to say that the owners of the confiscated clothing can recover the same by calling at the police station, where the garments were deposited on Friday.

THE JUVENILE UNCLE TOM'S CABIN COMPANY, announced to perform at Music Hall on next Monday evening, were in Lawrence, Mass., on Wednesday. The Eagle said:

Jones's Juvenile "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was put upon the boards at city hall last evening to a fair audience, though had the full merits of the company been fairly understood the seating capacity of the hall would have been taxed to its utmost. It was in its every appointment exceptionally fine, and the actors, though youthful, are entitled to much praise. It was worth the price of admission to see little Miss Sherwood in her character of "Topsy." We hope Mr. Jones with his company will visit Lawrence again at no distant day.

THE EASTERN DEPOT.

E. B. Phillips, Esq., president of the Eastern railroad, was in this city on Friday, examining the crossings and the site for the proposed addition to the passenger station of that road.

It is stated that the managers of the Concord railroad desire to have their passenger trains enter and depart from the Eastern station, and to devote the present passenger station of the Concord road to freight purposes. Considerable freight coming from the east, now compelled to go via the Boston & Maine road and Newmarket junction, would come over the Portland, Saco & Portsmouth road and go direct to the track of the Concord, if a joint arrangement could be had as to freight, and shippers spared the unnecessary cost of drayage from one road to the other in Portsmouth, which outlay is now saved on freight going by way of Newmarket junction.

The present passenger station of the Eastern road was built in 1868, and the business of the road has far outgrown its dimensions. Its roof makes it dark. It is too short and incommodious for business at this station. It is now proposed to build an elegant dining-room to accommodate wants of travellers, on the south side. This refreshment room will be leased by Mr. Armstrong, who occupies the restaurants on the lines of the Eastern and the Boston & Albany railways, and it will be kept as a first-class establishment, thus supplying a long-felt want. It will require extensive changes on the southerly side of the station to obtain a space for this room, and it would seem as if the removal of the roof and northerly wall, and changing the present form of the building, which as now constructed only serves to keep the smoke of wood-burning locomotives in the face and eyes of passengers, into a shape like the station of the Boston & Maine at Dover and Exeter, would be the more economical and judicious course to adopt. In any event the improvement will be made probably as thoroughly and substantially as the means at the command of the president of the road will permit.

—A search of the juveniles who are on the street, youths from twelve to eighteen years of age, would reveal the fact that two-thirds of them carry pistols. At any base-ball gathering a majority of the men and boys in attendance have pistols, dirks or other weapons.—Chicago Tribune.

A Deceiver's Punishment.

In the month of July, among the infrequent summer tourists who arrived at Quoguewasset there was a family which included among its members a very bright and attractive young lady. A few days later there also arrived Mr. Perkins Smith, a mild young man whose life had been passed in the school-room, and who knew rather less about field sports than a child in arms. Like most mild men, the assistant teacher was wholly unwilling to confess his ignorance. He affected to take an immense interest in everything of a fishy, snipey, or generally athletic nature, and ladies who knew him only as he represented himself to be, regarded him as a skillful, brave and enthusiastic sportsman.

Such, indeed, was the opinion of the bright and attractive young lady who was temporarily staying at Quoguewasset, and whose affections the assistant teacher was anxious to gain. When she informed him, just before leaving town, that there was perfectly splendid fishing at Quoguewasset, and that he ought to run down and try it, he gladly leaped at the chance of prosecuting his courtship in a lonely village where there would be no objectionable young men with horses and other unfair devices to distract the attention of his beloved object. Accordingly, a week later Mr. Smith arrived at Quoguewasset, ostensibly to fish, chuckling to himself as he thought how completely his bundle of fishing rods, landing nets, and fish baskets would blind the young ladies' brothers to the real motive of his visit.

Mr. Smith managed to postpone for several days the necessity of pretending to fish, and devoted his whole time to the young lady of his heart. When her brothers urged him to come out with them for a day's fishing, he declined on the plea that no man who really loved the sport ever cared to practice it except when alone. The day came, however, when the young lady told him that it really did not look well for him to come down to Quoguewasset to fish, and then spend every consecutive day on her front piazza. "People will talk, you know," continued the intelligent young lady, "and, besides, I am so fond of trout, and I want you to show the boys what a splendid fisherman you are." Mr. Smith, intoxicated with this sort of language, assured her that he would go fishing the very next morning and would bring her the finest trout to be found on Long Island.

There was a reputed trout stream in the neighborhood, and thither the assistant teacher wended his way. His views of trout fishing were vague and at the same time simple. "It must be perfectly easy," he said to himself; "All I have to do is to drop the hook in the water and pull the fish out when they bite." Excellent as this plan was in theory, it somehow failed to work. Mr. Smith attached a beautiful fly to the end of a large and bright trolling-spoon, and twined a collection of earth-worms artistically around the whole, but he failed to catch anything except weeds and branches of trees. He could not understand what was the matter with the trout. Not only did they refuse to bite, but when he varied his method of attack by fishing with a scoop-net, they refused to enter it, even when he stirred up the water with a stick and cried "Shoo!" at them. Gradually, he became convinced that he would be forced to go home without a trout. As he pictured the disappointment of the young lady and the ruin of his reputation as a fisherman, gloom settled down upon him, and when at sunset he wended his way homeward with his broken rod and empty basket, he was an unspeakably wretched man.

To the despairing Smith then suddenly appeared a casual small boy bearing a basket full of large and beautiful fish. Hope sprang in the assistant teacher's heart as the adversary of mankind whispered to him a wicked but tempting suggestion. He stopped the small boy and asked him if the fish were trout. Boy said unhesitatingly that they were. Mr. Smith at once bought six of the largest fish and hired the boy to string them. Then, with a proud step, he sought the house of his beloved one, and carelessly handing her the fish, remark that he was disappointed in the size of the Quoguewasset trout, and had thrown away at least thirty because they weighed less than two pounds each.

The young lady looked at him rather curiously, and her two brothers, who were present, kept an ominous silence. She asked Mr. Smith if the fish were really trout and if he had caught them all himself. The unhappy man, rushing on his fate, not only answered these questions in the affirmative, but declared the quaint little pool to which, as he alleged, he had caught the fish. When he had fully and completely perjured himself, the young lady coldly said that their acquaintance had better end then and there, and swept up stairs to her room, while her two brothers, bursting into roars of laughter, told the ruined assistant teacher that he was a very blue fish. It was the end of Mr. Smith's dream of love. Nothing could induce the young lady to see him again.

This story teaches us that when we go fishing we should either buy the fish from an honest dealer, or give them to a girl who does not know the difference between fresh-water and salt-water fish.

Medicinal Wine.

Physicians from the New York Board of Health have visited the Vineyards and Wine Cellars of Alfred Speer, of New York city, he is known to be one of the most extensive producers and dealers in Pure Medicinal Wines and Brandies in the United States. He makes a superior Port, known as Speer's Port Grape Wine, which took the highest premium at the Centennial. It is extensively prescribed by physicians as the most reliable Port for medicinal purposes. It is sold by Preston, Kimball, F. B. Coleman, and H. F. Gerrish.

Peach Crates for Apples.

I wish I could tell every farmer in the land the worth of peach crates for storing apples; but as I cannot speak to them personally, I will use the best known medium, the columns of your paper. The advantages are: The apples can be picked and laid directly in the crates and left under the trees, with a slight covering of leaves or other material, (and no fear of injuring the finest varieties) into the farm wagon and left in a cool storeroom until colder weather; they can then be carried with no extra picking or handling into the cellar. They are especially good in a young orchard just coming into bearing, as the many varieties need not be mixed, each crate being labelled, leaving the owner to test the value of each at his leisure. Then, being open, the air has free circulation, and if any commence decaying, they are easily picked out for immediate use, leaving the sound ones for the future. It is hardly any trouble at all to pick out the specked apples from a crate when getting them for pies or sauce. The crates can be piled upon each other, placed on a shelf, or ranged along the side of the cellar. In any case they are the best thing I have seen or tried for storing and keeping apples.—Cor. Country Gentleman.

—It rains alike on the just and the unjust—on the just mainly because the unjust have borrowed their umbrellas.

—Now the scientific men are telling us that when we read, we don't see the letters at all. We—in fact, we see them because we don't see them. We see the rest of the paper around the letters, and we see where they are not, or something of that sort.

—"Well, my man," said a military doctor to a patient who had been on "low diet" for a long time, "how are you?" "Much better, sir." "Could you eat a small chicken to-day?" "That I could, sir." "What would you like it stuffed with?" "Please, your honor," replied the hungry patient, "I would like it stuffed with another."

—The Sanitary Engineer offers a reward of $500 for the best plan of a model schoolhouse. Our small boy will contest for that price. His working model is not yet ready, but we may state that his idea of a model schoolhouse is one in which the teacher never licks; where recess comes five times of a morning, vacation every other week, and examination never; where all studies are elective, and chewing gum is insisted upon; where there is co-education of the sexes, provided the girls are pretty, and where there is no punishment for a fellow save sending him to sit by the girl to whom he was caught passing notes.—Albany Journal.

HUMORS OF THE SCALP, LOSS OF HAIR.

Loss of Hair in thousands of cases is due entirely to some form of scalp disease. Seventy-five per cent of the number of bald heads might be covered with hair by a judicious use of CUTICURA, assisted by CUTICURA SOAP. It is the most agreeable as well as the most effective hair restorer ever produced by man. It is medicinal in the truest sense of the word. All others are some oleaginous mixture or poisonous dyes. None but CUTICURA possesses the specific medical properties that enable it to cure all itching and scaly diseases that inflame and irritate the scalp and hair glands and tubes, causing premature baldness. Medium doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT will purify the oil and sweat glands of the virus of scrofulous humor of the blood and insure a permanent cure, when taken in connection with the outward application of CUTICURA.

SALT RHEUM AND DANDRUFF

Cured that several physicians had failed to treat successfully.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have had the Salt Rheum on my head and face through my hair, worse of my life, for the past four years, having suffered exceedingly with it. The dandruff falling from my hair was very annoying. I tried united and distinguished physicians in regard to it, and have taken their prescriptions as ordered but did not find any cure; and but little relief. I was told by many persons who have the Salt Rheum, and who have been doctored for years, that there was no cure for it; that it was in the blood, and I should always have it, and I was almost inclined to agree with them, but a friend wore good of your CUTICURA, and by your firm. I did, and to my astonishment, in less than three weeks, my head was entirely free from all Salt Rheum and Dandruff, and I cannot see any appearance of Salt Rheum on my person. I think it a wonderful remedy. Respectfully yours,
GEORGE A. MUDGE.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 43 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affection, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of the entire United States, and particularly therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases, before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat,

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from a scrofulous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and so acid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellow-ish, emitting a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the surfaces being dry and covering the face, throat and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it was encircled by a tight, unyielding band. This latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free mattery discharges cause the passages to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The matter passing down the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate to throw it off; but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations, and hard lumps, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, ending frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of the most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for the change which follows. Relief and cure, the advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Everyone in its preparation, every line in the directions, mark it as a scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the esteem in which it is held, by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of its complications and sympathetic diseases, together with minute directions for effecting with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE a speedy and permanent cure. The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.50 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "McCracken Lode," capitalized at the rate of $100,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1876, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $2.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Subscriptions exceeding $100 may be sent by express, C. O. D.

NOVELTIES.

There was a time when we made up our dresses and bought buttons therewith to fasten them. The party of the second second part was in every respect a secondary party. Now there are times when it seems to me as if we bought dresses in order to provide an expanse whereupon a display of buttons might be made. This is not because they are so numerous, though they are sufficiently so, but because they are often so beautiful and prominent a feature in the costume. I could not tell you the half as to the variety not only in shape, but in style. Every imaginable color is introduced, combined, contrasted, harmonized, while in shape we have all the geometrical puzzles which ever drove a school girl crazy. The cunningest perhaps are tiny imitations of plates, and these are brought out in three sizes, just as housekeepers have their dessert, breakfast and dinner plates. They are covered with little flowers. Doubtless it is the introduction of the India cashmere and jardinière goods which has caused the introduction of these pretty buttons, for evidently they are designed in keeping, and they illumine with charming effect the dark, plain goods which generally form the greater part of the costume. Coming now to it behooves me to mention some new designs for those short dresses which as I hinted before, will lead even in the richest materials. One of the prettiest trimmed skirts is the Pepita, which divides favor with the Arabella, and either would combine tastefully with the Cornelie basque. The Madelon costume, also short, is equally novel and stylish. Quite a run is being made on jackets of mixed cloth, which to tell the truth are somewhat masculine in appearance. These jackets are inexpensive, and are worn not only with plain outfits, but with rich silks. Then too, we find the ulsters of last season brought up again. In writing of them last winter I remember becoming quite gushing, nor do I know that even by this time my enthusiasm has declined. They are so practical, and when relieved by a pretty tie and coquettish hat are almost universally becoming. Of course we have handsome out-door garments of the richest materials, but for these the dolman, or rather, the visite, which is really a modification of the dolman, is the leading shape. The visite hangs closely to the form; in this special style no more tasteful model can be found than the Felicie. The Lorne and the Diantha are stylish designs in jacket-shape. Going back to costumes, truth compels me to add that bustles are being more frequently seen. Luckily they are not as yet that horrid necessity which they may become, but I have gloomy apprehensions on the subject.

GLOVES AND SHOES.

The novelty in gloves is the Harris kid-lace top, which shows a finish of finest quality kid, cut with such skill as to simulate successfully a beautiful lace. Sometimes it is the same color as the glove, or again we find tasteful contrasts. Another advantage is the lengthened effect produced, and this is a great advantage since the longer the glove the more stylish. Thus two buttons are equal to four in other styles; three buttons to five, four buttons to six, and six buttons to eight. Prices are for two buttons $1.75, three buttons $2.00, four buttons $2.25, six buttons $2.75. The Harris seamless retains position as an elegant and very durable glove, and with delicate self-stitching on the outside is a very desirable choice. At less prices, the Victoria and Donna Maria are well fitting and excellent gloves. Except in case of the lace top, less than three buttons are not stylish; while some of our belles, even for ordinary occasions wear six and eight buttons. Of course for full dress, the glove can hardly be too long. It may be added that not only the styles of gloves just mentioned, but all the serviceable varieties brought forward for winter, as well also as children's gloves of every description, can be obtained from Ayers & Locke, of your city. For indoors, we find that low shoes, with or without straps, are worn, in order to show the pretty stocking. For out-door wear, nothing has replaced the side-buttoned walking boot, which has low heels, with boxed toes, either narrow or broad. Sometimes the uppers are of cloth, but this is always black. For in-doors, the French heel is generally worn. Next letter I hope to have something to say about pretty stockings. LUCY CARTER.

An Honest Sale.

A day or two ago a motherly-looking woman of forty-five entered a clothing store, having a man's linen duster on her arm, and when approached by a salesman she said:

"Some one in here sold this duster to my son."

"Yes, ma'am, I sold it myself," replied the clerk, as he looked at the garment.

"Did you tell my son that this duster could be worn either to a picnic, funeral, bridal party or quarterly meeting?"

"I did, madame, and so it can."

"Did you tell him it made a good fly-blanket when not otherwise needed?"

"I did."

"That it could be used as a boat-sail, a stretcher, a straw bed and a bed-spread?"

"Yes, ma'am, I did."

"And that many people used them as table-covers?"

"I did."

"And that they would last for years and then make excellent stuff for a rag carpet?"

"I did."

"And you only charged a dollar?"

"Only a dollar, ma'am."

"Well, when John came home last night and brought the duster and told me all you said I made up my mind that he must have been drunk, and I was a leetle afraid he stole the garment. I am glad it's all right."

"It certainly is all right, ma'am, and since he was here yesterday we have discovered that the duster is a great conductor of sound, a preventive of sunstroke, and that no man with one on his back ever dropt dead of heart disease."

"Land save us," she gasped, as she waited for the bundle; "but who knows that they won't fix 'em so 'fore long that they'll raise a mortgage off the farm?"

—A poetess sings, "I love thee every hour." That's right. Girls who love a fellow only four or five hours out of the twenty-four, and bestow their affections upon several other chaps during the remaining hours of the day, are what the New York custom officers would call "frauds in silk." They should love him every hour, or not at all.

—A dreadful story is reported from France. A young sportsman went shooting. In a wood he met a charming young girl, the daughter of a neighboring farmer. Falling into conversation with her he set his gun up against a tree, and sat down himself on a knoll with the fair enchantress. The girl's father going by that way saw the loving couple, crept up softly through the wood behind them, seized the lover's gun and—disappeared with it.

KATE THAYER'S CONCERT COMPANY gave an entertainment in Portland on Thursday evening, and in the Press of yesterday morning appeared the following:

Those who were present last evening expressed their pleasure in no uncertain way. They encored about every selection on the programme, and thus secured a double amount of music for their money.

Miss Kate Thayer possesses a strong soprano, of great flexibility and extended compass. She sang with great brilliancy both an aria from "Nabucco" and another from "Crown Diamonds." Her runs and trills were executed with fluency and finish. Her "Schubert's Serenade," with cornet and piano accompaniment, displayed Mr. Arbuckle's delicacy of execution with fine effect, and some of the better qualities of the lady's voice. For encores she responded with "The Merry Postillion."

Mrs. Helen Norman's voice appears to best advantage in its lower notes. She was, however, not heard at her best, as she has not yet recovered from a severe illness. In response to an encore of Pease's "Just of Old" she simply bowed. Her first selection was "When the tide comes in." Signor Tagliapietra is one of the most pleasing baritones on the concert stage. He sang Adam's "Noel," and a "Canzone" of Gomez's with great feeling and spirit, and for an encore Faure's "Palm Tree." Arbuckle, of course, fully satisfied his hearers. He played a grand fantasie from the "Masked Ball" with great brilliancy of execution, and the finale from "Lucia" with immense feeling, and for encores the "Sweet Bye and Bye" and the Arbuckleian polka by Hartmann. Mme. Carrenno's piano solos were marked with that delicacy of touch, power, and perfect interpretation of her author that always makes her most acceptable. For an encore she gave Gottschalk's "Pasquinade."

—"A Fraud in Silks," is the startling head line in an exchange. Ah! Went back on you, did she?—Rockland Courier.

THE WEATHER.

Probabilities for the New England States, To-Day:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 20, 2 A.M

Generally clear weather, northwest to southwest winds, rising barometer, and no change in temprature.

AROUND HOME.

Parties are at work on Frisbee's point, Gerrish's island, blasting stone for the Newcastle breakwater.

A line of telegraph between this city and Dover is to be at once erected on the line of the Portsmouth & Dover railroad.

The Portsmouth cricket club was badly beaten by the Longwood (Mass.) club on Friday, and by the Boston club on Saturday.

The staging was taken down from around the National block on Saturday. The building is as fine a one of its size as there is in the State.

One of the fine maple trees in front of the large new house on Elm street was cut down on Saturday, we presume by permission of the city authorities. Vandalism.

Schooner Loella, Capt. Amee, has landed at Dover over a million of shingles for Mr. Converse on her last two trips, and is now off to Bangor for another half-million.

House No. 24 Washington street, belonging to Edmund P. Roach, was sold by auction at noon on Saturday by Henry F. Wendell, for $1010, William Quinn being the purchaser.

Uncle Tom's Cabin at Music hall this evening, by Geo. A. Jones & Co.'s Juvenile company of sixty performers, including a chorus of colored children from the Sunday school choirs of the colored churches of Boston. See advertisement.

On Saturday, in Boston, at the brokers' board, 100 shares of Eastern railroad stock were sold at $23; fifty at $23.50; fifty at $24; 150 at $24.25; 247 at $24.50, and 100 at $24.75. On the second call fifty shares brought $24.50, and twenty-five shares $25. Kearsarge mills sold at auction at $41.25.

Rev. Mr. Lord, pastor of the Congregational church at Kittery point, is reported as being about to resign on account of failing health. He is a fine speaker and faithful minister, and greatly beloved by his parishioners, who will part with him with much sorrow should he thus be obliged to leave them.

There was a twenty-four-hours race in the town hall at Newmarket last week, for the "championship of Newmarket medal" and "gate-money." There were four starters, three of whom held out to the end; the first man got the medal and $8.53, making ninety miles; the second man, eighty-one miles, $5.40; third man, seventy-eight miles, $4.25.

Some changes in the running time of the steamer James Sampson go into effect this morning. The corrected timetable will be found under the heading "Transportation," on the first page of this paper. The eleven o'clock A. M. and 3:30 P. M. trips from Kittery, and the ten o'clock A. M. and three and four o'clock P. M. trips from this city, are given up; a 3:30 trip is added. The other changes are slight.

Workmen were last week engaged in raising the grade of the cross-walk from the foot of Vaughan street to the corner of Short street. There is talk of doing away with the dangerous turn from Vaughan street into Elm, diagonally across the railroad tracks, by continuing Short street through the Raynes shipyard, passing between the big house and the water, and entering Elm street close by the tide-mill, which would enable teams to cross the tracks at right angles.

On Wednesday forenoon of last week a man called at the livery stable of Levi G. Towle, in Exeter, and hired a team to go to Dover and return the same day. Nothing more was heard of the team until Friday, when it was found at a stable in Newburyport, where it had been put by the police, who found it on the street in that city at ten o'clock Wednesday night, it having been left standing there at two in the afternoon by a man and woman. The team arrived in Exeter on Friday night.

With everything else alcohol has gone up. Some persons think it has been going down long enough.

The bridge connecting Gerrish's island with the main land has been extensively repaired and improved lately, a work which was in much need of being done.

Mrs. Patrick Meade, residing on Liberty street, was at work in the Kearsarge mill on Friday, apparently in her usual health. She was taken ill at ten o'clock that evening, and died in about an hour.

Among the receipts of grain last week were 700 bushels of malt conveyed to Frank Jones, 700 to Portsmouth Brewing Co., and 1400 to Eldredge Brewing Co., coming by way of the Fitchburg railroad.

A correspondent of the Concord Statesman states that the new Sunday train is the first attempt made to run Sunday trains from this city. During the summer, for many years, Sunday trains have run to Boston in the afternoon, but this is the first time they have left at such an early hour.

A week or two ago two men drove up to the house of a Mrs. Chase at Epping, bought a number of dollars' worth of chickens, showed a ten-dollar bill in payment,—took the change the lady gave, and whipped up, keeping ten-dollar bill, chickens and all.

The schooner William Thompson, of Kennebunk, from Carthagena to New York, with cocoanuts, went ashore on the shoals a mile off Barnegat station, N. J., on the 11th inst. No damage resulted to the vessel, but she lost both anchors, and twenty-five thousand cocoanuts were thrown overboard.

On Friday and Saturday of this week, Oct. 24th and 25th, excursion tickets to New York and return via Eastern railroad and Fall River steamboats will be sold at $3.90 from Eliot, $3.70 from Kittery or this city, $3.60 from Greenland, $3.50 from North Hampton, and $3.40 from Hampton. Tickets good to return Oct. 26th and 27th.

Mr. Timothy C. Crowley of this city has been appointed ticket agent and telegraph operator at Seabrook depot, and has entered upon his new duties. Mr. Crowley was formerly employed in the Atlantic & Pacific telegraph office here, and during the past summer had charge of the Western Union office at the Wentworth hotel at Newcastle.

There was another go-as-you-please race on the Linden street rink, Saturday afternoon, for the champion belt. There were six starters, three of whom dropped out of the race before the two hours expired, the other three coming in close together, with Michael Hurley, the winner of the belt at the previous race, about half a lap ahead of the other two. The winner's distance was thirteen miles and twenty-one laps, there being twenty-seven laps to the mile.

FIRE.

At two minutes before two o'clock Sunday morning an alarm of fire was sounded by a locomotive at the Eastern railroad depot, fire having been discovered in a small building at the Christian shore end of the north mill-bridge, owned by Mr. Albert H. Ham and occupied by Warren H. Gage as a cigar store. Atlantic soda-fountain, No. 6, was on hand in a few minutes, and quickly flattened the fire out so far that there was no danger of any serious trouble; and at a quarter past two—seventeen minutes after the first toot was given by the locomotive—one of the steam fire engines had water going on what fire the soda-fountain had not extinguished, and two other steamers were on the ground with steam up and hose laid ready to play if needed. This was quick work and most creditable to the department, showing as it does that our firemen keep up their discipline and drill and are ready for work whenever it may come, even if they are not called out by fires more than three or four times a year. The building was considerably damaged by fire and water.

At about four o'clock Sunday morning, the police officers discovered a fire in a pile of rubbish, in the corner of the yard occupied by Mr. Gardner J. Greenleaf, and succeeded in extinguishing it with the free use of water. Had it not been discovered, ten minutes later it would have caught the building near it; the fire was no doubt caused by spontaneous combustion, as the rubbish was composed of combustible material.

PORTSMOUTH & DOVER R. R.

This road, the railroad commissioners tell us, is 10.7 miles long, and was originally chartered in 1842. It was opened Feb. 1st, 1874, and the commissioners say was "on completion leased to the Eastern R. R. Co. of New Hampshire, the lease being transferred to the Eastern R. R. Co." The commissioners were a little out of line there, as the road was leased June 1st, 1872, before its construction; and that is one of those things about which a controversy may arise—this lease of something not in existence. The commissioners say the cost of the road is not reported; the only items of information pertaining to the condition of the company are:

Capital stock paid in	$756,800.00
Gross earnings to Sept. 30, '77,	20,537.44
Operating expenses,	20,498.50
Net earnings,	39.45
Rental for the year,	44,221.67

This was a poor showing; and we think the business of the year ending Sept. 30th, 1878, which it would seem ought to have been reported to the commissioners, would make a better exhibit. Evidently this is the worse side of the case. Of course this has nothing to do with business on the main line of the Eastern railroad, whose managers may allow what they please to the Portsmouth & Dover as freight, and keep their books as they choose.

The commissioners say: "How much, if any, of the rental was received by the lessees, does not appear; probably paid in coupons." The commissioners doubtless mean that the payments were the sums paid as dividends, as the cities of Portsmouth and Dover have to pay the coupons, and not the Eastern railroad. We hear that the complaint of the Eastern road is that the capital stock is too large; that bonds issued by the two cities were sold in the market at too great a discount; and that the road cost too much in its construction. There was an enhanced cost to the road by the discount on these bonds, which to-day would sell at a premium; and the Eastern managers think it a hard case for their treasury to be burthened with the payment of dividends on stock issued for discount on good bonds, which it is now contended should have been sold at par or at a premium. The question at issue will be tried at the approaching term of the court in this city, or referred to arbitration; probably the latter course will be adopted, and a peaceful solution be obtained.

POLICE COURT.

SATURDAY, Oct. 18; Batchelder, J.

John McAuley, drunk, fined $3, costs $5.76; paid.

Rachel Russell, charged with having been drunk, pleaded not guilty, and her case was continued till Monday, she being released on her personal recognizance in $50 to appear.

DIPHTHERIA.

It is well that parents and those having care of children should be informed as to the premonitory symptoms of diphtheria, as undoubtedly many lives might be saved were the disease recognized in its earlier stage, and proper steps taken to control or guide its course.

It rarely or never happens that the disease makes its attack without sufficient warning of its approach, declaring its presence in the body by a fever more or less severe; usually, however, of a very pronounced type. The mother thinks her little one has "taken cold" and in a few days will be well again. After a few hours, ranging from six to forty-eight, the fever subsides; during this time the child may not have complained of its throat—it is only after the lapse of from six to forty-eight hours that it does so, when looking into the mouth an ashy-white membrane on the tonsils or palate is seen. This is the diphtheretic membrane. In some cases the attention of the parent is called to the child (after the subsidence of the premonitory fever) by the croupous character of the breathing; this once established, the case can be pronounced nearly hopeless. The time to check the complaint is when the membrane first forms, before the air passages become involved.

I should advise parents to look carefully to the throats of their children, especially if they are suffering from a "cold" or "fever," and not relax that watch for a number of days after the fever subsides, that they may be enabled to detect and combat the disease in its earliest stage. F. E. POTTER, M. D.

A "PATTERN" ADDRESS.

As under the new order of the post-office department the chances are as ten to one that a letter put in the mail will go to the dead-letter office rather than to the person for whom it is intended, the following address on a letter received in this city last week, and which reached its proper destination, is given as a sample of what an address should be to esure delivery:

Mrs. S. E. Pearson, florist, (her husband's name is not down in the post-office directory), on Broad street, in the City of Portsmouth (settled in 1623 A. D., and incorporated 1849 A. D.), in the County of Rockingham, and in the State of New Hampshire (formerly a part of the grant to Fernando Gorges), in the United States of America, North.

P. S.—If Postmaster-General Key is unable to decide where this letter should go, he will confer a favor by returning to the writer, with stamps enclosed.

—The Indians call the colored troops, buffalo soldiers, on account of their kinky hair. They never scalp them, and dislike fighting them, because when they kill them the braves have nothing to show for their prowess. Until their enlistment as soldiers, negroes could pass in safety through an Indian country where to a white man it would be certain death.

Passengers to and from Boston on the Eastern railroad will miss the pleasant company of Conductors Jefferson, Abbot and Winn, who by the winter arrangement are assigned the shorter routes of travel. Mr. Winn (who lives on Christian shore, Portsmouth,) runs between Portsmouth and Boston, and Messrs. Jefferson and Abbott will resume their work on the Conway division.—Gt. Falls Journal.

Bogus Certificates.

It is no vile drugged stuff, pretending to be made of wonderful foreign roots, barks, &c., and puffed up by long bogus certificates of pretended miraculous cures but a simple, pure, effective medicine, made of well known valuable remedies, that furnishes its own certificates by its cures. We refer to Hop Bitters, the purest and best of medicines. See another column.—Republican.

Prudent Stock Speculations.

The Stock Exchange never presented such an admirable condition for profitable and rapid stock operations. There never before have been so many fortunes made by quick fluctuations and skillful manipulations. Careful and reasonable people only operate through the combination system of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., which enables those with large or small means to invest and realize handsome profits, which are divided pro rata among the shareholders every thirty days. New combinations are constantly forming. From $25 to $10,000 can be safely invested with splendid opportunities for quick profits. An Illinois grain dealer made $13,220.41 in two investments. A Michigan farmer invested $50, which yielded $433.14. He made by three reinvestments over $3000. A Wisconsin country merchant made $4,249.16 in four combinations; and others have done equally as well. New explanatory circular, with "unerring rules for success," mailed by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

Medicinal Wine.

Physicians from the New York Board of Health have visited the Vineyards and Wine Cellars of Alfred Speer, of New York city; he is known to be one of the most extensive producers and dealers in Pure Medicinal Wines and Brandies in the United States. He makes a superior Port, known as Speer's Port Grape Wine, which took the highest premium at the Centennial. It is extensively prescribed by physicians as the most reliable Port for medicinal purposes. It is sold by Preston, Kimball, F. B. Coleman, and H. F. Gerrish.

Baker's Vanilla Chocolate

is excellent for eating or drinking. Equal to any imported, at one-half the cost. Ask your grocer for it.

We have no nervous tonic at once so reliable and convenient as Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and we, therefore, gladly recommend it in the diseases of such organs as depend for health upon involuntary muscular action.

WHERE pangs the mortal flesh assail,
And give a bitterness to life,
Making the cheek with anguish pale,
Amid the fierce internal strife;
Then Sanford's Ginger soothes the pain,
And smiling Health looks up again.

A GOOD PLAN

Anybody can learn to make money rapidly operating in Stocks, by the "Two Unerring Rules for Success," in Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s new circular; the combination method, which this firm has made so successful, enables people with large or small means to reap all the benefits of largest capital and best skill. Thousands of orders, in various sums, are pooled into one vast amount and co-operated as a mighty whole, thus securing to each shareholder all the advantages of the largest operator. Immense profits are divided monthly. Any amount, from $5 to $5,000, or more, can be used successfully. N. Y. Capital Weekly, September 26th, 1878, says, "By the combination system $25 would make $75, or 5 per cent.; $50 pays $250, or 7 per cent.; $100 makes $1,000, or 10 per cent. on the stock, during the month, according to the market." Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, June 28th: "The combination method of operating stocks is the most successful ever adopted." New York Independent Sept. 19th: "The combination system is founded upon correct business principles, and no person need be without an income while it is kept working by Messrs. Lawrence & Co." Brooklyn Journal, April 26th: "Our editor made a net profit of $191.25 from $50 in one of Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s combinations." New circular (mailed free) explains everything. Stocks and bonds wanted. Governments bonds supplied. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y.

The fire box is arranged with express reference to economy, and easily repaired; the grate can be taken out without moving the brick lining. The ash sifter is perfect in its operation, and free from dust. The oven is very large, ventilated properly, and bakes thoroughly. The ash-pan is especially convenient. The ventilated broiler doors make perfect combustion and economy of fuel. Durability, cleanliness, ease of management, great working capacity, rapid and perfect in operation. RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 43 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses to such an extent that life has no enjoyment, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity there from throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and its strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from a scrofulous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and so acid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellow-ish, omitting a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the surfaces being dry and parched, the face, front and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it was encircled by a tight, unyielding band. This latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The fine matterry discharges cause the passages to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The matter passing down the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate to throw it off; but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations, and hard masses, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being irritated by the secret irritation and sending frequently to inflammation, ulceration, and final perforation. The throat, nose, and ear and parts are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Extensive in its operation, simple in its curative directions, mark it as an scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the extent in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case BILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.50 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the Montana Lode, capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $5.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Subscriptions exceeding $100 may be sent by express, C. O. D., to

Daily Chronicle.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 17th.

Of course the great topic is the result of the October elections, and every gathering of men and women is stirred by it. There can no longer be a doubt that almost everybody is astonished at the extent of the "Republican flood," as a prominent editor calls it. Of course there are republicans who say "I told you so!" But that does not alter the fact that they were not very outspoken before the elections.

The democrats keep up their courage wonderfully, and are now preparing to take off their coats for the great national contest next year. "We are just clearing the decks this year," they say. "We are dividing on local and side issues. Next year you will see us in solid phalanx marching on to victory!" This is pluck, to say the least, but I think there was one man who didn't hold his head quite so high. I refer to Speaker Randall. He came here on Tuesday, and rumor says that he was so confident of a victory in Ohio that he came here at the solicitation of friends to be ready for a serenade and a speech. He had nothing to say on politics, but his genial disposition kept the even tenor of its way, and he talked glibly on all sorts of other topics.

Mr. Thurman's friends keep up their courage wonderfully. They meet the ill-concealed joy of the Tilden men with a most steady assurance. "Thurman," they say, "isn't hurt a bit for 1880. He is the only man who stands a ghost of a chance for carrying Ohio or any northwestern State. He is the strongest democrat in the Senate, and he is a perfectly clean man." This latter is aimed, probably, at Mr. Tilden. What they say of Mr. Thurman is true, and I believe the republicans rejoice more at his defeat than at any other event. He is a formidable antagonist. His friends say, besides, that by the rule that a State's loss shelves all presidential candidates in its borders, Mr. Tilden may suffer after the coming election in New York. It is clear that so far as presidential candidacy is concerned, these elections willsettle nothing, because, for example, if the democrats lose New York, they will say it was because of democratic divisions and not because of actual republican strength.

I observe that the republicans are making great claims relative to the next Congress to come in in 1881. Doubtless they will make some gains of representatives from a readjustment of the State in Ohio, and the vote in Iowa shows that they will recapture the two greenback districts in that State, as well as at least one in Maine. But beyond this of course they cannot yet go in anything like definite terms. The speculators count confidently on gaining senators as follows: In New York, in place of Kernan; in Connecticut, in place of Eaton; in Pennsylvania, in place of Wallace; in New Jersey, in place of Randolph; in Indiana, in place of McDonald, besides the seat in Ohio now held by Thurman. This would be a gain of six; but they concede the loss of one in Mississippi, the seat now held by Bruce, leaving a net gain of five, by their calculation, which would make the republican senators thirty-eight, or just one half of the Senate. The democrats would have thirty-seven "straight," but they will count David Davis with them, and thus the Senate would be tied. But I notice since the late elections the democrats make more talk than formerly about unseating Kellogg, of Louisiana, this winter, before the republicans have time to recruit, and this again would give them a majority. The situation is very interesting, but no party can congratulate itself upon it. KNOX.

New Publications.

An unusually beautiful engraving has been issued by Peterson's Magazine for 1880, to reward persons for getting up clubs. The plate is quite large, twenty-four inches by twenty; it is executed in the highest style of art, and is such a mezzotint as is sold, at retail, for five dollars. The subject is "Washington at prayer at Valley Forge," commemorating one of the most touching incidents of the war of independence. You can get it, gratis, by getting up a club for "Peterson." Only the enormous circulation of the magazine can explain why the proprietors can afford to give such premiums,—the price being but two dollars a year, with great deductions to clubs. Specimens of the magazine, to assist in getting up clubs, are sent, gratis, if written for. Now is the time to get up clubs for 1880. Address Charles J. Peterson, 306 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, Pa.

"A Ragged Register (of people, places and opinions)" is the somewhat uninviting title of a new book by Anna E.

Dickinson, recently published by Harper & Brothers. Miss Dickinson gives her experience in a series of journeys from the White mountains to the Golden Gate, and indeed all up and down the land, while on her professional tours. Her language is plain. There is no mistaking her sentiments. She sees, thinks, writes and spares not. Every one who was disagreeable, mean and impudent comes in for a share of liberal criticism, and we fail to see where the happy incidents of travel occur. One would almost imagine from the successive uncomfortable episodes in the register contained, that the authoress was "unpleasant to look at and her name was against her;" but still there are well-deserved criticisms upon the genus bore which every one meets in travel, and the book is by no means without interesting narrations of the experience of the lone female who has seen so much of the world.

News and Notes.

The torpedo mystery is a mystery still, for though Mr. George Holgate has written a letter to the Boston Advertiser giving an account of the explosion which blew McClintock and Swain to atoms, the statements he makes are so conflicting with the accounts of other persons that the matter has an ugly look.

Louis Army of Worcester, Mass., while on a spree in Millbury, Saturday night, stabbed James D. Colter of that town; killing him instantly. Army has been arrested.

Bernard Mellens died suddenly in Worcester, Mass., Saturday night. He had a scuffle an hour and a half previously with William Matthews, who is under arrest, pending investigation.

Arrangements are in progress for a mammoth national Methodist camp-meeting at Old Orchard beach in July, 1880, which is proposed to be a gathering of Methodists from all over the country, in which the several bishops are to be invited to participate.

It is stated that in Boston last year there were 555 cases of missing persons reported to the police, of which one-third were females.

The governor and leading citizens of Colorado unanimously affirm that the Indians must be removed from the State, or exterminated by the State if not by the federal forces.

The assembly of governors to arrange the details of the centennial anniversary of the surrender of the English at Yorktown met for organization in Philadelphia, Saturday. Govs. Andrews of Connecticut, Halliday of Virginia, Hoyt of Pennsylvania, Simpson of South Carolina, Jarvis of North Carolina, Hall of Delaware, and Carroll of Maryland, and Col. Lincoln, representing Gov. Talbot of Massachusetts, were present. Gov. Halliday of Virginia was chosen president of the meeting, and Col. Lincoln secretary.

Postmaster General Key says that no postmaster will be justified in refusing to forward prepaid letters addressed to "New York city," or in refusing to deliver drop letters addressed "City." He says most of the complaints come from New England, which is most benefited by the order of Semptember 20th; and that as the facts develope the stronger is his conviction that the order should have been enforced years ago. He declines to rescind the order.

A New York policeman pays $2500 for using his club on an editor who was escorting a young lady home from a party, the only cause assigned for the assault being the loud talking of the couple.

It is rumored that the buildings known as the Atlantic Car Works at Salem are to be used for manufacturing purposes.

Mrs. Shrouder, who was arrested at Chittenango, N. Y., last week, charged with poisoning her mother, Mrs. Brainard, is now charged with poisoning her aunt, Mrs. Pope, and her father, a year ago, to obtain possession of property.

Nearly the whole cargo of milk on steamer Wm. Cook, from four counties in New York, was seized on Saturday in New York city, and proved to be watered, one can having a live frog in it. The cargo was emptied into the river.

The ladies of Boston interested in preserving the Old South as a memorial relic desire it to be known that they propose to hold another fair, this autumn, opening the first week in December. The zeal and perseverance of those active in this work, under circumstances particularly discouraging, is certainly to be admired. With the revival of financial confidence, their self-imposed task ought to be easier.

New Hampshire Items.

A few mornings ago the store of Jeremiah Benfield in Fremont was found to have been entered through an open window that had been filled with a screen, and robbed of $50. A faithful watch-dog was not disturbed by the burglary.

Alvah B. Crouch, of Walpole, alleged to have been living improperly with a woman and her daughter, was recently taken from his house and varnished and feathered by the populace, who were indignant because the county solicitor did not think there was enough evidence to hold him on trial.

A set of farm buildings, consisting of a two-story house, sheds, two barns and other buildings, in Hill, owned and occupied by H. D. Harris, were destroyed by fire on Friday of last week, together with one hundred bushels of corn, twenty tons of hay and a large amount of other personal property. Political.

Speaker Randall says in regard to recent elections, "This thing seems to have set in for the republicans, and I don't see how we are going to stop it." Sam, as usual, is a little in advance of his party.

Southern democratic leaders are beginning to realize the fruits of their folly in welding a "Solid south" for the democratic party. Four years the crack of the Mississippi shotgun, in defence of democratic principles, has been heard without protest. No protest to this barbarous mode of enforcing a political dogma has ever been breathed by a prominent Mississippi democrat. No compunctions of conscience ever visited the Lamars, the Singletons, the Hookers and Barksdales, until they discovered that a south made solid by violence and fraud had made a solid north for the republican party. A solid north bids the southern democratic leaders pause. But it is too late. The solid north has been made, and James Buchanan will still remain the last President democratic for all that time. —Memphis Avalanche (ind. dem.)

A Disappointed Chinaman.

Yesterday morning, says a recent issue of the Virginia (Nev.) Enterprise, a Chinaman came into Youngworth's chop house with a basket containing a half bushel of yellow-bellied, warty-backed toads, which he offered to dispose of at six bits per dozen, calling them "flogs." When told that they were not frogs, but toads, and until to eat, the Chinaman looked unhappy. He evidently thought he was bringing to town a luxury that would be snapped up almost instantly at a big price. Said he: "Toad, toad—you callee him toad?" "Certainly," said Youngworth, "regular toad?—no good." "What for him no good? Me thinkee you foolee me. Him walkee allee same flog, him talkee allee same flog, what for him toad?" and John looked as if he suspected the toad talk was a job to get his "flogs" for nothing. John was assured that his game was "no good," and he finally turned sadly away, yet he held on to his basket of toads and carried them off in the direction of Chinatown. It appears that the poor fellow had lugged his load of toads—all alive and kicking, too—all the way from the town of Sutro, having found them about some pond down that way.

AROUND HOME.

Pasturing of cattle is ended for this year; Oct 20th is the regular day for the cows to come home.

The October term of the supreme court commences in this city to-day. Judge Bingham will preside.

The greenbackers of this city are to have a meeting on Thursday evening, 23d inst., at the old custom-house on Daniel street.

A donkey engine was set at work on the Franklin block, Monday, hoisting building materials from the ground to the points where required.

Mr. Herbert Grace has opened a shop for the sale of small beer, tobacco, cigars, candy and other small wares, on Flaney's hill at Kittery point. There was already one similar establishment in that vicinity.

The Salem Cadets, Lieut. Col. Dalton, with the Salem Cadet band and accompanied by Mayor Oliver of Salem, two of the aldermen and other invited guests, passed through this city over the Eastern railroad on Monday, bound to Portland.

One day last week Mr. Amos Dame was engaged with six other persons in picking apples for Mr. Andrew J. Cole of Newington. When night came Mr. Dame's gathering amounted to thirty-seven barrels and a half, his lot exceeding the amount picked by the other six all put together.

The sixth annual meeting of the New Hampshire branch of the Woman's Board of Missions was held in Pilgrim church at Nashua on Thursday last, Mrs. H. C. Knight of this city presiding. Miss McIntire of Exeter, the treasurer, reported $3,454 received the past year; from mission circles, $608.

Mr. Thomas F. Ridge, a fireman on the Eastern railroad and residing on Rockingham street, died very suddenly Monday afternoon, while in Huntress & Trefethen's barber shop on Vaughan street, getting shaved. He lived only ten minutes after being attacked, dying before the arrival of the physician who was at once sent for.

A copy of a soldiers' and sailors' petition to Congress, complaining that during the late war they "were paid in a depreciated currency, worth during the greater part of our terms of service from forty to seventy cents on the dollar in coin," and praying that a law be passed at once that they be paid "the difference between the value of greenbacks and gold at the time of payment, with six per cent interest, compounded semi-annually," has been placed at the city rooms for signatures.

The Kate Thayer Concert Company appear at Music hall this evening. This company gave a concert at Manchester last week, and the Mirror said: "The entertainment was indeed of a high musical order, and feature of it were noticeably artistic to an unusually high degree. Most of the members of the troupe were strangers here, and they can congratulate themselves upon the favorable impression which they created. Miss Kate Thayer, the soprano, is a young lady who has only recently sought public recognition, but she is endowed with a voice which is sure to win admirers. It is quite pure, very flexible, strong and skillfully managed. She strikes her notes with remarkable precision, particularly in the staccato passages. Her manner is pleasingly free from affectation, and she was warmly received. The pianist, Mme. Teresa Carreno, is a performer of great power and brilliancy, entering into her music with an earnestness and spirit that carries her hearers captive. She was complimented on her each appearance with an encore. The baritone, Signor Tagliapietra, sang with much ability, and his efforts were heartily appreciated. He possesses a strikingly powerful voice. Mr. Arbuckle, always a great favorite here as elsewhere, added another to his long list of successes, and the audience was very hard to satisfy, demanding an encore twice."

It will cost a dollar to witness J. J. from the seats in the parquet, next month.

The prospect for frequent entertainments at Music hall for the coming thirty days is unprecedented.

An extra dividend amounting to over ninety thousand dollars was last week paid by the Strafford savings bank of Dover, being the accumulation of the last five years. The bank has been regularly paying semi-annual dividends.

The Swamscot Machine Co., of South Newmarket, is doing considerable business in the way of putting steam heating apparatus into buildings in Great Falls. Mr. A. A. Sanborn of Boston is also supplying several houses in that village with steam heaters.

Stillman B. Allen, Esq., is stumping Massachusetts in support of Hon. John D. Long, the republican candidate for governor of that State, who is Mr. Allen's law partner. Mr. Allen's reception wherever he has spoken has been flattering in the extreme.

The campers' spring on the beach at Pocahontas point, Gerrish's island, from which so many tenting parties and boat excursionists have procured water since its discovery ten years or so ago, is at present entirely dry, the first time such a thing is known to have occurred since the spring was found out.

There is no need of our sportsmen going twenty miles to the seashore for the privilege of firing away at ducks. There has been one in the river below the cotton mills all last week and this, which has been fired at any number of times by any number of persons, and still lives to tell the tale, and so far as bullets are concerned, will live for some time to come.—Gt. Falls Journal.

The deputy sheriffs of York county publicly announce that they will hereafter rigidly enfore the liquor law, and propose to seize all prohibited fluids, from lager up to New England rum. There has been a large trade in lager carried on in Saco and Biddeford for a year or more past, but it has now got to stop.

Charles Philbrick of Great Falls was walking the streets of Haverhill, Mass., on Friday, and stepped upon a grating in the sidewalk, which tipped, and he fell into a hole some seven or eight feet deep, injuring his spine so that it is doubtful if he ever recovers. The city of Haverhill will probably have to pay damages.

At a funeral in a neighboring town, recently, the officiating clergyman, after in the most sympathetic manner addressing some consolatory remarks to the bereaved husband, with not more than a "comma's interval" of time announced that there would be a bethel meeting at the church in the evening. There was nothing wrong in this, but some of those present thought it odd.

Messrs. John S. Sides and Adolph Nelson, watchmen at the navy yard, who were some days ago suspended by order of the civil engineer of the yard, have been put back to duty by order of the bureau of yards and docks. The suspension we are informed was against the wishes of Capt. Young, captain of the yard, who has command of all watchmen, and was only allowed pending the decision of the bureau.

Mr. Editor: It is a satisfaction to know that the city government is at last aroused to its duty in regard to the protection of the public at the railroad crossings; we say the railroad crossings, for it can only be inferred from the non-mention of the dangerous branches to the breweries, that these last are to be ordered removed. They never should have been permitted, being dangerous to every one having to cross them, and a great injury to the streets and to all property along them. Public good may call for street crossings of public roads at grade, but there is great wrong to all but the brewers in permitting these private tracks across principal avenues; though they may add two cents a barrel to the two dollars profit, the public is injured and the city responsible for the damages incurred, of which there is great risk. No word can justly be said in their defence. P. G.

DIDN'T WANT FREEDOM.

Major Urch last week hauled up on the river bank, near his house at Newcastle bridge, the tank in which he kept his pair of seals last summer; and one of the seals having a short time ago died, the major sadly turned the other adrift in the river, thinking it too bad to keep the poor creature apart from its kind, yet parting with it in much the same frame of mind as a man parts with a favorite dog. The seal, which is as tame as a dog, and much more gentle and affectionate than many dogs, at first made use of its liberty to have a good swim around in the river, coming up alongside of every boat it saw, and saluting the surprised occupants with its whistling cry; but at length tiring of this it returned to the bridge, only to find its summer home gone. For about four hours the homeless seal hunted for its tank, evincing distress at not being able to find it, as plainly as a dog shows trouble when his master is gone; but at last it saw the tank on the bank, and with extravagant demonstrations of joy flopped across the intervening beach and clambered into its loved habitation, now entirely free of water, and there it still remained the last we heard. The seal is a very easily-tamed fish, or quadruped, or whatever the reader chooses to call it, and will thrive through the winter without any water at all, if it can only get a soft plank to lie on and an occasional fish to eat. The major had best put his amphibious pet in the barn.

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, Oct. 20; Batchelder, J.

Rachel Russell, for drunkenness, (case continued from Saturday,) was fined $3, costs $6.90.

Philip Kirby was complained of for an assault on David Flynn, the alleged assault consisting of the spattering of Flynn with mortar by Kirby, who is working on the Franklin block, and was mixing mortar at the time, Flynn having just dunned Kirby for the payment of eighty cents. Case dismissed.

THE ELIOT BRIDGE COMPANY.

The legislature in 1879 incorporated John Bracewell, Charles H. Sawyer and other Dover gentlemen under the above title, with power to erect a bridge over the Salmon Falls river between Rollinsford and South Berwick. Messrs. Bracewell and Sawyer have fine estates on York bluff, which they wish to reach by a more direct road from Dover to York than can now be found; Mr. Flynn would like the contract for building the bridge, and a short cut to Dover from his home in Quamphegan. The capital stock is unlimited; and the question is will the corporators build the bridge and keep it up for a while, and then compel the towns of Rollinsford and South Berwick to purchase and maintain the bridge, or not. It is hardly to be presumed that when a bridge like Portsmouth bridge can collect hardly enough tolls to keep it in repair, that this bridge, which must be less of a thoroughfare, shall be a profitable investment to the stockholders. That we presume is not expected. So much of the trade of Eliot goes to Kittery, where in good times when work is being done on the navy yard so many Eliot people trade; and again, so many go by boats from that town instead of by teams, that it will hardly be possible for the traffic of the region round about South Berwick to keep the bridge in paying condition. The experiment of reducing the tolls on the Portsmonth bridge, attempted some time since, seems to have failed, as the company shew the tolls simply kept the structure in proper repair.

PISCATAQUA YACHT CLUB.

There is some talk of organizing a yacht club here, and we think it would be a good thing. There is ample time between now and the opening of the yachting season next year to arrange all the details; and there are enough fine boats on both sides of the river to start the Piscataqua Yacht Club out with a very respectable fleet. No great expense need attach to the formation or continuance of a club, and such an institution would give a great impetus to the manly and invigorating sport of yachting, besides probably affording the public the pleasure of witnessing a number of interesting races every season. With the natural advantages our river and harbor offer for yacht sailing, and the number of fine boats and skillful yachtsmen to be found on either side of the river, it is only to be wondered at that a club was not long ago called into existence. We hope the movement will not end in talk, and that next season we shall see a dozen or twenty craft flying the club pennant.

THE HOTEL WENTWORTH.

Outside this fine establishment in Newcastle is a scene of busy activity. Mr. Joseph R. Holmes, with a gang of over thirty men, is engaged in blasting ledges, building cellar walls and laying out grounds for lawn tennis, etc. Easterly from the main house extends a cellar wall eighty feet in length, the foundations for the extension of the dining hall; while on the western side are being built the walls for the extension of the main house. This work is being done in the most substantial manner. The frame for the new part is daily expected to arrive, and will at once be put up. The new roof will be a great addition to the appearance of the house, which is to have three towers. The removal of ledges at the side of the house toward the village will afford room for a good drive-way to the stables, while a judicious removal of trees affords on all sides of the house grand views. The Wentworth, with its natural beautiful surroundings of sea and land, and by reason of the great popularity attained the past season from the unexceptional manner in which the experienced managers entertained their guests, cannot fail to become one of the most celebrated establishments of the kind on the coast; and we are glad to know that the great expectations of those who have long desired to see a well-appointed place of resort at this point, which should be second to none of the kind in this region, have at last been fully realized.

A GREAT FALLS DEVIL.

The Great Falls Journal of last week has a couple of items which cause grave doubts as to the population of that village being composed wholly of teetotallers. That paper says a "red devil" has been roaming about the lower part of the village o' nights, chasing people and scaring them horribly; and describes the demon as follows:

Persons who claim to have seen and had some experience with His Satanic Majesty say he is a very tall personage clothed in a long red cloak reaching to his cloven feet. A red mask covers his face and a pair of horns ornament his head, and he carries an iron bar in his hand. As no one has seen his back, but have in every case presented back to him, we haven't heard whether or not he has the traditional spiked tail.

That reference to a "spiked tail" betrays a most lamentable lack of acquaintance with the devil on the part of our brother of the Journal; the devil hasn't a "spiked tail" at all; on the contrary, his tail ends in an old-fashioned two-fluked whaling-iron, as Brother Fernald should well know, unless his Sunday school education was shockingly neglected in his youthful days. Oh, Ed! did you never feast your mind on the festive catechism?

In another item the Journal reports the appearance of the imp in broad daylight, "it" having been seen on the Boston & Maine railroad track, near the mills, by Mr. Harmon, a newsdealer, and several other persons, Thursday forenoon. That settles the question; the imp is not a devil at all, but a base and hypocritical imposter; real devils never appear in the daytime—that is, not to men whose sole beverage is cold water. We advise Bro. Fernald to investigate that devil with an ounce and a half of sand-bird shot, or four ounces of Turk's island salt and a ducking-gun; if he boilers under that treatment he may at once be put down as a mere make-believe devil, and unworthy of the slighest respect.

JOHN H. BAILEY,

RICE BLOCK,

16 Market and 1 Ladd Street.

—The reason why N. P. Willis left Pennsylvania and moved to Idlewild is said to have been that after he had named his home Glen Mary, a neighboring farmer, not to be outdone, dubbed his place Glen Betsey.

—First Senior: "I don't know what is the trouble, but every evening after I go out to call, my knee is so lame I can hardly walk home. It must be rheumatism." Second Senior: "You ought to change knees occasionally." First Student: "What? Change—" then, as a thought strikes him, "Oh, hum, yes. Let's take suthin."

—Sir Garnet Wolseley has employed John Dunn to prevent the smuggling of firearms into the Zulu country. According to the London World, John Dunn is the son of a lieutenant in the royal navy, who was killed by an elephant in Natal many years ago. John married a half-caste woman; but when he settled in Zululand he met of the chiefs, by way of making him thoroughly at home, sent daughters as offerings—gifts that he could not well refuse. He has for an Englishman, therefore, rather an unusual number of wives. There are twenty Zulu houris in his harem, besides the half-caste, and his family already consists of ninety little Dunns. His own profession for many years past has been that of "gun-running"—in other words, that of smuggling firearms across the frontier into Zululand, an operation he long conducted with noted success (thereby laying the foundation of his wealth) and which he is now to prevent others from carrying on.

Just Your Time

To make money safely, easily and rapidly, is now, while the stock market offers so many splendid opportunities. The combination system has had unprecedented success, and brings good fortune to thousands of shareholders in this and other countries. Investments of from $25 to $10,000 are thus consolidated into one vast capital, and operated by the best skill and experience, and the enormous profits, which are divided among shareholders every month. A New Orleans cotton dealer made $27,649.18 in two months. A Baltimore merchant received an aggregate profit of $9,642.04 from three combinations. A San Francisco mining agent made $22,438.16 from four combinations, his first investment being $100. Others have been equally fortunate. Every day there are new and grand opportunities. New explanatory circular, with "unerring rules for success," mailed by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

Medicinal Wine.

Physicians from the New York Board of Health have visited the Vineyards and Wine Cellars of Alfred Speer, of New York city; he is known to be one of the most extensive producers and dealers in Pure Medicinal Wines and Brandies in the United States. He makes a superior Port, known as Speer's Port Grape Wine, which took the highest premium at the Centennial. It is extensively prescribed by physicians as the most reliable Port for medicinal purposes. It is sold by Preston, Kimball, F. B. Coleman, and H. F. Gerrish.

We have no nervous tonic at once so reliable and convenient as Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosites, and we, therefore, gladly recommend it in the diseases of such organs as depend for health upon involuntary muscular action.

WHERE pangs the mortal flesh assail,
And give a bitterness to life,
Making the cheek with anguish pale,
Amid the fierce internal strife;
Then Sanford's Ginger soothes the pain,
And smiling Health seeks up again.

CAUTION.

Do you wish to have your hair cauterized from the scalp? No! Then beware of the new brood of vitriolic and caustic dyes got up by nostrum-mongers, who bear the same relation to the responsible chemist that bear to honest merchantmen. Remember that the experience of years and the very highest scientific endorsement guarantee the superiority of over every other in use. It is purely vegetable, infallible and instantaneous. Manufactured by J. CRISTADORO, No. 96 William Street, New York. Sold by all Druggists. Applied by all Hair Dressers.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D., New York City. eod&wtnov79

A GOOD PLAN

Anybody can learn to make money rapidly operating in Stocks, by the "Two Unerring Rules for Success," in Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s new circular; the combination method, which this firm has made so successful, enables people with large or small means to reap all the benefits of largest capital and best skill. Thousands of orders, in various sums, are pooled into one vast amount and co-operated as a mighty whole, thus securing to each shareholder all the advantages of the largest operator. Immense profits are divided monthly. Any amount, from $5 to $5,000, or more, can be used successfully. N. Y. Baptist Weekly, September 25th, 1878, says, "By the combination system $25 would make $75, or 5 per cent.; $50 pays $250, or 7 per cent.; $100 makes $1,000, or 10 per cent, on the stock, during the month, according to the market." Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, June 29th: "The combination method of operating stocks is the most successful ever adopted." New York Independent, Sept. 12th: "The combination system is founded upon correct business principles, and no person need be without an income while it is kept working by Messrs. Lawrence & Co." Brooklyn Journal, April 29th: "Our editor made a net profit of $101.75 from $20 in one of Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s combinations." New circular (mailed free) explains everything. Stocks and bonds wanted. Government bonds supplied. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y.

MODEL RANGE

Manufactured by Spicer & Peckham, of Providence, R. I. The Portable Cooking Range is the best adapted to do work surely and quickly, of any device yet made. There are many sizes. They do all work evenly and steadily, with a great saving of fuel. No expense has been spared to make the Model Range first-class in every particular, and it is presented to the public as one that is admitted even by competing manufacturers to be the most neatly ornamented and perfectly proportioned Range yet made.

The top is double, and very large, with extension shelf and towel rack attached at either end. The fire box is arranged with express reference to economy, and easily repaired; the grate can be taken out without moving the brick lining. The ash sifter is perfect in its operation, and free from dust. The oven is very large, ventilated properly, and bakes thoroughly. The ash-pan is especially convenient. The ventilated broiler doors make perfect combustion and economy of fuel. Durability, cleanliness, ease of management, great working capacity, rapid and perfect in operation. Pipe collar adjustable for either top or back of range. Patent check draft and curve flue will save one-third of the fuel that is usually wasted. The door-knobs and name plate are nickel plated, making it very attractive for the home. The top is less likely to crack, being double.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 43 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful and world wide popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from a scrofulous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharge from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and so acrid as to cause excoriation and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellowish, cutting a foul odor, or it may be clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the membrane being dry and feverish, the face, front and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it was encircled by a tight, unyielding band. This latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free mattery discharges cause the passages to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The mattery matter gives the throat rather a constant desire to hawk and expectorate to throw it off; but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations, and hard lumps, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye is sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, ending frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when protration of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in the directions, mark it as a scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the esteem in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Export" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.80 per ton. The three shafts already show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "Metropolitan Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, (ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $3.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Daily Chronicle.

New Publications.

Owing to the large edition, increased size, double frontispieces, etc., of the November numbers of Scribner's Monthly and St. Nicholas, it has been found necessary to appoint the day of issue later than usual.—"Scribner's" for Oct. 22d, and "St. Nicholas" three days later. "Scribner's" is "an agricultural number," containing half a dozen papers of the highest interest to farmers and others interested in rural life, besides a portrait and copy of bass-relief of Bayard Taylor, and the beginning of a new serial story by George W. Cable. "St. Nicholas," permanently enlarged, printed on heavier paper, with wider margins, and having many special attractions, will be issued on the 25th. New volumes of both magazines are begun with these numbers.

"A True Republic," by Albert Stickney; New York, Harper & Brothers; pp. 271. Here indeed is a book upon a new subject—outside the newspapers and magazines. The work is written because the author thinks there is danger from party abuses. He complains, or perhaps we should say asserts, that as a rule our public men do their work not as well as they know how, but only as well as the interests of party will allow them. Many such men have good intentions, but they are bound by party ties. Parties, he maintains, control the selection of our public servants; no one can deny this, and it is hardly necessary to assert it, more than that it controls their action. The author says that men who remain in public life are compelled to yield to party, unable to resist the pressure which surrounds them. Three Presidents, Lincoln, Grant and Hayes,—each of whom most men will admit took the presidency with the intention of serving the people without regard to the interest of party, had to give up the project. As two of these sought re-election, of course they had to recognize the aid of party politics, and were well abused by their political opponents before they discovered that their friends were of the party that elected them. The book may serve a purpose to attract attention to an existing state of affairs, and perhaps suggest a remedy; but we must have a majority of "ins" and a minority of "outs" in a republic. The official who forgets his party friends soon ceases to possess such, and an end of his political career is at once seen. The book contains many truths uttered in a sober sense, and it would make good reading for Congressmen and statesmen; although the latter class, it is feared, has given place to politicians, and the true statesman is now, alas, a rara avis.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WESTMORELAND, N. H., Oct. 20th.

Considerable excitement prevails here concerning the gold and silver mine in Surry. This mine is situated at the north end of Surry mountain, and is said to contain gold, silver and lead ore in quantities rich enough to make mining profitable. Assays show that the gold and silver ore is worth some $18 to $20 per ton. A stock company has been formed, officers of the company chosen, etc. Now the company are ready to contract with parties to build a road from the Ashuelot river at the foot of the mountain up on to the mountain, so that timber can be taken up to build houses for the workmen, and the ore carried down to the river, where they propose to build mills for working and separating the ore, etc. The prospects are encouraging for this company to succeed, for no one doubts but that the above mentioned mine is a paying one, and if the company has got capital enough to go ahead, the scheme will doubtless be prosecuted with vigor.

Holland Bennett is building a new hotel on the site of the Valley house, which was recently destroyed by fire. The new hotel will be a larger and more commodious building than the old one. It is already slated, clapboarded and painted. The building is rapidly progressing and will soon be completed. o.

Set back 42 Years.

"I was troubled for many years with Kidney Complaint, Gravel, &c.; my blood became thin; I was dull and inactive; could hardly crawl about; was an old worn out man all over; could get nothing to help me, until I got Hop Bitters, and now I am a boy again. My blood and kidneys are all right, and I am as active as a man of forty, although I am seventy-two, and I have no doubt it will do as well for others of my age. It is worth a trial.—(Father.)—Sunday Mercury.

—"This is the healthiest place in America," said the landlord to the tourist; "nobody ever dies here." "No," replied the traveller, in the tone of a man who was thoroughly convinced of it; "no, I reckon not. Nobody would stay here long enough to die."

News and Notes.

Annie Dillion of New Haven, Conn., has taken a fatal dose of corrosive sublimate because her old lover, Thomas Heenan, who had married another girl, failed to elope with her as he agreed to.

Francis Haddock of Albany, Vt., seven years old, while playing recently with a loaded horse-pistol, fatally shot his sister Elizabeth, ten years old.

The loss of Freidenburg by the robbery at Philadelpha Saturday night was $4000, not $40,000.

Wm. Hogg, an old and respected business man of Bloomington, Ill., shot his daughter Mary, aged eigiteen years, in the parlor of his house, on Monday, then called his son Willie, twelve years old, into the house, and shot him through the head, and then went to the woodshed and blew out his own brains. The son may recover.

At Milton, Wis., Monday, Henry Christianson murdered Edward Fogarty with an axe, and then with the assistance of Fogarty's wife attempted to destroy the body by burning. The guilty parties are under arrest.

Miss Martin, daughter of a prominent stock dealer residing near Minonk, Ill., war found in a sensesless condition near the railroad half a mile from her home on Monday morning, horribly mutilated from an attempt at rape. She had lain there twenty hours, having been assaulted by a young villain named Hannis Debon, while going home from church Sunday. Debon was arrested, indentified by the young lady, and jailed. He had cut her on the forehead and in the throat, one stab nearly severing the windpipe, and he returned to work Monday morning evidently believing her dead and all trace of the crime removed. He is stolidly indifferent, neither denying nor owning his authorship in the matter.

Chester B. McGregor of Eastport, Me., aged nineteen years, committed suicide on Sunday night by shooting himself through the brain. He had been a clerk for Cobb, Bates & Yerxa in Boston. Cause unknown.

Mrs. Pamelia G. Toothaker committed suicide at Richmond, Me., on Sunday, by drowning. She left a note saying that her body would be found in the river, and deliberately walked several rods across the flats, where her shawl and glasses were afterwards found, to the water. Domestic difficulties and mental aberration are the supposed causes for the deed.

A man at Montpelier, Vt., exhibited at the local fair three packages of butter from the same churning, but under different marks, and got first premium on one, second on the other, while the third was condemned as poor.

The recently elected governor of the Indians at Pete Dana's point, near Calais, Me., is, or was, unmarried. The Indians allow no such conditions to last, so steps were taken to marry him. The process is unique. Two of the tribe were constituted a committee to get him a wife. He braided seven straws together and gave to the committee. They went to Pleasant point and assembled all the squaws in their hall in a circle. One of the committee marched around the circle shaking a horn full of shot, while the other carried the braided straw and sang a solemn song or chant. After several times marching around, the braid was given to the maiden selected for the governor's wife. The first choice refused to marry him by throwing the braid on the floor. So the ceremony was repeated and a second choice made, and this time the fair one was willing, and retained the braid. Then the committee sent for the governor to meet the destined bride in Calais. He arrived on the next train.

Complaint comes from Turner's Falls, Mass., that the village is flooded with dangerous counterfeit silver dollars, perfect in form and color, having been silver plated, but a trifle light in weight.

Joseph R. Lockwood, of Stratford, Conn, the juror whose talk about the Bucholz case set aside the verdict, will be prosecuted. The penalty is $100 fine and costs.

New Hampshire Items.

Charles A. Nute of Ossipee was arrested and brought to Wolfeboro', Monday, upon a charge of attempt to rape a young lady school teacher belonging in Wolfeboro' on Friday last. A bearing was had before Justice Fox, and Nute was held in the sum of $300, and in default of bail he was committed to the county jail. His case will come before the grand jury at Ossipee.

H. H. Currier, a prominent lawyer of Salisbury, died Saturday of tubercular consumption. About eight years ago, while conversing with a trader in a gun store on Court street, Boston, a stranger entered, and taking up a small revolver, deliberately fired at Mr. Currier, the ball entering his left breast. The surgeon in attendance at the time failed to find the bullet, but the death of Mr. Currier is attributed to this cause. A post-mortem examination, Sunday, failed to find any bullet, but the left lung was completely destroyed, and also a portion of the right lung. His age was forty-two.

The water-works to be constructed in Nashua have been contracted for by the Pennichuck company, and the difference in the cost of iron at the time the company ordered its pipe and the present is $9,000 in favor of the company.

At an examination of candidates at Lebanon, Saturday, for the appointment to a cadet-ship at West Point from the third congressional district, George A. Putnam of Charlestown was chosen from six competitors to receive the appointment.

A daughter of John Edwards of Laconia was dangerously burned, Monday, by her clothing taking fire while washing.

Naval Affairs.

Flagship Powhatan, steamers Kearsarge and Marion, and schoolships Portsmouth and Saratoga, sailed from Fort Monroe on Monday for Yorktown, Va., to participate in the celebration Thursday.

Rear Adm. Howell, commanding the naval force on the European station, under date of Oct. 4th reports all the vessels of the squadron, viz.: the Trenton, (flagship,) Alliance, Enterprise, Quinnebaug and Wyoming, then at anchor in Villa Franche harbor, the health of the squadron continuing excellent.

Boatswain Edward Hughes and Sailmaker S. H. Boutwell are detached from the Kearsarge and placed on waiting orders.

The Elections.

The latest election returns received from Iowa, do not change the totals from the figures and estimates of the republican State central committee. Gov. Gear's majority over all competitors will be 24,000. His plurality over Trimble, democrat, will be about 80,000 and over Cambell, greenback, about 105,000. In the legislaturd, 26 out of 29 senators elected are republicans, and 83 out of 100 members of the House.

The latest reports from Ohio indicate that the republican majority in the legislature will be 33. The House will have 70 republicans and 44 democrats, and the and Senate 22 republicans and 15 democrats. The greenback vote seems to have almost entirely disappeared, the vote of the party not exceeding 10,000.

Democratic "Home Rule."

There never was a more impudent farce than this clamor for "home rule." It is only since the republican party succeeded to the executive department of the government that the democrats have developed their doctrine of leaving every community free to cheat, terrify and kill voters as much as it pleases. When the democrats held the government before the war they had no scruple about federal interference; and if they ever hold it again they will do as they did of old. Is it necessary to remind anybody how they marched troops into Kansas to control elections? How President Pierce sent United States soldiers to disperse the Free-State legislature at the point of the bayonet? How a federal marshal afterward broke up another legislature by throwing the president of the Senate and the speaker of the House, and ten or twelve of the principal members into jail? A committee of Congress, after careful investigation on the spot, reported that "every election" in Kansas had been controlled by armed pro-slavery democrats from Missouri. Nor was this a mere case of mob violence. The armed invaders were actively and perfunctiously supported by the democratic administration at Washington, and defended by the democratic statesmen in Congress. On at least one occasion, when a body of men invaded the territory from the slave States, for the purpose of running the elections to suit themselves, the United States marshal took them into pay as "deputies," and actually armed them with government muskets. When they lost control of the government, and could play such pranks no longer, they resolved to break up the Union. When the war was over, the first use they made of their leisure was to practice upon the enfranchised negroes the same violence they had attempted against the Free-State settlers of Kansas. Now they clamor to be "let alone" while they shoot their opponents in Mississippi and swindle them in New York. Well, if they wish to make a political campaign on that issue, the republican party will be happy to accommodate them.—N. Y. Tribune.

—"Simoons of cheers" and "cyclones of applause" are among the things with which political speeches are greeted in Massachusetts, according to the reports. The pathetic portions are probably responded to by a gulf stream of tears, and the funny stories by an aurora borealis of merriment.

AROUND HOME.

John Albee, Esq., of Newcastle, is delivering a course of lectures on the English language, in Concord.

It is estimated that two hundred bushels of cranberries have been picked on Gerrish's island this season.

Fifty-three vessels passed Whale's-back lighthouse, bound in for a harbor, inside of twenty-one minutes, Saturday afternoon.

The F. O. I. Y. C. club of this city are to give their first assembly of the season at Mechanics hall on Thursday evening. They will have a good time, no doubt.

Mr. John Hornby, master of transportation on the Eastern railroad, has tendered his resignation, to take effect during the latter part of November.

Eastern railroad stock sold in Boston at $28 per share on Tuesday, three hundred shares being taken at $27; Eastern railroad in New Hampshire sold at $80.

The Portsmouth Brewing Company have broken ground for a new three-story building, 76x56 feet, to be used as a tun-room and store-house for malt and hops, and the cellar for stock and pale ales, and porter.

The following characteristic laconic notice, sent by the chief justice of the supreme court in view of the recent post-office order, explains itself: "My post-office address is Salmon Falls, N. H., not Rollinsford. C. DOE."

"Comanche George" Anderson, the "tulula" beet-seed man, having served out a term in the house of correction at Ipswich, Mass., for swindling, has again got into trouble. He was arrested on Sunday in Boston on a similar charge.

The following are the officers of the New Hampshire State Teachers' Association for the ensuing year: President, E. B. Powers, Nashua; Secretaries, R. H. Perkins and S. W. Clarke, Portsmouth; Treasurer, E. Whipple, Reed's Ferry.

A small but appreciative audience attended the excellent concert that was given at Music hall Tuesday evening by the Kate Thayer company. The performers are all artistes, and nearly every number on the programme was persistently encored.

Miss May Belle Sherman, of Portland, Me., who last winter figured in several walking matches in this city, has just been declared the winner in a six days go-as-you-please contest in San Francisco, Cal., against eighteen competitors, winning $10,000.

David D. Badger, formerly of this city and shipbuilder for Hon. Daniel Marcy, is now a successful farmer in Newington. He sends daily to our market some of the best vegetables seen in town, and his bed of onions is the largest and best raised in Newington this year.

We are requested by the managers of the Direct United States Cable Co., to state that for the convenience of fishermen charts showing the position of the company's cables are deposited in the custom-house in this city and the cable-station at Rye beach, where they are open for inspection by masters of fishing vessels. A knowledge of the position of the cables may prevent the fouling of the same by anchors on the fishing grounds.

The annual convention of the New Hampshire Woman's Christian Temperance Union will commence a session in this city to-day, at 10 1-2 o'clock A. M., at the North church chapel on Middle street. Among the delegates from various parts of the State, three female Shakers from Canterbury will be present. In the evening the annual address will be given in the Methodist church by Mrs. M. H. Hunt of Hyde Park, Mass. The Woman's Temperance League of this city will entertain the delegates, and each day provide a dinner in the dining-room of the chapel. All ladies are invited to attend the sessions of the convention, and at the evening meeting the public are invited.

In a match game of foot ball, Saturday, between the Phillips Exeter academy team and the Harvard freshmen, at Exeter, the Harvard boys were badly beaten.

Daniel D. Perkins, a well-known citizen of Newmarket, died on Saturday last at the age of sixty years. He had been a member of the legislature, and selectman, and was noted as a breeder of many valuable horses.

The 12th annual convention of the Young Men's Christian associations and Evangelical churches of New Hampshire commences in the Congregational church at Rochester on Thursday, Oct. 23d, and continues four days.

Miss Sarah O. Jewett, who lives in South Berwick, Me., has sent forth another book, "Old Friends and New." Miss Jewett is of good stock. Her father was a widely-known and justly-appreciated physician, and her mother is the daughter of the venerable Wm. Perry, M. D., of Exeter. There is a charm about Miss Jewett's sketches. It is not so much what she writes as the manner in which she clothes her subjects, which we admire; she takes us through the good old places now left on one side by the changes in busines, but still enjoyable in the riches of past events, in the sweet dreamy days of undisturbed rest and repose; and how natural is the picture she here draws. "The garden gate opening with its tired creak, and shut with a crack, and smooth and shining in the wood, worn by the touch of so many hands," and the "whale's-tooth with the ship drawn on it, that was on the mantel-piece," all remind us of the old-fashioned eras in the good old New England places now almost exempt from "public haunt." Miss Jewett's pen-painting is accurate and true to life, and the interest of her readers grows with the appearance of new sketches. This book, like "Deephaven," is of the "Little Classic style," published by Messrs. Houghton, Osgood & Company of Boston, and is sold by W. G. Myers at the publishers' price, $1.25. In this vicinity, where the gifted young lady's writings have been so keenly appreciated, this new publication ought to meet with a ready sale.

POLICE COURT.

TUESDAY, Oct. 21; Batchelder, J.

James Gilchrist, (Scotty,) drunk, house of correction at Brentwood for sixty days, costs $6.90.

Alonzo Carrington, Dennis Leary, Nellie Fay and Georgie Littlefield, all drunk, fine $3 each, costs $6.90; Brentwood for all hands.

John Hunt, charged with lewd, obscene and indecent words in a public place, had his case continued to the 22d inst.; he recognized in the sum of $50 for his appearance.

SUPREME COURT--BINGHAM, J.

The October term of this court commenced Tuesday forenoon, Judge Bingham on the bench. Rev. Charles A. Holbrook offered prayer. The following is a list of the grand jury:

Nicholas E. Sonle, (foreman,) Exeter; Thomas L. Page, Atkinson; Hazen Sanborn, Auburn; John A. Robinson, Brentwood; Charles H. French, Candia; Geo. Hogk, Chester; Elbridge G. Philbrick, Danville; Albert F. Tilton, Deerfield; Hazen B. Underhill, Derry; Joseph A. Tilton, East Kingston; Daniel W. Cate, Epping; Phineas B. Beade, Fremont; Walter B. Norton, Greenland; James H. Emerson, Hampstead; John A. Towle, Hampton; Ruel F. Wheeler, Salem; Alden E. Pillsbury, Sandown; Eben F. Smith, Seabrook; Eli Beede, South Hampton; John Bunker, South Newmarket; Nathaniel Ramsdell, Stratham; John Campbell, Windham.

The grand jury are not expected to report until Friday, and the session of the court will probably last for several weeks.

The number of actions on the old docket is 309, and on the equity docket about eighty.

A LIVELY YACHT.

The Saturday Evening Star, a paper published in South Boston, says:

The yacht Water Witch, belonging to Hutchings & Pryor, in thirteen races has won thirteen prizes. She was sailed each time by Mr. Henry T. Hutchings, and has taken ten first prizes, two second prizes and one third prize.

That is considerable of a record, and one not often surpassed. Mr. Hutchings is a native of Kittery, and his first attempts at boat-sailing were made on the Piscataqua river. A match-race between his yacht Water Witch and Mr. Sam. Pillsbury's yacht Myth would be an interesting event to all boatmen on this river, and whichever won it might reasonably count the victory worth the winning, as the boats each appear to be the "boss" in their respective waters. We have a notion that we may see a race between them here next season, both skippers being at home on the Piscataqua, and neither being accustomed to sheer off from a proffered trial of speed with anything in the shape of a boat that comes along. We should like to see such a race, anyway.

"THE CROWN DIAMONDS."

This evening, at Music hall, Auber's charming opera "The Crown Diamonds," will be presented by Mr. John Stetson's English Opera Company. This organization is one of the most brilliant in the musical field, consisting of Miss Laura Schirmer, prima donna soprano; Miss Clara Poole, prima donna contralto; Mr. Clarence Hay, baritone; Mr. Charles R. Adams, the celebrated American tenor, who was last year tenor of the Kellogg Opera Company; Mr. Henry C. Peakes, the favorite American basso profundo; Mr. Alfred Wilkie, tenor, (who for a time was a member of the Unitarian quartette of this city); and a large and well-trained chorus of male and female voices. A fine orchestra under the direction of the favorite and well-known Boston violinist, Mr. John Mullaly, will furnish the instrumental music. An opportunity of witnessing a first-class opera at moderate rates is now presented, and we hope to see a crowded house. The company appeared at Worcester Monday evening, and the Spy of yesterday says: "The opera was finely put upon the stage, and the chorus was strong, well-blended and euphonious. In the first scene in the clang, clang, miners' chorus, they showed their capacity for effective work. * * Miss Laura Schirmer as Catarina pleased immensely in the bright and pretty music and entertaining plot of this opera. She was felicitous and attractive, whether in her free and frolic sovereignty among the coiners in the brigands' cave, or queen-like on the throne of Portugal. Her high and pure soprano voice is musical and flexible, and she executes the florid music with ease. Miss Clara Pool sustained the role of Diana with cleverness and grace. Mr. Stanley Felch took the part of the chief brigand at short notice, Mr. Peakes having been called away by illness in his family. He did well, however. Mr. Clarence Hay, the baritone, and Mr. Alfred Wilkie, as minister of state and military officer respectively filled their parts well. The audience, which was very musical in character, the profession being strongly represented, was very enthusiastic. Encores were frequent, and the singers were called before the curtain at the close of each act."

A Circus Romance.

When Barnum's pretty riding girl, Katie Stokes, was in Chicago, her father one day saw her talking to "Carl," the horse trainer. The angry Mr. Stokes walked up and struck the young trainer in the mouth, whereupon Kitty, in a manner that would do credit to a tragedy "star," sprang between them, crying, "Strike me, papa, but don't strike him!" This betrayed how far matters had gone, and the enraged managerial parent strode out and got a pistol. When he returned he held it to Carl's face to smell of, and swore that if he ever looked at Kitty again, much less spoke to her, he would shoot him down like a dog. But when they reached Pittsburg, and Mr. Stokes was called away on business, they left the tent one evening, went quietly to a minister's and were married.

To Unmarried Ladies.

The following items of advice to ladies remaining in a state of single blessedness, are extracted from the manuscript of an old dowager:

If you have blue eyes, languish.

If black eyes, affect spirit.

If you have pretty feet, wear short petticoats.

If you are the least doubtful as to that point, wear them long.

If you have good teeth, don't forget to laugh, now and then.

If you have bad ones, you must only simper.

While you are young, sit with your face to the light.

When you are a little advanced, sit with your back to the window.

If you have a bad voice, always speak in a low tone.

If it is acknowledged that you have a fine voice, never speak in a high tone.

If you dance well, dance seldom.

If you sing well, make no puerile excuses.

If you sing indifferently, hesitate not a moment when you are asked, for few persons are competent judges of singing, but every one is sensible of a desire to please.

If in conversation you think a person wrong, rather hint a difference of opinion, than offer a contradiction.

It is always in your power to make a friend by smiles; what folly to make enemies by frowns?

When you have any opportunity to praise, do it with all your heart.

When you are forced to blame, do it with reluctance.

If you are envious of another woman, never show it but by allowing her every good quality and perfection except those which she really possesses.

If you wish to let the world know you are in love with a particular man, treat him with formality, and every one else with ease and freedom.

If you are disposed to be pettish or insolent, it is better to exercise you ill-humor on your dog, or your cat, or your servant, than on your friend.

If you would preserve beauty, rise early.

If you would preserve esteem, be gentle.

If you would obtain power, be condescending.

If you would be happy, endeavor to promote the happiness of others.

Girls, Read This.

A recent writer to the Woman's Journal goes for banged hair as follows: "Every day I meet in the streets young ladies, who would otherwise look intelligent, reduced to the appearances of idiocy by a peculiar method of combing their hair down over their forehead. This hideous deformity is evidently copied from the patients of lunatic asylums and schools for the feeble minded. The effect is shocking. Although not fastidious, I shrink from these ladies as children shrink from a hideous mask. I am told that a lady thus is said to have her hair 'banged.' But it seems to me her sanity must be sadly banged, to thus deform herself."

Evidently Richard Grant White was no the first to bring forward emendations of the Shakspearian text, and hence the blindness in many passages therein must not be wholly ascribed to his instrumentality. Take, for instance, this: "Hang out your banners on the outward wall; the cry is still, they come." Now it would be simply puerile to presume that Macbeth should order the banners suspended from the outward wall, where the insolent foe who were still coming could so easily capture them. The reading is evidently a distorted one. Now supposing—a quite natural inference—that the women of those days banged their hair, what more sensible proposition from one of Macbeth's temperament than to "Hang the bangers on the outward wall; the cry is still they comb?" Accept this solution, and the passage becomes radiant with light.—Boston Transcript.

—A Western paper describes a very slim man as being tall enough to go into the woods and pick a mess of squirrels.

—The Buffalo Bill is the name of a hat recently made for a New York actress. It has an immense brim lined with narrow uncut velvet, and is trimmed with narrow velvet, rose-colored silk and plumes of maroon and rose color. Buffalo Bill may not be a good actor, but it is too bad to make him stand sponsor for that hat.

Bogus Certificates.

It is no vile drugged stuff, pretending to be made of wonderful foreign roots, barks, &c., and puffed up by long bogus certificates of pretended miraculous cures but a simple, pure, effective medicine, made of well known valuable remedies, that furnishes its own certificates by its cures. We refer to Hop Bitters, the purest and best of medicines. See another column.—Republican.

Sambuci Wine in New York Hospitals.

Dr. Harris, of the New York Hospital, finds Speer's Sambuci Wine an excellent tonic and gentle stimulant, and recommends it, especially for ladies. Dr. Parish, of Philadelphia, pronounces it to be a purely unadulterated wine, possessing much medicinal virtue, and uses it for its purity, fine flavor, medicinal properties, and non-intoxicative qualities, &c. Our limited space forbids any more extracts from letters of similar import from numerous physicians and clergymen. It has been found to be the best Wine for Dropsy, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint, the aged and infirm. It gives strength and vigor. Excellent for Females. Sold by Preston, Kimball, F. B. Coleman, and H. F. Gerrish.

To persons employed in constant mental toil, study or anxiety, Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites is especially adapted, namely, to Teachers, Clergymen, Editors, Lawyers and impecunious business men.

"As for the use of SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER, for diseases," said Mrs. Partington, holding the bottle up to the light, "it is one of the best specifications in the world for all sorts of maladies. A friend of mine used it for sciatica in the head, and forgot his pain, after he tried everything else. Bless you, there's nothing like it as a healing rostrum." Ike played a solitary game of marbles on the mat.

—A midnight broil—Oysters for two, after the opera is over.

—Mr. Bergh will shudder to learn that it is proposed to propagate on the Florida coast by cutting the live sponge into small pieces, attaching them to pieces of rock and sinking them to proper depths in suitable locations. Prof. Schmidt reports that in three years each piece will attain a remarkable size.

—They say the best cat preventive is a long tube such as is used by boys for blowing beans. With a paper of torpedoes and this implement a man can clean a back yard of these animals in an incredibly short time. When struck by a torpedo the cat never stops to say goodbye, but vaults over the garden fence with the rapidity of thought. The best of the matter is, the dose not injure the animals. Even those most friendly to them may use this weapon without a qualm of self-reproach.—Troy Press.

Cuticura

HUMORS OF THE SCALP, LOSS OF HAIR.

Loss of Hair in thousands of cases is due entirely to some form of scalp disease. Seventy-five per cent of the number of bald heads might be covered with hair by a judicious use of CUTICURA, assisted by CUTICURA SOAP. It is the most agreeable as well as the most effective hair restorer ever produced by man. It is medicinal in the truest sense of the word. All others are mere oleaginous mixture or poisonous dyes. None but CUTICURA possesses the specific medical properties that enable it to cure all humors and scaly diseases that inflame and irritate the scalp and hair glands and tubes, causing premature baldness. Moderate doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT will purify the oil and sweat glands of the virus of scrofulous humor of the blood and insure a permanent cure, when taken in connection with the outward application of CUTICURA.

SALT RHEUM AND DANDRUFF

Cured that several physicians had failed to treat successfully.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have had the Salt Rheum on my head and all through my hair, also on my legs, for the past four years, having suffered exceedingly with it. The dandruff falling from my hair was very annoying. I consulted several distinguished physicians in regard to it, and have taken their prescriptions as ordered but did not find any cure and but little relief. I was told by many persons who have the Salt Rheum, and who have been doctored for years, that there was no cure for it; that it was in the blood, and I should always have it, and I was almost inclined to agree with them, but a friend wanted me to try CUTICURA, made by your firm. I did, and to my astonishment, in less than three weeks, my head was entirely free from all Salt Rheum and Dandruff, and I cannot see any appearance of Salt Rheum on my person. I think it a wonderful remedy. Respectfully yours,

GEORGE A. MUDGE.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Feb. 6, 1878.

HUMOR OF THE SCALP

That was destroying the Hair cured with one box of CUTICURA.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I want to tell you what CUTICURA has done for me. About ten years ago my hair began falling out, caused by Humor of the Scalp. I tried various remedies, too numerous to mention, without relief, until I began using CUTICURA, one box of which has entirely cured me and new hair is beginning to grow. Respectfully, MRS. O. J. ROOT.

SCALD HEAD

For Nine Years cured when all other Remedies failed.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Since July last I have been using your CUTICURA for Scald Head, and it has cured me when all medicines that I have taken for nine years did me no good. I am now using it as a hair dressing, but my head is well. It keeps the hair in very nice condition. Yours truly, H. A. RAYMOND,

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful mode of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 43 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affection, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat.

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Its fundamental features and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from a scrofulous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which case the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and so acrid as to cause soreness and excoriation of the skin with which they become in contact, or thick and yellow, like mucilage in color, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the membrane being dry and feverish, the face, front and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it was encircled by a tight, unyielding band. This latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free matter discharges cause the passages to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The matter passing down the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate to throw it off; but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations, and hard masses, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, ending frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Everything is in preparation, every line in the directions, mark it as a scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the esteem in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of symptoms and prominent distinct cases, together with minute directions for effecting with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE a speedy and permanent cure. Also observations on diet and the general health, of vast importance to all afflicted with catarrh. It is wrapped about each bottle of the RADICAL CURE, or will be mailed free on receipt of stamp.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 60 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $25.00 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "Montezuma Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase such a mill, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares, of which are now offered at the subscription price of $3.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Subscriptions exceeding $100 may be sent by express, C. O. D., to

Daily Chronicle.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 20th.

The result of the October elections will be a theme for conversation a long time to come. There can be no doubt that they have changed the aspect of the political field in several respects. I have interviewed many authorities on both sides, and the outcome is very curious. I propose to write down the facts thus obtained, regardless of where it may hit.

First, as to the effect on the democratic presidential candidates in Ohio. The majority of opinion is that Senator Thurman is disposed of and forced out of the race by the result. Even many who were warmly sustaining his presidential aspirations before are now opposed to pressing him; they are generally favorable to an open contest, where the best man may win without regard to locality. That the locality argument received a severe blow I found to be the very general opinion. The feeling against Senator Thurman has grown as the later returns indicate that in the legislative districts, where, if anywhere, the democrats had an advantage, their losses appear to be most serious; showing, it is argued, that the verdict is even more emphatically against him than against Ewing, although Mr. Ewing's name isn't mentioned now for President as frequently as it used to be.

But who takes the place thus vacated by the Ohio election? It is a singular fact that the State is not thereby ruled out of the presidential contest, and that while Thurman and Ewing go down, Pendleton comes up. I find many democrats naming him for President. Why? For some reason Mr. Pendleton wasn't identified with the late contest; at any rate he took a very insignificant part in it. It is alleged, on one side, that he was not cordially invited, and on the other that he did not take cordially to the management. But be that as it may, his friends say it was not his funeral, and that its meaning is that Ohio's candidate must be Pendleton. That gentleman's presence here lends plausibility to that "boom."

I think, however, the more general opinion is that the chances of the democratic nomination have been driven from Ohio. Before the election, we were told that in case of democratic defeat there, the nomination would inevitably come east, and strike Tilden or Bayard. The event doesn't fully confirm this view. Democrats do not accept the result as a special rebuke to the soft-money advocates. I find some of them more disposed to attribute it to the late extra session of Congress. That of course militates against Senator Bayard equally with Mr. Thurman, while some of Mr. Tilden's friends are disposed to claim the honor for him, on the ground that he has not endorsed extreme State rights measures. But the tendency is still in other ways, I judge, and Gen. Hancock and Judge Davis are more in the mouths of democrats than ever before.

Speculation is equally free with the republican states already carefully made up. There can be no doubt that the Sherman "boom" is lifted a little; that is a common remark. It is equally plain that the republicans have taken on such a degree of confidence that the Grant "boom" has cooled slightly; that is, many who were for Grant because it was supposed his name would be necessary to carry the party through next year, now conclude that any prominent leader will do, and the general prejudice against a third term is consulted. I find very little concentration upon men, except perhaps a little farthing leaning towards both Blaine and Sherman—the Grant men almost universally preferring Blaine as a second choice. The chief significance is the change on the republican side effected by the Ohio result is in the fact that the disposition has become quite general, as in the democratic party, to leave the question of the nomination an open one, and to dispense with "movements" and "booms" until the national convention shall meet. As Gen. Grant would not take the nomination unless it came to him unanimously, this may be interpreted to mean that his friends have been told not to push him, as he prefers not to have it anyhow. Sambuci Wine in New York Hospitals.

Dr. Harris, of the New York Hospital, finds Speer's Sambuci Wine an excellent tonic and gentle stimulant, and recommends it, especially for ladies. Dr. Parish, of Philadelphia, pronounces it to be a purely unadulterated wine, possessing much medicinal virtue, and uses it for its purity, fine flavor, medicinal properties, and non-intoxicative qualities, &c. Our limited space forbids any more extracts from letters of similar import from numerous physicians and clergymen. It has been found to be the best Wine for Dropsy, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint, the aged and infirm. It gives strength and vigor. Excellent for Females. Sold by Preston, Kimball, F. B. Coleman, and H. F. Gerrish.

News and Notes.

It is said that the public schools in Jersey City are likely to be closed unless the sanitary authorities devise some method of expelling diphtheria and scarlet fever from these institutions, which at present threaten to overrun them. Scarlet fever is raging at Manhasset, L. I. The schools are closed and people are leaving the village.

The county jail at Breckenridge, Minn., was burned one night recently, and the only prisoner, a colored man named Henry Wilson, burned to death.

The building activity at Bar Harbor, Mt. Desert, Me., is very great. Fifty buildings are now being put up there, and 300 or 400 mechanics will be steadily at work until next July. A railroad from Bangor is expected soon.

Blaikie, the referee in the alleged race between Hanlan and Courtney, has advised Hanlan that he cannot get the $6000 prize, and recommends that the two oarsmen pull for it.

Forty wrecked seamen belonging to ten vessels lost in the storm in the Gulf of Mexico, in September, (before reported) arrived at New York on a steamer from Vera Cruz, Sunday. They were cared for by the different consulates. No American vessels were lost.

James M. Fitz, of Hadley township, Mich., a worthless fellow, on the 18th inst. sold his carpenter tools, bought a revolver and bottle of whiskey, stole a horse, and shot his wife and daughter. The murderer has not yet been caught.

Advices received from Trynad, Cal., report the robbery of a train at Las Vojas. Five men seized the express messenger and rifled the express safe of $31,000, and escaped.

Ouray, the Ute chief who favors peace with the whites, has made two visits to Washington, and seeing the power and numbers of the whites has become in every sense of the word a peaceable Indian. He lives in a house, cultivates some sixty acres of ground, has a large flock of sheep, wears the clothing of a white man, rides in a covered wagon, and has largely adopted the habits and customs of civilization. He has learned to sign his name, and was in the habit of sending letters direct to President Grant, stating his grievances and what he wanted.

A well known business man of Newport, R. I., has just been confronted with his wife, who came from Italy, where he married her, and by whom he has had five children. He is also married to a Newport lady, by whom he has seven children. It is impossible to tell what steps will be taken by the authorities. The man recognizes wife number one, and during a recent trip to Naples lived with her. Wife number two had been left to believe that number one was head, and, in fact, had been so informed by her husband, and his mother as well.

Gen. Grant arrived in San Francisco from Portland, Oregon, on the 21st inst.

In the supreme court at Lawrence, Mass., on the 21st inst., Jeremiah Toomey and James Healey, who were indicted for manslaughter in killing Officer Alexander Griffin of Newburyport, July 4th, pleaded guilty to assault and were sentenced, Healey to one year in the house of correction, and Toomey to two years. Francis Stone of Lynn was adjudged guilty of committing abortion.

Not long since Mr. Lawrence Herdy, of Groveland, Mass., as a protection against the encroachment of hen thieves arranged a loaded gun so it would discharge when the door of the henery was opened. Going away one day he requested a neighbor to go in and get some eggs, forgetting to mention the gun. The neighbor went as directed, and off went the shooter, the charge taking effect in one of his hands.

Flora A. Shephard, a pretty young girl of twenty residing with her grandparents at Marcellus, N. Y., was engaged to be married to Henry A. Fulmer of Elbridge on Sunday, the 19th inst., but when the day arrived Fulmer came and said that he had heard suspicious stories regarding her character, and asked to have the marriage postponed until he could be assured that the stories were groundless. She offered to release him from the engagement, but he replied that he did not wish to be released. She requested him to go to church with her. He consented, and she went up to her chamber, ostensibly to dress. He waited several hours, and then sent her brother up to find out why she did not come back. He said his sister was in bed. He went up to her room and asked her what the matter was. She did not reply, but pointed to a paper on a stand. Fulmer read the paper. It was a will devising her property to a girl friend. He supposed that Flora had taken poison, and she confessed to her grandparents that she had eaten a quantity of cobalt. A doctor was called and prescribed for her, but after he left she took another dose of the drug and died at twelve o'clock that night.

James Hall, aged twenty-two, a boot maker at Milford, Mass., eloped with his employer's daughter, Annie Curran, aged thirteen years, on Monday night of this week.

F. L. Brantley, city marshal of Whitesburg, Ga., on the the night of the 18th inst. shot and killed two colored girls, the murder being wanton and unprovoked. The indignation of the people was so great that Brantley was compelled to leave town.

At Bennington, Vt., on Thursday night, the 16th inst., a Mr. Linch was on his way home when several men came up behind him and dealt him a blow which felled him to the ground, when they kicked him and broke his skull. He was discovered in the ditch Friday morning and taken home in a dying condition. Three men were arrested and lodged in jail Saturday, charged with committing the assault, and one has confessed the whole matter.

Joseph Lucas and Alfred Menard of Northampton, Mass., the first a barber and the second a shoe-maker, both Frenchmen, were killed while crossing the track of the Connecticut River railroad at Smith's Ferry, on the 21st inst. The horse which they were driving was also killed. It is a dangerous crossing, where trains cannot be seen when approaching.

It is stated that the present rates for ocean telegraphing between this country and England will be reduced to sixpence (12 1-2) per word as soon as the new French cable goes into operation.

The English government talk of sending Cetewayo to St. Helena. He is now in custody at Cape Castle, with four of his wives, but demands sixteen more.

New Publications.

The Granite Monthly for October has a fine steel engraving likeness of Ex-Gov Walter Harriman, with a sketch of the general's life.

Lippincott's Magazine for November is equal to any of its predecessors in richness and variety of interest. The contents in part are: "Latter Pompeian Days," the concluding paper of "Rambles of Three," by Margerot Bertha Wright. The fifth chapter of Dr. Oswald's "Summerland Sketches" describes the Sierra Madre, and gives a glimpse of convent-life in the mountainous region of Mexico. An article on Leadville, also well illustrated, will command attention, after all that has been published in regard to the "Carbonate City," by its copius information as to the value and prospects of the mines, its hints to the investors, and its graphic account of the manners and habits of the population. "Where the Beef Comes From" is the title of a timely and interesting paper on cattle-breeding in Texas and Colorado. And as we are now exporting so largely this new article of commerce to Europe the subject has a general interest. Dr. Alfred S. Gibbs has a paper on Goethe's mother, with extracts from her correspondence and sketches of her intimate friends, accompanied by an outline portrait of this remarkable woman. Citali Seton describes the organization and workings of the "Secret Societies of Southern Italy," and the problem they offer to Italian statesmanship. "The Bicyle, and Riding It," by J. Wilcox, indicates the inventions that have led to this new process of locomotion, already so popular in England, and sums up its advantages; and J. Brander Matthews discusses Sheridan's "Critic," which was first played a hundred years ago and still keeps its place on the stage. Among the stories in the number may be remembered "A Slight Misunderstanding," which is in the form of a comedietta, and needs but a few alterations to adapt it for private theatricals, a character sketch by Phillip Bourke Marston, and the first part of a very agreeably-written little tale, entitled "Aimee," which, like "Daisy Miller," deals with the life of a young American girl abroad. "The Monthly Gossip" treats of "Fall Shopping," "Emile Zola and the Prince Imperial," and other appropriate topics. The number abounds in illustrations and will be found enjoyable throughout. The magazine is well illustrated and finely printed, and is continually growing in favor with readers all over the country. The publishers omit nothing that will give the periodical a high rank among the magazine literature of the country.

Cleopatra's Needle in New York.

Under favorable circumstances, the Egyptian obelisk known as Cleopatra's Needle may be expected to arrive at New York by the end of the present year. Already the ponderous constructions for lowering and embarking it, specially manufactured at Trenton, have been shipped to Alexandria by the way of Liverpool, while the able naval commander who has at his own request been detailed for the work, and has designed the means that will be employed, is now on his way to Trieste in quest of the timber necessary for blocking, beds and ties. Unlike its sister obelisk, the Needle will be brought over in the hold of a steamer, into which it will be introduced through the bow port; the listing of the vessel being overcome by careening lighters prepared for heaving down on the opposite side, and its sinking under these combined weights being neutralized by pumping out the water ballast compartments. The operations of unloading and erecting the obelisk in New York will be the reverse of loading and lowering, and will be effected by precisely the same apparatus. The name of the public spirited citizen who has guaranteed the expense of transportation is as yet a profound secret, but it is well understood that for obtaining the gift of the Khedive—an act confirmed by his successor—as well as securing the money for its removal, the city is indebted to the persistent efforts of Mr. Hurlburt, editor of the World.

Important.

When you visit or leave New York city, save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire, and stop at Grand Union Hotel, nearly opposite Grand Central Depot. 350 elegant rooms reduced to $1 and upwards per day. THE WEATHER.

Cloudy and partly cloudy weather, with frequent light rains, warm southerly veering to colder nothwest winds, falling followed by rising barometer.

AROUND HOME.

The F. O. I. Y. C. club give their first dance at Mechanics' hall this evening.

Rev. C. B. Pitblado will deliver a lecture at the Methodist church this evening at 7:30 o'clock; subject, "Big boys and little boys."

Postmaster General Key says now that it was all a mistake. The order was not intended to prevent postmasters from forwarding letters to a known destination; it is simply to prevent them from fooling with letters when they do not know for what office they are intended. The apology is satisfactory.

The outside auditors of the excellent Thayer concert company, Tuesday evening of this week, were disgusted by the outrageous conduct of twenty-five or more young hoodlums, whose disgusting noises completely drowned the singing of the artists in Music hall. Happily the police appeared, and the scum went down Warren street like a rushing whirlwind.

Arbuckle, the celebrated cornet player, speaking of Mr. Frank Burnham, formerly of this city and cornet player in the Marine band, and now leader of the Portland theatre orchestra, says he is a very reliable and competent musician, either as leader, conductor or teacher, and one of the best cornetists in New England. Portsmouth people knew that of Frank before.

The new postal card can be sent to all countries represented in the union, including about all of Europe, China, Japan, Brazil, etc. The design necessarily contains more printing than the present card, and has a border something like the old one. At the top are words, "Universal Postal Union," a little curved and repeated in smaller type, "United States of America," also repeated in French, and then the line, in English only, "Write only the address on this side." The stamp is a well-designed head of Liberty, surrounded by an elliptical border with a figure "2" on each side, and the words, "U. S. Postal Card," around it. The cards will begin to be issued early next month.

The name of Bill Coombs has been brought before the public quite prominently at various times within the last five or six years, but will not be heard of so much for some time to come, as he is now in the State prison, having been sent there for five years for the crime of robbery. Coombs for many years was an object of especial attention from the officers of the law, who were well assured that he was a thorough scoundrel, but he managed to escape all but the most trifling punishment for his crimes. His escape from Exeter jail, where he was serving out a sentence, and his subsequent recapture and return to jail by Sheriff Kent, who found him in one of the western States, will be well remembered; as also the attempt to make political capital against Col. Kent, for so doing. The crime for which Coombs is now in State prison was committed before his escape from Exeter jail.

Travellers over the Eastern railroad to and from Boston have noticed the fine buildings of the Atlantic Car Works, just beyond the compact part of Salem. When railroads were seeing flush times these works were projected, but the company built too good cars for prices charged, and the enterprise was not a success. Latterly the property was owned by the late Francis Dane, and at his decease was lying idle, a sad sight to the passer-by, as the buildings were good and the locality convenient for manufacturing purposes. Now we hear that the property has been purchased by Mr. William H. Thompson, proprietor of the Lowell felting mills, for the sum of $10,000, not including the machinery. As soon as the necessary arrangements can be effected the Lowell Felting company will occupy a portion of the buildings and will begin the manufacture of felts. It is also understood that a large corporation, with abundant capital, will soon occupy the larger of the buildings for the purpose of conducting a different branch of manufacturing. We are glad to learn that the property will be put to a good use, and the increased activity there will doubtless be felt in its results in Salem.

A new shoe manufactory, one hundred and thirty feet long and forty feet wide, is to be at once put up in Dover.

Mr. Joseph N. Brackett and wife, of Newmarket, celebrated their golden wedding recently. Four generations of the family were present.

Fishing schooner Delia Maria, Capt. Charles Jackman, of Gloucester, Mass., in going out of this harbor a few days ago struck on a ledge, and lost part of her keel. She proceeded to Gloucester, where she will be repaired.

Another schooner is to be built by Dover parties, and the stock is all taken by about fifteen men. She will cost $14,000 or $15,000. Proposals are now being received from competent ship builders for her construction. Investors in the stock of the other two schooners found a big bonanza, receiving a dividend of twenty per cent last year.—Democrat.

The quarterly meeting of the Piscataqua Ministerial Association of the Congregational church met in Epping on Tuesday of this week. Essays were read by Rev. G. B. Spaulding of Dover, Rev. W. C. Jackson of Brentwood, Rev. A. B. Peabody of Stratham and Rev. Mr. Webb of Great Falls.

The city marshal of Saco and Deputy Sheriff Marr on the 20th inst. raided the saloon of James Foy, and captured a small quantity of whiskey and eighteen bottles of lager beer. Foy was taken before the court, and fined $30 and costs for a single sale of liquor, the warrant on search and seizure being suspended during his good behavior.

Coming on Saturday evening, at Music hall, Miss Kate Claxton, the well-known artiste, in a new play entitled The Double Marriage, a dramatization from Charles Reade's "White Lies." The movement of the play is rapid. The central idea is the embarrassing situation of a young women who marries a second husband after supposing that the first, to whom she had been united by a civil magistrate under the existing French laws, had been slain in battle. A child by the second husband complicates matters seriously, when the first turns up unharmed and eager to claim his bride.

We understand that the veteran soldiers of Portsmouth, pretty generally decline to join in a petition to Congress asking to be reimbursed by the payment of the difference between the value of depreciated currency and gold during the war. They believe that the government was not to blame for the depreciation of its paper currency, and that they have no claim against the government on account of such depreciation any more than have the thousands of other government employes, the members of Congress and the President, or the employes of private individuals or corporations, who were at the same time paid in the same currency.

The Kate Thayer concert on Tuesday evening of this week was one of the best given here for years. Miss Thayer has a very pure, musical voice, and manages it with consummate skill. Mrs. Helen Norman, who is a sister of the well known baritone, William Carleton, possesses a pleasing and powerful contralto voice, which has been highly trained. The baritone, Signor Tagliapietra, is an artiste; and Arbuckle, as a cornet player, heads the list in his line in this country. Mme. Teresa Carreno's piano playing captivated the audience, and won applause from persons who commonly care but little for high-class music on the piano. Altogether the concert was one of unusual excellence, and lovers of good music who did not attend missed a rare treat, which was greatly enjoyed by those who had the good fortune to be present.

A handsome monument to the memory the late John E. Lyon, formerly president of the Boston, Concord & Montreal railroad, arrived a few days since from Concord and has been set up by Mr. John S. Treat of this city in the burial ground Elm street. The base is a fine specimen of Concord granite, hammered, three feet six inches square and eighteen inches high; the main shaft or die is about two feet six inches square and five feet high, and on each of its four faces is a raised shield, and on one shield in raised letters is the inscription, "John Lyon 1809—1878." This shaft is surmounted with a handsome capping; and although this would seem to be a complete monument in itself, there is another smaller shaft rising from the main structure, with raised panels and artistic cap. The lot is enclosed with a corbing of hammered Concord granite. The monument, with the exception of the base, is of fine Italian marble.

THE CROWN DIAMONDS.

Mr. John Stetson's English Opera Company were greeted by a fair audience at Music hall on Wednesday evening, when Auber's pleasing opera "The Crown Diamonds" was presented, with a strong cast. Miss Laura Schirmer made a charmingly attractive brigand queen, and executed the florid music of her part with ease, her voice being pure, musical and remarkably flexible; besides, she is a pleasing actress and very pretty, so no wonder she was cordially received. Miss Clara Poole, the prima donna contralto of the company, is a very fine singer, and took the part of Diana satisfactorily. Mr. Stanley Felch, the well known basso, appeared as the chief brigand, so it is needless to say the character was well taken its and music well sung. Mr. Clarence Hay, baritone, and Messrs. Alfred Wilkie and Charles R. Adams, tenors, took their parts well. The chorus is very large, well-trained and effective; the orchestra is efficient; and the opera as presented, with its entertaining plot and bright and pretty—and sometimes noisy—music, was greatly enjoyed by the audience, and shown by the liberal applause.

POLICE COURT.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 22; Batchelder, J.

John Hunt was before the court on a charge of using obscene language in a public place, his case having been continued from the previous day. Case dismissed.

THE RACES.

Free for all race, purse $100, divided into three prizes, 1st money taken by spotted gelding Spot, owned by A. L. Emerson of York; 2d, Henry R. Stoddard's bay mare Nellie; 3d, Eli S. Fay's bay gelding Forbidden Fruit. Best time 2:43.

Three-minute class, purse $100, divided into four prizes: 1st, Woodbury Locke's bay gelding Woodbury Morrill; 2d, Harry Garland's black gelding Joe; 3d, Wm. Fernald's bay gelding Yankee Locke; 4th E. D. Stoddard's white gelding Ned. Best time 2:50.

RYE LETTER.

RYE, Oct. 20th.

The apple crop is quite large here this season. Mr. Amos P. Brown will get nearly three hundred barrels; Charles Garland and C. Gilman Garland, two hundred barrels; James H. Perkins, two hundred barrels; and the crop is good in general, and of good quality.

The funeral of Mr. Thomas H. Philbrick took place last Wednesday from his late residence, a large number of his friends and neighbors being present. He was a respected member of New Hampshire Lodge and Mt. Sinai Encampment of Odd Fellows, of Portsmouth; delegations from each of these organizations were present, and had charge of the funeral arrangements. The services were conducted by Rev. Ira S. Jones, pastor of the Christian church, who spoke in well-chosen words of the deceased, and in eloquent terms of Odd Fellowship and the great good done by the order. Mr. Jones is one of the fraternity. Mr. Philbrick has been confined to his house since last December by paralysis; he was helpless, and suffered a great deal. He was formerly for twelve years an efficient watchman on the navy yard; he was an industrious and worthy citizen and good neighbor, and leaves quite a large family. Bro. Philbrick was the sixth Odd Fellow to die in this town within a few years, and the third member of New Hampshire Lodge.

Mr. James H. Perkins, an enterprising young farmer of this town, has half an acre of sugar beets, and estimates his crop at ten tons; this beats anything in this town. He will also have a fine crop of mangel wurtzels, and has picked five hundred boxes of strawberries from his vines this season.

Mr. Emery H. Jenness has an apple, grown in his orchard, which measures 13 1-2 inches around one way and 13 3-4 the other, and weighs 17 1-2 ounces. This apple for size cannot be beaten in town.

Hon. E. B. Philbrick is having an addition put on his boarding-house at the beach, and a new roof put on the old part. Mr. Breed, a carpenter of North Hampton, is doing the work. SCRIBE.

George A. Page of Rye, (formerly of Hampton,) who was employed at the steam-mill at Greenland, has left for parts unknown, a note to that effect having been found. He left behind a wife and child in a destitute circumstances; also bills for rent, groceries, etc., to a considerable amount. Page, it is reported, has recently been engaged in something of a seriously improper nature, and other parties may have good cause to tremble, of whom better things were expected. Mr. Brown, whose tenant Page was, had show him and his family every kindness and encouragement, and continues to do the same by his family. Vanity and extravagance, that bane of this fast age, which carries so many into the whirlpool of dishonesty, disgrace and destruction, may have had something to do with this case. BREAKFAST HILL.

Political.

The Boston Post of the 23d says: "The Louisiana republican convention completed the State ticket yesterday, and adopted resolutions in favor of establishing a limited monarchy with Grant for President." That is simply a deliberate lie on the part of the Post. What the convention resolved was that "We hold our government is national in character and composed of States free in their spheres, but subordinate to the national government."

Representative Singleton of Mississippi, in a recent speech endorsed the murder of Dixon by Barksdale at Yazoo, declaring that it was done to avert a "race issue." Dixon demanded that the colored voters should have a right to vote, and that was all the race issue threatened. Lamar and Fort Pillow Chalmers have not yet made any public allusion to the Yazoo murder in their speeches, so it is presumed they have not yet heard of it.

Bogus Certificates.

It is no vile drugged stuff, pretending to be made of wonderful foreign roots, barks, &c., and puffed up by long bogus certificates of pretended miraculous cures but a simple, pure, effective medicine, made of well known valuable remedies, that furnishes its own certificates by its cures. We refer to Hop Bitters, the purest and best of medicines. See another column.—Republican.

Set back 42 Years.

"I was troubled for many years with Kidney Complaint, Gravel, &c.; my blood became thin; I was dull and inactive; could hardly crawl about; was an old worn out man all over; could get nothing to help me, until I got Hop Bitters, and now I am a boy again. My blood and kidneys are all right, and I am as active as a man of forty, although I am seventy-two, and I have no doubt it will do as well for others of my age. It is worth a trial.—(Father.)—Sunday Mercury.

"As for the use of SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER, for diseases," said Mrs. Partington, holding the bottle up to the light, "it is one of the best specifications in the world for all sorts of melodies. A friend of mine used it for sciatica in the head, and forgot his pain, after he tried everything else. Bless you, there's nothing like it as a healing rostrum." He played a solitary game of marbles on the mat.

Rich Speculations.

A brakeman on a Western railroad placed $20 in a combination, which turned a profit of 3 7-8 per cent., equal to $357.50 per one hundred shares, netting a profit of $193.75 in addition to the $20 he invested. A conductor made $1,276.24 in two combinations. The superintendent of an Eastern railway made $16,310.13 in three combinations. Others have also made large profits. This system of stock speculations consolidates the interests of thousands into one whole, dividing the profits pro rata every thirty day. The combinations handled with the best skill and experience, attain great success in the stock market. From $20 to $10,000 can thus be invested with vast advantage. The new explanatory circular, with "unerring rules for success," mailed by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

Cuticura

HUMORS OF THE SCALP. LOSS OF HAIR.

Loss of Hair in thousands of cases is the entirely to some form of scalp disease. Seventy-five per cent of the number of bald heads might be covered with hair by a judicious use of CUTICURA, assisted by CUTICURA SOAP. It is the most agreeable as well as the most effective hair restorer ever produced by man. It is medicinal in the truest sense of the word. All others are some elegant mixture or poisonous dye. None but CUTICURA possesses the specific medical properties that enable it to cure all itching and scaly diseases that inflame and irritate the scalp and hair glands and tubes, causing premature baldness. Medium doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT will purify the oil and sweat glands of the virus of scrofulous humor of the blood and insure a permanent cure, when taken in connection with the outward application of CUTICURA.

SALT RHEUM AND DANDRUFF

Cured that several physicians had failed to treat successfully.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have had the Salt Rheum on my head and all through my hair, also on my legs, for the past four years, having suffered exceedingly with it. The dandruff falling from my hair was very annoying. I consulted several distinguished physicians in regard to it, and have taken their prescriptions at a cost of expense but did not find any cure and but little relief. I was told by many persons who have the Salt Rheum, and who have been doctored for years, that there was no cure for it; that it was in the blood, and I should always have it, and I was almost inclined to agree with them, but a friend wanted me to try CUTICURA, made by your firm. I did, and to my astonishment, in less than three weeks, my head was entirely free from all Salt Rheum and Dandruff, and I cannot see any appearance of Salt Rheum on my person. I think it a wonderful remedy. Respectfully yours,

GEORGE A. MUDGE.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Feb. 6, 1878.

HUMOR OF THE SCALP

That was destroying the Hair cured with one box of CUTICURA.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I want to tell you what CUTICURA has done for me. About ten years ago my hair began falling out, caused by Humor of the Scalp. I tried various remedies, too numerous to mention, without relief, until I began using CUTICURA, one box of which has entirely cured me and new hair is beginning to grow. Respectfully, MRS. O. J. ROOT.

SCALD HEAD

For Nine Years cured when all other Remedies failed.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Since July last I have been using your CUTICURA for Scald Head, and it has cured me when all medicines that I have taken for nine years did me no good. I am now using it as a hair dressing, but my head is well. It keeps the hair in very nice condition. Yours truly, H. A. RAYMOND,

Auditor Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R. R.
JACKSON, MICH., Dec. 20, 1879.

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 43 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once fancied himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

BEWARE of a man named Sherman, who, taking advantage of my reputation calls himself Dr. Sherman, alias Dr. S. Sherman, alias Dr. S. J. Sherman, pretending to be famous for the cure of Rupture. He is a bold cheat, hoping to impose on and victimize the afflicted. Preserve this advertisement and show it to your afflicted friends. toc120

CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat,

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Transient attacks and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the elements of health are in a morbid or feverish condition, and the scarlet and vital forces exhausted. The discussing influences are the poisonous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and so acid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact, thick and mucilaginous, exhibiting a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the surfaces being dry and feverish, the face, front and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it was encircled by a tight, unyielding band. This latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free mattery discharges cause the nasal passages to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and in severe cases it becomes necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The matter passing down the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate to throw it off; but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations, and hard lumps, which adhere so firmly to the nasal membrane and distends it to the very point of pain, to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, ending frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with into immediate speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently assert can be found in no other remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in the directions, must tend in a decided manner to remove and control every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the esteem in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most distressing and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of symptoms and sympathetic diseases, together with minute directions for affording with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE a speedy and permanent cure. Also observations on diet and the general health, of vast importance to all afflicted with catarrh. It is wrapped about each bottle of the RADICAL CURE, or will be mailed free on receipt of stamp.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for use in all cases. Price, $1. Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2300 feet in length and 900 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 60 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.62 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "Metrackin Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, where it was sold by F. Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. Irish Landlords.

A large majority of the farmers of Ireland, says a letter writer, have no leases of the land they till, but pay the rent from year to year, liable at any time to be ejected, as sometimes they are for trivial offences. There seems no link of sympathy on the part of these landlords for the welfare or prosperity of their tenantry. The business part of receiving their rents is done through agents, and, unfortunately, these are valued in many instances by their employers on the ability to collect the rents without paying much attention as to the methods adopted. I have met and talked with many Irish farmers who never saw their landlord, although living on their places all their lives. There are some few good, kind hearted landlords in Ireland, who give encouragement and take an interest in their tenantry, and these show it at a glance, for they live in better houses and farm their land to better advantage. But the bulk of the landlords spend eight-tenths of their time and nine-tenths of their money in the South of France and England. They are, to sum it in a sentence, a miserable, worthless sort of absentees, who have it in their power to do so much if they would only try. The tenantry whom, as a rule, are hard working, industrious people, would meet them more than half way if they were offered any encouragement to better their condition, especially in their houses, many of which are not fit to house cattle.

Forms of Lightning.

The different forms of lightning are thus described by the Christian Union:

A flash of lightning is a very large spark of electricity; just the same thing that one sees given by an electric machine in a lecture on natural philosophy, the only difference being that the best machine will not give a spark more than a yard long, while some flashes of lightning have been estimated to be several miles in length.

According to their appearance, various names have been given to these sparks in the sky, though in reality all the several kinds are one and the same thing.

On a warm summer evening, one often sees the clouds on the horizon lit up with brilliant glows of lightning unaccompanied by any sound of thunder.

To this appearance the name of heat lightning has been given, and the warm weather is often assigned as its cause. In point of fact, the heat lightning is only that of a thunder shower so far off that, while the observer can see the flash, no sound of thunder reaches him, and the intervening clouds conceal and reflect the flash until it becomes a glow instead of the sharp streak usually seen.

Where the flash, starting from one point, branches out and divides into several parts, it has received the name of "forked lightning." This is usually seen when the the discharge is near the observer.

Single flashes bearing a zigzag or crinkled aspect are denominated "chain lightning," probably from their resemblance to a chain thrown loosely on the ground.

Again, when several discharges occur from about the same place at the same time, and are screened by rain or clouds so as to light up the heavens with a broad, bright glow, the title of "sheet lighting," is applied.

These four comprise all the common forms. There is, however, one rare manifestation, called "ball lighting." In this phenomenon, a small globe or ball of apparent fire rolls slowly along the ground, and after a time suddenly explodes, scattering destruction around. There are but few instances of this on record, and no very satisfactory explanation has ever accounted for this curious appearance.

"I was troubled for many years with Kidney Complaint, Gravel, &c.; my blood became thin; I was dull and inactive; could hardly crawl about; was an old worn out man all over; could get nothing to help me, until I got Hop Bitters, and now I am a boy again. My blood and kidneys are all right, and I am as active as a man of forty, although I am seventy-two, and I have done it with do as well for others of my age. It is worth a trial.—(Father.)—Sunday Mercury.

Sambuci Wine in New York Hospitals.

Dr. Harris, of the New York Hospital, finds Speer's Sambuci Wine an excellent tonic and gentle stimulant, and recommends it, especially for ladies. Dr. Parish, of Philadelphia, pronounces it to be a purely unadulterated wine, possessing much medicinal virtue, and uses it for its purity, fine flavor, medicinal properties, and non-intoxicative qualities, &c. Our limited space forbids any more extracts from letters of similar import from numerous physicians and clergymen. It has been found to be the best Wine for Dropsy, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint, the aged and infirm. It gives strength and vigor. Excellent for Females. Sold by Preston, Kimball, F. B. Coleman, and H. F. Gerrish.

—The weather is so warm in New York that one of the papers speaks of a "roasted chestnut man."

—French women now wear a small dahlia back of the ear in the same fashion as Spanish women wear roses. The effect is pretty.

—An abundance of guests and limited lodging rooms caused Jimmy to be "slept out" at a neighbor's. On arising in the morning he was invited to remain to breakfast. "Well, I guess not," he replied, "we have mighty good breakfasts at our house when we have company."

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1879.

News and Notes.

The Boston & Maine railroad pays a dividend of three per cent. Nov. 15th.

The grand jury at Bridgeport, Conn., on the 2d inst., presented an indictment for murder in the first degree against Mary E. Lounsbury for killing her husband, Rev. Dexter A. Lounsbury, at Stratford, Sept. 24th. Mrs. Lounsbury having been confined to her bed since her incarceration, will not be put to plead until the approach of her trial, which is not yet assigned.

Hanlan, the oarsman, accepts the proposal to row Courtney for the $5000 "Hop Bitters" prize.

Lieut. Williams, of the United States revenue steamer Richard Rush, recently arrived at San Francisco from Alaska, states that Capt. George W. Bailey, commandant of the vessel, was lost overboard during a gale on the 16th inst. Capt. Bailey was one of the most valuable officers in the revenue marine service. He was a native of Connecticut, and entered the revenue service March 7th, 1865, from New York.

By the burning of a Spanish steamer bound from Havana for Nuevitas, off Old Bahama channel on the 18th inst., forty-two lives were lost.

At Bull's City, Kan., on the 11th inst., Gen. H. C. Bull was attacked by an angry elk in his park, and killed. Robert Bricknell, a hired man, who was with him, was also attacked and killed, and two other men who went to the rescue were tossed upon the infuriated animal's antlers, one of them over a fence and the other upon it. Finally the village had to be summoned to subdue the creature. Forty-four wounds were found upon Gen. Bull's body.

Joseph A. Blair, who shot and killed his coachman, John Armstrong, last spring, has been acquitted by the jury at Newark, N. J.

Lewis Nuller, twenty-three years old, on the morning of the 22d inst. murdered his father and mother, and wounded an idiot brother, probably fatally, at Strongville, Ohio. The murderer has been estranged from his family for some time. He acknowledges the crime.

In the circuit court of Baltimore county, Md., on the 22d inst., the case Denwood B. Hinds, as principal, and his brother, Harry Hinds, as accessory, for the murder of Isaac James in Baltimore on the 16th of April last, came up for trial, and after the examination of a number of witnesses the State's attorney abandoned the prosecution and accepted a plea of self-defence by the accused, and the prisoners were discharged. Denwood B. Hinds was charged with ruining a daughter of James under a promise of marriage, the girl dying of shame when Hinds refused to redeem his promise. Her father met the Hinds brothers in the street and commenced shooting, but was himself killed in the melee.

Over two thousand persons perished by the recent floods in Spain. The cities of Europe are contributing for the relief of the survivors, many of them are left utterly destitute.

An autopsy on the remains of Cushing O. Ellms, found in the ruins of his house at North Scituate, Mass., shows that he met his death by burning, having previously received a blow on the head which fractured the skull. He was undoubtedly murdered.

The Agawam iron works of Wareham, Mass., which cost, five years ago, $250,000, were sold on the 21st inst. by auction for $25,000, to W. E. Coffin.

The third trial of Jason P. Scribner for murder began at Augusta, Me., on the 22d inst. On May 11th, 1878, the prisoner made an assault with a spade upon his wife and children, two of whom died from injuries received. He was tried in the fall of 1878, the indictment charging him with the murder of his daughter. He was found guilty of murder in the first degree. On the ground of an error in the indictment exceptions were allowed and argued, but no decision has yet been rendered. In the spring of 1879 Scribner came up for a second trial, the indictment charging him with the death of another child. At this trial the jury disagreed. The present trial is on the same indictment.

The barque George Kingman, of Boston, ran on Harding's ledge, Boston lower harbor, on the night of the 21st inst., and has bilged and filled.

British ship Naturalist, about nine months out from Calcutta for San Francisco, is given up for lost, and the insurance, amounting to $116,000, has been paid.

Mrs. Maria Morse and Mrs. Addie Osborne, of Worcester, Mass., and Mrs. Eliza Osborne, of Hopkinton, were arrested in Jordan, Marsh & Co.'s store in Boston on the 22d inst., for shoplifting. A large amount of property was found on them, which had been stolen from various stores in Boston. Much of the stolen property was indentified. The parties, who admit having committed the thefts, have always borne good names at their respective homes; and one of them left a nursing baby at home, to join in the raid on the Boston dry goods stores.

A gentleman employed on one of the Portland and New York boats makes quite a sum of money by his speculation in cats. He takes five or six cats to New York with him every time he goes there, and sells them to people who want pets or "mousers."

At the post-mortem examination of Dr. Le Moyne's body the very singular discovery was made that his brain weighed only forty-three ounces, six and a half ounces less than that of an average man, and one ounce less than that of an average woman.

New Hampshire Items.

The end of the Buzzell-Hanson murder case, which occurred in 1874 in the town of Brookfield, was reached on the 22d inst. in the supreme court at Ossipee. Charles W. Cook, the self-convicted principal in the murder of Susan A. Hanson, pleaded guilty of murder in the second degree; the plea was accepted by the State, and Chief Justice Doe gave him the extreme penalty of the law—thirty years in the State prison. It will be remembered that Joseph B. Buzzell, who instigated and was accessory to the murder, was hanged at Concord on the 10th of July last.

The mysterious murder of Alvan C. Foster, at Keene, on the 23d of May, 1876, is in a fair way of being cleared up. The grand jury has found indictments for murder against F. W. Dodge, of Bellows Falls; George R. Spencer, of Springfield, Vt., and Gideon Lee, of Chester, Vt. These parties were in town at the time of the murder, and from time to time have dropped a word here and there which has led to their indictment. The evidence so far obtained makes a strong case against them. Foster was agent for a large firm of nurserymen, and was found dead in a schoolhouse yard one morning with a sponge containing chloroform fastened over his mouth and nostrils.

On the 20th inst., in Colebrook, Inspector O. F. Stacy seized eight hundred pounds of smuggled wool while being unloaded by Geo. Hillard at the store of Merrill Bros. & Drew; Stacy also seized a team at the same time. The wool, which was of prime quality, came from Hereford, Canada. Hillard has once before been caught by the same officer, smuggling liquors across the line.

Enoch J. Chase, a native of Hopkinton, died recently in St. Johnsbury, Vt. The deceased began life poor, but became a wealthy farmer; was much engaged in public affairs during his business life; was twice representative and several times selectman. In old age he lost all his property, and became a stage driver in Vermont. His age was about eighty years.

The annual meeting of the Grand Division of Sons of Temperance of New Hampshire was held at Laconia on the 22d inst., and the following officers were elected: S. C. Keeler, Suncook, G. W. P.; J. C. Danforth, Concord, G. W. A.; O. M. Kimball, North Sutton, G. S.; E. C. Cole, Warner, G. T.; Rev. Lewis Malvern, Laconia, G. C.; James Talmsy, Dover, G. Con.; Oliver Randall, Newcastle, G. Sent.

At Newmarket, on the evening of the 22d inst., Mrs. John Broadhead fell down stairs with a pitcher in her hand. The Dover milkmen have caucussed and agreed to raise the price of milk to six cents a quart on the first of November, the present price being five cents. This is probably a result of the low state of the wells and springs. The Democrat suggests that the milk consumers also combine, to resist the increase in price, which it declares to be an extortion as there is plenty of profit on milk at five cents a quart.

The old barn on Warren street, in the rear of the Congregational chapel, was torn down on Thursday to make room for a stable which is to be put up there for the Rockingham house. A couple of dogs had a fine time killing the rats which were unhoused during the razing of the building, their string of "game" numbering about twenty-five, though they did not catch all they chased. The old lumber was given to a colored man for removing it.

The annual session of the New Hampshire Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held in this city on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Wednesday forenoon there were devotional exercises in the Congregational chapel on Middle street, conducted by Miss E. McIntire of Exeter, president of the organization, assisted by Mrs. C. H. Fitzgerald of Dover. Dinner was served the visitors by the Woman's Temperance League of this city. The afternoon was taken up in hearing reports from the various branches of the union in the State, nearly all of the reports being encouraging. In the evening the annual address was delivered in the Methodist church by M. H. Hunt of Hyde Park, Mass. Thursday the business meeting of the union was held.

Mr. George C. Jamieson had three fingers jammed, one of them being broken, while engaged in coupling cars on the Concord railroad wharf, on the 22d inst.

At the annual meeting of the Grand Division of Sons of Temperance of New Hampshire, held at Laconia on the 22d inst., Mr. Oliver Randall of Newcastle was chosen grand sentinel.

The contract for moving the present dwelling of Mr. Ezra H. Winchester, on Lafayette road, preparatory to the erection of an elegant house on the lot, has been taken by Mr. Moses Yeaton of this city.

Greenland, on the eastern railroad, has been made a registry station for trains. The Pullman trains each way stop at this station before entering or leaving the double track, and the conductors have to register their arrivals there accordingly.

The presentation here of the Crown Diamonds by Stetson's English Opera Company was the third public appearance of that troupe, considering which it was a remarkable and most creditable performance. The chorus is acknowledged to be the best and most powerful one heard here for years.

The police commissioners of Boston have refused to allow Jones' Juvenile Uncle Tom's Cabin Company to perform in that city, the superintendent of public schools having strongly protested against such performances, urging the bad effect in the way of unsettling the minds of children in the schools. The company named is the one that recently performed Uncle Tom's Cabin at Music hall in this city.

As made up for the part of Robolledo, the brigand chief in the "Crown Diamonds," Mr Stanley Felch on Wednesday evening bore a striking resemblance to Mr. Harry Lombard of this city. We don't believe Harry would make a good robber chief, however, as he has never had any experience at gaining a livlihood any other way than honestly; and we don't believe he can sing half as well as Mr. Felch.

On Thursday afternoon one of the police force arrested and locked up in the station one William Goat on a charge of malicious mischief; in that he, the said William, did enter a garden and eat up a week's wash, two hoop skirts and a pile of empty preserve cans, the clam-shell borders of two flower beds, and all the flowers and plants he could discover, against the peace and dignity of the State and the statutes in such case made and provided.

Few actresses are better known in America than Kate Claxton. She is an actress of great power and feeling, and is endowed by nature with personal charms that scarcely fail to achieve for her the immediate favor of her audience. Miss Claxton will appear here on Saturday evening in the Parisian drama of "The Double Marriage." It is an emotional play of a very high order. The work of dramatization (it being originally written by Charles Reade) has been successfully done, and it is rich in thrilling situations and strong in effective and affecting incidents. We copy from the Baltimore American's criticism:

The play is an excellent one; in fact, one of the best of the season. The emotional becomes once or twice almost but not quite sensational, but comedy bits are interspersed all the way through, and the effect of the whole is more than satisfactory. The evenness of the whole rendering was charmingly commendable. No one character was too prominently brought forward, but each dovetailed with the other as appropriately as refreshingly. Miss Claxton's "Josephino" was finely played. She has, above all other merits, a pathos of voice, of gesture and of facial expression that appeal most strongly to the feelings of an audience in a play of this character. The "Dujardin" of Mr. Charles Stevenson was quietly, naturally, and hence admirably played. He is possessed of a remarkably attractive stage presence, and reminds one at times of the most pleasant of Rignold's parts, and also upon occasion of the delicate and refined touches that Montague so well knew how to give.

Hon. Moses Morrill Butler, who was mayor of Portland, Me., in 1877 and '78, died on the 21st. from paralysis. Mr. Butler was born in Sanford, York county, in 1824, his father being Ichabod Butler, a lawyer of Sanford, and his mother a daughter of Capt. Daa'l Wise of Kennebunk. His father, by his mother's side, was connected with the Wentworth family of New Hampshire, and was born and brought up in South Berwick; the hill back of the village in that town is called Butler hill up to the present time, having been part of the family estate.

SUPREME COURT--BINGHAM, J.

THURSDAY, Oct. 23d.

Libel for divorce Louisa F. Carr vs. Joseph C. Carr, was heard; divorce decreed; Leavitt for libellant.

The court adjourned in the forenoon, to Friday morning. In the afternoon the judge heard cases in chambers.

DEATH OF HON. JOHN H. BAILEY.

At about eight o'clock Thursday evening Hon. John H. Bailey was prostrated with heart disease; Dr. Parsons was quickly in attendance, but at about half-past nine o'clock Mr. Bailey passed away. On the Saturday previous he had a severe attack of heart trouble while in his store, and was unconscious for some time; and in conversation with Mr. S. W. Clarke, on Thursday afternoon, he spoke of his disease in a manner indicating that he thought it probable that his end was near.

Mr. Bailey, though not an old man, was one of the older merchants of the city, having been in the hardware trade for many years; and in business, as in social life and political affairs, he was ever upright and honorable, and deservedly successful. He at different times filled the offices of collector of customs for this port, mayor of the city, State senator from this district, and held other positions of trust and responsibility.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening:

Benjamin W. Curtis asked permission to open Court street for the purpose of repairing drain and to encumber Charles street for the purpose of repairing building; granted.

George A. Jackson asked leave to encumber Bow street for building purposes; granted.

Oliver H. Locke asked permission to encumber Pleasant street for purpose of making repairs; granted.

George Thompson asked permission to open Lincoln avenue for purpose of laying drain; granted.

The vote passed at the last meeting for the city to accept a part of Highland street was reconsidered.

Committee on drains reported recommending that the sewer petitioned for on Mason's hill be laid on State and Winter streets; that the probable cost would be $350, and fees for entering would be $201.

Report accepted and adopted.

Voted that the mayor be authorized to advertise for bids for building this drain according to the route recommended by the committee, the city to reserve the right to reject any or all bids.

Adjourned.

THE GREENBACK CLUB.

At a meeting of the union greenback club held at the old custom house Thursday evening, the following officers were chosen:

John E. Roberts, president;
Edward J. Moulton, vice president;
Nathaniel K. Raynes, secretary;
Gardner J. Greenleaf, treasurer.

A committee of five were appointed for the purpose of corresponding with clubs throughout the State in regard to the completion of their organizations and the selection of delegates to the national convention.

The following named gentlemen composed said committee: Stuart A. Sheldon, Marcus M. Collis, George E. Hodgdon, Nathaniel K. Raynes, Alonzo F. Craig.

DIPHTHERIA.

Mr. Editor: Permit me to protest against the needless alarm which exists in our city regarding diphtheria. One would think by the anxious feelings expressed on every hand, and from statements made by sensationalists, that our city was reeking with the pestilential disease. If the truth was known I doubt if a genuine case of diphtheria could be found in Portsmouth; and the physicians general consider the season as one of unusual health. Why then should mothers be tortured by the belief that their children are breathing a pestiferous atmosphere, and the little ones be martyred by confinement to the house, and loaded with "camphor bags," carbolic acid and other obnoxious as well as useless nostrums? Is it not the part of wisdom to be sure of the truthfulness of a rumor before we give it credence? Time enough to cross the bridge when it is reached.

New Publications.

The Granite Monthly, the only magazine published in the State, commences its third volume with the number for October. It is published at Concord by H. H. Metcalf & Co., and is specially devoted to the history and progress of the State, though general literature is not neglected. The October number has a sketch of the life of Gen. Walter Harriman, with portrait; "the Miller mansion at Temple," by Fred Myron Colby; "Woman's work in education," "Concord in 1879," poems and literary notices. It is nicely printed, and worthy the attention of all who are interested in the history of New Hampshire. Price $1.50 per year; fifteen cents for single number.

The Saturday Evening Mail is a new democratic weekly just started at Portland, Me.; John P. Neal, editor. It goes in for hard money and free rum, and opposes "fusion" and protection for American industry.

Traitors Then and Now.

Burdette, of the Burlington (Ia.) Hawkeye, has been visiting, at Fredericton, New Brunswick, the house built by Benedict Arnold after he had fled from this country, and he describes it as "a story-and-a-half house, with a dormer window looking out of the roof. The sides are weather-boarded, but shingled. The front door opens directly on the street and there is a single window on either side of it." Of Arnold he says:

He lived a century too early, this man of hateful and accursed memory. Had he lived a hundred years later he might have committed treason most hateful, he might have foresworn himself in national councils, and drawn his sword against the country that taught him to use it; he might have plundered the national treasury, robbed the government of arsenals and stolen its navy yards, fought for years against the flag that waved over his birth, and then—a tainted name? A traitor's doom? A haunted, desolate life? Oh no, Lord love you, simple minded patriot, nothing of the sort. He would come back and be elected to Congress, he would be a senator, he would run the government, he would talk more loudly about the constitution he attempted to destroy than the men who saved it, he would write books and defy public opinion, and the only thing about him to show that God hated him would be his blighted eye. If Benedict Arnold ever looks around this planet and sees how Jefferson Davis is getting along, it must make him feel that he is a martyr and a deeply injured man."

On Wednesday evening, the 23d inst., a young lady was coming down the steps of Horticultural hall, Boston, at the close of the performance, when she felt some one pull her hair, which was braided and looped up behind. She discovered subsequently that some rascal had cut the braid close to her head, but on account of the manner in which it was pinned had been unable to detach it.

Probably the most extraordinary instance on record is this of Rev. Dr. Tucker, who has resigned a $10,000 pastorate in New York and accepted a $3,000 call to Andover, Mass.

Bogus Certificates.

It is no vile drugged stuff, pretending to be made of wonderful foreign roots, barks, &c., and puffed up by long bogus certificates of pretended miraculous cures but a simple, pure, effective medicine, made of well known valuable remedies, that furnishes its own certificates by its cures. We refer to Hop Bitters, the purest and best of medicines. See another column.—Republican.

"As for the use of SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER, for diseases," said Mrs. Partington, holding the bottle up to the light, "it is one of the best specifications in the world for all sorts of melodies. A friend of mine used it for scintica in the head, and forgot his pain, after he tried everything else. Bless you, there's nothing like it as a healing rostrum." Ike played a solitary game of marbles on the mat.

—In a case before Justice Craig in Detroit a lawyer was arguing that a bond given by a married woman was of no effect. "But," said the justice, "suppose that a married woman gives a bond and becomes at once a widow, is the bond operative?" "That's not supposable in this case," said the attorney. "It may not be supposable, but it is true," said the magistrate; "the husband of the lady who gave this bond yesterday was killed in the accident at Jacksonville last night."

HUMORS OF THE SCALP, LOSS OF HAIR.

Loss of Hair in thousands of cases is due entirely to some form of scalp disease. Seventy-five per cent of the number of bald heads might be covered with hair by a judicious use of CUTICURA, assisted by CUTICURA SOAP. It is the most agreeable as well as the most effective hair restorer ever produced by man. It is medicinal in the truest sense of the word. All others are some oleaginous mixture or poisonous dyes. None but CUTICURA possesses the specific medical properties that enable it to cure all itching and scaly diseases that infest me and irritate the scalp and hair glands and tubes, causing premature baldness. Medicinal doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT will purify the oil and sweat glands of the virus of scrofulous humor of the blood and insure a permanent cure, when taken in connection with the outward application of CUTICURA.

SALT RHEUM AND DANDRUFF

Cured that several physicians had failed to treat successfully.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have had the Salt Rheum on my head and all through my hair, also on my legs, for the past four years, having suffered excessingly with it. The dandruff falling from my hair was very annoying. I consulted several distinguished physicians in regard to it, and have taken their prescriptions as ordered but did not find any cure and but little relief. I was told by many persons who have the Salt Rheum, and who have been doctored for years, that there was no cure for it; that it was in the blood, and I should always have it, and I was almost inclined to agree with them, but a friend wasted me to try CUTICURA, made by your firm. I did, and to my astonishment, in less than three weeks, my head was entirely free from all Salt Rheum and Dandruff, and I cannot see any appearance of salt Rheum on my person. I think it a wonderful remedy. Respectfully yours,
GEORGE A. MUDGE.
PORTSMOUTH, N. H., FEB. 6, 1878.

HUMOR OF THE SCALP

That was destroying the Hair cured with one box of CUTICURA.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I want to tell you what CUTICURA has done for me. About ten years ago my hair began falling out, caused by Humor of the Scalp. I tried various remedies, too numerous to mention, without relief, until I began using CUTICURA, one box of which has entirely cured me and new hair is beginning to grow. Respectfully,
MRS. O. J. ROOT.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Since July last I have been using your CUTICURA for Scald Head, and it has cured me when all medicines that I have taken for nine years did me no good. I am now using it as a hair dressing, but my head is well. It keeps the hair in very nice condition. Yours truly, H. A RAYMOND,

THE

New Hampshire Gazette

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

—THE—

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a weekly invitation to customers, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 43 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

BEWARE of a man named Sherman, who, taking the advantage of my name, notoriety calls him off Dr. Sherman, alias Dr. S. Sherman, alias Dr. S. J. CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane, Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden changes of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces enfeebled. The diseases may arise from a scrofulous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases there are and cavities generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the bowels, in the relaxed feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and contain a few and expectorate to throw it off; but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations, and hard lumps, which adhere firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and much more crusted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, coding frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, nose, nasal passages, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when protection of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in the directions, mark it as a scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the esteem in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

Daily Chronicle.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 22d.

If Gen. Paine, commissioner of patents, will force upon Congress and the authorities the real facts touching the patent office, he will do this country a grand service. The patent office arrangements have been too little understood and its benefits to the industries of the nation too little appreciated. The system of patents and copyrights is established to promote the progress of science and the useful arts by securing for limited times to authors and inventors the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries. This is the spirit of the constitutional provision touching the matter. Yet the patent office has been treated just as though it was the legitimate prey of politicians. The evident intent of the provisions establishing it was that it should have the most liberal support; but the fact is, it has been used to give a liberal support to others and as an aid to the revenues of the government. There are few who know that the revenues of the patent office have been largely in excess of its expenses, and that had they at all times been properly applied they would have sufficed to more than pay for the structure that accommodates not only that office but the Indian bureau, the land office, and all the interior department offices proper. In face of these facts it is a shame that Congress should curtail its expenditures so that to-day it is unable to promptly attend to the business that comes before it. The estimate of good judges is that with an additional force and enlarged quarters the patent office might do at once one-third more business than it does, and thus promote the interests of inventors and the public alike. If Gen. Paine can induce Congress to cease the penny wise and pound foolish policy touching this department, he will do a good work. The patent office ought to have its entire revenue to the development of facilities for the promoting of industrial improvement, and certainly its surplus ought not to be used to help swell the "economy" account of Congress or the interior department.

The presidential slates continue to interest the political disputants here. Every prominent democrat who comes to town is at once seized and pumped, and it is unquestionable that the majority of them say that Thurman is off the course, although they before befriended him. But it is astonishing that this tide doesn't set more towards Bayard or Tilden. It rather favors David Davis or Hancock, I think. On the republican side, the Sherman "boom" doesn't boom quite as loudly as it started just after Ohio spoke. With reference to Grant, it is observed that the most of his friends are now naming "Grant or Blaine," which is interpreted by outsiders to mean that the late elections have had so much of Blaine in them that it is necessary for the Grant movement to compromise with the Blaine element in order to save the "boom." What will be the next turn in the wheel nobody can tell. There will be many interesting ones after Congress meets.

Some of the republican papers have made an error touching the make-up of the present United States Senate in connection with prognostications for 1881. The Senate is compose of forty-two democrats, thirty-three republicans and one independent. After the republicans gain the six they expect in Ohio, New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Pennsylvania and Indiana, and lose one in Mississippi, that will give them thirty-eight in March, 1881. Whether they have a majority will depend upon David Davis or some casualty which may overtake the northern democratic senators.

There never has been in the memory of the oldest inhabitant such a rush to Washington, and such a consequent demand for houses and rooms, as there is now. Everybody is expecting an exciting session of Congress, and besides, the national committees will begin to assemble here in December and January to make arrangements for the national conventions next year. The Capital will be the great point of attraction for some time to come. KNOX.

Sambuci Wine in New York Hospitals.

Dr. Harris, of the New York Hospital, finds Speer's Sambuci Wine an excellent tonic and gentle stimulant, and recommends it, especially for ladies. Dr. Parish, of Philadelphia, pronounces it to be a purely unadulterated wine, possessing much medicinal virtue, and uses it for its purity, fine flavor, medicinal properties, and non-intoxicative qualities, &c. Our limited space forbids any more extracts from letters of similar import from numerous physicians and clergymen. It has been found to be the best Wine for Dropsy, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint, the aged and infirm. It gives strength and vigor. Excellent for Females. Sold by Preston, Kimball, F. B. Coleman, and H. F. Gerrish.

News and Notes.

The jury in the case of Caroline C. Goodrich and "Dr." Daniel F. Kimball, indicted for complicity in the death of Jennie P. Clark, on Friday brought in a verdict against the woman of guilty of performing the abortion, and against Kimball as being accessory after the fact.

Much excitement has prevaled in Richford, Vt., for several days, over the loss of a three-years-old daughter of Mitchell Proft, a Frenchman. The child was hunting moss in the woods on the 21st inst., with her brothers and sisters, and started to go home, but did not arrive there. Large parties of men searched the woods on Wednesday, Wednesday night and Thursday, but without avail.

The Colorado Indians have renewed hostilities, and the governor has telegraphed to Secretary Schurz, making a vigorous protest against the policy of military inactivity. He says the fighting men of the Utes are hostile and flushed with victory; that they are savages; that they take no prisoners except women, and that unless troops move against the Indians, the Indians will move against the settlers.

The 98th anniversary of the capitulation of Lord Cornwallis to the American and French forces under Washington, October 23d, 1781, was observed at Yorktown, Va., Thursday, as a preliminary to its centennial celebration two years hence. There was a grand military and naval display, with an oration, barbecue, etc.

Mrs. Lizzie Owen, twenty-eight years old, an operative in a paper mill at Holyoke, Mass., poisoned herself with arsenic on the 22d inst. She had recently been forced.

Two hundred armed men rode into Martinsburg, Elliot county, Ky., on the 20th inst., surrounded the jail, overpowered the jailor, took two prisoners, Jno. W. Kendall and Wm. McMillen, to a tree near by, and hanged them until dead. The men hanged were known to belong to a gang of outlaws.

A splendid Bengal tigress over three feet in height and nearly eight feet long, appeared in the neighborhood of Torresdale, Penn., Thursday morning, and was killed by the residents. It is supposed to have escaped from a travelling menagerie.

A man at North Amherst, Mass., has been fined $2,000 for making slanderous charges against the chastity of an unmarried woman in his neighborhood. The court fined this man $2,000 a year ago, but he got a new trial with the result above given.

At Williston, Vt., on the 23d inst., Lyman A. Smith had a quarrel with his wife and her father, Joseph B. Woods, and was three times shot, once by his wife and twice by Woods. Smith was mortally wounded; Woods and the woman are in jail.

The wife of Mr. George Johnson of Residfield, Me., disappeared soon after midnight on the 13th, and the peculiar circumstances attending her disappearance leave her friends in doubt whether she eloped, committed suicide or wandered away under a temporary fit of insanity. It appears that on the night in question Mr. Johnson was awakened about twelve o'clock by the crying of the oldest child, who slept with his wife, and on investigation he found his wife was gone, and no trace of her could be found. The previous evening an intimate friend of Johnson and his wife, named George Smith, called at the house, and Johnson says he thinks he heard his wife say to Smith, "I'll be ready to-night." The fact also that some of her clothing is missing, leads to the supposition that Mrs. Johnson had taken her departure voluntarily, and with Smith. She leaves three small children behind, the oldest being only five years of age, but her husband can assign no reason for her departure, claiming that they have always lived pleasantly together.

New Hampshire Items.

Three boys, Thomas Maguire, Leonard Huntington and Joe Pippar, were sent to the reform school on the 22d, the former during his minority and the two latter for two years, for placing sleepers on the Concord railroad track in the deep cut just above Suncook. The obstruction was discovered by the section men.

Mrs. Jonathan Rundlett, upward of seventy years of age, broke through the floor of her house at Laconia, and fell to the cellar, badly breaking one leg and receiving serious cuts about the head.

Naval Affairs.

On the 23d inst., at Yorktown, Va., the United States ships Powhatan, Marion, Kearsarge, Saratoga and Portsmouth were anchored in the bay, dressed with flags in honor of the anniversary of the capitulation of the British forces in Yorktown in 1781. A national salute was fired at noon by the flagship Powhatan. The squadron returned to Hampton Roads on Friday.

Political.

Senator Benjamin H. Hill, of Georgia, replies to the letter on the attitude of the south recently addressed to him through the Tribune, by Representative Chittenden. He deplores northern hatred of the south; holds the north responsible for both slavery and secession; declares that the north compels all southerners to be democrats by the republican doctrine that secession was a crime; and proclaims that southerners will never admit that their rebellion was criminal or treacherous.

Louisiana republicans in Washington are preparing for a vigorous campaign in that State. They say that there is not a man upon the republican ticket just nominated who is not personally and politically a man of high character. An effort will be made to secure speakers from the north. The democratic party is so divided into factions—the respectable element being antagonistic to the managers of it—that the republicans are even hopeful that they may carry the legislature. The democrats have already announced that if they secure the legislature they will pass laws providing for the election of presidential electors in whole by the legislature itself, so that the people shall not have a chance to vote directly on the question.

That republicans as a means of accomplishing reform should defeat Mr. Cornell and elect a notoriously "machine" made democratic candidate, in the interest of the most unprincipled manager of political machinery since the days of Aaron Burr, will be a specimen of folly that will hereafter cover with contempt every wise endeavor to reform our politics. No men are so foolish as men with high moral ideas and low common sense. —Christian Union.

"As for the use of SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER, for diseases," said Mrs. Partington, holding the bottle up to the light, "it is one of the best specifications in the world for all sorts of melodies. A friend of mine used it for sciatica in the head, and forgot his pain, after he tried everything else. Bless you, there's nothing like it as a healing rostrum." Ike played a solitary game of marbles on the mat.

—A western paper describes a very slim man as being tall enough to go into the woods and pick a mess of squirrels.

—The New Orleans Picayune expresses a great truth when it says the government boys the Indian birthright for a mess of pottage, and then refuses to give him the pottage.

—A rather gaily-dressed young lady asked her Sunday-school class what was meant by "the pomp and vanities of the world." The answer was honest, but rather an expected: "Them flowers on your hat."

—The present style of wide belts worn by ladies is to be made more ornamental and expensive by having flowers and landscape painted thereon, it is said. A lady "just stepped out of a picture" will no longer be a merely figurative expression.

—"The true journalist is a free, untrammeled creature, governed by none," proudly wrote the editor in his leader on "That Mighty Engine, the Press." Then he went home to dinner, and was ingloriously chased under the bed by his wife and a broom, for omitting to send up the ingredients for the noonday meal.

—The western editor who has been so long a laughing stock for proclaiming, "We are a married man," may now take courage and point to so eminent an authority as the London Saturday Review, in which the phrase "We ourself" is used to indicate editorial personality.
